SIGMA-ALPHA-EPSILON

Autumn Will Bring to You

THE BALFOUR PUPPETS were especially designed and modeled in the Balfour studios. The miniature chapter room—20" high—was constructed with fireplace, draperies, and moonlit terrace. The sorority girl and fraternity man—12" high—dance to the tunes of a merry orchestra.

THE RECORD of Sigma Alpha Epsilon

• Edited by LAUREN FOREMAN • September 1935 •

• LOOKING AT . . .

The Cover On the cover for this issue is reproduced in colors the painting of the Acropolis at Athens by Johannes Waller, III, Ψ - Ω '35, which has been placed over the stairway landing in the main entrance of the Levere Memorial Temple. This mural was done in the form of a triptych to conform to the paneling of the wall. The Parthenon is shown in the central and right compartments while in the left compartment appear the Temple of Athena Nike which served as the entrance to the Acropolis and the Agrippa Pedestal.

The Chapters This issue of THE RECORD is chiefly devoted to the accomplishments of the Chapters Collegiate of Sigma Alpha Epsilon during the college year, 1934-35, and it is believed that the large number of reports and chapter pictures which are presented will be about the most interesting material which could be furnished the readers of the magazine.

50c a copy, $2.00 per year, $10.00 for life in the United States and Canada. Foreign subscription, $3.00 a year.

Entered as second-class matter at the post office, Evanston, Ill., under Act of March 3, 1879. Acceptance for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in section 1103, Act of October 3, 1917, authorized September 21, 1918. "Dawson Hall" Built at Ole Miss

By Lawrence McDuff, Mississippi Gamma '35

AT THE 1934 National Convention of Sigma Alpha Epsilon in Washington, D.C., the archon of Province Theta stated that his only criticism of Mississippi Gamma at the University of Mississippi was that it did not own its own home. That black mark is being erased and when the fall session of 1935 opens at Ole Miss, $\Sigma A E$ will have added another to its list of magnificent houses.

In the fall of 1934 when Eric A. Dawson, Miss. Gamma '08, former Eminent Supreme Recorder, returned to Mississippi from his trip around the world, one of his first visits was to the chancellor of the University who informed him that the trustees had just voted to permit fraternities and sororities to build lodges on the campus and that no fraternity had up to that time made preparations to build a house.

Acting as chairman of the Mississippi Gamma House corporation in which capacity he has served since fraternities were reestablished at Mississippi in 1926, Mr. Dawson had the lots designated for Fraternity Row surveyed and marked and, together with the architect, selected lot No. 4 which seemed to be most attractive. Plans were immediately drawn and arrangements made to begin building in the spring of 1935.

In the meantime a new chancellor, an $\Sigma A E$, was chosen to begin the session of 1935-1936. It was not until May first that the latter approved the plans for Fraternity Row and immediately thereafter Mississippi Gamma began the construction of its lodge. Among the stipulations are these; the construction cost is not to exceed \$5,000; only ten members may live in the lodges and no meals may be served regularly; the discipline will remain under the jurisdiction of the university authorities. The university leases the land, which is tax free, for a term of twenty-five years, for the sum of \$50. The lease may be renewed for another twenty-five years.

This is a very logical solution to the house problem here. The dormitories and cafeteria are so cheap that expensive houses could not possibly compete with them and a $5,000 house here would be the equal of one which costs three times that much in other sections of the country.

The street on which Fraternity Row is situated will probably be called "L.Q.C. Lamar Road," in honor of that famous Mississippian who was a charter member of Mississippi Gamma. The number of the lodge will be 1866, the year in which the chapter was founded, and if one wishes to telephone to the lodge one will call for 1-8-6-6.

The lodge is colonial in design, with a main floor, a semi-basement and a wide terrace extending the length of the building. It is fifty-three feet by forty-two feet. On the main floor is the large paneled living room 53 feet by 30 feet. At one end is a guest room with bath and at the other a kitchenette. These two rooms form an alcove which is used for a library and music room. The ceiling is open, colonial, rafters acting as supports and from which hang chandeliers. A large chimney and fireplace, made of native stone, occupy one end of the large room. Below in the basement are five bed rooms, a shower bath, several store rooms, a recreation room and a chapter room, 32 feet by 16 feet, which is built and furnished as a chapel, in memory of Winston Prude, who met his death in an automobile accident last year.

In the fall the lawn will be terraced and landscaped. Two large urns decorated with the coat-of-arms of $\Sigma A E$, will grace the first terrace. On the walls of the lounge will hang eight oil paintings by European masters. A large stone coat-of-arms will adorn the chimney and above the paneled oil painting "The Spirit of $\Sigma A E$ " will appear a window containing the stained glass seal of Ole Miss.

The entire upper floor will be paneled in knotted pine. The different Minerva Clubs over the state will furnish the grand piano, the electric range, frigidaire and other fixtures for the main rooms. The seats in the chapter room will be in the form of pews and there will be an organ for the musical part of the meetings and initiations.

Eric Dawson has supervised the plans, construction and furnishing of the lodge. He has also collected the funds from the alumni for the financing of it. As a tribute to his devotion to his chapter and his fraternity the chapter at its last meeting of the year voted to name the lodge "Dawson Hall." It will be formally dedicated in the fall with a reception to Dr. A. B. Butts, the new $\Sigma A E$ chancellor of Ole Miss. Visitors are expected from every corner of Mississippi and from Memphis.

This will be the first fraternity house built at Ole Miss since 1890, when Delta Psi constructed its lodge. Tri Delt is building.

Hell Week a Menace

EVERY chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon or of any other fraternity whose members engage in the senseless and often times definitely harmful and dangerous practices, generally associated with "Hell Week," is furnishing ammunition to critics of the fraternity system, of whom there are still more than a few connected with the administrations of various institutions in which we have chapters.

Some sort of pledge training is one of the obligations of the fraternity but it should be constructive and helpful and, under no circumstances, should include any practice which subjects the pledge to physical peril or takes up his time to a sufficient extent to interfere with his scholastic work. Cases have been reported of freshmen who could not be initiated because of low marks resulting from time lost during "Hell Week." The chapter which indulges in excesses to this extent is simply committing hari kari without knowing it.

The colleges and universities are determined to eradicate "Hell Week" and if the fraternity chapters will follow wise leadership they will abolish this last remaining species of hazing in American schools without waiting for the school authorities or their own national organizations to force such action. The problem is one which can best be handled on each campus but, if the local chapters will not handle it, the national organizations will have no alternative but to step in.

A recent encouraging step is the action of the Interfraternity Presidents Council of the University of California at Los Angeles in voting to abolish "Hell Week" and to establish a "sane and constructive 'Pledge Week' in its place."

Offer Reward for Imposter

ROBERT E. REEL, Ind. Γ '31, deputy in the office of the prosecuting attorney for the Twelfth Judicial Circuit of Indiana advises that a reward is offered for the arrest of an imposter who gave the name of Robert J. Britton and claimed to be a polo player from the University of Arizona and that any one locating him should immediately wire the sheriff of Knox County at Vincennes, Ind. A description of the imposter is given, as follows:

Five feet, six inches in height; has black hair which is curled slightly and very thin in front so that you can see the scalp but he is not bald; weighs around 130 pounds; has an affected talk because of an operation on the throat which he claims was caused by dust storms in the West; has a swarthy complexion.

This description tallies very closely with that of a man who has imposed on Σ A Es at various places in the last two years, claiming to be a member of the fraternity and an athlete from either Georgia Tech, the University of Alabama, the University of Florida or Southern Methodist University.

"Muddy Waters," "Bob or Philip Lee," "Robert Cain," "Speedy Mason" and "James Arlington" are among the aliases he has used. The same or another man has posed as "Stumpy" Thomasson and "Shorty" Roberts of Georgia Tech. His operations cover such widely separated sections as Pennsylvania, Kansas and Florida but the methods used and the stories told in each case are almost identical.

Early in May an imposter whom the description given above fits, giving the name, "Robert Cain," and claiming to be an Σ A E from Alabama and a representative of the athletic department of the University of Alabama, made himself very objectionable in Eastern Ohio. At Lancaster, over his protest, he was taken to a doctor who found his throat trouble to be the result of a dangerous infectious disease. A bulletin about his operations in Ohio brought the information that shortly previously he had played on the sympathy of an Σ A E in Salina, Kan., and had repaid his kindness by stealing his badge, No. 37715.

Since this imposter generally picks alumni, rather than the active chapters, for his victims, this information is printed in THE RECORD, the medium which reaches all of them, in the hope that this man will be apprehended and brought to justice.

Send Names of Rushees

THE FALL OF the year is the golden time of harvest for fraternity chapters; whatever else may be necessary for a chapter's success, it is imperative that a suitable group of freshmen be brought into the chapter each year in order that it may continue to live.

In most institutions rushing begins with the opening of school and the chapter which has the advantage of early information about desirable freshmen is usually the one which succeeds in pledging the most desirable group of freshmen.

The assistance of alumni in giving such information is essential and is requested and appreciated by all chapters. It is not necessary that the name of any member of the chapter be known. A letter to the "Rushing Captain," sent to the chapter address, shown in the directory printed in the back of this issue of THE RECORD will fall into the right hands and be given attention.

If an alumnus wishes to recommend a son, brother or other relative and prefers not to write to the chapter, such information should be sent to the Eminent Supreme Recorder, Box 425, Evanston, Ill., and it will be promptly relayed to the chapter.

For the convenience of alumni a form which may be used in sending in information about rushees is printed in this issue on the outside cover.

It is highly important that such information be sent in on time. This is one of the many situations in which delay is often fatal.

Brothers and Sons

DURING THE college year, 1934-35, Sigma Alpha Epsilon was strengthened by the initiation of seven grandsons, 109 sons and 174 brothers of members of the fraternity, 92 of the 110 chapters having contributed to the constantly growing consanguinity list, as shown by the article by Mrs. Leleith H. Barker, Keeper of Archives, which appears in this issue of THE RECORD.

