Gardiner Plays Star Role in Africa

AMONG American officers who have distinguished themselves in North Africa, top rank is taken by Lt. Col. Henry E. Gardiner, Mont. A '28, for the part he took in the battle of February 22, 1943, in Tunisia. Skilfully maneuvering his medium tank company, he knocked out ten German tanks without losing one at Tebessa Pass in the Kasserine Valley.

Thrice decorated for outstanding heroism and for shoulder wounds he received at Djedeida on December 2, Gardiner was promoted from major to lieutenant colonel on January 27 for his action in the Ousseltia Valley of Tunisia where his tank company fought for two weeks. In the opening days of the invasion of North Africa he won the Silver Star and the Order of the Purple Heart for his heroism. When the armored force general promoted Gardiner he told John Thompson, Chicago Tribune correspondent:

"Henry Gardiner is promoted for exemplary bravery on the field of battle and unusual leadership. You will find that every man in his outfit will follow him anywhere."

The thirty-seven-year-old tank commander led a battalion which successfully covered the withdrawal of American forces from Sbeitla, and after his own General Lee tank was destroyed, he escaped on foot through the German lines. On February 19 he was recommended for the Distinguished Service Cross and his battalion was cited for the "finest discipline, superb leadership and unflinching courage."

DODGES THE PANZERS

In his twenty-five mile hike Gardiner escaped from a German tank concentration after four German shells disabled his tank and killed his driver. He walked twenty hours through enemy territory and three times ducked into cactus bushes to dodge the panzers.

His harrowing hike began when his own tank was knocked out in a rear-guard action near Sbeitla. Under fire from twice its weight of enemy tanks, Gardiner's tank was hit by four German shells. One of them knocked a track off the tank and it started to burn. Gardiner and his crew got out, the colonel personally lifting out one member and carrying him on his back for a mile until he could be placed aboard another tank. Then Gardiner took cover in a wadi (dry water-course), but found German tanks racing through it and had to take to the open plain. In a United Press dispatch by Donald Coe, Gardiner told the story:

Then American artillery began shelling the area because of the concentration of German tanks. I then was near the edge of the wadi between two cactus bushes. When the shelling stopped one tank headed straight for me.

A lot goes through one's mind at a time like that. I wondered if the driver would see me. Just then he veered to the left and passed about forty yards away. As he went by I kept wiggling around the cactus bush to present the smallest possible target. Twice more I repeated this maneuver as other tanks swerved past.

Waiting until dark, Gardiner headed south, in the belief he was skirting the German flank, but soon found himself so close to enemy tanks that he could hear their crews conversing. He bore west.

A half-track and some other vehicles came over the ridge toward me suddenly. I thought all eyes were glued on me. But the half-track passed on. After that I passed some tracks that must have been made by those German Mark VI tanks. They were twenty-seven inches across.

Gardiner crossed the plain, flattened himself every time he heard a noise. Toward dawn he saw two figures who hid when he took to the ground. He discovered they were Arabs, and they directed him to a hut where he found two French soldiers. There, for 100 francs, he purchased a chicken and a native breakfast.

REARED IN MONTANA

The tall, wiry tank commander's background well fitted him for the Indian tactics which made his escape possible. Born in Anaconda, Mont., where his father was a veterinarian and sheep rancher, he learned to handle a gun and pack horse at an early age, rounding up lost sheep and killing bears and coyotes that preyed on the flock. After his graduation from Montana State College and Cornell University Law School he joined the legal staff of the Anaconda Wire and Cable Service.

With a strong love for horses and having played polo at Cornell University, Colonel Gardiner enlisted as a private in the famous Black Horse Squadron of the 106th Cavalry, Illinois National Guard. When the outfit entered federal service in November, 1940, Gardiner was serving as Chicago counsel for the Anaconda company. Two months before he had been commissioned a second lieutenant; a year later he was made captain and appointed aide to the corps major general. He became a major October 23, 1942, and lieutenant colonel on January 27.

Colonel Gardiner's recent battle success is due partly to his experiences in the mountains of Montana, his sister, Mrs. Gail R. Soper, of Evanston, Ill., believes. She grew up with him and attended Montana State College with him, living in the IIBΦ house across the street from the Montana Alpha chapter house where Gardiner was active in ΣAE.

In a letter written in mid-January, Gardiner wrote his sister that he could hardly tell the difference between some parts of the African country and certain parts of Arizona and Southern California, except—he added—for the presence of Arabs rather than Indians and Mexicans. Mrs. Soper showed evidence of her brother's sense of humor in another letter where he had written that "Things have been coming out of the sky which are much heavier than rain."

The Fraternity in the South Pacific

JUMPING from Fraternity work into foreign service in the Navy was a little bewildering at first, but after a few months in the semi-tropics, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and the United States were very close again, when members of ΣΑΕ bobbed up from various places.

In convoy with thousands of men aboard I expected to encounter ΣΑΕ at once due to the vastness of the Fraternity's membership. I was among several officers last May, en route to the South Pacific to serve on the Staff of the Commander. I found no ΣΑΕs among the officers but most of them were fraternity men.

Topside one fine morning I discovered that Lt. "Judge" Lemuel Campbell Bryan was a ΚΣ at the University of Arkansas, and he told me all about ΣΑΕ's Alpha-Upsilon chapter there. Judge Bryan, who became legal aide to the Commander, and who proved himself a real character and jolly friend of the officers, said that ΣΑΕ and ΚΣ at Arkansas were the best groups for cooperation, when it came to rushing. "We sent rushees to look over the ΣΑΕs and Sig Alphas did the same for us, and as a result we both got a good gang of boys," the Judge remarked, as he pulled at his thin mustache, which eventually developed into a real handlebar number.

After several weeks in Auckland, New Zealand, I discovered no ΣΑΕs. The National Office in Evanston, Ill., had no record of members there, only providing a list of members residing in Australian cities. I had asked for names of members in New Zealand as well as Australia, as I did not know where I would be located.

As some time elapsed before information came from the National Office I became impatient for any possible contacts. So, I ran an ad in the classified section of one of the Auckland newspapers. I was certain the ad would get some attention as classified material appears on the front page of newspapers there.

The ad brought no fraternity response except for comments from officers who were fraternity men. A Marine Colonel said: "I am a ΣΧ. Maybe I should try to round up my brothers here. There certainly must be some ΣΧs in this part of the world." However, the ad did bring one unusual response. I received a letter from a local woman who had known a young lady by the name of Gable whom she had met on tour from the States. The woman wanted to know if we were related. A telephone conversation with this lady cleared the matter and led to an invitation to her business office which promised introduction to several young ladies!

Leaving Auckland and going aboard in August for a six months' period, I met my first ΣΑΕ in the area. This was Lt. (jg) Claude R. Smith, Jr., La. T-T '37, who was assigned to the same department as I. Fresh from Washington with a year's Naval experience to his credit, he seemed amazed to find a representative of his fraternity's national office aboard.

After being aboard several weeks, during which time Lt. Smith and I had opportunity to discuss fraternity from Alpha to Omega, I met another member whom I had known very well in the States. One day I saw a familiar face in the companion way. This visitor aboard was Lt. Robert E. Newman, Ill. Ψ-Ω '40, a survivor of the U.S.S. Colhoun. He hardly recognized me at first due to my short hair cut and uniform, and not expecting to find me in Naval service. I was happy to confirm the Red Cross report in Evanston, his home, that Bob was still very much alive.

Then, there came the day when I was established ashore in February. I met another member, Ensign Roy D. Christensen, Neb. Α-II '38, of Blair, Neb. I discovered him in my department when he started to whistle "Violets" while beating on a typewriter. In my fraternity work I had visited his chapter at Nebraska, so we had considerable to talk about.

In my quonset hut ashore, one day, where I lived with two Betas, a Phi Delt and a Kappa Sig, I met John R.

In South Pacific: Lt. (jg) Claude R. Smith, Jr., La. T-T '36, and Ensign Don M. Gable, Ohio Δ '35, Associate Editor of THE RECORD. At the time the photograph was taken they were in the same department with the Command Staff of the South Pacific Fleet.

Robinson, Va. Σ '39, who had come ashore to visit one of the Betas from Washington and Lee. Robinson is the brother of Lt. Frederick M. Robinson, Jr., Va. Σ '36, Puerto Rico, and the son of Frederick M. Robinson, Mo. B '04, of St. Louis. Incidentally the other Beta roommate happened to be from Cincinnati where he knew many ΣΑΕs and had heard a lot about Judge Alfred K. Nippert, Ohio E '94, Past E.S.A.

It was this Cincinnati Beta, J. E. Atkinson, who later introduced me to Major Vic G. Weaver, Ohio M '22, who was with the Army photographic interpretation unit where we were stationed. I met him in our Navy club and we had a good chat about Ohio Mu at Denison, the National Office, and about many prominent members and fraternity workers we both knew.

A few days later, at the Navy mess hall I ran into Ensign Linas Brown, Ind. B' 38, who had had the unusual experience of surviving two ship disasters, the Lexington and the Yorktown. When I met Ensign Brown he was assigned to his third carrier. I gave him a copy of the December, 1942, issue of THE RECORD, which carried an article about his experiences.

Members mentioned were met within about five months. According to service records at the National Office, many members are assigned to the South Pacific, perhaps most of them on ships, and I hope eventually to meet more of them. At the time of this writing, March 7, two days before the anniversary of the Fraternity, Major Weaver, Ensign Brown and myself have been trying to get together for a photograph with a tropical background, and followed by dinner.

Several times Ensign Brown and myself have planned to be together but the reason why we are here, war, seems to interfere! For instance, one time a definite dinner engagement was arranged and at the last minute it was necessary for me to have the signal officer send a visual message, asking Brown to take a raincheck on his invitation. Yes, there is a lot of work to be done here and social life must fall in where it can.

In this distant point among the palms, flamboyant, banana, coconut and date trees and quaint buildings, and where one sees a mixture of natives with sarongs and bushy hair, none of us knows from one moment to the next when we shall be thousands of miles apart. Meeting one's fraternity brothers out here where it is always summer with a cool breeze, "just happens," and every time it does, I mark it up as my lucky day.

Navy Cross for Pilot

AWARD of the Navy Cross for "extraordinary heroism" to Lt. (jg) William Hall, USNR, Miss. Ø '41, was announced by the Eighth Naval District March 10, 1943.

Lt. Hall, a native of Tupelo, Miss., was pilot of a fighter plane aboard the ill-fated carrier, Wasp, the sinking of which he survived. He is now stationed at Jacksonville, Fla. He was decorated for his bravery in sinking a Japanese four-motored flying boat during the operations in the Solomons. The citation, accompanying the medal, read:

For extraordinary heroism as pilot of a fighter plane during action against the enemy Japanese forces in the Solomon Islands. During operations of the U. S. naval and marine forces in support of the occupation of the islands, Lt. Hall, with utter disregard for his own personal safety in the face of tremendous anti-aircraft fire, pressed home a fearless and determined attack against a hostile four-engined flying boat and shot it down. His gallant initiative and courageous devotion to duty were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States naval service.

Aids Major's Escape

LT. PROCTOR L. DOUGHERTY, JR., W.C. P '35, now a prisoner of the Japanese in the Philippines, made possible the escape of a major before the fall of Bataan, and the latter officer accidentally met Proctor L. Dougherty, Sr., in Washington, D.C., at the University Club, on Christmas Eve. He told the exciting story of his escape from Bataan "four hours before its surrender," when he was aided by Lieutenant Dougherty, whom he referred to as "Doc." Told the major:

Four hours before the surrender of Bataan I had a chance to escape, so I dashed up to the motor transport depot where "Doc" had charge, to see if I had a chance of getting an auto. At this point of battle we had been pushed right down to the tip of Bataan with the Japs surrounding us on one side and the water on the other. We had to work fast! Doc had one dilapidated auto left. I got in and dashed down to our nearest airport on the beach. . . . There I found a small plane, shoved a man in the baggage compartment and pulled off with the Japs firing at our tail. A one-man, one-motor plane with practically no gas was our only hope. We flew for about six hours before I saw that we were running out of gas, and that we were going to have to crash.

Without food for five days and nights the major and his "buddy in the baggage compartment" crashed at ninety miles per hour at midnight on a sand bar off Cebu Island. Only slightly injured, wading to the island they found forty American officers waiting to fly to Australia on a plane which was expected. The plane arrived and forty-two men piled into a four-motored bomber with twenty-five man capacity. The ship made it to Australia, however.

The major took part in the battles of Darwin and New Guinea, then flew to America. In Washington, D.C., he met Lieutenant Dougherty's father on Christmas Eve, and told him:

When I last saw "Doc" he was just as cheerful as ever in his mountain hole. Lord, he has the biggest feet I ever saw, and especially in those GI shoes! He had on an overseas hat, tan shirt with sleeves rolled up, tan pants, a .45 revolver on one hip and a Bolo on the other. Tall and skinny as the deuce, but then, he was never fat. All the kids lost between twenty-five and thirty pounds, but I only lost six. We used to joke and kid as much as we could, and they all said they were going to stick by me 'cause some day I'd make good eating!

Nine chances out of ten "Doc" is still alive and working at one of the docks, loading ships for the Japs. They are looting the islands of everything. "Doc" is such a swell guy that he won't antagonize the Japs and probably will make a good prisoner. . . .

I lived with "Doc" at Clark Field for a few months before the war broke out and we had many good times together. When war started we had two meals a day consisting mainly of salmon and rice. Then as things got worse we had pickings. I did a lot of combat fighting and "Doc" stayed up in his little area and kept the planes and trucks going. He did a swell job and was always tearing around keeping things in shape. It was a job, but we depended upon him. The Japs paid a terrible price for what they got, more than anyone realizes. . . .

Foss Is Saved from Sharks

AMONG the exciting adventures experienced by America's leading aerial ace, Capt. Joseph J. Foss, S.D. Σ '40, who has bagged twenty-six Nip' planes (THE RECORD, March), was a forced landing in shark-infested, Solomon Islands waters, which nearly ended his career.

Interviewed at the aviators' rest camp at an advanced base, Captain Foss told Clay Gowran, Chicago Tribune correspondent, how it feels to crash-land in the water and to float for three hours among sharks and close to man-eating crocodiles. Foss' inability to swim probably saved his life, strange as that may seem.

The forced landing occurred November 7 after fierce dog-fighting during which Foss' "Flying Circus" shot down eight Zeros, Foss himself bagging two of them. After knocking out number eight Captain Foss' plane developed motor trouble. As he described it:

I had just started back when my motor missed, caught again, and then cut out for good. I'm telling you my hair stood up so straight it raised the helmet off my head. There was only one thing to do, so I did it —took her in low over the water near the island and sat down tail first. Then trouble really came.

My plane sank like a rock, and before I knew it it was thirty feet down. My parachute straps caught on the seat and I couldn't seem to get loose. Finally I tore free, slid out of the cockpit and bobbed to the surface. The buoyant parachute at first floated me rear end up and head down, but I moved it frontwards and inflated my Mae West [life belt] and then I was all right.

I started towards shore, but the current was too strong. I floated for three hours in the same spot, just waiting. I would swear that twice I saw shark fins cut the water a few feet away. It was a horrible feeling.

Finally Foss was found by a planter in a canoe, who informed him that if he had tried to swim ashore, man-eating crocodiles, infesting the peninsula, would have made short work of him. Foss said, "Thank God, I'm no swimmer."

The planter took Foss to a mission on the island, which was Malaita, inhabited by what are considered the worst natives in the Solomons. After spending a fantastic eight hours there, with natives and missionaries, his spread-out chute was spotted by a fellow pilot from the air, and hours later a flying boat came and carried him back to Guadalcanal.

General Adams

CLIMAXING a military career which began in the Mexican border war, prior to the entry of the United States into World War I, Claude M. Adams, Tenn. K '18, was nominated for promotion to brigadier general by President Roosevelt late in March, 1943.

During World War I, he served overseas in the AEF, attaining the rank of captain and taking part in the Ypres-Lys and Somme offensives. He is a native of Humboldt, Tenn., and was a student in the College of Agriculture at the University of Tennessee where he was initiated by Tennessee Kappa.

MINERVA'S GOLD STAR VICTIMS

(Reported since February 15, 1943)

Ensign Samuel G. McFadden, Va.  $\Sigma$  '41, Tex. P, Tex.  $\Delta$  '42, Killed in Torpedo Plane Crash, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., March 2, 1943.

2ND LT. WILLIAM A. LASBY

■ Army Air Corps bombardier pilot, 2nd Lt. William A. Lasby, Mont. B '43, was killed at MacDill Field, Tampa, Fla., December 29, 1942, as carried in THE RECORD, March issue. He was hurled from the nose of the plane when it went out of control momentarily while being brought in for a landing. He plunged from the plane when it was about 700 feet from the ground, and his failure to pull the rip cord of the parachute indicates he was knocked unconscious in falling. After the tragedy the pilot regained control of the plane and landed without damage. A full military burial was held for Lt. Lasby, and the flag from the casket was presented to his father, Joseph O. Lasby, Mont. B '33, as a token of gratitude from the country for which he died.

1ST LT. HERBERT H. KNOWLTON

■ On a special training mission 1st Lt. Herbert H. Knowlton, S.D.  $\Sigma$  '41, Army Air Corps, crashed to his death in a Consolidated bomber near Hamilton Field, San Francisco, Calif., December 6, 1942. At the University of South Dakota Herbert Knowlton was an outstanding ROTC student and member of Scabbard and Blade and Pershing Rifles. Having completed a CAA course at the University he became a flying cadet in September, 1941, was commissioned April 24, 1942.

LT. RICHARD KING THACKSTON

■ From injuries suffered in an automobile accident, Lt. Richard King Thackston, USNR, N.Y. A '32, died at New Haven, Conn., February 26, 1943. He was driving a light coupe on the afternoon of February 20th near Madison, Conn., when his car was struck by a trailer truck. He had entered the navy several months ago and had completed indoctrinal training only a few weeks before the accident.

Died in Service

91. Lt. Richard King Thackston, N.Y. A '32, USNR, died at New Haven, Conn., February 26, 1943, of injuries suffered in an auto accident near Madison, Conn., a week previously.

92. 2nd Lt. William Douglas Beene, La. E '40, Army Air Corps ferry pilot, was killed in service, according to word from Latin America via the War Department.

93. Ensign Samuel G. McFadden, USNR, Va.  $\Sigma$  '41, Tex. P, Tex.  $\Delta$  '42, was killed in the crash of his torpedo plane on the landing field, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., at the end of a night flight, March 2, 1943.

94. Robert E. Belcher, Ga. E '41, Army Air Corps, was reported by the War Department in March, 1943, as having been killed in the Pacific Area.

95. Capt. Harris F. Collier, Tenn. N '41, Army Air Corps, was killed in a bomber explosion near Springfield, Ohio, January 26, 1943.

96. 1st Lt. Ralph E. Garst, Idaho A '41, Army Air Corps, was killed in the crash of a plane in which he was a passenger near Dallas, Tex., January 14, 1943.

Missing in Action

19. Lt. Kenneth Steward, Jr., La. E '40, has been reported missing in action in North Africa since February 13, 1943.

20. 1st Lt. H. Gaither Perry, Jr., Fla. T '40, Infantry, has been reported missing in action since February 27, 1943.

Prisoners of War

12. Lt. (jg) Charles Joseph Lightfoot, USNR, Wash. A '39, carried as missing since June 1, 1942, was officially reported to be a prisoner of the Japanese in the Philippines in March, 1943.

13. Capt. Thomas Walker Davis, Tenn. N '35, Coast Artillery, has been listed as a prisoner of the Japanese since the fall of Corregidor.

14. Lt. Frank H. Colley, Ga. B '36, Field Artillery, reported missing in action in North Africa after February 14, 1943, was reported in April as a prisoner of the Germans.

2ND LT. WILLIAM DOUGLAS BEENE

■ 2nd Lt. William Douglas Beene, La. E '40, Army Air Corps Ferry Pilot, first reported missing in action, was killed in service, according to information sent by the War Department September 24, 1942. The telegram stated that news from Latin America substantiated his death.

CHARLES WALLACE WEBB, JR.

■ Minutes after calmly ordering a student pilot to bail out, Charles Wallace Webb, Jr., N.Y. A '41, civilian pilot flying instructor, crashed to death near Schenectady, N.Y., January 18, 1942, after motor trouble developed in his two-seater training plane. He was to leave the following day to assume duties as instructor at Pine Bluff, Ark., Army Flying School. The student parachuted to ground safely, but Webb was unable to leave the plane. He is survived by his widow who was a bride of seven weeks at the time of his death and a son, Charles Wallace, III, born posthumously.

ENSIGN SAMUEL G. McFADDEN

■ Ensign Samuel G. McFadden, USNR, Va.  $\Sigma$  '41, Tex. P, Tex.  $\Delta$  '42, was killed in the crash of his torpedo plane on the landing field at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., the night of March 2, 1943. He was married to Miss Sally Williams of Jackson, Miss., December 4, 1942.

LT. FRANK H. COLLEY

■ Front-rank fighter in the field artillery, Lt. Frank H. Colley, Ga. B '36, reported missing in North Africa after February 14, 1943, was reported in April as a prisoner of the Germans. Enlisting in the army in February, 1942, having almost completed work for his Ph.D. degree at Duke University, he soon was commissioned at Fort Sill, Okla. Two days after this he was sent overseas with the field artillery, going first to England and later to Africa.

1ST LT. H. GAITHER PERRY, JR.

■ 1st Lt. H. Gaither Perry, Jr., Fla. T '40, liaison officer, attached to an infantry headquarters in North Africa, has been reported missing in action since February 27, 1943. He is the grandson of Dr. Henry Gaither Perry, Ala. A-M '80.

LT. KENNETH STEWARD, JR.

■ Lt. Kenneth Steward, Jr., La. E '40, has been reported as missing in action in North Africa since February 13, 1943.

1st Lt. Ralph E. Garst, Ida. A '41, Army Air Corps, after making two successful trips to Africa in the ferrying service, was killed in the crash of a plane in which he was a passenger near Dallas, Tex., January 14, 1943. He was returning to his station at Memphis, Tenn., after a short furlough.

In Memoriam

SINCE the March issue of THE RECORD went to press, the names of six additional members of Sigma Alpha Epsilon who have made the supreme sacrifice while serving in the armed forces of the United States have been reported to the National Office, bringing the total reported killed to ninety-six as of April 10, 1943. In addition, twenty have been reported as missing in action and fourteen as prisoners of war.

Vessel Named for Smartt

■ Among five escort vessels named for men who gave their lives in the present war and launched in the Greater Boston area on Washington's Birthday was the Smartt, named for Ensign Joseph Gillespie Smartt, Texas Δ '41, who was killed during the Japanese attack on the U. S. Naval Air Station at Kaneohe Bay, Oahu, Hawaii, December 7, 1941, as carried in the March, 1942, issue of THE RECORD. The vessel was sponsored by Ensign Smartt's mother, Mrs. W. H. Thomson, of Dallas, Tex.

Commended for Valor

■ 1st Lt. Quentin R. Birchard, Calif. A '38, whose death in action over the Pacific on October 2, 1942, was carried in the March issue of THE RECORD, was previously commended for his exemplary actions in a statement from Maj. B. E. Allen, Commanding Officer of Lieutenant Birchard's squadron, who stated: "The prompt and unselfish manner in which you performed your duties in the face of hostile aircraft attack has been an inspiration to every member of the organization. Your immediate assistance in the dispersal of airplanes undoubtedly resulted in preventing the additional destruction of aircraft belonging to this organization. Your subsequent actions in supervising the fire fighting activities in that part of the barracks occupied by this squadron set an example of coolness and leadership that is a source of pride to the entire squadron. . . ."

Camp Named for Neil Martin

■ "Camp Neil Martin," has been selected as the name for the new Army Air Corps training base at the University of Arkansas, Fayetteville, Ark., by the War Department in honor of Neil G. Martin, Ark. A-T '39, who was killed in combat while flying over Burma, December 15, 1941, as announced in the March, 1942, issue of THE RECORD. The camp will have facilities for 500 trainees at first but will later be extended to accommodate 900.

Road Named for Zugelter

■ The family of 2nd Lt. Otto J. Zugelter, Ohio T '42, who was killed in an air collision off the south shore of Long Island, October 25, 1942, as announced in the December issue of THE RECORD, has been notified by

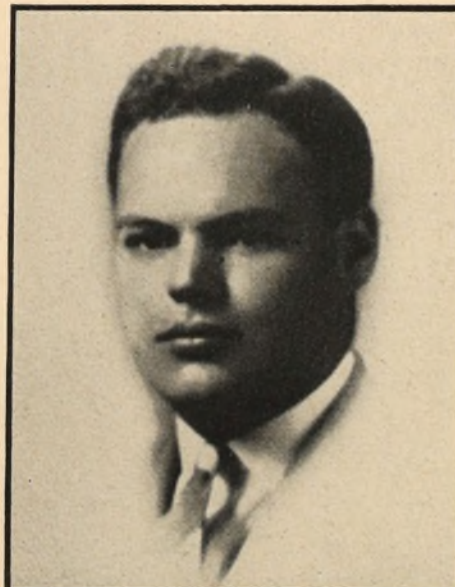

Col. Geo. E. Lovell, commanding officer, that a road at the Bridgeport Army Air Base has been named in his honor as one of the officers who have lost their lives in line of duty at that field. He was connected with 56th Fighter Group.

Capt. Evans Wins D.F.C.

■ His "extreme gallantry" in landing parachute troops from unarmed transport planes under fire in North Africa won for Capt. John G. Evans, Wash. A '39, the Distinguished Flying Cross late last year. The accompanying citation stressed that the Seattle flyer flew close enough to the ground on November 8 to unload a detachment of parachute troops safely although his plane was under attack from enemy fighters. He was successful in carrying his wounded aerial gunner to cover. Subsequently his plane was demolished.

Decorated for Service

■ For meritorious service under hazardous conditions in the Aleutians, Ensign Dixon B. Rice, Wash. A '40, was recently awarded an Air Medal by the Navy Department. A University of Washington graduate, Rice received his wings at Pensacola in April, 1942.

2nd Lt. Harold C. Skog, S.C. Δ '40, Crashed at Albrook Field, Canal Zone, August 17, 1941.

Civilian Flying Instructor Charles Wallace Webb, N.Y. A '41, Crashed Near Schenectady, N.Y., January 18, 1942.

Capt. Percival R. Davidson, Jr., La. E '41, Crashed at Bear Creek Grove, Minn., December 16, 1942.

The Fraternity in Service

Awarded the Navy Cross

■ Capt. Albert H. Schierman, Ida. A '40, Marine Corps, was awarded the navy cross at Honolulu, March 12, 1943, for heroism in the South Pacific in preventing the death of five of his men during a naval engagement by dismounting a heavy gun which was about to explode after the mechanism became unworkable. He had been previously cited for the manner in which he commanded a gun battery on the Carrier Lexington during the Coral Sea battle, May 7-8, 1942.

Distinguished Flying Cross

■ Lt. (jg) Robert W. Johannesen, USNR, Ore. B, Ida. A '41, has been cited for bravery by Admiral Halsey and has received the distinguished flying cross. He was honored for his daring attacks on Japanese warships in disregard for anti-aircraft fire. He is reported to have made a direct hit on a heavy Jap cruiser during the Solomons battle.

Commander Garver Cited

■ Lt. Com. Carl C. Garver, USNR, Ga. E '29, who was aboard the cruiser, Allanta, when it was sunk in action off Guadalcanal, has been cited by Admiral William F. Halsey for heroic conduct in caring for the wounded during the battle, according to announcement made March 5, 1943. Commander Garver set up a temporary operating room below decks and administered to the wounded during the thick of the battle. He continued at his post until the order to abandon ship was given and then supervised the moving of wounded to a rescue ship where he remained on duty until relieved after many hours by other surgeons. Commander Garver is now stationed in the Naval hospital at Jacksonville, Fla.

Decorated for Gallantry

■ 2nd Lt. Lewis H. Gregory, Fla. T '41, has been decorated for gallantry in action in the North African war theatre. In an Associated Press dispatch from North Africa he was cited for shooting down an axis fighter plane, and he was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross and Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters. The awards were presented to Lt. Gregory and other American airmen by Maj. Gen. James H. Doolittle, Commander of U. S. Air Forces in North Africa.

Purple Heart for Mundell

■ Col. Samuel A. Mundell, Wis. Φ '31, who is now serving on the North African front, after spending several months in England, has been awarded the Order of the Purple Heart "for performing singularly meritorious acts of extraordinary fidelity and essential service," according to official notice to his family by the War Department. After attending Beloit College where he was initiated into ΣAE, Col. Mundell was appointed to West Point from which he was graduated in 1933.

Instructor in Camouflage

■ Staff Sgt. William Stanton Forbes, Ga. B '22, Tenn. N '33, who is stationed at Camp Butner, N.C., has given the 602nd Engineer Camouflage Battalion much valuable instruction. A talented and widely traveled painter, he is also a sculptor and has given the Levere Memorial Temple a clay lion which was described in the March issue of THE RECORD.

First Land-Based Offensive

■ In his thrilling battle-scene account of the U. S. Marines' capture of Solomon Islands strongholds on August 7, 2nd Lt. Herbert L. Merillat, Ariz. A '35, proved himself no cub reporter. The 27-year-old public relations officer majored in political science at University of Arizona, was selected to study at Oxford with a Rhodes Scholarship in 1935. Before obtaining his commission last May he assisted the Secretary of Treasury. His first dramatic story from Guadalcanal was sent August 14 and released in newspapers August 30, telling of the first time in the war that American land forces took offensive against the enemy.

CORRESPONDENT—Lt. Herbert L. Merillat, Ariz. A '35, Former Rhodes Scholar, Wrote Stirring Dispatches of Marines' Capture of Solomon Islands Strongholds.

Gable Editing Radio News

■ Ensign Don M. Gable, USNR, Ohio Δ '35, Associate Editor of THE RECORD is now editing a daily bulletin of news received by radio for units under the South Pacific Command of the U. S. Navy. He gets out 300 copies of a mimeographed sheet which is headed, "So-Pac Press." The bulletin gives reports from the various war theaters but also carries some general news, such as sports and markets.

Young Veteran in Pacific

■ RCAF pilot and veteran of eight destructive raids over Germany, France and Italy, Lt. (jg) Sidney Benford, Fla. T '41, paid a flying visit to his former home town of Clearwater, Fla., before leaving late in December to pilot bombers in the Pacific theatre for the navy, to which he was transferred by his request. The former athlete pointed out that "Bombing is very much like playing football or basketball. . . . I feel about the same way before a take-off on a bombing raid as I did before a big football game."

Shot Down Italian Bomber

■ Lt. Louis A. Towson, Fla. T '42, Army Air Corps pilot in North Africa, shot down an Italian bomber over the sea on January 22, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

Travis Made Indian Chief

■ Col. Robert F. Travis, Ga. B '27, wing commander at the Sioux City, Iowa, Army Air Base, was made a chief of the Shoshone Indians, early in April, 1943. He was the fourth white man to be so honored, the other three having been presidents of the United States. He has also been made a chief of the Arapahoe tribe, being the first white man to receive this honor. As wing commander at Sioux City, Col. Travis is in charge of sixteen air bases scattered throughout the Northwest.

Lightfoot a Prisoner

■ Lt. (jg) Charles Joseph Lightfoot, Wash. A '39, USNR, who has been reported as missing since June 1, 1942, as carried in the August, 1942, issue of THE RECORD, is now known to be a prisoner of the Japanese in the Philippines, according to official notice given to his family by the Navy Department in March, 1943. He was serving on the gunboat, Mindanao, which was sunk May 4, 1942.