A study of this article will reveal the interesting manner in which the chapters have mutually contributed to each other and again illustrate the national character of the fraternity as chapters separated by the Nation's breadth have been cemented through blood relations.

Get Your Copy of The Record

IF YOU change your address, be sure to notify THE RECORD at Box 425, Evanston, Ill., so that the mailing list may be changed accordingly. Every alumnus of Σ A E is entitled to receive THE RECORD as long as he lives and will receive it if he will only give information as to his address. If you hear any alumnus complaining that he does not get THE RECORD, tell him to invest one cent in a postal card and send it in with his name and address. New alumni should be particularly careful to give their addresses as the chapters do not always give this information.

The E.S.A.'s Page

By John O. Moseley, Eminent Supreme Archon

ABOUT college fraternities, as about every other social institution in this day of critical examination and revaluation, is being asked persistently, and even heatedly, that age-old question, "What are they good for?" I am not interested in the answer to that question right now, but the wide divergence of the replies to it and the passion with which they are almost always given, are a source of considerable interest to me, and even satisfaction from one point of view.

The "builder uppers" and the "tearer downers" are always at each others throats. "Walk, don't run, to the nearest passage way" was never meant for them. Facts and figures, along with logic, quiet voices, and the ability to see anything at all in the other fellow's side, seem to have been ruled out of this controversy.

There are too many participants in this free for all fight to try to understand everyone. Some are in just because it is a fight; others because they have an axe to grind. There are always soldiers of fortune who do not care about the outcome as long as they are noticed in the thick of the fray. Then there are restless spirits who do not think there is good in anything which is organized, and other souls equally anxious but sincere, who want to improve society by surgery and lop off every growth from the body politic in which they cannot see any good.

The pathetic thing about it all is that arguments have so little effect on the ultimate outcome. Nature's method is best: the useful survive and the useless become atrophied and in time drop off. Arguing will not make fraternities good or bad. As long as they fire the individual member with enthusiasm and convince him of their worth in evolving his character and personality into accepted standards of usefulness and benefit, they will prevail and that member will fight to preserve them. When that member no longer wants to work and fight, the fraternity is gone.

As indicated above, the most interesting and vital question is not: "What are fraternities good for?" but why do some men so valiantly uphold them and others despise them? I think the motivating impulse of the former group is that you love what you serve. The man who has carried the Chapter burdens is usually so grateful in after life for the development which he realizes his character has received from this early opportunity for unselfish service that he is unwilling to see the organization which gave it to him be destroyed and lost to those for whom he covets the same opportunity. In the case of the latter group, can it be answered that you are down on what you are not up on? Or have those men sworn allegiance to some mystic band of college boys bound only by the ties of friendship and service and been so unmoved by their vows that they failed to grasp this golden opportunity to strive mightily in a common cause and remained in the organization only for what it could offer them?

There are only two philosophies of life, brief, understandable, and fundamental: to get or to give. Fraternities do appeal to the inner natures of men in such a way as to cause them to give lavishly of their time, money, and devotion. This makes them better men. When fraternities became organizations in which men remain only to get recognition, social prestige, and pleasures of the lower order, then there is no argument. The question is settled. There are no defenders, for the stuff which creates champions is gone from the order.

AS THIS is written the School for training Chapter leaders is more than a month away; and when these words appear in print, the School will have become another milestone in the history of the progress of our fraternity. Therefore, in this article, prophesy is not appropriate; reminiscence is not possible; and there remains only pleasant contemplation of the type and character of the loyal band of brothers to be gathered together in August on the shores of Lake Michigan under the banner of Minerva.

At the present there have been enrolled nearly one hundred active Chapter men, representing almost as many Chapters. A few more late enrollments are expected and in addition a fairly large number of actives and Alumni will be on hand as visitors. Also present, and participating in one or more sessions of the School, will be the entire Supreme Council, the Scholarship Commissioner, a representative of the Board of Trustees, as many as possible Province Archons, several Alumni Chapter Advisers, and a goodly number of past Eminent Supreme Archons.

Upon the basis of the present enrollment the average age of the active men attending the School will be twenty-one. Seniors and Juniors, about evenly divided, predominate, with a fair sprinkling of Sophomores. About half of the Chapter representatives will serve their respective Chapters next fall as Eminent Archons, while practically all of the representatives will hold office in some capacity. According to the enrollment blanks, nearly all of the active men participate widely in school activities and many of them have already attended one or more national or province conventions of the fraternity.

One figure which no blank can disclose is fraternal loyalty and enthusiasm. Yet, from the scores of letters and personal messages received by the E.S.A., the spirit of service, more vital than all statistics and more permanent than any personnel, will control and guide this unique gathering to greater heights of usefulness for our organization and bind its members more strongly in the eternal Bonds of Σ Α Ε.

Athlete and Student

■ Jack Fish, Pa. Δ '37, is an outstanding athlete and honor student at Gettysburg College where he is majoring in chemistry. As a sophomore he made a brilliant record as end on the Gettysburg football team and as forward on the basketball team that won its fourth straight championship of the Eastern Pennsylvania Intercollegiate League. Fish led his teammates for the season with 186 points in 17 games and also led the league with 140 points, 16 points above his nearest competitor. He was on the Dean's scholastic honor list throughout his freshman year and had a straight A average for the first half of 1934-35, one of three students who made this record.

■ Thomas C. Henry, Colo. Z, '34, has joined the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co. at Denver, Colo., as a special agent.

Under the Σ A E Family Tree

By Leleith H. Barker, Keeper of Archives

AMONG the 1,718 initiates of Sigma Alpha Epsilon during the college year, 1934-35, there were seven grandsons, 109 sons and 174 brothers of Σ A Es, induction into the fraternity of neophytes of these direct degrees of consanguinity having been reported by 92 of the 110 chapters.

Kansas Alpha leads in grandsons initiated with two, Washington City Rho in sons with five, and Mississippi Gamma in brothers with seven. Having initiated three sons in addition to her seven brothers, Mississippi Gamma also has the largest total, ten.

Of the seven grandsons, three are also sons in the direct line of descent. Two of these and one other grandson are also brothers and a large percentage of the sons are also brothers.

The chapters which reported the initiation of grandsons, sons or brothers are listed herewith. For the sake of brevity, son of has been abbreviated "sf" and brothers of into "bf" while the name of the chapter is not repeated where it is the same for the initiate and the relative.

Fraternities at Old Heidelberg

By Eric A. Dawson, Mississippi Gamma '08

*Alt Heidelberg, du feine,
Du Stadt an Ehren reich
Am Neckar und am Rheine,
Keine andre kommt dir gleich.*

HEIDELBERG, old city rich in honor, fine; none can compare with you, on the Neckar or the Rhein. And the poet who wrote these lines probably told the truth. Heidelberg is known everywhere as the romantic city of Germany. It is one of its old cities, famous in song and story and which today even has an attraction quite different from that of any other of the German cities. Besides its famous university it boasts of possessing the most magnificent and artistically valuable ruin in the whole of the Reich—the famous castle which was destroyed by the war of 1689. In the cellar of this historic old building stands the celebrated wine cask, dating from 1751. It is 29½ feet long, 26¼ feet high and 22 feet wide. Its capacity is 221,726 liters. Surmounting it is a dancing platform. There are several old buildings in the city and many student locales which are of interest to the traveler. Its situation on the Neckar is decidedly advantageous and delightful excursions can be made in the surrounding territory.

But I am about to get away from my subject. This is not to be a description of the city, nor am I paid by the tourist bureau to boost its attractions, so I shall stop short and tell my story about fraternities here. Heidelberg University, known as the Charles Rupprecht University, is the oldest in Germany, having been founded October 18, 1386. It lies, of course, in the older part of the city. For many years there were few buildings but along came former Ambassador Jacob Gould Schurman after the War (he was also at one time the distinguished president of Cornell) and gave the university a large sum of money with which it has built a group of very fine buildings named in honor of the donor. Besides that the city has given his name to one of its principal streets. The library building is very imposing and contains a collection of very many valuable books and manuscripts. Heidelberg has always been one of the most popular of the German universities. After the success of the "Student Prince" in America there was an influx of young "Karl Heins" seeking attractive "Katie" in Heidelberg, but not having found what they came for, coupled with the fact that the American eagle is flying low these days, the number has been considerably reduced. Last year there were nearly one hundred Americans studying here and there are at present barely fifteen. In the summer, of course, the city is crowded with United States co-eds viewing the house where the student prince lived and, not far away, the other building where the nice-looking German boys fight duels. How romantic!

Did college fraternities originate in Germany or in the United States? That would be the subject of a good debate for somebody. The oldest German fraternity is the "Onoldia," founded in 1798 at Erlangen University near Nuremberg in Bavaria. Of course we retaliate with the fact that Phi Beta Kappa was founded some twenty-two years before that. But I am not writing to decide that question. My impression had always been that fraternities had existed in Germany almost from the Middle Ages and I was certainly surprised to learn that they are in reality quite modern institutions. There are altogether in the land some 1500 fraternities, including those in high and technical schools. This huge number arises from the fact that each is distinct and individual. They are not nationalized as they are in America with chapters in different colleges and universities.

In Heidelberg there are thirty-one fraternities or "Verbindungen" as they are called in the native tongue. The list with the date of the founding of each follows: Suevia (1810), Guestphalia (1818), Saxo-Borussia (1820), Vandalia (1842), Rhenania (1849), Wingolf (1851), Hercynia (1852), Allemania (1856), Franconia (1856), Wartburg (1863), Leonensia (1871), Palatia (1872), Rupertia (1873), Cimbria (1876), Markomania (1876), Karlsruhensia (1878), Vineta (1879), Zaringia (1880), V. D. St. (1882), Teutonia (1883), Rhenopalatia (1885), Ghibellinia (1886), Arminia (1887), Normannia (1890), Stauffia (1891-1923), Hasso-Rhenania (1899), Ripuarua (1899), Unitas (1900), Thuringia (1908), Kurpfalz (1924), Boelcke (1930).