Flyer Bombs Dunkirk

■ Pilot of the "Avenger," Capt. William H. Brandon, Tenn. N '41, was one of a group of American bomber pilots who streaked across the English Channel to pound Dunkirk on February 15th, and then on February 16th to bomb the St. Nazaire submarine base. The one-two raids were executed in a space of nineteen hours. Associated Press dispatches described savage battles with some seventy-five German fighters at 20,000 to 25,000 feet altitude while gunners blazed away with fingers numb and frost-bitten by forty-degrees-below weather at that altitude. Captain Brandon's plane, the "Avenger," had been reported shot down, but it turned up without a scratch.

Met in African Chow Line

■ P/FC Ray Reynolds, Pa. Γ '40, while standing in a chow line somewhere in North Africa, looked around to see who was crowding him and was surprised to encounter P/FC Ben Marshall, Pa. Γ '42, who had been his chapter mate at Lafayette College where both were initiated into ΣAE. They were serving in different outfits and neither knew that the other was in Africa. They had come over in the same convoy but on different ships. They proceeded to stage a real ΣAE reunion.

Casablanca Guard

■ Among official guards for President Roosevelt in North Africa in January, was Capt. Robert L. Davies, Neb. Α-Π '36, officer of the guard, whose company put on a formal guard mount for the president and also a decoration parade for the English army under General Lord Mountbatten. After the conferees had separated and flown each to his own native land, Captain Davies, in Africa, through General Eisenhower, received commendation from the president for the "splendid manner in which they performed the varied and arduous tasks during the Africa conference. . . ."

Now Major "Bobby" Jones

■ Robert T. ("Bobby") Jones, Ga. Φ '22, all-time international golf champion, who was commissioned as a captain in the Army Air Corps in June, 1942, was promoted to major in March, 1943. He is stationed at Mitchell Field, N.Y.

6,331 IN SERVICE

Up to April 1, 1943, the names of 6,331 members of Sigma Alpha Epsilon who are serving in the armed forces had been reported to the National Office, 1,013 having been reported since February 1, when the list which was carried in the March issue of THE RECORD was compiled. The new names are listed herewith and also the names of 442 men (indicated by asterisks) who have been promoted or transferred. Censorship regulations forbid the use of names of ships on which men are serving or the specific location of men or outfits in combat areas. Men in service, their parents and friends are requested to give information which will aid in completing this list. THE RECORD can be sent direct to men serving overseas, if their APO or Fleet address is given, but it may not be forwarded from their home addresses.

From Cook to Chaplain

■ Anthony H. Griswold, N.Y. Σ-Φ '27, Tenn. Ω, surrendered a professorship of Greek and Bible at the University of the South, Sewanee, to enter the navy eight months ago as a ship's cook. Early this March he was commissioned as a Chaplain. During his rapid rise in the navy he served for several months as assistant in the chaplain's office and taught a weekly Bible class.

From Land to Water

■ Robert H. King, Ind. B '15, who served as a lieutenant of field artillery in World War I and for the past twenty years has been building highway bridges in Indiana, has been commissioned as lieutenant commander in the civil engineer section of the USNR and reported to Camp MacGregor, Va., for training.

Yankey in England

■ Major Worth E. Yankey, QMC, Ga. B '36, is on duty at headquarters of the SOS somewhere in England. After serving for two years in the office of the Quartermaster General in Washington, D.C., Major Yankey was sent to England in June, 1942. In November he was sent to Washington on a special assignment as aide to Brigadier General Robert M. Littlejohn and on his return to England was selected to attend the joint British-American Staff School.

Serving in Caribbean Area

■ Lt. Robert E. Findlay, Ala. I '37, Army Signal Corps, is camp commander of a signal construction company somewhere in the Caribbean. # Founders Day Fitly Celebrated

FROM Minnesota to the Canal Zone and from the Atlantic Seaboard to California have come reports of successful celebration of the Eighty-Seventh anniversary of the Founding of Sigma Alpha Epsilon on March 9, or thereabouts.

At Washington, D.C., a group including many distinguished men gathered to hear a significant address by Lt. General Stanley H. Ford, U. S. Army, Retired, Ohio  $\Theta$  '98; at Minneapolis, Minn., Dr. Walter C. Coffey, Ind. A '01, was the guest of honor; twelve men met at the Tivoli Hotel, Ancon, Canal Zone, at the call of Andrew Sandegren, Ill.  $\Psi$ - $\Omega$  '25; at Kansas City, a publicity stunt involving the name of Lucy Pattie aroused the jealousy of  $\Sigma$ AE wives and brought out the largest crowd of recent years; five Naval Reserve officers at the Lewis School of Aeronautics, Lockport, Ill., under the leadership of Ensign Robert H. Wilson, Ill. B '35, staged their own celebration when they found they could not get leave to attend in Chicago.

Reports of other Founders Day celebrations were received from Chicago, Ill.; Los Angeles, Calif.; Santa Barbara, Calif.; Buffalo, N.Y.; Phoenix, Ariz.; El Paso, Tex.; Houston, Tex.; and Richmond, Va.

WASHINGTON, D.C.

By LEWIE V. GILPIN,
Minn. A '35

Under auspices of the Washington Alumni Association and Washington City Rho chapter, 100-odd members of  $\Sigma$ AE in the Washington area observed Founders Day on March 6 at an informal banquet at the Harrington Hotel. Attending the gathering as guests also were President H. C. (Curly) Byrd, of the University of Maryland and approximately forty members of Pi Kappa. Maryland University local which is petitioning for entrance into the national fraternity.

Heading the list of distinguished alumni at the celebration, and principal speaker of the evening, was Lt. Gen. Stanley H. Ford, U.S.A. Ret., Ohio  $\Theta$  '98, former Honorary E.S.A. One-time assistant Army Chief of Staff and commanding general of the old Sixth Corps Area, General Ford declared that the American Army today, more than ever before, is emphasizing the development of leadership "because we know that the greatest responsibility that can fall on man is leadership in battle." Urging the citizen not to accept "the thought that the baptism of fire is the sole requirement of victory," General Ford pointed out today's young fighting man is being taught that there is no substitute for accurate knowledge.

Every person must contribute his utmost to winning the war, the famous officer of World War I warned, adding that terms for the reconstructed post-war world should be arrived at "without prejudice, hate, and above and beyond all else, without haste." Studies looking toward the post-war world order may be made without interfering with the successful prosecution of the war, he declared, pointing out that the new world order should be clothed with the authority and force necessary to enforce its decrees.

Other speakers included Dr. Byrd; Harry G. Griswold, Archon of Province Gamma, and Robert J. Fair, E.A. of Washington City Rho. Members in the armed services were introduced from the floor, along with other well-known  $\Sigma$ AE's in the government service. Toastmaster was Commissioner Paul A. Walker, Ill.  $\Theta$  '05, of the Federal Communications Commission.

CANAL ZONE

By CLYDE HEALY, Nev. A '38, and
KELLY PARKER, Okla. K '33

Founders Day, March 9, is an important date for all  $\Sigma$ AEs, but to the twelve sons of Minerva who gathered at the Tivoli Hotel in Ancon, Canal Zone, to celebrate the anniversary of the founding of our great fraternity, it had a special significance, and to Andrew Sandegren, Ill.  $\Psi$ - $\Omega$  '25, goes the credit for bringing about the first organized reunion of  $\Sigma$ AEs on this Isthmus.

He sent out a call through the medium of a press notice in The Panama American and when twelve brothers responded he went ahead and made arrangements for dinner and entertainment.

Each member made a short talk during the course of the evening and unanimously insisted on forming an alumni group. Judging from the initial turnout it was estimated that there are 100 to 200  $\Sigma$ AEs on the Isthmus and plans were laid to contact these other men and to have another dinner on April 13.

The reunion was also a success from a geographical standpoint for among the group were representatives of every section of the United States from Maine Alpha to California Beta.

It was an ambitious crowd and it is believed that we will be successful in establishing an  $\Sigma$ AE alumni group where the sons of Minerva can pause for a few moments and forget the troubles of war that have taken our membership to the four corners of the world.

MINNEAPOLIS—ST. PAUL

Alumni of the Twin Cities and members of Minnesota Alpha gathered at the Radisson Hotel in Minneapolis Mar. 13 to do honor to Dr. Walter C. Coffey, Ind. A '01, president of the University of Minnesota, to whom the  $\Sigma$ AE Achievement Medal was presented. Henry C. Mackall, Minn. A '06, presided. Speakers included Lt. Com. Cyril S. Olson, Minn. A '24, and Elmer N. Oistad, Wis. A '13. The Robert Streater award, given annually to the outstanding sophomore member of Minnesota Alpha, was presented to Robert Hodapp for his work as pledge trainer and intra-mural sports representative. The Minnesota Alpha cup was presented to Harold Cragg, Past E.A., who was voted the man who had contributed most to the welfare of the chapter during the past year.

KANSAS CITY

A publicity stunt, involving the name of Lucy Pattie, put many benedict  $\Sigma$ AEs in the Kansas City area behind the eight-ball but resulted in 163 gathering at the University Club March 12, the largest crowd of recent years. When they received dainty post cards from Tuscaloosa, Ala., which read: "Dearest—Do you remember, after all these years? I will put a personal in the Sunday's Star, Lucy," many wives involved reserved judgment, but many opened their eyes at the next card, stating: "Dearest—So sorry I can't keep our date for the 9th, but will spend the evening with you the 12th, sure. I will put a personal in next Sunday's Star to tell you where, Lucy." When police, under demands of disillusioned housewives, investigated Tuscaloosa Lucy they found she had written 490 such cards, was Lee Vaughan, Kansas City Alumni Association president. He was merely advertising the Founders Day Banquet.

Founders Day on the Isthmus; Group Gathered at the Tivoli Hotel, Ancon, Canal Zone, March 9, 1943; Kelly K. Parker, Okla. K '33; Clyde Healy, Nev. A, Calif. B '38; Chas. R. Murphy, Miss.  $\Theta$  '35; C. Roland Jones, Me. A '23; Erle Howry, Tenn. Z '31; Andrew Sandegren, Ill.  $\Psi$ - $\Omega$  '25; Joe E. Smoke, Iowa  $\Gamma$  '39; Wm. H. Grant, Jr., Iowa  $\Gamma$  '34; Harry H. Allen, Jr., Tenn. A '42; Wm. B. Hanson, Ore. A '31; Don Ericson, Ore. A '40; Robt. B. Ulric, Tenn. Z, N.Y. M '38.

CHICAGO, ILL.

■ Nearly 100 Chicago alumni gathered in the quarters of the Chicago Bar Association March 9 for an informal get-together and dinner. There were no set speeches but Lauren Foreman, E.S.R., was called upon to give a statement as to the effect of war conditions upon the Fraternity. His announcement that the debt on the Levere Memorial Temple had been reduced to $5,000, represented by notes held in the Special Scholarship Fund, was received with enthusiasm.

LEWIS-LOCKPORT LAMBDA

■ Being unable to get liberty to attend the Founders Day dinner in Chicago, five Naval Reserve officers on duty at the Lewis School of Aeronautics, Lockport, Ill., arranged a celebration of their own, styling their group "Lewis-Lockport Lambda." Ensign Robert H. Wilson, Ill. B '35, formerly Assistant to the E.S.R., who got the bunch together, telephoned a report to the Chicago dinner. The other four were: Lt. (jg) Wm. Bain Becker, Mo. B '38; Ensign Edward Bunker, S.C. Δ '38; Ensign Kent Roland Kaighin, Ohio Θ '41; and Lt. Stanley S. Newcomb, Mass. K '35.

BUFFALO, N.Y.

■ The Buffalo Alumni Association met in the Saturn Club March 12. The guest of honor was Hon. Hamilton Ward, Jr., N.Y. A '28, county judge for Erie County. The dinner was well attended. Among those present were Paul R. Smith, Ohio Δ '12, head of the OPA for the Buffalo district; Lt. Col. William Levere Kimball, Colo. Z '33, liaison officer between the Army Air Corps and the aircraft industry; and Capt. John Allen Jones, Ala. A-M '34, medical officer for the draft induction center. Judge Ward made a short address and an interesting event of the evening was the purchase of a War bond in the name of John Allen Jones, Jr., who was born March 9, 1943, as a birthday gift from the Buffalo Alumni Association.

LOS ANGELES, CALIF.

■ Alumni of the Los Angeles area gathered at the Roosevelt Hotel in Hollywood March 6, with 122 present, for an enjoyable Founders Day celebration. Past Archon Alvin W. Wendt of Province Kappa conducted an initiation ceremony for twenty-one neophytes from California Gamma, California Delta, and California Epsilon. The weekly luncheons at Los Angeles continue to attract from twenty to sixty brothers.

PHOENIX, ARIZ.

■ Alumni of Phoenix reorganized their Association March 9 with a dinner at which twenty were present. For the duration, meetings will be held only at the call of the president.

EL PASO, TEX.

■ The El Paso Alumni Association held its Founders Day banquet March 9 in Juarez, Mexico, with fifty-two present, including twenty active members of New Mexico Phi and five men from the Army at Ft. Bliss.

Award of Achievement Medal to Dr. Walter C. Coffey, Ind. A '01, President of the University of Minnesota, at the Twin Cities Founders Day Celebration; President Coffey; Henry C. Mackall, Minn. A '06; Lt. Com. Cy S. Olson, Minn. A '24.

School and Convention

By Lauren
Foreman, E.S.R.

AT ITS semi-annual meeting, held in Evanston, February 20-22, the Supreme Council decided to go ahead with plans to hold the Eighty-Seventh Anniversary National Convention and the Ninth Leadership School during the week of August 22-29, in accordance with the recommendation of the Fort Worth Convention.

The opening session of the Convention will be held on Sunday, August 22, and the Convention will then adjourn for the Leadership School which will be held Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, August 23-26. The Convention will be in session again on Friday and Saturday, August 27-28.

The program for the Leadership School will be prepared by Dr. John O. Moseley, Director of Leadership

Up the Hard Way

■ Col. Paul L. Feltus, Ind. Γ '21, Commanding Officer of the Fourth Infantry Regiment of the Indiana State Guard, began his military career at the bottom. In 1919, after two years as Instructor of Military Tactics at Indiana University, he enlisted as a private in the Coast Artillery. After the war he was appointed commandant of the Bloomington, Ind., High School Military Department. In 1921 he was commissioned in the 150th Field Artillery, Indiana National Guard, where he served for fifteen years. In March, 1941, he became Commander of the Fourth Infantry, Indiana State Guard, with regimental headquarters in Bloomington. He is also a newspaper publisher and writer, and is prominent in Bloomington civic affairs. He is a member of the Indiana University Board of Trustees.

Training, and details will be announced as soon as available. The Convention will be strictly a business affair and there will be no entertainment or social functions in connection with either the School or Convention.

The Chapters Collegiate will be requested to name the same men as their delegates to the Convention and their representatives at the School, as they will have to pay for their rooms and board while in Evanston. However, this can be deducted from the Convention Fund allowances of the delegates, so that it will not have to be paid in advance. There will be no convention fee for official chapter delegates but there will be a small convention fee for alumni.

Tentative arrangements have been made with Northwestern University for rooms and meals for chapter delegates in Willard Hall and reservations for alumni have been made in leading Evanston hotels.

Assistant at Ohio State

■ Campbell R. Graf, Ohio Θ '39, is now graduate assistant in the Department of Business Organization, College of Commerce and Administration, Ohio State University, and also assistant freshman football coach. He was formerly associated with the Jaques Manufacturing Co. of Chicago as assistant advertising manager.

Retires from Faculty

■ Professor Wellington B. Givens, Colo. X '95, has retired after serving twenty-five years as a member of the faculty of Fresno State College of Fresno, Calif. He was the founder of the Sierra Summer School at Huntington Lake. Mount Givens, one of California's highest peaks, was named in his honor.

Indiana Gamma Follows "Doc"

By Jack K. Overmyer, Ind. Gamma '44

INDIANA GAMMA, always a leader on the Indiana University campus, has taken another forward step in fraternity affairs by putting into effect the efficient plan of pledge training outlined by its capable faculty adviser, Clare W. Barker, of the Indiana University School of Business. Brother Barker, who instructed the Pledge Training classes at the recent Leadership School in the Levere Memorial Temple, Evanston, Ill., presented several outstanding points for chapters to carry out in preparing their pledges to become loyal  $\Sigma$ AE's.

Among the points brought out by Professor Barker in his interesting discussions on pledge training were a supervised plan of study; regular instructions in table manners, proper dress and chapter hospitality; instructive talks by university officials; and detailed teaching of the fraternity's history and ideals. The chapter's marked success in pledge training has been obtained by following these principles of guidance. Pledge Trainer Palmer C. Singleton, Jr., arranges for periodical talks to the freshmen by deans, coaches, and other prominent faculty members of the university on such subjects as study habits, manners, dress, general social conduct, etc. Study table proctors are Eugene Schmidt, pre-medical student, and William L. Haeberle, of the School of Business, both of whom are A students. These two men give the pledges correct and helpful instruction during nightly study hours.

Pledge Trainer Singleton also arranges for weekly dress parades, in which the dress of every pledge is criticized and their improvement noted. The proper manners at the table are also included as a part of the training and the pledges' progress scrutinized at every meal. From time to time during pledgship, short examinations are given to each pledge on certain parts of the fraternity's history and ideals. In this way, each pledge is thoroughly familiar with Sigma Alpha Epsilon by the time he is to be initiated.

With the inauguration of the three-semester war program at IU last winter, the chapter is receiving pledges three times a year. The house is open all year around and has succeeded in maintaining its high place even in the inactive summer semester.

Dr. Barker, considered one of the best faculty advisers in the nation, is well-known through his active participation in SAE affairs, both local and national. He has served as adviser for the Indiana University chapter since 1933.

As proof of the success of his plan of training, three examples may be cited. D. Walter Robbins, Jr., of West Baden Springs, Ind., graduated from the School of Business last June with a straight A average, a record which seldom if ever has been made in that school. He was first in a class of 247 students and a member of two scholastic fraternities,  $\Phi$  $\Sigma$  $\Sigma$  and  $\beta$  $\Gamma$  $\Sigma$ . His other activities included Blue Key,  $\text{AK}\Psi$  (business fraternity), vice-president of the Collegiate Chamber of Commerce, and winner of the  $\beta$  $\Gamma$  $\Sigma$  scholarship plaque,  $\text{AK}\Psi$  Medallion Award, and the Dean Rawles Scholarship Key Award.

Another prominent member of the chapter is John Logan, who this year was voted the most outstanding baseball player in the Big Ten and also the most valuable member of Indiana University's 1942 baseball squad. Logan also received the Balfour award this year, given annually to the athlete bringing the greatest honor and distinction to the university during the year. John, valuable in all house activities, now holds the position of Eminent Recorder in the chapter. He is a senior in the School of Education.

Indiana Gamma was also honored this fall when pledge August M. Kasper, Jr., was elected "King Pod," at the first such election ever held on the Indiana University campus. Kasper was selected from 18 other freshman men candidates by the five campus beauty queens. The choice was made on the basis of looks, dress and personality.

Active in Education Field

David G. Allen, N.Y. P '20, President of the New York State Association of Secondary School Principals, has a wide background in the field of education. From rural school teaching to instructing in science and serving as principal of schools in New York State, he also holds membership in many professional societies:  $\Phi$ BK, K $\Phi$ K, National Education Association Life Member, National Association of Secondary School Principals, New York State Teachers Association, executive committeeman; Past President Northeastern Zone of N.Y.S.T.A.; Secretary of New York State Association of Secondary-School Principals (1931-38), executive committeeman, (1938-40); vice-president, 1941; president, 1942.

Heads Religious Council

Gov. Harold E. Stassen, of Minnesota, Minn. A '29, was appointed president of the International Council of Religious Education, it was announced November 21 by Dr. Roy G. Ross, Executive Secretary of the council which represents educational interests of forty-one denominations. In accepting his appointment Governor Stassen outlined reasons for promoting the interests of the council. "We must make sure," he said, "that world-wide freedom is based on the religious concept of personality, adding that respect for the rights and liberties of all peoples and races is the resulting factor of the religious basis for freedom."

Strozier Acting Dean

Robert M. Strozier, Ga. E '29, has been named as acting Dean of Students at the University of Georgia in place of Dean William Tate who was given a leave of absence for the duration to become executive director of the University's School of Aviation.

Hundred Percent Chapter Club

By Warren M.
Turner, N.Y.
Delta '19

JO GIVE proper recognition to those Chapters Collegiate which consistently follow a sound financial program and force all their members to pay their bills in full and on time, the writer in his capacity of Auditor of Chapter Accounts, has suggested to the Supreme Council that a new distinction be created in Sigma Alpha Epsilon—that of membership in the "Hundred Percent Accounts Receivable Club."

At present this would be a very exclusive club since Indiana Beta at Purdue University is the only chapter in the Fraternity which could qualify for full-fledged membership for the year, 1942-43. This chapter has consistently collected every account, every month this year. However, there is no reason why other chapters may not follow the same course and attain this distinction.

Two other chapters follow closely. California Alpha at Stanford University ends each quarter with all accounts paid but there may have been $25 or so owing at the end of a month during the quarter. Ohio Theta at Ohio State University has been showing from $25 to $70 each month which is negligible for such a large chapter. Incidentally, all three of these chapters would be classed as large.

South Carolina Delta at the University of South Carolina ended January with no unpaid bills but before that had averaged around $30 unpaid at the end of each month. This is a small chapter with a relatively low monthly bill.

The following deserve honorable mention with unpaid house bills running around $100 or less monthly: Maine Alpha at the University of Maine; North Carolina Theta at Davidson College; South Carolina Gamma at Wofford College; Texas Delta at Southern Methodist University; Virginia Sigma at Washington and Lee University; and Wisconsin Phi at Beloit College.

Membership in this exclusive club is an enviable distinction and it is hoped that other chapters will qualify themselves for admission by insisting that all accounts be paid on the due date.

Twenty-One Life Members

JWENTY-ONE additional names have been added to the roll of Life Members of the Chapter National, since February 5, 1943, when the list printed in the March issue of THE RECORD was compiled, making a total of 2,295 Life Members who have paid $50 each into the National Endowment Fund, as of April 10. As of the same date, there were also fifty-four Founders who had paid $1,000 each.

Seven of the new Life Members paid the full $50 fee, the others becoming Life Members by paying the balance due, after taking advantage of credits due them for previous instalments or for the payment of annual Chapter National dues. The names and addresses of the new Life Members are, as follows:

Alabama Alpha-Mu—Lt. William L. Faucette, Birmingham, Ala.
Arkansas Alpha-Upsilon—Charles H. Buford, Washington, D.C.
Illinois Theta—Dr. Chauncey G. Burke, Pontiac, Mich.
Indiana Beta—Major Chester E. Lange, Atlanta, Ind.
Iowa Gamma—Chester W. Cunningham, Omaha, Neb.; Capt. Charles E. Friley, Jr., Palm Springs, Calif.; Walter N. Handy, Des Moines, Iowa.
Louisiana Epsilon—Lt. Norman V. Kinsey, Jr., Shreveport, La.
Massachusetts Delta—LeRoy W. Bond, Alberta, Canada.
Missouri Alpha—J. Spencer McCourtney, Jr., St. Louis, Mo.
North Dakota Beta—Darrell A. Dahl, Fargo, N.D.
Ohio Delta—Judge George W. Rittenour, Piketon, Ohio; Vernon E. Vining, Mansfield, Ohio.
Ohio Theta—John T. Rittenour, Piketon, Ohio
Oregon Alpha—Lt. Claude C. Hockley, Jr., Portland, Ore.
Pennsylvania Theta—Lt. Max R. Wainer, Jr., Petersburg, Va.
Pennsylvania Omega—James S. Ruffner, Aliquippa, Pa.
Utah Upsilon—C. Lester Pacock, Logan, Utah; Ace S. Raymond, Logan, Utah
Vermont Alpha-Sigma-Pi—Cadet Robert K. Butler, Chappaquaa, N.Y.
Wisconsin Alpha—Dr. Newell C. Gilbert, Chicago, Ill.

Hon. Thomas Byron Miller, Pa. ΣΦ '12, Member of the U. S. House of Representatives from the Twelfth Pennsylvania District.

Miller in Congress

HON. THOMAS BYRON MILLER, Pa. ΣΦ '12, of Plymouth, Pa., is the representative of the Twelfth Pennsylvania district in the lower house of the Seventy-Eighth Congress where he serves with six other members of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

A graduate of Dickinson College and the Dickinson Law School, he was elected to Congress May 19, 1942, as a Republican to fill a vacancy and was re-elected for the full term in November, 1942.

During World War I, he served in France with the 16th Field Artillery. He enlisted as a private and attained the rank of first lieutenant.

Other members of the ΣΑΕ delegation in the House of Representatives are: Edward Eugene Cox, Ga. Ψ '02, 2nd Georgia; Clifford Davis, Miss. Γ '18, 9th Tennessee; Peterson B. Jarman, Ala. I '12, 6th Alabama; Lawrence Lewis, Colo. X '01, 1st Colorado; Thomas J. Murray, Tenn. H '14, 8th Tennessee; and Charles A. Plumley, Vt. Α-Σ-Π '06, Vermont at Large.

Congressmen Miller and Plumley are Republicans; the other five are Democrats.

Teeters Iowa City Mayor

■ Dean Emeritus Wilber J. Teeters, Ohio Σ '93, Mich. I-B '95, Iowa B '05, of the School of Pharmacy of the University of Iowa, was elected mayor of Iowa City, home of the University at the close of a hotly-contested campaign, March 30, 1943. Running as a Republican, Dean Teeters defeated the Democratic incumbent who was seeking a third term. Famed as a toxicologist, Dean Teeters is known throughout ΣΑΕ as the father of Iowa Beta and is a Past President of Province Delta and a Past Archon of Province Zeta.

Keep Chapter
Flags Flying ANNOUNCEMENT by authorities of the Army and Navy that trainees in the various courses which are to be conducted at universities and colleges may become members of fraternities and live in fraternity houses should go a long way toward quieting the doubts of all those persons who have been afraid that it would be impossible to keep fraternity chapters in existence under war conditions.

This should provide sufficient fraternity material for chapters on almost every campus and chapter members and alumni advisers should resolve to take advantage of this situation and to carry on, rather than be tempted to take the less courageous course of folding up for the duration.

While it may be easier to quit now, rather than to fight for existence against difficult odds, it will be a lot easier to continue in existence than it will be to re-establish a chapter which has surrendered its franchise and broken its all-important life line.

This subject was given exhaustive study by the members of the Supreme Council at their meeting in February and a statement, embodying the conclusions reached, was sent to the Chapters Collegiate by the Eminent Supreme Recorder. Since the matter is one of vital interest to all members of the Fraternity, this statement is quoted herewith:

(1) Every effort should be made to keep the chapter alive as a going institution, even if you have to give up your house and curtail your normal activities to a great extent. When the war is over, it will be much easier to build up a chapter which has been operating with a small group than to reestablish a chapter which has gone out of existence for the duration. Furthermore, there will be young men entering college, many of them the sons and brothers of ΣAEs, who should not be denied the privilege of membership in the Fraternity. We had chapters before we had houses and many of our most loyal alumni were members of such chapters and of sub rosa chapters which operated under difficulties much greater than those any of our chapters are likely to face during the present emergency.

If you have to give up your house, get a room or hall in which you can hold your meetings and keep your books, records, paraphernalia, and other articles needed for carrying on your chapter life. Urge your members to stay in school until called by the Selective Service or individual calls for reserves come. Men in the reserves may not be called at the same time even though they enlisted together. Continue your normal fraternity life as long as possible and conduct yourselves as if you expected to remain on your campus until graduation. Initiate your pledges as soon as possible.

(2) Put your house in order so as to be prepared for any sudden eventualities:

(a) Elect substitutes for your E.A., E.T., E.C., E.R., and other officers, choosing men not likely to be called, so that they can learn the duties of these offices and be prepared to step into them, if the men now holding them are called.

(b) Collect outstanding accounts as far as possible and, if any men are unable to pay their accounts in full before leaving, be sure to have them initial and date their ledger sheets in the chapter's books so that you will have a definite acknowledgment of the balance owed. This will eliminate the possibility of disagreements when they return.

(c) Protect your movable property by making arrangements to have it stored in case you have to close down suddenly and select an alumnus who will take the responsibility of seeing that proper care is taken of your secret papers, records, books and paraphernalia. Send the name of this alumnus to the National Office.

(d) Be suspicious of outsiders offering to make appraisals; keep in close contact with your dean and make only such arrangements as are approved by him.

(e) Living in the same house or serving meals with some other fraternity chapter may be found desirable and careful consideration should be given to such suggestions.

(f) If your Alumnus Adviser is called into service, see that his place is satisfactorily filled at once and the name and address of your new Adviser reported to the National Office.

(3) Confer with the officers of your House Corporation and see that they are prepared to make arrangements with the institution for the lease of your house, if this becomes necessary. It will be well for the corporation to select one man to conduct negotiations and to give him the necessary authority.

When houses are leased care should be taken to see that the interests of the chapter are fully protected. Contracts should provide for adequate rental and the return of the house and its contents in as good condition as when taken over. An arbitration clause to be invoked in case of disputes should be included. Contracts should state specifically that plumbing and bathroom facilities shall be kept in good condition and that the cost of all repairs shall be paid by the lessees and not by the corporation owning the house. All contracts should be submitted to an attorney before signature. Insurance policies should be checked to see that they are not voided by changed conditions and that the premiums are paid to keep them in force.

(4) Send the names and addresses of the President and Treasurer of your house corporation to the National Office at once. This is very important as there have naturally been many changes in these officers, as the result of men having been called into service. Also, if the premium on the bond of your house corporation treasurer has not been paid, have your E.T. send check for $2.50 to the National Office to cover this at once, as required by Section 103 (2-c) of the National Laws. During the emergency these officers will have added responsibilities and it is more important than ever that they be under bond, as they will wish to be.

If you need any additional advice or assistance, do not hesitate to call on the National Office as we shall stand ready to help you in any way possible at any time.

Good Advice From A Dean

ONE of the most thought-provoking statements that have been issued in connection with the emergency conditions which the members of collegiate chapters or fraternities are now facing is that addressed to the chapter presidents at Pennsylvania State College on February 15 by Dean of Men A. R. Warnick which is quoted herewith, as follows:

Within a few weeks most of your undergraduate members will be leaving the campus and the fraternity house to enter military service—that is, to fight for the maintenance of values, traditions and procedures which

Americans think worthy of preservation. During these remaining few weeks on the campus, they can do the same thing—that is, not fight, but live in such a way as will help preserve values, traditions and procedures which they want to see kept at Penn State. Temporarily the maintenance of such values and procedures is to a large extent in their hands.

For instance, though these men are leaving the campus, the campus and fraternity house will remain. Somebody left here will have to keep both going, or at least ready for activity again after the war. This job can be made much more difficult—the revival may be made much more uncertain—if your members now let things go to wreck and ruin in a spirit of "eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow we die." On the other hand they can assure a prompt revival of their campus and fraternity house if now they strengthen, rather than weaken, these values and traditions.

I know that following this advice is not easy for young men who are jittery, unsettled and impulsive. Already I note indications of a letting down, and that is why I am writing this letter now. During February and March, while such tendencies are only in first stages, it will be far easier to thwart them than it would be in April and May if they had been allowed to get out of hand.

Your methods can be of two kinds. You can try to persuade your members to be constructive and not destructive in their mental attitude toward these things. A much more effective way is quietly but firmly to maintain and enforce the normal standards and regulations that govern normal procedures desired in fraternity house and on campus.