After all there is very little difference between the fraternities of Germany and those of the United States. There is keen rivalry among them, especially among certain groups. The first five to be founded are supposed to be the strongest and of these Saxo-Borussia seems to have gained more prestige during the years than the other four. At the beginning of the year the members, who are known as "Bürschchen" (little hunters), meet the trains and even go to the neighboring cities to board the trains and make dates with the freshmen who are called "Füchse" (foxes). There are rounds of entertaining in their houses, in the beer gardens, at dances and so forth, just as we have at any of our schools. Sometimes the father brings his son down personally and there is no time lost. It is rare that a son is not taken in by his father's fraternity. Then the father entertains the house and there is a grand session. Selecting the members, then, is quite similar as with us. There are no pledge buttons, nor are they any fraternity badges. The members wear their colors across their chest and wear caps made of cloth of the colors of the "Verbindung." A freshman is allowed to wear only part of the colors and only when he is initiated can he wear all of them. A pledge cannot become a member until he has been a student at the university for a year and a half. As a rule the average pledge list runs between ten and fifteen and the membership roll is about twenty-five.

As for the social events of fraternities they are the same as in the United States. The members of the "Verbindungen" live in houses, very nice, but not palaces as we find them in some of our universities. The older members live and eat there. Several times a year dances are given, to which beautiful girls from all corners of Germany are invited. If the affair is on a grand scale then a hotel is rented for the occasion. Then there are the "Kneipes" for the groups, similar to our suppers and banquets. There is no interchange of courtesies among the fraternities. Each one entertains only for itself. The groups, however, are much more friendly and democratic than they were before the War. There is harmony and co-operation among them.

Dueling is the outstanding particularity among fraternities here in Germany. Each group has a duel master who has charge of all matters in regard to duelling. When a freshman is pledged he at once chooses among the older men one who is to be his "big brother" and this "big brother" becomes the college father of the boy until he is initiated. He looks after him just as if he were his father. Certain groups duel among themselves. Every morning from six to seven the freshmen must practice dueling. A dueling bout is called a "Mensur." There are held two of these each week and they are arranged by the duel leaders in the groups. Each Fuchs must duel at least three times during his pledgship and may duel as many more as he wishes.

When all is arranged the two groups hie themselves across the river to the Gasthaus zur Hirschgasse, the oldest student dueling hall in Germany. On the way they must pass over the old bridge, at the other end of which is a beautiful statue of Minerva, which they sometimes salute, as if asking for her protection. Besides the two contestants there are two Destants, two Sekundants and a Nonparteiischer (a neutral person), who is the judge. The two groups take opposite sides of the room and there is utter silence during the whole Mensur. There is not the hubbub and encouragement from the side-lines that would exist with us on such an occasion.

The Mensur is a test of the bravery of the Fuchs. He must not flinch or waver the least bit, even if his teeth are knocked out or his nose cut off. If he makes three mistakes of this kind his pledge is broken at once, for he would not make a good member. He would be declared a coward. The four assistants from the two groups are aids who help notice the mistakes and the fouls that might escape the watchful eye of the judge. The winner of the bout is the one who has made the most wounds on his opponent. I forgot to say that for the Mensur the two opponents are padded all over with the exception of the face and head. The arm, body, neck and knees are well protected. Doctors are on hand in case of accidents and look after the opponents when the bout is ended. These Füchse are indeed proud of the scars they wear as a result of their duels.

These are friendly duels and are to be distinguished from the real duels which are the result of "affairs of honor." When a fraternity man offends the member of another group, the offended member sends an emissary to him with his card and a duel is arranged; but this duel is fought with sabers and is much more serious than the others. An honor must be avenged. It is fought out and at the conclusion the two opponents shake hands and wait for another offense of some sort. At the end of each friendly duel the members of the fraternity have a "Kneipe" at which much beer is drunk and of course the winning side celebrates its victory. That is the great rivalry among fraternities here. Each one wants to be known as the group of the finest duelists. That night after the duel, the Bürschchen have a meeting and discuss the merits and demerits of the Füchs who had just had his courage tested and means are devised to improve his skill.

The father of my landlady was owner of the Hirschgasse Inn for many years and she told me that she could remember only one case of death and that was of a young boy who was so frightened from the anticipation of the bout that at the first touch of the sword he fell dead from heart failure. When we compare this to some of our fraternity men who die from crawling through electrified bed springs, from being tied to railroad tracks and being pushed down elevators, the German pastime of dueling does not seem so barbarous after all.

In every German university there are Verbindungen of the same type and when a student transfers from one university to another he is asked to report to a certain group with which he associates but of which he does not and cannot become a member. Each group in the Reich is local and individual. Since the War the girls have begun to form fraternities but it is something quite new and at present is mainly religious. Each university has at least one Studentinnen Verein.

Sometimes there are football matches between the fraternities, for Germany is an athletic nation. The University does not meddle or try to interfere in any way with the fraternities. They are looked upon with favor by the authorities, for many of the professors are members themselves.

Across the river Neckar, on the way to the Gasthaus zur Hirschgasse where the Mensurs are held, one passes the Scheffelhaus. This latter is the inn where Karl Heinrich, who was a real person, lived while he was a student at the university. The inn remains as it was in his day and the scene made of it in the "Student Prince" was quite accurate. Of course there are many souvenirs of Karl Heinrich to be seen there. It was also the home of Victor Scheffel, the famous German poet, who was a member of the Frankonia Verbindung which, by the way, was founded in March, 1856.

The most famous of the student locales is the Roter Ochsen in the Haupt Strasse (Main Street). This old and fascinating winestube was built in 1726 and has been in the possession of the present family for four generations. Frau Spengel guides the destinies of the locale and is most gracious to visitors who are interested in inspecting it. She will show you everything and explain every nook and corner. All of the furniture is old and names are carved everywhere. Even the princes have had carved their royal coats-of-arms on the backs of chairs. The photograph and an autographed letter of Bismarck are there on the wall. Frau Spengel delights in showing to Americans the autograph of Dr. Schurman and the Americans to whom he offered a banquet when he came to Heidelberg in 1931 to dedicate the buildings, for the construction of which he had given the money. There are rows and rows of beer steins near the bar. They belong to individual students who have had their fraternity coat-of-arms engraved in colors on them. Their beer is served in these steins each time they come to the Roter Ochsen. A very loyal Sigma Chi has left his stein there with the request that every visiting Sigma Chi drink out of it. I also noticed what I thought was one stein with the coat-of-arms of Phi Delta Theta on it.

There is a piano in one end of the stube. By the side of it are numerous songbooks and from these the students sing their songs when they come there for a Kneipe. On top of the piano are small banners in the colors of the different Verbindungen, on small stands. When a group enters, it goes to the piano, takes down its banner and places it in the middle of the table at which they wish to sit and drink. Frau Spengel gave me one of the songbooks, a gift I prize very highly. There is one stein that bears the date of 1703. Especially attractive is the Swiss corner. Formerly Heidelberg was almost overrun with Swiss students. There is also a group photograph in which one can recognize Karl Heinrich, hero of the "Student Prince." So after all what we thought was make-believe was really a fact.

Many of the prominent men of today in Germany can be recognized as young men in the photographs which almost cover the walls. The earliest students used to drink their beer from horns and many of these horns are hanging from the ceiling of the stube.

And another point wherein Heidelberg is not different from any college town in America: Frau Spengel has been compelled to nail down every memento she has in her winestube. They disappeared so fast that she almost lost her heart. Now it is difficult for any to vanish. One could spend a whole evening simply looking at the interesting souvenirs of college days. Next door is another locale, quite well known but not so interesting. It is furnished along the same lines as the Roter Ochsen. It is called Sepp'l. Another locale, newer and larger than the other two, is Perkeo, named after the dwarf in the castle who was supposed to have drunk every one of the two hundred thousand liters of wine in the large cask. Of course there are numerous smaller "hang outs" but they do not have the prestige or history of the three mentioned.

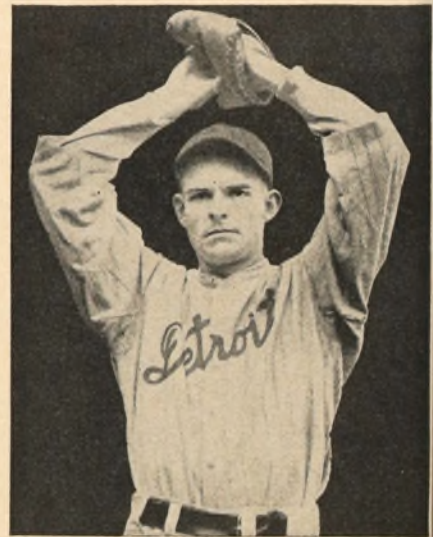

Herr Karl Wittmann, who either informed me or verified what I have written, is the L. G. Balfour of Heidelberg. Formerly the students were not keen on jewelry and stuck mainly to their ribbons and caps, but of late they have changed their minds somewhat. Herr Wittmann has opened a store in the Leopold Strasse and has on display not only the ribbons and different kinds of caps but also watch fobs, rings, pins, cigarette cases, plaques, steins, and so forth, all done in the colors or coats-of-arms of the different Verbindungen.