I want to remind you again that your members can gain an important initial advantage when they enter military service if they have shrewdly prepared themselves in advance. Those who have already gone send back word about the desirability of being tough and fit physically in the very beginning—of making a favorable first impression by having the posture, bearing and manner of a soldier—of "refreshing" in mathematics, physics, and like subjects of the freshman and sophomore years. During the last six or eight weeks of this semester your chapter can be very useful to its members by urging them to undergo this preparatory self-training, and by so doing, can help lessen their emotional jitters.

Send Names of Rushees THE National Rushing Bureau will be operated again this year under the direction of Albert J. Schoth, Chapter Supervisor. All names of desirable prospects received will be transmitted to the rushing captains of the chapters concerned.

A coupon for the convenience of members in giving information about rushees is printed on the back cover of this issue. This year it is more important than ever that the chapters be advised in regard to good prospects and the cooperation of all members of the Fraternity is solicited.

Members having sons, brothers or other relatives, entering institutions where there are ΣAE chapters, are especially urged to furnish their names to the Rushing Bureau, P.O. Box 1856, Evanston, Ill.

Levere's World War History

D ID YOU KNOW . . . that over 7,000 members of Sigma Alpha Epsilon saw service in World War I, that 156 of these gave their lives? . . . that twenty-nine members received the Distinguished Service Cross? . . . that ΣAE military genius included a major general, two army brigadier generals and one in the marines, a rear admiral, twenty-two colonels in the army, two in the marines, thirty lieutenant colonels and eleven commanders in the navy, and a dozen army lieutenant commanders?

And did you know that the records, adventures, excitement, tragedy, comedy, and experiences of ΣAEs in the first World War are packed into one medium-sized volume? Although many books have already been written about the current struggle, to say nothing of innumerable volumes dealing with World War I, there is one book which should rest on the library shelf of every member of the Fraternity—The History of ΣAE in the World War, by William C. Levere, Ill. Ψ-Ω '98, former Eminent Supreme Archon and Eminent Supreme Recorder and the historian of ΣAE. It has a foreword by James E. Chapman, Ill. Ψ-Ω '97, former Grand Treasurer, who as Acting Eminent Supreme Recorder was commissioned by the Supreme Council to finish the work after the death of Mr. Levere. The book was published in 1928 and enjoyed a large circulation. A limited number of copies are still available at the National Office in Evanston, however, for alumni and undergraduates who want the fascinating account of their organization's background in service as well as a priceless reference book and record of the men and mechanism of ΣAE in the war. Detailed, dramatic, informative—this book is yet more. Its theme is brotherhood and as such is inspirational to read today. Diverse threads of ΣAE experience are woven skilfully into a unified pattern.

Not an Easy Job

Billy's job wasn't easy. Service records of 7,000 men had to be gathered. Half-a-dozen competent assistants helped him with the data. Stories for sinews were needed to fill out the bones and marrow of facts and records. With Arthur Van Vlissingen, Jr., Ill. Ψ-Ω '15, journalist with AEF background, to assist him, files of letters, clippings, booklets were gleaned for stories, episodes, jokes, verses—whatever of value they contained for the purpose. Photographs were compiled. In the fall of 1926 the book was completed, except for a chapter reserved for Billy's personal account of his experiences and observations.

By

Gordon B. Duncan
Ill. Beta '39

But death intervened February 22, 1927, and it fell to Mr. Chapman to compile the Gold Star list and to handle the details of publication. Eric A. Dawson, Miss. Γ '08, who succeeded Mr. Levere as E.S.R., was commissioned to write Chapter 14, which tells of Billy's personal part in the War.

Billy's principle was to include members in all branches of service, ambulance service, YMCA, and the Red Cross. And the book accounts for members initiated in USA in colleges after the war as well. Of 18,250 members as of April 6, 1917, over 7,000 were in service. Many men served in the air, and their thrilling adventures are told in Billy's inimitable style. The fraternity's foremost ace was Capt. Victor Herbert Strahm, Ky. E '18, perhaps the youngest major in the American Air Forces, holding his rank before he would have graduated from college had he remained in school. He was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action near Metz, France, September 13, 1918, and his citation tells of ". . . remarkable courage and skill in penetrating enemy territory for twenty-five kilometers at less than 300 meters altitude. With his plane subjected to intense fire from anti-aircraft guns and attacked by several German planes, one of which he destroyed, he completed his mission and returned with information of great military value."

Laughs Are Enjoyed Too

Humor was often linked with excitement also. John S. Roulhac, Tenn. Ω '18, one of the first of forty American Air Observers to finish training, obtained pictures ten miles into the German lines. Yet ten minutes after completing the mission his pilot, a Frenchman, lost his bearings and descended into a German airdrome. With blood turned to ice Roulhac made his pilot perceive the mistake as the wheels touched the ground. Stupefied with amazement, the Germans did nothing until the plane shot off again into the sky and sped safely away.

What's in a name? Wilhelm P. Kennard, Mass. B-Y '09, found out the answer. Entering the First Reserve

Officers' Training Camp he failed to obtain his commission. Intelligence officers were convinced he was a German spy because of his name. Told Wilhelm: "For some reason or other I was an object of considerable interest to French, English, and German secret service agents for a long time. Later I found I was credited as a very clever German spy—clever because they couldn't catch me at something which of course I wasn't doing. This one fact produced a number of embarrassing and tiresome incidents until the aforesaid gentlemen were satisfied my first name didn't necessarily make me a German spy." Spy suspicions prevented his obtaining a commission in the first training camp at Leon Springs and Fortress Monroe, but after considerable annoyance and persecution he went back into service in February, 1918, was commissioned a captain in the Quartermaster Corps. He suggests that "anyone who may serve in the intelligence branch . . . should school himself thoroughly or he may be sleuthing some poor innocent soul while the guilty stride boldly by. Take it from one who knows!"

But the grimmer aspect of war includes experiences of the wounded. In Charles F. Rafferty, Ill. Δ '15, were over forty machine gun wounds, bullets having passed through his body from hips to knees. And Charles S. Lewis, Jr., Mass. Γ '06, wrote on July 23, 1918, of his wounding near Ploisy, a small village south of Soissons, and of going two days with half a canteen of water, eating leaves and toothpaste.

We crossed the plateau and entered the ravine, he tells. We dashed on through and were starting up the far slope when the German machine guns opened up from behind. Then I got mine. First one in the thigh—and I dropped. Then one in the sole of my left foot. This struck a paralyzing blow, destroying all muscular and nervous control of the foot (permanently). Two of my men tried to carry me out and I got it again—a clean hole through the leg just back of the shin bone. We flopped, and my helpers, picking their time, escaped into the woods nearby. No chance for a rescue then. They said they'd come back for me after nightfall.

So I lay out in the open, feigning death with passionate artistry. But now and again the machine guns would make another play my way, and I got another perforation, through the leg, just like the one preceding. It was three hours before I dared move a muscle, then I crawled towards the woods and found a little hole that had been occupied by a Boche teamster. Then I waited—yes, by jinks, I certainly did wait, for it was two days with half a canteen of water. I crawled out the second night and found that on a dead man nearby. I ate leaves and toothpaste, and spread out my toilet-case to make a basin to catch rain drops. Very luckily my wounds bled little. After I'd used up my first-aid packet I made underclothes and handkerchief serve the purpose. Finally, late the third night, a blast of my whistle (which I had blown periodically) brought a response. As rare good luck would have it, some medical men were nearby, with a little litter handy. They gave me a drink of water and a bite of chocolate and soon had me driven away to a regimental first-aid station.

Brothers Meet in Action

In the fraternity's archives are enough interesting instances of meetings between ΣAEs in uniform during the war to make a separate book. Among these was the incident on October 14, 1918, when the 306th Machine Gun Battalion was going into battle near Chevieres, France. They halted for a moment by the roadside, where across was drawn up a company on its way to the rear for a rest. "Are there any ΣAEs here?" called out a captain of the forward-bound regiment, stepping toward the other outfit.

"Yes, sir. I am an ΣAE," said Edward Henderson, Calif. A '15, as he stepped out and saluted.

"I just wanted to meet you and shake your hand," declared the captain. "My name is McKibbin, Pa. A-Z '96. We're going into it now, and somehow or other I thought I'd like to have the grip of ΣAE before I go in." After exchanging a few words they parted—forever. Capt. James M. McKibbin's last words to Henderson before going on to the trenches were, "We'll meet again after the fight." Greeted by heavy artillery barrage lasting two hours, he was wounded by machine-gun fire, and died not long afterwards.

Posthumously he received the DSC and was cited for "extraordinary heroism in action . . . coolness and courage in dressing and administering first aid to the wounded." Informed that a sergeant had been wounded and was lying between his line and the enemy's, he gave first aid under intense fire, was wounded fatally himself.

Twenty-eight other members of the fraternity were awarded the Distinguished Service Cross for "extraordinary heroism in action." The Medaille Militaire, given only to non-coms and men, and the Croix de Guerre, were pinned to Robert M. Hatch, N.H. A '11. The Order of Belgium—the Order of Leopold—was bestowed upon four members, and the Belgium Cross of War, corresponding to the French Croix de Guerre, upon three. 2nd Lt. Julian K. Morrison, N.C. © '16, and 1st Lt. Samuel Kaye, Jr., Tenn. Ω '18, received the DSC and also the Oak-Leaf Cluster for subsequent acts of valor. Several others won the Croix de Guerre, and two were personally decorated by King George V. Remarkable exhibition of coolness and courage while flying won the DSC for Roland H. Neel, Ala. A-M '14, and for his pilot, in the late summer of 1918. With their machine damaged by anti-aircraft guns and the control wire cut, Lieutenant Neel crawled onto the fuselage and held the wire, operating it under the pilot's direction. Thus the machine was able to resume operations.

Many High-Ranking Officers

Military genius in the ranks of ΣAE is testified by the number of high-ranking officers produced during the war: a major general and two brigadier generals in the army, a rear admiral in the navy, a brigadier general in the marines—so runs the roster of general and flag officers. Colonels numbered twenty-two in the army; two in the marines. Five navy captains wore the silver eagle, thirty of the navy were lieutenant colonels. There were eleven commanders, twelve lieutenant commanders in the army.

Ranking officer of the fraternity was Major General Henry Jervey, Tenn. Ω '83, who won the DSC "for especially meritorious and conspicuous service as Director of Operations, General Staff, and as Assistant to Chief of Staff in preparing and executing plans involving mobilization of personnel during the war." France awarded him the Legion d' Honneur, Great Britain made him a Companion of the Bath, Belgium conferred the Order of Leopold, Grand Officer.

Brig. Gen. Logan Feland, Ky. A-E '86, served as Brigade Commander of Marines in France, and was the only marine officer above the rank of major to receive the DSC and the only officer in any branch who received the DSC, Army Distinguished Service Medal, Navy Distinguished Service Medal, and the Cordon of an Officer of the French Legion of Honor. France also awarded him the Croix de Guerre with a bronze star, gold star, and four palms. Vice Admiral John H. Towers, Ga. Φ '06, then Commander, led the navy fliers across the Atlantic on the famed first flight. He was Commander-in-Chief of the Trans-Atlantic flight squadron of naval seaplanes.

The work of welfare and service organizations makes another interesting and substantial highlight, with ΣAE representation in the YMCA, Red Cross, Knights of Columbus, and Community Service.

Of the 7,000 who served in uniform, 156 gallantly gave their lives. Billy Levere fetes them:

"Many fell, their faces toward the enemy, torn by shell or bullet. Others hurtled from dizzy heights when airplanes fell out of the sky. Some breathed their last in dressing stations or base hospitals of gunshot wounds which at first failed to snuff them out. A few lived for months or years, only to lose in the end the fight against the effects of gas or shell. And what a host—bitter their loss!—were laid to rest after a brief struggle with the epidemic of influenza so cruelly loosed upon the war-torn world." Space cannot allow for the stories of how each Gold Star found its place on the Service Flag of the Fraternity but many thrilling stories and plenty of photographs supplement the complete list of ΣAE war dead.

Amazing experiences overseas are told, and there are many tales of heroism. Former athlete Lt. Theodore R. Johnson, S.D. Σ '16, proved his football prowess a distinct advantage at Cantigny, when he caught a hand-grenade hurled by a Boche and heaved it back to destroy a good section of the enemy.

There had to be plenty of humor too in those grim days. The story is told of how J. Irl Pritchard, Wyo. A '23, died, had taps blown over his body, and returned to life without missing a meal or having the least knowledge of his misfortune. His hospital orderly took his bed tag by error, instead of taking that of the man in the next cot, who had died. After missing several dressings he appeared at the operating ward, reported his name as Pritchard. He was promptly informed he had died several days before and had been buried in a cemetery nearby. Pritchard promptly denied it.

Just as many were wounded, killed, decorated—so too were many captured. The most notable group was at

Villengen, Baden, Germany, in the Black Forest Prison Camp for American officers. Of 203 Americans there, 132 were from college, most of whom were Greek-letter men. Six were ΣΑΕs; ΔΚΕ and ΔΥ had five each; ΚΣ, ΖΨ, ΑΔΘ, ΑΚΚ (medical) had four each, etc. Benjamin P. Burpee, N.H. A '09, was the first ΣΑΕ captured, and he wrote of a dire existence at Villengen. Yet he added:

"One bright spot in my memory . . . was our getting together and gossiping over our respective chapters in the USA. Life in a jail does not put one in the proper frame of mind to make close and lasting friendships; I do not recommend it for ΣΑΕs. However, when the six of us got together there as ΣΑΕs, our friendships were ready-made—the place seemed to have a different atmosphere."

Billy's Part in the War

The vital part played by Billy Levere himself is creditably handled by Eric Dawson, who describes "the jolly Knight of the Red Triangle" as "the best-loved and best-known American in France," . . . "the happy apostle of ΣΑΕ," . . . and, "a modern Robinson Crusoe." At Billy's famed hut in Andernach, nineteen months overseas, he lived completely unselfishly, giving love, sympathy and confidence to boys and men far from home. He was their father transplanted, a marvelous cook, a dozen men in one. He cooked, served, swept floors, advised, entertained. For every occasion of importance there was a celebration at the hut. At Christmas a gift for every man present; Thanksgiving meant hundreds of turkeys prepared by his own hands. He had assistant secretaries, including women, and he engaged six French girls to aid. A half-dozen German prisoners did the menial work.

At his canteen one memorable day Billy nearly caused a riot by preparing several thousand doughnuts. The next time he had to sell tickets in advance. Another occasion featured biscuits, another pies, cakes, et al. If a boy was broke Billy saw that he was fed anyway. When a man was down and out a special meal was held for him and Billy talked things over, cheered him up. To the wounded he sang cheering college songs, and his yells and jokes were familiar to men in front-line dugouts.

But Billy used to burst with laughter when telling of the times his guide would make him lie down when an enemy plane hovered over or when machine gun bullets flew thick and fast in his direction. The thought of Billy lying down, except stretched across a shell hole with his stomach in the center, would make many laugh. And Billy used to say that the only time he ever shouted at a funeral was when some daring American pilot brought down an enemy plane.

The energy of the doughboy's servant was amazing, but it sapped when the armistice was signed in autumn. He was hospitalized in a German sanitarium where he was billeted with fifty nuns in a convent. The latter cared for him lovingly and he recuperated.

Fraternity activity overseas included eight alumni associations in France, one in Germany in the Army of Occupation. This is aside from many groups holding more or less informal meetings. The Association at Tours is notable for conducting the only initiation of ΣΑΕ in France and the first on foreign soil. The Andernach Association conducted the only one in Germany, when Lloyd J. Brown, Wis. A '21, received his badge in ceremonies amid the romantic, stately ruins of Andernach castle on the Rhine. Conducted by Billy Levere himself, the initiation is legend to every ΣΑΕ.

As Billy Levere so enriched the world and his Fraternity by the magnificent part he played during the war, so does his book enrich every member who reads it. Here is found a heritage inspiring courage to look ahead with conviction that the part ΣΑΕ plays in the world today and tomorrow is a vital one. And again the Fraternity is proving willingness to fight and to die for its cherished privileges.

In Memoriam: William C. Levere

PERHAPS some day the missing data of the early period will be supplied, and some gifted pen will write the complete life story of William C. Levere, but whether such a story ever appears in print, he will live in tradition as the most majestic Greek the college world ever knew.

Trying to encompass in a few introductory pages the phenomenal career of this man is like placing all the oils and colors and materials of the studio at the master's hand, setting him down before Olympus, and asking him to sketch its grandeur within the hour. It seems far more fitting to present a simple "in memoriam" as a preface to the revision of a work which he so often performed for the Fraternity, and which he would be doing now if he were here. As a compensating thought to those who are insistently eager for a biographical sketch in chronological order, let them remember that the story of his life is graven on the hearts of thousands and tens of thousands, and all that has been said and written of him since he passed into the Chapter Eternal falls short of expressing what those who knew him thought of him and felt toward him.

One feels justified in turning to account the words our great historian used in writing about his Fraternity, and applying them to the historian himself: "To deal with the story of ΣΑΕ is to work face to face with all the glamor and joy and pleasure as well as with all the pathos and tender touches which have come into the hearts of the ten thousand young lives whom it has touched to make happier, and brighter and better." Levere was the incarnation of all those noble qualities and high principles that have perpetuated ΣΑΕ through nearly three quarters of a century, and he was forever touching with a kindly spirit ten thousand young lives, "to make them happier and brighter and better."

It is a common habit to review the lives of great men, to recall this incident or that achievement, to appraise some signal service, and to measure piecemeal the value of such lives to the community. It is far more interesting to review a life as a whole; to search out the moment when the dream of greatness was dreamt, and to follow that dream through until it becomes a reality. The thrill of such retrospection comes when one reaches the end of the last chapter, and suddenly wakes up to the thought that nothing happened by accident; that there was a ruling passion through a well-ordered and progressive plan of life, and a relentless pressing forward to a high goal.

Was it the prompting of a great heart or was it destiny that led the unusual youth to break away early from his native moorings, taking with him all those qualities of heart and mind which heredity could give him through birth in a sturdy old New England home, and to push away into a far country where this heredity could combine with the environment of a Western atmosphere, there to prepare himself and to adapt himself to a great and growing civilization? The answer is unimportant, but the question is significant in the light of his future course, for barely had he completed his preliminary training when he sought out and allied himself with a movement that would broaden his field of activities to include the South, the far West, and every other section of his native land.

It was no accident that he selected the Fraternity as the agency through which he could make his life touch with a kindly and helpful service the lives of his fellowmen in whatever land or clime. It can not be positively declared that he foresaw the World War, but those who were close to him when we entered the conflict, know how promptly he accepted world-wide service as his duty, and how quickly he applied his vision of world-service through the Fraternity which he had years before elected with an apparently prophetic intuition.

It is doubtful whether Levere's days in the academy at Evanston will ever be described in detail, or fully appreciated as a chapter in his life except by those who were privileged to associate with him at that time. It is worthy of mention here that this early his democratic spirit was manifesting itself, for he was willing to perform the most humble service for his fellow-students, and this he was well able to do while retaining for himself their respect and also their admiration. It is also a significant fact that in his academy days he sought through the selection and pursuit of his studies to relate himself to the world in which he was to work.

One can not hope ever to portray adequately or fully understand what his college days meant to him, to those who mingled with him, and to his Alma Mater he loved so well, but it is a beautiful tribute to realize that no one has ever written or told a story of his college days that was not couched in terms of affection or approval.

In his maturity he entered the political life of his city with courage and conviction, and demonstrated that in city, state or national politics in all of which he also took an active interest, one may serve without provoking rancor or bitterness.

As one who traveled extensively and observed closely, it was but natural that the urge to literary effort should manifest itself, and the works that fell from his pen were not without merit. It is a matter of regret that he was not spared for the production of a masterpiece in literature which he undoubtedly had in his mind, and which he had only to reduce to writing. Even here let us not regret for now he will be remembered chiefly as a friend and leader of college men, and after all that was his own choice.

William C. Levere never drank intoxicating liquors, used tobacco, or indulged in any of the vices common to the average young man. He abhorred profanity, and was as modest as a virgin. He was a man of broad sympathies and he detested intolerance. He was a scholar, but he was a student to the end. He liked the road where the going was rough, and he could never understand how any red-blooded American could seek the sheltered life.

Levere's life was so many-sided, his interests so all-embracing, his activities so diverse, and his accomplishments achieved in so many fields of endeavor, it is difficult to select a setting for a character picture that would satisfy all.

Many will remember him best as he towered above his fellowmen in convention hall. They will see him selling symbols in the ante-room, with a boyish fervor and fun—a few minutes later he will be reading to the delegates reports and statistics so complete in detail and exhaustive in extent that one can hardly believe it to be the work of one man; a little later one will hear him in debate, fighting for a cause, commanding, eloquent, and convincing. When convention days are done, and brothers gather around the banquet table for the farewell, Billy Levere's name is called and the walls of the building echo with the loud acclaim of a hero and an idol, ere the college boys from the four corners settle into an entranced silence to listen to the enchanting and thrilling stories Levere had collected through years of travel and intimate contact with life.

Another will recall him best delivering his "Illustrated Lecture on Sigma Alpha Epsilon." How he loved to tell the stories of DeVotie, and Rudolph! Those early days had a fascination for him that never grew less with the passing years. His innumerable slides, sometimes marking high points in the development of the Fraternity, and sometimes only interesting personal observations or local incidents were woven by his matchless art into a story that not only charmed his audience but in which he even seemed to lose himself, so vividly did he live those experiences all over again.

Those who were so fortunate as to visit him in his Evanston home, from the days he lived over the bakery, until he settled himself in the Fraternity home at 1856 Sheridan Road, will perhaps have their most lasting picture of him in his library, surrounded by books he had gathered through the years, curios and souvenirs he had collected in his extensive travels, and fraternity insignia hung alongside drawings and paintings illustrative of men and of deeds that were significant to him in the work to which he was devoting his life.

If one who was so close to him for thirty years that he was never out of his heart or mind is asked to draw his picture, this is what one would see. It is eventide, and the sun is setting, casting a golden glow on Lake Michigan, and suggesting the quiet hour to students who are seen making their way across the campus to their rooms in the fraternity houses. There is a little iron bench on the shore and overlooking the great restless lake which Levere loved so well, and which he always spoke of as some human being. On this bench two brothers in  $\Sigma$ AE are sitting, and for the moment they are the only two people in the world. One is Billy Levere, and the other is one to whom Billy has given his confidences from the day they first met, back yonder when the Fraternity was small and poor, and weak. Billy is living over again in a tender reminiscence his life and reviewing the course of the Fraternity, and so closely are they interwoven that it was impossible to speak of one without speaking of the other. Billy was on the verge of a regret, and he was face to face with a decision. He was about to regret that so much of his life had gone into Fraternity work for fear that other great opportunities for service had been passed over. He was on the point of deciding to retire from the Fraternity, to take up a new work which he had always wanted to do.

He was passing through the Gethsemane of weighing his deeds against his opportunities, and it was a bitter trial. Perhaps the listening brother helped a little; maybe he pointed Levere back down the aisle of years and reminded him of how he had been sent into the world, to pick up an abused institution that had been a useless incident to college life, and had recast it and reformed it until it had become a part and parcel of the system of education. Perhaps he reminded him how he had builded for himself by his work with young men a monument in the heart of every educational leader in this land. Billy was not really thinking of himself, as he considered and reflected, he was thinking of what his life meant to others for that was his life-habit. "Well, it has all been done for ΣAE and if it adds to her glory, the reward is great. I must carry on," and he did.

He leans against the grill at the Davis Street Station, and watches the train pull out, taking his associates to the Convention for which he prepared but which he did not attend. A sadness permeates his soul, and no one will ever know the emotions that coursed at that moment through every nerve and fibre of his being. He was thinking of all the things he wanted to do at Boston; he was thinking of the Memorial Hall; he was checking through his mental file the thousand and one things which nobody else would do for the Fraternity, but which he would do, because everybody else was busy. Perhaps he knew better than we think that the malady was drawing a tighter hold upon him, as he sadly wended his way back to his room, but he was cheerful and brave in the face of it all, and he well deserved the rest from his labors when a few weeks later he was called to his reward in the Chapter Eternal.

PHOTOGRAPHY . . . In the War, in the Future

THE American photography industry is now engaged in a technical spree such as it hasn't enjoyed since the late thirties. Spurred by the many wartime requirements, camera, film and chemical manufacturers have made tremendous progress. The amateur is not likely to get a piece of the cake until after the war is won, but after it is over, many of the photographic secrets now of tremendous strategic importance will be revealed and the average camera fan will find his picture-taking procedure completely changed.

The wartime use of many of the photographic developments keeps them secret, but several have been announced of late. Agfa-color, for instance, which only a few short months ago was only to be seen in some of the Army and Navy laboratories, has been announced and the public has been let in on the fact that anyone can process the film at home and make prints from it. That is, anyone can do this if he is able to buy it. And just now you can't buy it because it all goes to the armed services. It has tremendous importance because it can be used for all kinds of aerial photography and developed right in the planes instead of sending it to a processing center.

By
Frederic B. Knoop
Ohio Theta '30

There is another innovation which the war has brought about, which may eliminate a good deal of dark-room drudgery. It sounds like one of "Superman's" inventions, but our word for it comes from a reliable source. A developing gas has been worked out which can be used to develop film without the usual dunking in developer, short stop and hypo. The film and paper used, it is understood, is especially sensitized for this new process. Beyond that no more information may safely be revealed.

Picture taking and picture making has become of age since the days when most of us were in college. I remember being kidded by many of the Ohio Theta Chapter members when I set up a 5 x 7 "candid camera" and covered my head with a big black cloth, in front of the "House," to take pictures of the array of our cups and trophies. That was in 1927. Then there were no light meters, no flash bulbs, and the present popular 35mm camera was unknown. Incidentally, the pictures made in those days showed that all of these modern photographic helps were not available. The average amateur today will make better pictures than nine-tenths of the professionals could take fifteen years ago. In fact, in the magazine publishing business the big problem is not one of undersupply of good pictures, but over-supply. Amateurs can make good pictures and they don't hesitate to send them in to any magazine. The place where they fall down is in not being able to set them up into a picture story or do the writing that is necessary to sell the picture as part of a story.

The tremendous interest of the amateur in photography has paid dividends too, in the war effort. Several branches of the Army and Navy that use photographers extensively advise that they have never been short of good photographers among the selectees or enlisted men. If as many men had electrical and engineering hobbies, the ranks of technical branches of the services would be filled much more quickly.

So much for the present and the developments that the future will bring. What is the opportunity that photography offers to the young man—or woman, for that matter, since some of the most successful present-day photographers are women—who is considering choosing it as a profession? The great modern innovator and educator in the field of photography and functional design, L. Moholy-Nagy, Head of The School of Design in Chicago, and one of the Associate Editors of Minicam Photography, maintains that "The illiterates of the future will be those ignorant of the camera and pen alike." If this is true, and all trends seem to prove the point, the camera will occupy a place in future life as important as the typewriter does today.

Contrast the printed news received today with that of only a decade ago. The best reporting of the war has been done with cameras. Marguerite Bourke-White's pictures of the fighting in Russia have told the story of the courage, the tenacity and the fighting conditions there as thousands of words could fail to do. Frank Scherschel's shots of the battles that rage around the convoys bound for Murmansk are exciting documents of the hell that our sailors go through to get the supplies through. And Earl

The photographic field of tomorrow will be made up of specialists, college graduates, who have had training in one or more of the branches of the profession. Photographic chemists, physicists, opticians engineers, as well as workers skilled in the procedure of taking scientific, medical or news pictures, will be in great demand. Several colleges have had prescience enough to institute courses in "photography," but they have barely scratched the surface. It is not a pipe dream to forecast that the university of the future will have a school of photography that occupies as important a place as the school of journalism does today in preparing students for useful work.

Leads the Bakers

Bakers of the nation were informed in December that Ralph D. Ward, Pa. Θ '12, had accepted the presidency of the American Bakers Association to fill the unexpired term of L. J. Schumaker, resigned. As President of Drake Bakeries, Inc., Mr. Ward fits the footsteps of his father who held the position some years ago, and is chairman of the Bakers War Committee of ABA.

Theologist Gets Fellowship

Jack R. McMichael, Ga. E '37, received the bachelor of theology degree from Union Theological Seminary in June, 1942, and was given the faculty's traveling fellowship for the coming year. He will study at the Pacific School of Religion at Berkeley, Calif., and will be given a part-time Methodist pastorate near Berkeley.

From Campus to Business

Boyce F. Martin, N.C. Θ 28, dean of the School of Business Administration of Emory University, resigned April 1, 1942, to take a position with the Louisville Cement Co. of Louisville, Ky., his special assignment being the expediting of war material being manufactured by the cement company and its subsidiaries.

Mason City Minister

The Rev. Wilbur Frank Dierking, Ind. A '29, was given the pastorate of the First Presbyterian Church in Mason City, Iowa, early in January. Former Wayne, Neb., pastor, Reverend Dierking studied at Franklin College, Ind., McCormick Theological Seminary, Chicago, Ill., and at Northwestern and Harvard Universities. He has held pastorates at Greenwood and Indiana, Neb., has served as Moderator of the Presbytery of Nebraska, and is Past Commissioner of two general assemblies of the Presbyterian Church of United States.

Aids Elmer Davis

Topnotch public relations planner, Milton S. Eisenhower, Kan. B '24, is Elmer Davis' Associate Director in the Office of War Information, and is in charge of office management and routine. His background, covered in the May issue of THE RECORD, includes assisting the Secretary of Agriculture during Coolidge's term as president, and working as Land Use Coordinator and Associate Director of Extension Work for the Department of Agriculture. Mr. Eisenhower's brother is Lt. Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, U. S. Commander in Europe.

Heads OPM Office

Charles Bunting Shaeffer, Kan. A '16, was named as head of the Kansas City priority field service office of the Office of Production Management, November 17, 1942, with offices on the sixteenth floor of the Federal Reserve Bldg. Mr. Shaeffer who was formerly president of the Bunting Hardware Co. in Kansas City is a nephew of the famous four Bunting brothers of Tennessee Zeta and the father of Richard Munger Shaeffer, Kan. A '44.

Top Men in Ordnance Plant

Heading one of the largest ordnance plants in operation, the recently completed Bluebonnet Ordnance Plant, run by National Gypsum Company, are Maj. Paul Van Tuyl, Ind. A '25, and L. R. Sanderson, Iowa Γ '14. They represent the government and private enterprise respectively in this government-owned, privately operated outfit. Major Van Tuyl, as Commanding Officer of the plant, has a military background beginning in his youth when he served in World War I with the 475th Aero Construction Squadron building airdromes in England. He was a lieutenant in the Indiana National Guard Field Artillery from 1922 till 1925, and in June, 1928, he entered the Regular Army Reserve as second lieutenant, F.A., graduating from the School of Fire at Fort Sill in 1938. In 1940 he transferred to Ordnance and was called to active duty and sent to Jefferson Proving Ground, Madison, Ind., in April, 1941. In March of this year he was sent to McGregor, Tex., as Commanding Officer of the new plant. Mr. Sanderson was made superintendent of National Gypsum's New York mill in 1935, and placed in complete charge of the company's large quarries at Dingwall, Nova Scotia, and of the company's ocean going boats. In 1938 he was charged to engineer and build the large new Gypsum plant in New York, which was completed in 1939. And when his company contracted to run the Bluebonnet Ordnance plant, Mr. Sanderson was made General Manager.

ORDNANCE HEADS—Maj. Paul Van Tuyl, Ind. A '26, and L. R. Sanderson, Iowa Γ '14, Hold Two Top Positions at Bluebonnet Ordnance Plant in McGregor, Tex.

ROTARY LEADER—Arthur W. Wood, III, Ψ-Ω '27, Governs Illinois District of Rotary International for 1942-3.