Herr Hitler is about to change everything in the life of the student at Heidelberg and, for that matter, all over Germany. His motto is One people, One land, One will. He does not want any organization to exist which is not incorporated in the government. The people of Heidelberg say that he is sounding the death knell of fraternities, but the fraternities say that it is impossible to destroy them. Herr Hitler has ordered that every student in Germany must live, during the first three semesters of his college life in the Kameradeschaftshaus (Comradeship Home). Here all of the students are together as in barracks. They must serve themselves, make beds, clean the quarters, be in at ten every night and go through a prescribed regime. It will take several years to know definitely what effect this will have on the Verbindungen. My own guess is that it will be difficult to strangle or wipe out such deep-rooted organizations that have so much history and tradition behind them. Every student at Heidelberg must belong to Herr Hitler's S. A. (Schutz Abteilung) and serve his time in doing the duties required by the service. This tends to make the students more democratic, and that is said to be the aim of the "Leader." At the end of the year and a half a Fuchs is gebürscht by a ceremony in which there are covenants agreed to by the Fuchs and the fraternity—something similar to our rituals.

Fraternities exist and are carried on in other universities of Germany in much the same manner as at Heidelberg, though it is generally conceded that the old university on the Neckar usually sets the style in fraternity affairs and has more glamour hanging above its halo than the others. The people of Heidelberg believe firmly in their students and their fraternities. They are even interested in them. The names of the Verbindungen are almost sacred. I had the thoughtlessness to tell my landlady and my bookseller that I thought dueling was a stupid custom. They both resented my statement and I was later told that every citizen of Heidelberg adopts the same attitude. Then after I became better informed and discovered all that a Mensur has behind it in meaning and tradition, I realized that perhaps it is much more civilized than our inexcusable American method of torture through Hell Week.

Iowa Delta and Iowa Gamma Joint Initiation

By Kenneth Brown, Iowa Delta '37

Members of Iowa Gamma and Iowa Delta and Des Moines Alumni Who Attended Joint Initiation, April 6, 1935.

TWO Iowa chapters, Gamma at Iowa State College, Ames, and Delta at Drake University, Des Moines, participated in a state convention in Des Moines, April 6. John O. Mosely, E.S.A., came from Oklahoma to conduct the initiation ceremony for the 21 initiates of the two chapters. He was assisted by Dr. Paul G. Ludwick, Archon of Province Zeta, and four members of the chapters.

The convention was attended by more than 250 actives and alumni of the two chapters. The members were pleased by the splendid turnout made by the alumni. Both chapters have voted to make the convention a yearly custom. They hope that it will be possible to include Iowa Beta, at Iowa City, in the plans for next year.

Following the initiation, E.S.A. Mosely spoke briefly to the members and the new initiates. At the dinner which followed Dr. Paul G. Ludwick, presided as toastmaster. He introduced the E.S.A. who once more thrilled the gathering with his words of praise for $\Sigma A E$. The toastmaster next introduced the eminent archons of the two chapters, Winn Heyer of Iowa Gamma and James Robertson of Iowa Delta. Each made a short talk regarding the success of the convention and the desire that it be repeated each year.

A ball climaxed the convention.

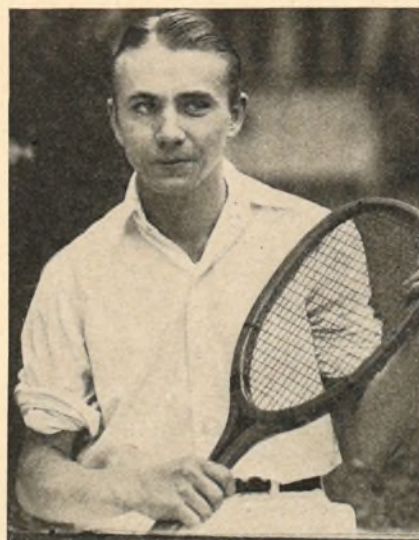

Finds "Hyperinsulinism"

■ If friend wife hurls a soup tureen or a handy ash tray at friend husband between meals, she is suffering from "hyperinsulinism," according to Dr. Andrew Seale Harris, *Ga. Dr. Harris is further credited with saying that dieting may help but that the final resort is some spa like Reno.

Grant Wins New Tennis Honors

By Cobb C. Torrance, Archon, Province Epsilon

Bryan M. Grant, Jr., N.C. Σ '33, the "Mighty Midget of Tennis," Who Topped off His 1935 Season by Winning the National Clay Courts Championship for the Third Time, after Winning the Southern Championship for the Eighth Time.

BRYAN M. GRANT, JR., N.C. Σ '33, Sigma Alpha Epsilon's "mighty midget of the tennis courts," known to the tennis world as the "Atlanta Atom" and to his close friends as "Bitsy," won new laurels during the 1935 season, his accomplishments including the following feats:

Won the Miami-Biltmore tourney, defeating Berkeley Bell, ranked as No. 7 among American tennis players by the official board, and Sidney Wood, No. 2, both in straight sets.

Won the Bermuda tourney, whipping Gilbert Hall in the final.

Won the River Oaks meet at Houston, Texas, defeating Bell again and toppling Wilmer Allison, ranked by the authorities as America's No. 1 player.

Named as a member of the United States team for the American Zone play for the Davis cup at Mexico City in May, he led the team, winning all his matches.

Won the Southern title at Nashville, Tenn., this being his eighth victory in this championship contest.

Won the National Clay Courts championship for the third time at the River Forest Tennis Club, Chicago, on June 24, defeating Frank Parker in the finals and taking permanent possession of the trophy. Although Grant was the title holder, Parker had been ranked above him.

Grant is a tennis player and an $\Sigma A E$ by heredity, his father, Bryan M. Grant, Ga. Ψ '99, now a prominent realtor of Atlanta, having been one of the holders of the Southern doubles championship for a number of years and his brother, Berry Grant, *Ga. Fathers and Sons at Syracuse Initiation

By Robert Wallace Marks, New York Delta

NOTABLE for the presence of national and province officers and three Σ A E fathers with their sons was the combined initiation ceremony and Founders' Day celebration of New York Delta at Syracuse University, at the Onondaga Hotel, in Syracuse, April 13, 1935.

Fourteen neophytes were inducted into the mysteries of Sigma Alpha Epsilon by Eminent Supreme Deputy Archon Charles F. Collins, who was assisted in presenting the ritual by Eminent Supreme Warden Arthur E. Brown, Archon Wallace E. Campbell of Alpha Province, Archon Floyd W. Smith of Beta Province and Dr. Burton A. Hoffman, Alumni Secretary of Beta Province.

Frederick T. DeLany, N.Y. Δ '02, whose name is the first on the chapter's scroll and who was its first Eminent Archon, and his son, Thomas DeLany who was E.A. in 1934; Foster B. Crocker, N.Y. Δ '06, and his two sons, Robert F., '33, and Foster R., '37; and Dr. Davis Walter Morton, Pa. Σ - Φ '02, and his son, David W., Jr., N.Y. Δ '38, supplied the proper example of consanguinity in the fraternity.

Following the initiation, 300 alumni and actives sat down to dinner with Wallace E. Campbell, N.Y. Δ '19, acting as toastmaster. Speakers included the national and province officers; Joseph E. Martinec, chairman of the committee on arrangements, William O'Brien, E.A., and Davis W. Morton, one of the neophytes, representing the active chapter; and Fred T. DeLany.

A special toast was given in honor of Dr. Chas. H. Richardson, N.Y. Δ '92, Honorary Province Archon, who was prevented from attending by illness. E.S.D.A. Collins presented the freshman scholarship cup to Thomas Crowe and Dr. Burt Hoffman brought the memorable occasion to a close by leading the assemblage in singing the "Pledge Song."

Caught First Curve Ball

Among his many distinctions, Wm. M. McElwee, Va. Σ '79, prominent banker of Lexington, Va., and for many years a staunch friend and trustee of Virginia Sigma, has that of having caught the first curve ball thrown in Southern collegiate baseball. It was in the spring of 1878 in a game between Washington and Lee and the University of Virginia. The pitcher was George A. Sykes, now deceased, and his curves proved so bewildering that W. & L. won the game 12 to 0 and Virginia declined to play his team the following year, as they considered the curved ball unfair, according to the reminiscences of Mr. McElwee.

Judge Martin Named to Federal Bench

By William L. Owen, Tennessee Eta '14

JUDGE John Donelson Martin, Va. O '05, of Memphis, son of the late John Donelson Martin, Va. O '79, and father of John Donelson Martin, Jr., Va. O '30, became judge of the United States Court for the Western District of Tennessee on April 30, 1935, when his appointment by President Roosevelt was confirmed by the U. S. Senate.

This gives Sigma Alpha Epsilon seven representatives on the Federal bench, the others, in the order of their appointment, being: Hon. Arthur J. Tuttle, Mich. I-B '92, Past Eminent Supreme Archon, Eastern District of Michigan; Hon. Henry Hitt Watkins, S.C. Φ '83, Western District of South Carolina; Hon. William Hale Barrett, Ga. B '85, Southern District of Georgia; Hon. Wayne G. Borah, Va. O '14, Eastern District of Louisiana; Hon. Hiram Heartsill Ragon, Va. Σ '08 and Ark. A-Y '09, Western District of Arkansas; and Hon. Milton J. Helmick, Calif. A '09, judge of the United States Court for China.

After receiving his law degree from the University of Virginia, Judge Martin entered active practice in Memphis and quickly won his way to the top in the legal profession. At the time of his appointment as United States judge, he was a member of the firm, Martin and Martin, in which his son and fraternity brother was the junior partner. He has had varied other interests, being keenly interested in politics and having served as a captain in the National Guard of Tennessee. He organized the Memphis Law School and became the friend and adviser of many young attorneys. His interests in sports caused him to become president of the Southern Association of Baseball Clubs in 1918, his remarkable success in this capacity having been the subject of an article in THE RECORD for May, 1935. He has also found time to write a number of articles and short stories for various magazines. He is widely known and greatly beloved in Memphis and throughout the South.

In his senior year at Virginia, Judge Martin served as Eminent Archon of Virginia Omicron and he has taken an active part in alumni affairs at Memphis, having served as attorney for the Memphis Alumni Association for many years. He rendered substantial assistance to the Tennessee Zeta chapter house corporation, without compensation, handling legal details in connection with the construction of the chapter's new house.