Rotary International Officer

Arthur W. Wood, III, Ψ-Ω '27, took office in July as District Governor of Rotary International. Mr. Wood, Principal of John Deere Junior High School in Moline, Ill., is past president of Moline's Rotary Club. Unanimously elected at Rotary's recent convention in Toronto, Canada, by delegates representing Rotary clubs in more than fifty countries, he will devote much of his time during his year in office to visiting fifty-four Rotary clubs, which comprise the 147th district, and advising officers and committeemen on the activities of their clubs. He will serve as district governor until shortly after Rotary's 1943 convention in Philadelphia in June.

WPB Local Head

Howard P. Ingels, Ky. E '02, Life Member of the Chapter National, was appointed regional deputy director of the smaller-warplants division of the War Production Board for New York and New Jersey, in November. During World War I he served as Secretary of the War Industries Board under Bernard M. Baruch.

Share Army-Navy Honors

For their outstanding performance in the construction of the Corpus Christi Naval Air Station, Tex., H. W. Howarth, Mass. A '16, and Warren S. Bellows, Kan. A '11, shared the Army-Navy "E" Award with other contractors who made possible the commissioning of the main station of the world's largest naval air station four months ahead of schedule. The award was made January 8, 1943, to Brown-Bellows-Columbia, Principal Contractors. Mr. Howarth handled the architectural-engineering work on the station as engineer-in-charge. At the first of the year the total cost of the construction approached $80,000,000. Construction began in July, 1940, and the main station was commissioned March 12, 1941. Since then five auxiliary fields and forty-one landing fields have been completed.

Supplies Ace Engineers

Furnishing king-pins of the war industry—aeronautical engineers—Prof. Everett O. Eastwood, Va. O '06, Director of Aeronautics at University of Washington, contributes vitally to the nation's war effort. Sponsor of civilian pilot training at the university and conductor of wind-tunnel aero-dynamic experimentation, Professor Eastwood directs embryo aeronautical engineers and conducts the mechanical engineering school. During World War I he directed the campus training course for engineer officers in the Merchant Marine. Holding five college degrees and serving as president of the American Society of Heating and Ventilating Engineers, and board member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and the American Engineers' Council, he yet lives quietly, terms himself a "perpetual collegian," and a hobby is arguing with former students and Civilian Engineering Professor F. Burt Farquharson, Wash. A '22.

Cited for Citizenship

■ Proud acknowledgement of public service was given Dr. George Pullen Jackson, Tenn. N '02, Ill. Θ '04, by the University of Chicago's Alumni Association in July. Professor of German at Vanderbilt University for twenty-four years and the leading authority of the nation on folk songs, Doctor Jackson was cited for "service which has reflected credit on the University and its alumni." He studied at the Royal Conservatory of Music in Dresden before attending Vanderbilt in 1900-01, and received his Ph.B. and Ph.D. degrees at University of Chicago, later doing postgraduate work at the Universities of Munich and Bonn. Besides teaching at Vanderbilt he has taught at the Universities of Chicago and North Dakota, at Oberlin College, Northwestern University, Kansas State Agricultural College, and at Case School of Applied Science.

Commerce Magazine Editor

■ Former Managing Editor, Harry A. Ackerburg, Ill. Ψ-Ω '14, was recently promoted to Editor of the Illinois Journal of Commerce, published in Chicago. He is a well-known fraternity worker, as past President of the Interfraternity Club of Chicago and past President of the Chicago Alumni Association. Mr. Ackerburg has been conducting the ΣAE All-American Football Poll for several years, and his article on the past season's representation appears in this issue. He is also active with the Executives' Club of Chicago, as a member of the Board of Directors and as Chairman of the Publicity and Publications Committee.

PROMOTED—Harry A. Ackerburg, Ill. Ψ-Ω '14, Editor of Illinois Journal of Commerce, Past President of Chicago Alumni Association.

PSYCHOLOGIST—John E. Anderson, Wyo. A '14, A.B., Wyoming, '14; M.A., Harvard, '15; Ph.D., Harvard, '17; L.L.D., Wyoming, '42; Professor and Director of Institute of Child Welfare at University of Minnesota, Member of Welfare Defense Advisory Committee of Minnesota Defense Council, Editor of the Psychological Bulletin.

Children's Aid

■ Perhaps the leading scientist in the field of child development and welfare is John E. Anderson, Wyo. A '14, Professor and Director of Minnesota University's Institute of Child Welfare. The well-known institute makes scientific studies of children, trains future workers in the field of child welfare, and disseminates information on the care and training of children to their parents. Doctor Anderson's interest in children is not too theoretical, for he has five children—twin boys twenty, now in the navy, a twin boy and girl fourteen, and a daughter twenty-two. Former Secretary of the Council of American Psychological Association, he is a member of many scientific societies. He was recently elected editor of the Psychological Bulletin, a major magazine in the field, and is the author of many scientific and popular articles and books. Among the latter are The Young Child and Its Parents, written in collaboration with Dr. Josephine Foster, and Child Care and Training, in collaboration with Marion Faegre. During World War I Professor Anderson served as Chief Psychological Examiner in the Army School of Military Psychology, Camp Greenleaf, Ga.

Judge Kloeb Hits Monopoly

■ Smashing what he described a "twenty-six-year-old patent monopoly" Judge Frank L. Kloeb, Ohio Θ '11, issued injunctions against eight companies, a trade association, and sixty-one individuals in the glass container industry—all found guilty August 25 in United States District Court of violating the Sherman Anti-trust Act. Thus Judge Kloeb restrained them from engaging in practices he claimed allowed an unlawful control of the industry. Rejecting a government request that Hartford-Empire Company of Hartford, Conn., be dissolved, he instead named Congressman James A. Shanley, Dem., New Haven, Conn., as receiver, and in a 138-page opinion of the case Judge Kloeb stated: "From a study of the entire case I am convinced that there has not only been a violation of the anti-trust laws, beginning with the first agreement between Hartford and Empire in 1916, but I am convinced that this violation . . . was as deliberate as any I can find in a review of anti-trust cases."

Chain Letter Makes Hit

■ An effective means of keeping tab on, and boosting the morale of, lowadeltians in service and civilian life alike was devised by Dan E. Anderson, Iowa Δ '38, and his chaptermate, Louis Paquin, '40. Dan started a chain letter on its way in January, and a forty-name circuit was completed by the end of July. Each man read the preceding letters—pasted into a chain of folding correspondence—and added his to the others and mailed it all on to the next man on the list. In Dan Anderson's explanatory bulletin he tells brothers he "conceived the inspiration of collecting a masterpiece of correspondence from all the boys which should make SOME record!" He also guaranteed "no jinx, no collection plate to follow." All participants praised the scheme and endorsed it with wholehearted cooperation. A new chain was begun July 31, with Lauren Foreman, ESR, forming the first link in the correspondence from his editor's desk at Evanston, Ill. Other chapters might well fall in line with the idea, and Dan's advice to each man who is on the roll is "If you are too busy to write within 24 hours, slip it all in an envelope and send it on quick."

Gordon Duncan Resigns

■ Gordon B. Duncan, Ill. B '39, who has been serving as Acting Associate Editor of THE RECORD since May, 1942, when Don M. Gable, Ohio Δ '35, was commissioned as an ensign in the U. S. Naval Reserve, resigned March 15 to accept a position as editorial assistant on The Rotarian, the official magazine of Rotary International, with office in Chicago.

Wildlife Bureau Assistant

■ Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes announced the appointment of Albert M. Day, Wyo. A '22, as Assistant Director, Fish and Wildlife Service, Department of the Interior, effective December 8, 1942. In making the appointment, Mr. Ickes stated: "Mr. Day, who is an expert in his field, has demonstrated unusual ability in the inauguration of new work, and has at all times proved to be an executive of exceptional capacity and excellent judgment. He has covered many parts of the Nation during his various assignments as a specialist on wildlife problems and this varied experience well qualifies him for his new duties as an assistant director of the Fish and Wildlife Service."

Albert M. Day, Wyo. A '22, Assistant Director, Fish and Wildlife Service, U. S. Department of the Interior.

Served City, Now State

■ Accepting appointment as deputy director of the California State Department of Finance, and chief assistant to the director of finance, James S. Dean, Mass. I-T '10, resigned as Sacramento City Manager January 23. He told councilmen his resignation involves financial sacrifice, but gives him the opportunity to serve the State of California. While city manager, one of his department heads was Charles R. Blood, Mo. A '11, Ill. B '12, street engineer.

General Counsel of RFC

■ Heading a staff of nearly 200 attorneys, John D. Goodloe, III, Ky. E '29, is general counsel of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. The thirty-four-year-old legal expert is a graduate of the University of Kentucky and Harvard Law School, has worked in Washington as an attorney for the Federal Farm Board, the Farm Credit Administration, the Commodity Credit Corporation (as secretary and general counsel, later vice president and general counsel). He was also Executive Assistant to the chairman on the RFC board of directors, executive vice president of Defense Supplies Corporation and special assistant to the RFC board of directors, which board elected him general counsel.

Named State Senator

■ E. G. Toomey, Wis. A '16, prominent Helena, Mont., attorney, was named State Senator from Lewis and Clark County December 31, to succeed Lt. R. E. Morrison, who was killed in a plane crash, and who had recommended Mr. Toomey. A Republican, Toomey served in the State House of Representatives during three sessions—the 24th, 25th and 27th. He was a candidate for Congress in last summer's primary election, and he took an active part in the House of Representatives during the 1941 session of the legislature. He was vice-chairman of the House Judiciary Committee.

■ Duncan DeMonbreun, Tenn. H '41, was named President of the Jackson Alumni Association of Sigma Alpha Epsilon at a banquet held in Jackson, Tenn., December 11, 1942. He succeeds Gen. David P. Murray, and is the youngest member to serve in this capacity. Albert Stone, Ga. E '19, Vice-President and General Manager of The Sun Publishing Company, served as toastmaster for the occasion and presented Pledge James "Casey" Jones, Union University's Little All-America football star. Attended by alumni and active members of Tennessee Eta, the banquet honored members in the armed forces.

Personality for Leadership

■ Writing on our human relations after the war, in an article in The Christian Advocate, January 14, 1943, Daniel C. Roper, S.C.  $\Gamma$  '88, listed eleven steps in the organization of an international plan for postwar world readjustment, and concluded in summary: "... we shall need to discover and develop in youth the elements of personality for leadership, involving a real interest in people and an earnest desire to help them. No more beautiful illustration of the influence of a personality surcharged with spirit can be found than that recorded of Robert E. Lee. When a visiting chaplain at one of Lee's camps called for the Bible with which to conduct the service, one of the soldiers rose and said, "We have no Bible in this camp, but we have Robert E. Lee."

To Teach at Franklin

■ Dr. Harry B. Benninghoff, Ind. A '01, is a new member of the Faculty of Franklin College, Franklin, Ind., following more than thirty years of missionary work and teaching in Waseda University in Tokyo. He will teach in the Far Eastern history department of the college. Dr. Benninghoff was one of the headline speakers at the fiftieth anniversary celebration of Indiana Alpha last March. Dr. Benninghoff recently learned that a son, Merrill, was stationed with the American legation in Tokyo and has been held but has been released as an exchange prisoner and soon will return to America. In addition, Dr. Benninghoff's son-in-law is interned in French Indo-China as a Japanese prisoner. He was an oil company employee when the war started.

Heads OWI Regional Office

Chain Store Leaders

From John P. Pichols, N.Y. M '29, general manager of the Institute of Distribution, Inc., in New York, comes interesting information concerning members of the Fraternity in the chain store field and which indicates the profession is fairly well dominated by ΣΑΕ. Mr. Nichols, author of books on chain stores, responded when it was suggested by Joe T. Lovett, Ky. K '22, executive director of the Mid-South Chain Stores Council, that THE RECORD contact Mr. Nichols. Mr. Lovett is now a Major in the Special Services Office at Fort Hayes, Columbus, Ohio. Other chain store leaders include: Newell W. Ellison, W.C. P '22, general counsel of the National Association of Food Chains; George W. Young, W.C. P '19, attorney for a number of major chain store concerns; V. B. Stouffer, Pa. O '23, president of Stouffer Corporation, restaurant chain; Aaron S. Bauer, Pa. Γ '18, district manager of the F. W. Woolworth Company, heading the Chicago area; George V. Sheridan, Ohio O '11, executive director of the Ohio State Council of Retail Merchants; Thomas P. Thompson, *Ga. Murray, Calif. Γ '27, secretary of the Utah Chain Stores Association; Gordon B. Hattersley, Ohio E '23, vice-president of Sears Roebuck & Company. In his capacity as General Manager of the Institute of Distribution, John Nichols sent out a Defense Bulletin to member companies regarding a "Retailers for Victory" campaign, in which 16,000 units of the chain store companies affiliated with the institute have begun extending "all out" promotional and sales co-operation to War Bonds and Stamps.

Had Chinese Missions

Working in the Jap-occupied part of China for the last four of his twenty-five years as a missionary in China, Rev. James N. Montgomery, Va. Σ '10, returned last summer with 1,550 other refugees on the Gripsholm. His station in China was up-river from Shanghai where he was in charge of twenty-five mission churches and a mission hospital of 500-bed capacity. After Pearl Harbor he was permitted by the Japanese to continue operation of his missions and hospital though all white doctors had left and he had only four native doctors on duty with the staff, composed entirely of native nurses. While in Quincy, Fla., Reverend Montgomery addressed the Tallahassee Rotary Club, where he was introduced by Guyte P. McCord, Va. Σ '09, his Chaptermate.

David G. Allen, N.Y. P '20, President of New York State Association of Secondary School Principals.

Clifford Judkins Durr, Ala. M '19, Member of the Federal Communications Commission.

HEAD COACH—Robert H. Whittaker, Ohio T '29, is Head Football Coach at Bowling Green University, Bowling Green, Ohio. Former All-State Tackle Four Successive Years, "Bob's" Coaching Record Includes Winning the 1937 State Meet, the 1936 Ohio Wesleyan Relays and the Mansfield Relays in '36 and '37.

Public Opinion Expert

The cover and lead article of Forbes, national business magazine, February 1 issue, was devoted to Dr. George H. Gallup, Jr., Iowa B '22, whose reporting of public opinion since October, 1935, has become a national institution. A dual personality, Dr. Gallup spends half his week with his brain-child, the American Institute of Public Opinion, and the other half as vice president and head of the research department of a large and progressive New York advertising agency. With most of their national polls involving no more than 3,000 to 10,000 interviews, Dr. Gallup's Institute has been making weekly polls since 1935, has covered more than 1,500 subjects. Today more than 100 of the nation's leading newspapers subscribe to the Gallup service. The organization's interviewing staff consists of approximately 1,000 trained investigators, thoroughly schooled in the art of obtaining a "representative cross-section."

Leading Architect, Engineer

As architect and engineer in the construction of one of the new ship-building yards for building merchant vessels at South Portland, Me., Alonzo J. Harriman, Me. A '20, who planned and supervised the remodelling of Maine Alpha Chapter House at University of Maine, took a leading part in a notable achievement in modern industrial architecture, according to an article recently published in the Architectural Forum. Two of his main problems were: to prepare the site of the new yard by filling and grading the area to an elevation six feet above high tide level, and to plan and build efficient, modern shops, sheds, offices and buildings with a minimum of materials. Wood was substituted for steel in girders, plates, beams, and supports.

New Post for McGehee

Charles C. McGehee, Mass. Γ '29, formerly deputy administrator for the Federal Housing Administration and for the past five years connected with the Coca Cola Company at Atlanta, Ga., was named as assistant to Lend Lease Administrator Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., with headquarters in Washington, D.C., in February, 1943. He will maintain his family home in Atlanta.

"Flexitanks Carry Oil"

Developing at his own considerable expense, a method whereby freight cars can be converted to oil carriers—offering one possibility for relieving the tank car shortage—Mark J. Fields, Colo. Z '16, Chicago inventor and president of Soldone Corporation (chemicals), Skokie, Ill., announced February 6 that fifty freight cars are being outfitted with tanks, in a plant taken over for the purpose, to be used for transporting petroleum products. The fifty cars are being supplied from a pool arranged by the Association of American Railroads. Mr. Fields calls his product "flexitank" car. It is made by dividing the interior of a box car into four compartments by means of wooden bulkheads. A treated canvas container is set in each compartment, each of which has a 3,000-gallon capacity.