In mounting the Federal bench at Memphis, Judge Martin achieved the crowning ambition of his life. In the few weeks that he has been in office he has set a record that has won the enthusiasm and admiration of the people of the district.

Judge Martin is a descendant of Col. John Donelson whose daughter, Rachel, became the wife of Andrew Jackson and "Old Hickory" has always been his greatest hero. He is the fourth of his family in direct line to bear his name.

Buffalo Honors "Cap" Mellen

By Dr. Burton A. Hoffman, Illinois Psi-Omega '26

CAPTAIN Calvert K. Mellen, Vt. A-Σ-Π '84, popular principal of the Lafayette High School of Buffalo, N.Y., for twenty-eight years, had the unusual distinction of having the entire week of April 16, 1934, set aside as "Cap" Mellen Week" by the city council in honor of his retirement after fifty years of active educational work in Western New York.

Captain Mellen's week began with a luncheon by the Sponger Club of Buffalo. On Tuesday he was the honor guest at the Buffalo Athletic Club at luncheon. In the evening he was the honor guest at the dinner meeting of the Buffalo School Master's Association, where he received the degree of Doctor of Good Fellowship. On Thursday he was the guest of honor of the Buffalo Rotary Club and on Friday at the Shrine Club.

The climax of the week was the dinner on Saturday evening, attended by business and civic leaders and former students of Lafayette High School. This was the largest banquet ever served in the Hotel Statler and the fact that 1700 people sat down in honor of "Cap" Mellen is a testimonial to his remarkable popularity.

Born in Virginia, he received his education in New England, having been graduated in 1884 from Norwich University where he became a member of Alpha Sigma Pi. After this local obtained an Σ A E charter he was initiated for it by New York Alpha.

He began his educational work at Oakfield and then served for seven years as commandant of cadets at DeVeaux Academy at Niagara Falls. He conducted a private school in Buffalo for three years and then became a member of the faculty of Central High School. He became principal of Lafayette High School in 1904.

Robust health has enabled Captain

Calvert K. ("Cap") Mellen, Vt. A-Σ-Π '84, for Whom a Whole City Celebrated.

Mellen to attend to arduous duties every day. It is certain his optimistic frame of mind, his good nature and the enjoyment he gets out of simple things is the secret of his success. His continual association with children never tended to diminish his interest.

Discovers New Amino Acid

By Dean Fred H. Turner, Illinois Beta '22

A HITHERTO unknown amino acid which is absolutely essential to growth and life has been discovered, identified and prepared synthetically by Dr. William C. Rose, N.C. © '07, professor of physiological chemistry at the University of Illinois and his associates, Dr. H. E. Carter, Richard H. McCoy and Miss Madelyn Womack of the Physiological Chemistry staff.

The new discovery, known scientifically as alpha-amino-beta-hydroxybutyric, brings to 22 the list of known acids in the proteins of the body, of which eight have been shown to be necessary for life. Proteins taken into the body in such foods as meat, milk and eggs carry the only type of nitrogen available to the use of the body. These proteins are changed, through the digestive processes, into amino acids and the nitrogen fixed in these acids is absorbed by the body.

About five years ago, in attempting to learn which were necessary to life, Dr. Rose and his associates fed animals a mixture of foods containing no protein but to which had been added all of the 21 amino acids then known. The animals receiving such a mixture declined rapidly in weight and eventually died, he explained. This was interpreted as indicating the presence in proteins of a hitherto unknown component which was essential to life. With that in mind a search began for the substance in question. The search was rewarded with the recent isolation of this new acid. When it and the 21 previously known ones are added to an otherwise normal diet, but one which lacks proteins, normal growth and weight are produced. This is the first time on record that animals have grown on mixtures of highly purified acids in place of proteins.

Dr. Rose is of the opinion that this discovery will make it possible to determine which of the twenty-two amino acids present in proteins are necessary for life and which are non-essential. By the use of a diet carrying all, the amino acids may be dropped out one at a time, and the effect of each upon growth accurately determined. This work is already in progress and will require possibly another two years for completion.

After that has been done, Dr. Rose and his staff expect to determine the quantity of all the amino acids which are required for normal growth. It is probable, he thinks, that when such information has been obtained, it may prove to be of clinical value in that the essential amino acids may be administered intravenously to patients who, because of stomach ulcers or other illness, are unable to consume food in the normal fashion. Experiments along this line are now being conducted.

The Rockefeller Foundation has given a grant of $5,000.00 to assist Dr. Rose in his research studies.

A Tireless Worker for Σ A E

By Judge Arthur J. Tuttle, Past E.S.A.

ALEXANDER BOYD ANDREWS, N.C. Ξ '93, one of four brothers who have taken the vows of Minerva at the altar of that historic chapter, is one of the most useful members of Sigma Alpha Epsilon and a citizen and patriot of whom his chapter and the fraternity may well be proud.

A prominent attorney of Raleigh, N.C., and a man of many interests, he finds time to attend many Σ A E functions and he is always doing something for the fraternity in an unobtrusive way. I am told by the editor of THE RECORD that he receives more intelligent help from Brother Andrews than from any other single member of the fraternity.

He is a soldier who prefers to fight in the ranks and who has defeated all efforts to elect him to office. A few years ago Province Gamma, without his knowledge or consent, elected him as Archon. He simply refused to serve and the Supreme Council had to find a successor. Many times he has been mentioned for membership on the Supreme Council but he has uniformly refused to let his name be presented before any National Convention.

His efforts are not confined to Σ A E; the Protestant Episcopal Church, the Masonic order, and the American Bar Association and its various subsidiaries all share in them. Naturally I have come in contact with him principally in connection with his work for Σ A E and the legal profession. I have met him at many conventions, installations and other Σ A E affairs; I have met him at Masonic functions; if I attend a meeting of the American Law Institute in Washington, I am almost sure to meet Brother Andrews; I don't think he ever misses a meeting of the American Bar Association. It doesn't matter where it is held. I usually attend and when I get there one of the first men I meet is Brother Andrews.

Alexander Boyd Andrews, N.C. Ξ '93,
Tireless Worker for Σ A E.

Wherever I go, he seems to know everyone who is there. He not only knows everybody but he wants every one to know every one else. He is always introducing his friends to one another. To me he seems to embody the very idea of fraternity. If Σ A E had a Fairy Godmother I am sure she could do nothing so good for Σ A E as to give the fraternity a thousand members with the ability and will to do unselfish service which characterizes A. B. Andrews.

Although he has no son to whom he can pass on his enthusiasm for Σ A E, he has one nephew who has followed him as a member of North Carolina Xi, Alexander B. Andrews, III, who was graduated from the University of North Carolina in 1934, and another, Graham Andrews, Jr., a pledge. May they follow the example of their modest and useful uncle and may many members of the fraternity draw inspiration from his unselfish work for the cause of Minerva.

Bobby Jones Best Known

Robert Tyre Jones, Ga. Φ '22, international golf champion, scored again when the magazine, Time, sent trained investigators into 4,240 homes of all kinds and classes with a list of world notables whom the persons interviewed were asked to identify. The results tabulated in Time of May 20, 1935, showed that Jones led in percentage of identification, 85.9. It is significant that he was identified by 100 per cent of the men readers of Time and by 97.2 per cent of the women readers interviewed. The names listed and the percentage of identification were as follows:

Bobby Jones 85.9, Samuel Insull 85.3, Hugh S. Johnson 84.9, John N. Garner 78.8, James A. Farley 72.8, H. The Odyssey of a Soul

By Harry S. Bunting, Tennessee Zeta '91

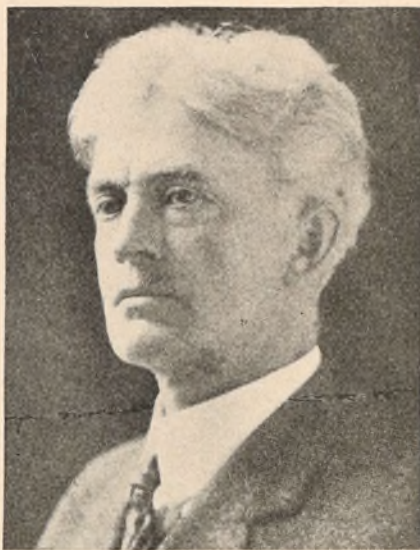

THE character and career of Dr. John Moffatt Mecklin, Tenn. Z '90, have been shaped by ideas and conditions against which he was constantly in revolt. Contrary to the experiences of most rebels and at the price of some unhappiness, he has attained an assured academic status, being now professor of Social Psychology in the Department of Sociology in Dartmouth College, a position he has held since 1919.

He is descended of Scotch-Irish stock, that left Ulster in the early part of the 18th century in a spirit of revolt and crossed the Appalachians into the great central valleys. Dr. Mecklin was born in Mississippi, January 21, 1871, during the disturbed conditions of Reconstruction that followed the war between the states. In this semi-pioneer environment he was subjected to the somber theology and stern puritan ethics of John Calvin. "The wreckful seige of the battling days" has demolished the intellectual framework of this early training, leaving only a respect for the things of the mind and a somewhat bedraggled hope that the forces of righteousness still rule the world.

Not love of sinners so much as pressure of environment combined with thirst for knowledge induced him to study for the Presbyterian ministry, and for four years he imbibed orthodox Presbyterian theology in approved seminaries, specializing in New Testament Greek. An acquaintance with the impressive achievements of higher criticism only strengthened his early antagonism to the futilities of Calvinistic theology. After a half-hearted attempt to preach Calvinism in Georgia, in 1897, he sailed for Europe where he spent four years in study, making his doctorate in Leipzig University in 1900, after which he spent a year in Athens in the American School of Classical Studies, thus consummating a dream cherished from college days.

In ancient Greece he found the freedom and the congenial atmosphere so utterly lacking in his early puritan environment, and returned to America determined to make the Acropolis rather than Mount Sinai central in his philosophy of life. Then came the second disillusionment.

Three years as professor of Greek in the Scotch-Irish Presbyterian College, Washington and Jefferson, convinced him that the Greek love of beauty and the balanced life had little in common with the hard, individualistic and money-minded society of southwestern Pennsylvania. Relief presented itself in the form of an orthodox Presbyterian elder of Philadelphia, who had made a fortune manufacturing carpets and was induced to endow a chair of philosophy for Dr. Mecklin in 1905 in the conservative Presbyterian Lafayette College. This was unfortunate for all concerned, and paved the way for disillusionment number three.

Assuming with the naïveté of the young and enthusiastic instructor that, like Socrates, he would be allowed "to follow the argument" wherever it led him, he soon found himself at odds with a pugnaciously orthodox president, and after eight years of friction he resigned in June, 1913, in the midst of a tremendous academic pow wow, an account of which is given in Skillman's History of Lafayette College, and in the contemporary issues of The Journal of Philosophy.

The issue at stake was academic freedom and the various scientific societies, of which he was a member, investigated the situation and vindicated the position he had taken. The Lafayette case became a cause celebre in the academic world and was partly responsible for the organization of the American Association of University Professors, the primary aim of which is to assure greater security of status to the teaching profession.

From 1913 to 1919 he was professor of philosophy in the University of Pittsburgh.

The year 1913 was the annus mirabilis in the spiritual Odyssey of this scion of conservative Scotch-Irish stock. It witnessed a complete break with John Calvin and his followers. It brought a painful disillusionment as to the trustworthiness of the academic professions of presidents and trustees of so-called "liberal" denominational colleges and led to the conviction that real academic freedom in America is hardly to be found outside the great privately endowed institutions of the East. It furnished conclusive evidence that the things for which the scholar stands are not understood and are frequently despised in American democracy.

Finally the cataclysm of the world war seemed to have swept into the discard whatever remnants of enduring values had survived the shipwreck of a childhood faith. In a world, largely a spiritual and moral bankrupt, he maintains his loyalty to the true and lovely things primarily because he loves youth and the work of the teacher. Having lost all desire to save the world from its sins or convince it of its stupidities, he resigned himself to the much more modest and less adventurous task of understanding why men act as they do. This critically tolerant attitude has found expression in the following books:

"Democracy and Race Friction," 1914, is a critical review of the traditional attitude of the South towards the Negro.

"An Introduction to Social Ethics," 1920, is an examination of the inadequacies of the moral canons of a highly industrialized society, of which Pittsburgh is typical.

"The Ku Klux Klan," 1924, a revised edition of which appeared in French in 1934, is a field study of America's fascist movement of Nativism or one hundred percent Americanism, born of the hectic mental atmosphere induced by the world war.

"The Survival Value of Christianity," 1926, was inspired by Fundamentalism with its futile anti-evolution laws and the imbecilities of the famous Scopes trial at Dayton, Tenn., 1925.

"The Story of American Dissent," 1934, is an attempt to evaluate the contributions to American life of the Quakers and the dissenting-revivalistic groups such as Baptists, Presbyterians and Methodists.

Dr. Mecklin has in preparation another book, suggested by the above studies, which will deal with the role of illusions in mass sentiment. In this work he hopes to suggest his philosophy of life.

DeVotie's Death—Reminiscences of a Comrade

By Capt. H. A. Haralson, 6th Ala. Reg., C. S. A.

(Extract from a paper read to the Selma, Ala., Camp of the United Confederate Veterans. THE RECORD is indebted for this interesting paper, giving intimate details of the death of the Founder of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, to Jonathan Haralson of Birmingham, Ala., a member of Phi Delta Theta, son of the author and a brother of Hugh Anderson Haralson, Jr., Ala. A-M '90.)

TO ME the most impressive event which occurred during our stay of some six months at Fort Morgan was the sudden death, by drowning, of the chaplain of the regiment, Rev. Noble Leslie DeVotie.

This young minister was the pastor of the Baptist church at Selma when, following the secession of Alabama on January 11, 1861, the two military companies—the "Governor's Guards" and the "Selma Blues"—were ordered to the vicinity of Mobile to take possession of Fort Morgan and Fort Gaines which commanded the entrance to Mobile harbor.

He could not bear to see so many young men of the city and of his own congregation volunteer to defend a cause which he, too, held as sacred as his honor and his life, without feeling the heart throb of patriotism bounding in his soul. So, with the consent of his church, he volunteered to go along with the companies of the city, as far as possible, to administer to their wants, and if need be, to stand firmly in the trenches to defend, with rifle in hand, Truth and his Native Land. He, as chaplain, to which office he was appointed as soon as the regiment was formed, was exempt from military duty. He frequently visited Mobile on business for the men, and to enjoy the companionship of those engaged in his own holy calling, and to confer about the grave and momentous questions then looming up.

One evening, just at dark, he came rushing into the casemate where I had my bunk, and stated that he was going over to Mobile. It was then the fashion for young men to wear shawls instead of overcoats. It was cool, and he asked me to lend him my shawl for the trip. This was cheerfully done, and throwing it over his shoulders, he hastened out of the fort to the wharf, where the steamer was lying, with black smoke pouring from its funnels, and bells clanging, announcing a speedy departure. In his hurry to get aboard, he attempted to pass around a pile of lumber on the edge of the wharf, and in his effort to jump across the angle of same he tripped and fell into the water, there only about seven feet deep. Being unable to swim, he was swept by the tide, then running out, under the wharf, along the side of the boat lying against the same, and thus away, around the fort, to the sea.

Thus perished the first soldier in the service of the State, and considering that the conflict had then begun, the first in the War, not by rifle ball or bayonet thrust, or hurtling shell, but by accident; yet in the discharge of his duty for his Country's good. The next morning, DeVotie's body was found washed up on the beach during the storm. Lieutenant James Haralson, with a squad of about a dozen men, was ordered to take it to Columbus, Ga., and bury it with military honors. This we did, the writer being on the detail.

You will excuse me, my comrades, for paying a short tribute to the memory of my pastor and friend, the first martyr to a holy cause, the chaplain of Fort Morgan. Noble L. DeVotie was, in many respects, a remarkable young man. He was, at his death, only about twenty-two years of age. Young as he was, he had much of the wisdom of mature experience. He graduated at the University of Alabama, at the early age of twenty, at the head of his class. He was cheerful, bright, scholarly; a man of research and varied reading. Having a most tenacious memory, he forgot nothing, and had that rare power of adapting what he knew to the subject in hand. His sermons were brilliant and eloquent, so much so, that he soon filled his church with admiring listeners, who often "came to scoff, but remained to pray." His style was argumentative, yet persuasive; his rhetoric, fervid and burning, ornamented with just enough of flowers, of metaphor, and figures of speech to charm but never to cloy. With a heart full of love to God and his sacred calling, he "pointed out the road to Heaven, and led the way." Like Paul of old, he was small of stature, but had a big burning heart.

I was in college with him at Howard College, boarded at his father's home, roomed with him, and had ample opportunity to find him out. There I unravelled the motives and mainsprings of his life. The fabric of his heart was all sound, both in its warp and woof, finely spun.

He was the eldest son of Rev. James H. DeVotie, a very prominent Baptist minister, then located at Marion, Ala. Scholarly and learned himself, he had great aspirations for his gifted son. Nor were his aspirations disappointed. A boy who knew intuitively that the best is only attainable by hard work, even to the most gifted, he became a thorough student. He was up before the dawn, delving ever upon abstruse subjects, and continued the toil till the midnight lamp flickered low in its socket. I often wondered how he could keep it up, but he did, and was graduated with distinguished honors at the University of Alabama in the Class of 1856.

Shortly afterward he was offered the pastorate of the Baptist church in Selma, which he accepted, filling the place not only acceptably to his church and congregation, but to all who heard him, and at once took a high stand among the other pastors of the city, and as a dignified, brilliant young Christian preacher. Young himself, he made friends of the young men of the city, who flocked to hear his preaching. Moved by his pathos, touched by his simple but powerful presentation of the Gospel, and warned by the terrors of God's law, many of them united with his church, and the other churches of the city. They, therefore, joyously welcomed the news of his determination, backed by the approval of his church, to accompany the troops, as chaplain, to Fort Morgan.

He was, on the arrival of the other companies at the fort, promptly elected chaplain of the whole command. He soon became popular with all the fort. Officers and men alike were fond of him. Bright and brave, generous and noble, he went down doing his duty. He sleeps the sleep of a Christian hero and patriot, on the highest point of the beautiful cemetery at Columbus, Ga., where the birds sing and the cool winds blow, "awaiting the coming of his Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ."

Heads Pennsylvania Schools

■ Dr. Lester K. Ade, Pa. Z '20, is the new Superintendent of Public Instruction for the State of Pennsylvania, his appointment by Governor Earle having been confirmed by the Senate. Following his graduation from Bucknell, Dr. Ade took degrees from New York University and Yale. He was teacher and principal in the public schools of Williamsport, Pa., superintendent of the Muncy schools, and in 1927 became dean of the West Chester State Teachers College. After a year he became principal of the Connecticut State Normal School at New Haven which he left to accept his new post. The position to which Dr. Ade has been appointed is a very important one with a four-year term and a salary of $12,000. He can not be removed for political reasons.

Dean Ryder Honored

▪ Dean Edward H. Ryder, Mich. Γ '03, first dean of liberal arts at Michigan State College, was honored by having the 1935 yearbook, the Wolverine, dedicated to him in recognition of the part he has played in the building of the Liberal Arts division. He has been connected with Michigan State since 1905 and became dean of liberal arts in 1925 in which capacity he has acted until forced by a recent illness to give up part of his numerous duties. He is noted as an authority on history and political science and is widely traveled. He was a member of the Columbian Society at Michigan State which became Michigan Gamma in 1927.

Commands Navy Mine Force

▪ Rear Admiral George F. Neal, U. S. Navy, Tenn. K '00, is now in command of the mine force at Honolulu, T.H., having been transferred in March, 1935, from San Diego, Calif., where he was commandant of the naval training stations.

Butler Now Rear Admiral

Navy, was promoted to Rear Admiral on April 1, 1935, and is in command of the Medical Supply Depot, Sands and Pearl Sts., Brooklyn, N.Y. Admiral Butler has had a long and interesting career in the Navy, including a tour of duty with the Service d'Hygiene of the Republic of Haiti at Port au Prince.

Ship Named for Abrams

▪ Frank W. Abrams, N.Y. Δ '12, who has had a remarkably successful career in the petroleum business and is now president of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey with headquarters at 26 Broadway, N.Y., had an unusual honor paid him when a tanker of the Standard Shipping Co., a Standard Oil subsidiary, was given the name "F. W. Abrams."

"LOOK TO THE RECORD"

Reset Upside-Down Stomach

▪ Dr. Philemon Edwards Truesdale, Mass. Γ '98, was the surgeon who operated on Alyce Jane McHenry, the 10-year old girl of Omaha, suffering from diaphragmatic hernia, who was widely publicized by the American press as the "upside-down stomach girl." She was taken to Dr. Truesdale at Fall River, Mass., because his skill in repairing such errors of nature had brought him a wide reputation in the medical profession and a gold medal from the American Medical Association. The operation was performed in March and seems to have been successful for the patient but Dr. Truesdale is still suffering from the effects of the attendant publicity. Although absolved by the Committee on Ethics and Discipline of the Massachusetts Medical Society, from any unethical effort to seek publicity in connection with this case, Dr. Truesdale who was vice-president of this august body found his name left off the list when the nominating committee presented its slate for officers at the meeting held in June. (Lest the publication of this paragraph cause Dr. Truesdale any additional trouble, the editor of the RECORD desires to state that it was written without his knowledge or consent, the facts having been gleaned chiefly from Time of June 17.)

Line Coach at Syracuse

▪ John H. ("Bo") Rowland, Tenn. N '26, formerly assistant coach of football at the University of Oklahoma, has been named as line coach at Syracuse University, being the only man on the staff who is not an alumnus of Syracuse. After a brilliant record as a player at Vanderbilt, Rowland acquired fame as the coach of Henderson-Brown College of Arkadelphia, Ark. His team won the state championship three years, tied for it once, and won every game played with the exception of one tie during the four years, 1927-30.

Lovett Heads Georgia Bar

▪ Judge Archibald B. Lovett, Ga. Ψ '01, formerly presiding judge of the Superior Court of the Eastern Circuit of Georgia and now a prominent practicing attorney of Savannah, was elected president of the Georgia Bar Association in June, 1935, succeeding Graham Wright, Ga. B '11, of Rome. Judge Lovett was formerly a law partner of the late Remer L. Denmark, Ga. B '00.

Recorder-Treasurer Collins

▪ Spencer R. Collins, Ore. B '21, of Eugene, Ore., has been elected Recorder-Treasurer of Province Lambda by the Supreme Council to succeed Emmett B. Moore, Mont. A '24, who was elected archon to fill the vacancy caused by the election of George N. Short as Eminent Supreme Herald by the Washington Convention.

Schwab and St. Louis "Muny"

▪ Laurence Schwab, Mass. Γ '14, author of "Good News," "New Moon," "The Desert Song," and other successes, is adding new laurels to his reputation as the producer of St. Louis' "Muny," as the annual municipal opera season of the Mound City is known. All he had to do during the 1935 season was to put on twelve separate operas during as many weeks. His effort merited a double-page write-up in Time of June 17.

Heads Dakota Alumni

▪ Melvin Telford Woods, S.D. Σ '23, attorney of Sioux Falls where he is a member of the firm, Bailey and Vorhees, and a former state senator, has been elected president of the Alumni Association of the University of South Dakota. At the same election Alfred B. Jaynes, S.D. Σ '20, attorney of Watertown, was chosen for vice-president and Herman W. Frankenfeld, S.D. Σ '20, registrar of the University, was elected recorder.

Five Learned Philosophers

At the 1935 commencement of the University of Illinois, the award of the greatly coveted degree of Doctor of Philosophy to five Σ A Es, Paul M. VanArsdell, Ill. B '27, Edwin T. Mertz, Mont. B '31, Wilber O. Teeters, Iowa B '30, Robert R. Sterrett, Ky. K '27, and Virgil D. Cover, Ill. B '30, attracted considerable attention. When Van Arsdell was called to receive his orange and blue hood, he drew the most enthusiastic applause given any of the candidates. He is an assistant in economics at Illinois and has the reputation of being a tough instructor but the reception given him showed that he is considered a good and fair teacher and one of the most popular young men connected with the Illinois faculty.

Degree for S A E Dog

"Sig," mascot of Illinois Delta of Σ A E at James Millikin University, had the honorary degree, "Bachelor of Canineology," conferred on him at the commencement exercises on June 1st. More than 1,000 students and faculty members, all of them "Sig's" pals, witnessed the presentation of the diploma by President J. C. Hessler at services devoted entirely to the canine "student." The diploma is written in Latin and gotten up in true academic style. "Sig" has attended classes at Millikin regularly for four years and intends to return for post graduate work.

Gerald A. ("Tex") Oliver, Calif. E '21, Head Coach of Football and Track at the University of Arizona.

Oliver Scores at Arizona

Since Gerald A. ("Tex") Oliver, Calif. E '21, became head football and track coach at the University of Arizona three years ago, that institution's prominence in those sports has advanced greatly. The two football teams that "Tex" has produced at Arizona have lost but five games, and these by a margin no larger than one touchdown. Only twice during the two seasons has more than one touchdown been scored against his team. In 1934 Oliver's eleven won seven games, including a 31-7 victory over Amos Alonzo Stagg's College of the Pacific. During the three seasons that Oliver has coached track at the University his teams have been the Border Conference champions. In the first two seasons of Oliver's guidance his team amassed more points than all other teams combined in the annual Conference meet. This spring he took three teams to the Kansas and Drake Relays, where they won a second at Kansas and a fourth at Drake. Of the eight men making this trip, three—Charley Fowler (captain), George Howall and Andy Rogers—were Σ A Es. Oliver was graduated from Occidental College. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

My Darling Σ A E

By Philip A. Rush,
Mississippi Gamma '83

Count your many blessings, one by one;
Count your daily blessings at the setting of the sun;
Count the other blessings that come to thee;
Then count a double blessing for Σ A E.
Σ A E—Σ A E;
Then count a double blessing for Σ A E.

At the primary school, it was A. B. C.;
When I got up to Hi, it was X, Y and Z;
But when I came to town, to the university,
O there's where they showed me Σ A E;
Σ A E—Σ A E;
O there's where they showed me Σ A E.

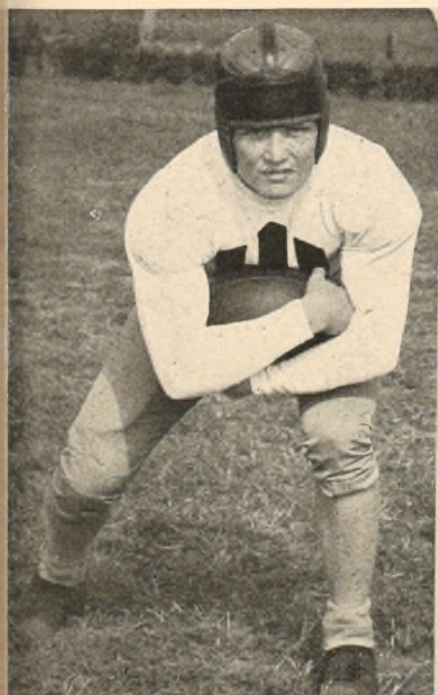

I had lots of fun with A. B. C;
And it wasn't so bad with X, Y and Z;
But O, My Brothers,—you may take it from me—
My joy of all joys was Σ A E.
Σ A E—Σ A E;
My joy of all joys was Σ A E.

I've lived a long life; I've been "in the swim";
I've sipped the cup of pleasure when full to the brim;
I've enjoyed many friends and much fair company—
But nothing's ever happened like Σ A E.
Σ A E—Σ A E;
But nothing's ever happened like Σ A E.

Our DeVotie's Foundation was the best of all;
And so we never shall fail or fall;
And the Purple and Gold forever will be Gleaming on the banner of Σ A E.
Σ A E—Σ A E;
Gleaming on the banner of Σ A E.

Although in this ballad of my life I now sing
Of some joys that are gone like the roses of spring,
New joys are still coming to my heart from thee,
My love of the years— My Darling Σ A E.
Σ A E—Σ A E;
My love of the years—My Darling Σ A E.

Count your many blessings; one by one;
Count your daily blessings at the setting of the sun;
Count the other blessings that come to thee,
Then count a double blessing for Σ A E.
Σ A E—Σ A E
Then count a double blessing for Σ A E.

Apology to Pi Beta Phi

■ An unintentional injustice which is greatly regretted was done to Pi Beta Phi in the May issue of THE RECORD in which the statement was made that it had withdrawn from North Carolina, Nebraska and Michigan. There was no foundation in fact for this statement which was an inadvertence. Due apology to Pi Beta Phi is cheerfully made.

Vital Statistics

■ Births and mergers in the Greek Letter world of recent months have been as follows:

Installations have been: Alpha Phi, Zeta Beta Tau, and Phi Kappa Psi at Duke University; Kappa Sigma at Hobart College; Theta Upsilon, City Association in Denver; Phi Sigma Epsilon at State Teachers College, Conway, Ark.; Sigma Tau Gamma, Arkansas State Teachers College; Theta Tau and Tau Kappa Epsilon at George Washington University; Alpha Omega Pi and Delta Phi Epsilon at University of Georgia; Sigma Sigma Sigma at State Teachers College, Conway, Ark., Clarion and Lock Haven, Pa.; Phi Eta Sigma at University of Idaho; Sigma Iota Chi at the Portia Law School for Women; Kappa Psi at Howard College's School of Pharmacy; Delta Upsilon at the Universities of Alberta and British Columbia; Alpha Xi Delta at Michigan State College; Alpha Lambda Tau at University of Maryland; Tau Beta Pi at Rutgers University; Theta Kappa Psi at University of Southern California's School of Medicine; and Delta Tau Delta at Lawrence College. Mortar Board has a new chapter at Michigan State and Alpha Omega Pi has a new Alumnæ Chapter in Toronto.

New charter grants have been: Kappa Nu at University of Tennessee; Omicron Epsilon Pi at University of Mississippi; Alpha Lambda Tau at Missouri School of Mines and Michigan State College; Delta Sigma Pi in the College of Business Administration of Rider College; Theta Kappa Nu at Washington College, and Beta Kappa at University of Akron.

Mergers have been: Omega Tau Delta and Phi Epsilon Pi at Ohio University; Sigma Mu Sigma and Tau Kappa Epsilon at Illinois, Purdue, and George Washington.

New developments have been:

1. The decision of Sigma Xi, scientific honorary fraternity to place its first chapter at a woman's college, at Smith. The decision, to quote the fraternity officials, "represents not only a departure from the historic policy of Sigma Xi, but also an entirely proper recognition by Sigma Xi of the scientific competency of women."

2. The first sorority in the United States for women students from China, at the University of Michigan. Comprising 20 Chinese women, naming itself Sigma Sigma Phi, the organization is operating a chapter house and planning a chapter in Shanghai.

3. The application for a charter by the Negro butlers employed in fraternity houses at the University of Georgia, to incorporate a fraternity to be known as Sigma King. The first name indicates Greek origin and King means at "the top" in local Afro-American circles.

Highest Tribunal

■ Eight of the nine men who recently struck a note that will be reverberating for some time to come, when they declared the New Deal unconstitutional, are members of Greek Letter fraternities. Chief among the justices of the Supreme Court, Charles Evans Hughes is a member of Delta Upsilon. Willis Van Devanter, one of the oldest of the associate justices, belongs to Beta Theta Pi. Sutherland and McReynolds, next in years of service, are members of Phi Delta Phi and Phi Delta Theta respectively. Harlan Stone is a member of Alpha Delta Phi, and Pierce Butler wears the badge of Phi Kappa Psi. Roberts claims Psi Upsilon as his society, and Cardozo, the youngster of the bench, is a member of Zeta Beta Tau. Brandeis, the renowned liberal of the Court, is the only member who does not belong to a fraternity.

Social Charter

■ Appended to Ernestine Grigsby's intelligent and convincing refutation of current criticism of the American college fraternity system in the Fraternity Month, is a codification of advice that is worth perusal. We reprint it here, omitting the rather puerile heading of the original, which was "Suggestion; How to avoid criticism," and present it as a lucid statement of the aims and objectives of a sensible, working organization.

1. Be constructive, always.
2. Avoid expensive social activities.
3. Help those less fortunate than yourselves.
4. Cooperate with the College ("The college comes first").
5. Be democratic, not snobbish!
6. Be fair in your rushing.
7. Abolish the paddle entirely.
8. No roughhousing or silly horseplay in initiations. Keep all initiation activities within the chapter house.
9. Don't overbuild, over-spend; be economical.
10. Avoid "dirty" politics. Better lose honorably than to win dishonestly.
11. Don't attempt to quell the individuality of your members.
12. Instruct and train your younger members in honor, character, unselfishness.
13. Remember that your prime reason for going to college is to learn: keep your scholarship high.
14. Keep constructive publicity flowing to the press.
15. Be decent, clean, honorable citizens.

Confusion and Confoundment

■ In preparing the vital statistics for this issue, the confusion created by the different institutions of the land whose names perpetuate the memory of the first president, made this jeremiad of the Cross and Crescent of Lambda Chi Alpha, timely and welcome.

It looks as if fraternity editors will have some trouble in differentiating between these Washingtons satisfactorily for their readers. Aside from Washington College in Chestertown, Md., there are the University of Washington in Seattle, Washington University in St. Louis, Mo., and Washington State College in Pullman. For good measure we might throw in Washington and Jefferson in Washington, Pa., and Washington and Lee in Lexington, Va. It is almost as bad with Colorados: University of Colorado at Boulder, Colorado College at Colorado Springs, Colorado State Agricultural College at Fort Collins, and Colorado School of Mines at Golden. Possibly there may be other Colorados, but these are the only ones having chapters of the general fraternities.

How the Girls Stack Up

■ Σ A Es, accustomed to hearing discussions and comparisons in the field of fraternity strength and expansion, will be interested to note the numerical ranking by chapters in the sorority world. The table accompanies the Fraternity Month's review of the history and philanthropic work of the leading sororities.

It is interesting to note that Chi Omega still leads with 88; that Delta Delta Delta is second with 87; while Pi Beta Phi with 79 is third; Kappa Kappa Gamma has 71, and Kappa Delta has 69.

Nobel Prize

■ Until last year only three American medical investigators have seen their researches crowned with the accolade of the Nobel Prize. For work in liver therapy in anemia, two Harvard Medical School doctors and the Dean of the University of Rochester Medical School received the 1934 Prize in Medicine. The last named is Dr. George W. Whipple, a member of Beta Theta Pi.

Chemistry of the Fairer Sex

Symbol—WO.
Member of the human family.
Specific Gravity—Variable; molecular structure exceedingly variable.
Occurrence—Can be found wherever man exists.
Physical Properties—All colors, sizes and shapes.
Generally appears in disguised condition; natural surface rarely free from an extraneous covering of textiles or film of grease and pigments.
Melts readily when properly treated. Boils at nothing and may freeze at any moment.
Ordinarily sweet, occasionally sour, and sometimes bitter.
Chemical Properties—Exceedingly volatile, highly inflammable and dangerous in the hands of an inexperienced person.
Possesses great affinity for gold, silver, platinum and precious stones of all kinds.
Capable of absorbing astonishing quantities of expensive foods and beverages.
Reacts violently when left alone. Turns green when placed next to a better appearing specimen.
Ages rapidly.—Exchange, via the Quarterly of Phi Beta Pi.

■ Through the compliments of the authors the Library of the Levere Memorial Temple has added to its shelves two reprints of importance and interest. The first, by St. Clair A. Switzer, Ohio T '28, is offprinted from the Journal of Experimental Psychology, Oct. 1934, and is entitled Anticipatory and Inhibitory Characteristics of Delayed Conditioned Reactions, and the second is by Judge Walter B. Jones, Past E.S.A., Presiding Judge of the Fifteenth Judicial Circuit Alabama and President of Jones University. It is reprinted from the Notre Dame Lawyer of Nov., 1934, and bears the title Conflict of Laws in Divorce Cases.

He was a prominent figure in the pioneer days of $\Sigma A E$ in Ohio, was the delegate of Ohio Epsilon to the Washington Convention of 1894, took an active part in the Ohio State Convention at Delaware that year, and was elected treasurer of Province Delta at its first convention, held in Cincinnati, March 9, 1895. In writing of his death, Past E.S.A. Alfred K. Nippert says: "I believe that the rise of Ohio Epsilon is due largely to the efforts of two men, Dr. George H. Kress and Romer Peters."

WILLIAM LANDERS MAY

Oklahoma Mu '36

■ William Landers May, Okla. M '36, an active member of the chapter at Oklahoma A. & M. College, was killed in an automobile accident at Ardmore, Okla., on April 20, 1935, while returning from a dance which he had attended in company with several of his chapter mates.

JUDGE DAVIS FREEMAN

Georgia Beta '83

■ Judge Davis Freeman, Ga. B '83, for twenty-seven years judge of the City Court of Savannah, Ga., died at his home in that city June 6, 1935. He was largely responsible for the founding of Georgia Phi at the Georgia School of Technology, influencing his younger brother, George Freeman, Ga. Phi '92, deceased, to organize a group who became the charter members.

PAUL BOYER WILSON

Pennsylvania Delta '29

Lt. Paul Boyer Wilson, Air Corps, U.S. Army, Pa. Delta '29, who will be remembered as the "flying cadet" who entertained the Washington Convention with his songs and ukulele selections was killed at Taylor, Tex., April 18, 1935, when his plane crashed while on a cross-country flight from Riverside, Calif., where he was attached to the 73rd Pursuit Squadron, to Carlisle, Pa., to spend the Easter holidays with his parents. He was the author of several songs, including "Sweetheart of $\Sigma A E$," "Flying Cadet Dream Girl," and "Sons of Air Corps." He was buried with full military honors at Carlisle, several $\Sigma A E$ s being among the pallbearers.

PLEASANT A. STOVALL

Georgia Beta '75

■ Pleasant Alexander Stovall, Ga. B '75, founder and editor of the Savannah Press of Savannah, Ga., author and diplomat, died suddenly in Savannah May 14, 1935. From 1913 to 1920 he acted as United States minister to Switzerland, having been appointed by President Woodrow Wilson who had been his boyhood friend at Augusta, Ga. He was the author of "The Life of Robert Toombs," the standard biography of the great Georgia senator.

KENNETH A. ROACH

Wyoming Alpha '31

■ Kenneth A. Roach, Wyo. A '31, died of pneumonia in a hospital at Rawlins, Wyo., June 12, 1935. He was superintendent of the State Prison Farm at Riverton and was well and favorably known over the entire state. He was greatly beloved by the members of Wyoming Alpha and the $\Sigma A E$ burial service was held for him. As his badge could not be located at the time, Lloyd Dowler, Wyo. A '34, gave his official badge to be used.