New England Author, Judge

Arthur W. Patterson, Me. A '14, whose latest book published was Red Coats at Castine, a Literary Guild selection, has practiced law at Castine, Me., since 1914, has served as Judge of Probate since 1927 in Hancock County, the location of Bar Harbor and other famous summer resorts in Maine. He has two ΣΑΕ sons in service who are listed in the "Men under Arms" section of this issue.

Frank Lindsey Decorated

Belated recognition for his services in World War I came to J. Frank Lindsey, Ind. Γ '13, on December 7, 1942, when the War Department presented him the Silver Star Medal, based on Citation Orders No. 8, GHQ, Washington, D.C., March 1, 1920, reading, as follows:

Captain J. Frank Lindsey, 3rd Battalion, 357 Infantry, for gallantry in action near Baalon, France, November 9, 10, 11, 1918, in assuming command of and reorganizing his battalion under enemy fire.

Captain Lindsey had previously been awarded the Purple Heart with three Gold Oak Leafs. He and Edwin E. Besser, Ill. Ψ-Ω '16, established the Besser-Lindsey Award for members of the Chapters Collegiate who show distinction in scholarship, leadership and athletic ability.

Sounds Bond Appeal

Participating in the united-front appeal of Labor, Business and Finance to New Englanders to co-operate with the Treasury's efforts to finance its $9,000,000,000 Victory Bond issue, William W. Paddock, W.C. P '06, Archon of Province Alpha, President, Federal Reserve Bank of Boston and Victory Fund Committee Chairman, joined other national and local leaders in a radio broadcast from Station WEEI December 13 as the drive entered its third and final week. Paddock pointed out that "... no broker ever sold a better security, or one with less risk."

Curry Returns to Texas

A. Foy Curry, Jr., Tenn. A '31, has given up the practice of law at Tulsa, Okla., to become enforcement attorney for the State Office of Price Administration in Fort Worth, Tex. ## Aids Boston Fire Victims

James H. Rand, Jr., Mass. Γ '08, President of Remington Rand, Inc., whose contributions of equipment and endowment of Harvard University's Foundation for study of oxygen treatment of burns has made him a pioneer in the field, gave $5,000 for the purchase of oxygen and equipment to treat victims of the Coconut Grove disaster November 28. He also instructed his branch office managers through New England to ship all available masks, gauges and valves, needed for administering oxygen, to Dr. W. R. Morrison, Boston City Hospital senior surgeon. Through Mr. Rand's prompt action many lives were undoubtedly saved.

Covers African Scene

Roving reporter for Scripps-Howard newspapers, Ernest Taylor Pyle, Ind. Γ '23, was in January at the "second front" opened by the Allies in North Africa. The outstanding journalist, who has traveled almost 100,000 miles in the past seven years, sent back daily stories describing the activities of tens of thousands of American youth and men living in Morocco and Algiers. His dispatches are read from coast to coast.

Fairbairn Gilkeson, N.Y. A '14, Archon of Province Beta.

Clears Homesick Boy

City Judge Rex Cornielson of Paducah, Ky., tempered justice with mercy when a homesick boy was brought to his court charged with riding a freight train and deserting the army. The lad had left his post at Fort Knox, Ky., to visit his family.

"You wanted to see your family mighty bad, didn't you?" the judge asked the youth.

"Yes, sir," he answered.

"I know just how you feel. Go home and see your folks and then go back to Fort Knox," Judge Cornielson ordered.

Honored for Research

Douglas Brawner, Jr., Colo. X '41, recently completed work for his S.M. degree in petroleum geology at Massachusetts Institute of Technology; the degree will be awarded in June. On January 15 he was initiated into ΕΞ in recognition of his research ability, which has been along the lines of radioactivity applied to geophysics. Until June Mr. Brawner will continue work at MIT as half-time assistant.

Dr. Hand Honored Again

Dr. William F. Hand, Miss. Θ '93, Life Member of the Chapter National, State Chemist of Mississippi and head of the Chemistry department at Mississippi State College, has been signally honored by the American Chemical Society, its official organ, Chemical and Engineering News, having carried a personality sketch of him under the heading, "American Contemporaries." Dr. Hand has received many honors, among them the Herty Medal which was awarded to him in 1941 by the Georgia section of the American Chemical Society.

Appointed to Faculty

Marion M. Brook, Ga. E '35, who received the Doctor of Science degree in hygiene from Johns Hopkins University in June, has been appointed a member of the university faculty. During the summer he directed an interstate malaria survey of the upper Mississippi Valley.

Idaho Holiday Banquet

Arranged by the Alumni Committee of Idaho Alpha Chapter, the annual holiday banquet for the Boise Alumni Association was held in Boise at the Hotel Owyhee on December 29, 1942. In spite of the war conditions, many of the alumni of Boise were able to attend. Eighteen members and pledges from Idaho Alpha found the reminiscences of the alumni very entertaining. Individual members and pledges presented to the alumni an account of the chapter on the University of Idaho campus. All active men rightfully boasted of Idaho Alpha's possession of the coveted Inter-Fraternity Scholarship cup. Donald Milich, Alumni chairman of Idaho Alpha, acted as toastmaster and Dick d'Easum of Boise spoke on behalf of the Alumni members.

Pa. Zeta 50th Anniversary

By Henry M. Reed,
Pa. Zeta '44

JUNE 14, 1943, will mark the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of Pennsylvania Zeta at Bucknell University and members of the Chapter Collegiate and alumni are preparing appropriate ceremonies for the occasion.

Pennsylvania Zeta made history at Bucknell in 1895 when it was the first chapter on the campus to occupy an owned house. The present house, built on the same site as the old, was occupied in 1924.

Illinois Basketball Stars

STAR members of the Illinois basketball team which won the 1943 Big Ten championship were Art Mathison, Ill. B '43, captain and center, and Jack Smiley, Ill. B '44, guard, who have been named on practically every all-conference team which has been selected.

Playing his third year of varsity basketball, "Big Art," who weighs 213 pounds, proved that weight and size need be no handicap to speed and accuracy. A good rebounder, both offensively and defensively, "Art" can shoot well with either hand. Possessing unusually large hands and long arms,

Since its founding Pennsylvania Zeta has initiated 529 members of whom over 100 are now serving in the armed forces. Throughout its history, the chapter has led in extra-curricular activities, intramural and varsity sports and general campus activities.

Much of the chapter's success is due to the active interest of the alumni group, headed by LeRoy T. Butler, '97, alumnus adviser. Faculty members include: Registrar Henry W. Holter, '24; Director of Admissions L. Francis Lybarger, '28; Wm. H. Coleman, '06, professor of English; William L. Miller, '24, professor of mathematics; and John Sitarsky, '36, football, basketball and baseball coach.

he handles the ball as if it were an orange.

Junior Jack Smiley, only eighteen years old, came into his own in his second year after being overshadowed by more experienced players when he was a sophomore. Smiley has developed a one-hand shot, all his own, and is likely to shoot the basket from almost any place on the floor.

Smiley was awarded the Ralf Woods Memorial Trophy which is presented each year to the Illinois player who has the best percentage on free throws in conference games. He scored on eleven out of fourteen throws.

Jack Smiley, Ill. B '44, Guard, and Art Mathison, Ill. B '43, Captain and Center, Stars of the University of Illinois' Championship Basketball Team.

DOWN CHAPTER WAY

Almost Sets Record

Ralph Hamilton, Ind. F '44, Indiana University basketball star, almost established an all-time Western Conference high for individual scoring in a single game during the Hoosiers' win over Iowa, 71 to 55, at Iowa City January 23. He might have made it had not Coach Branch McCracken, who had no idea that Hamilton was on the verge of shattering a record, taken him from the game. The sharpshooting star played thirty-five minutes of the game, made thirteen field goals and five free throws, totaling thirty-one points—three points short of the mark established by Bill Hapac of Illinois against Minnesota in 1940.

Student Body President

William Noonan, Va. Sigma '43, new president of the Student Body at Washington and Lee University, has run up an impressive string of honors, being also president of ODK and of the Christian Council, past president of Washington Literary Society, captain of the golf team, and chairman of the Lee Dinner Forum.

Virginia Sigma Champions

Virginia Sigma at Washington and Lee University won the intramural basketball championship for 1943, thus duplicating its performance of the previous year. It placed two men on the all-campus team: Jay Cook and Ambrose Givens. In three years the chapter has lost only one basketball game.

Wofford Men Move

Wofford College students at Spartanburg, S.C., in a history-making transfer, began their studies in other institutions on February 23rd. With Wofford credits and diplomas held intact for them, approximately 125 seniors and juniors are studying at Converse; freshmen and sophomores at Spartanburg Junior College. On March 1st the first men selected under the expanded war department program for training as aviation cadet reserves arrived on Wofford campus, necessitating the emergency measure.

Awarded Carnegie Medal

The brave action of Edward McD. Ellis, Me. A '44, active member of the University of Maine chapter, in saving two men and a woman from drowning was recently rewarded by the presentation of the Carnegie Hero medal and the sum of $250 by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission. The near tragedy was averted at York Beach, Me., last summer when Ellis helped a man and his wife to shallow water and then struck out after Rene Boucher, a salesman, who had gone beyond his depth in the breakers. Two other persons had failed to reach Boucher who had drifted 200 feet from shore but Ellis had the necessary stamina and towed Boucher back to shore. Ellis is prominent in campus activities and a member of the Intramural Council.

Seniors Active at Golden

■ Holding a most prominent position in affairs at Colorado School of Mines at Golden, Colorado Lambda's eleven seniors are represented in practically every extracurricular activity in school and set high standards of scholarship as well. Members are in TBII, national scholarship honorary; ΣTE, professional engineering fraternity; Blue Key, national service organization; Scabbard and Blade, military; Press Club, ROTC, A.I.M.E., A.S.M.E., Glee Club, "M" Club, Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, and Mines Octette.

The seniors are Robert Davison, Richard Deneke, Ralph Foster, Hugh Henneberry, Ralph Jacobs, William Kellogg, Francis Mann, John Ross, Howard Smith, Floyd Stewart, and Ted Stockmar. Stockmar is President of TBII; Smith, Henneberry and Deneke are members. Davison, Deneke, Foster and Kellogg are in ΣTE; in ΘT are Stockmar, Vice-President; Smith, Secretary; and Mann. Davison is President of Blue Key, Smith is Secretary; other members are Deneke, Foster, Henneberry and Stockmar. The last-named is also in Scabbard and Blade.

Practically putting out the weekly paper, The Oredigger, are Davison, Smith, Henneberry, and Mann, acting respectively as editor, business manager, associate editor, and feature editor. All are members of the Press Club. Five men are officers in ROTC: Davison, Deneke, Foster, Mann and Stockmar. In the Glee Club are Foster, Student Leader, and Stewart. Foster also sings in the Mines Octette. All the seniors engage in Intramural Athletics, and three of them are lettermen; Stockmar, football; Foster, track; Kellogg, tennis.

Oregon Alpha Activities

■ Oregon Alpha at Oregon State College won the intra-mural championships in football and handball and was runner-up in basketball, volleyball and swimming.

Crane, Gray, Harper, Gustafson and Bain were varsity football stars while Pledges Oliver, Powell, Beil and Williams were members of the freshman team.

"Andy" Anderson was first string center on the varsity basketball team; Roelandt and Hobbart were on the freshman five. Brown, Roelandt, McCluskey and Churchill are on varsity baseball team while Chinn, 80-yard runner, is one of the most promising trackmen.

ZEALOUS—J. W. Severy, Mont. B '15, Botany Professor at Montana State, President of Western Montana State Game Commission, Serves His Chapter Faithfully, Was Toastmaster at Impressive Easter Breakfast, Florence Hotel. Mrs. Severy Holds Membership in Minerva Club, Missoula, Mont.

During the fall term the chapter stood ninth in scholarship but concerted efforts brought about a marked improvement during the winter term.

Two issues of the Oregon Alpha News Bulletin have been issued during the college year and preparation of a chapter history is now under way.

At the Founders Day banquet, Treasurer Ben Schumacher announced that the debt on the house had been completely paid off and that a mortgage burning was in order. However, it was decided to keep the mortgage as an interesting historical relic.

Logan Most Valuable

■ John Logan, Ind. Γ '43, was named by his teammates as the most valuable player on the Indiana 1943 basketball team and was given honorable mention by the coaches who selected the all-conference team. Last spring Logan was chosen as the most valuable baseball player at Indiana and then was named as the most valuable player in the Big Ten. Ralph Hamilton, Ind. Γ '44, was named as a member of the all-conference second basketball team.

Exterior View of Utah Upsilon's Remodeled Home at Utah State College, Logan, Utah.

Oregon State Activity Men

■ More than holding their own in the political world at Oregon State College, members of Oregon Alpha boast representation in Class Offices, Military Leadership and in the Fourth Estate. Bill Shinn is Treasurer of the Junior Class; James Cieslinski is Sergeant-at-Arms of the Freshman Class; and Len Moyer is manager of the Beaver. Besides this, E. A. "Duke" McQueen is Captain of Scabbard and Blade, Bill Teutsch is Co-Chairman of the Campus Victory Center, reputedly the first such war-fund raising, morale-boosting organization on any college campus, and Sam Dement is a Lieutenant-Colonel in the ROTC Field Artillery.

Annual ΣΑΕ All-American Football Teams

By Harry A. Ackerburg

Ill. Psi-Omega '14

ONE who has never attempted to impartially select an All-American football team cannot appreciate how difficult is the task of reducing the available talent to the necessary team minimum.

From a complete list of ΣΑΕ senior varsity football players, the members of Sigma Alpha Epsilon were invited to submit their all-star team selections. Only ballots containing complete elevens were given consideration. It was largely from these vote totals that the final selections were determined.

The Major Eleven could give a good account of itself against any big league aggregation in the country, with plenty of replacement talent that might easily challenge their right to places on the first eleven. Among the more outstanding players could be mentioned:

George Bain, tackle, and Reginald L. Gustafson, a back from Oregon State; John F. Nash and Julian Olsen, ends from Indiana and Vanderbilt, respectively; and Stephen J. Sokol, a center from Bucknell.

Even more difficult to select was the Minor Eleven, representing the schools of smaller enrollment, mainly because the absence of intersectional contests gave no basis for comparison. Here again some two or three of the players might well claim berths on the Major Eleven. Other players who polled a heavy vote include: William Batt, end, Utah State; Fred Dittman, center; Dickinson; Don Kelson, guard, Union; Jack A. Miller, end, Millikin; Horace Morrow, end, Centre; Milton Ravielle, quarterback, Norwich, and Ray H. Steeves, tackle, Massachusetts State.

Several of the chapters had two or three seniors on their varsity squad. Both flanks of the James Millikin team were manned by ΣΑΕ seniors who received national recognition on a 1941 Little All-America. Millikin was also one of the very few undefeated elevens in 1942. Nebraska had an all-senior ΣΑΕ backfield.

Most remarkable of all, however, was Kentucky Kappa chapter at Centre College. Although one of the smallest chapters in the Fraternity, the Praying Colonels were supported by five ΣΑΕ seniors, four of whom were regulars—one being the team captain!

Without further ado, the 1942 ΣΑΕ All-American football teams are presented for your approval.

In the World of the Greeks

War Problems Discussed

Discussion of problems which fraternities must face as the result of the war took up most of the time of the annual meeting of the National Interfraternity Conference, held at the Hotel Commodore, New York City, Friday and Saturday, November 27-28, 1942.

Because the Army and Navy authorities were not ready to announce details of their plans, no definite conclusions could be reached but the discussions showed that fraternity leaders are keenly alive to the seriousness of the situation.

According to figures submitted by Dr. Davis Starr Lasher, ΘΧ, more than 100,000 fraternity members were in service at the time of the Conference meeting and a total of 515 men were reported by thirty-four fraternities as having lost their lives.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon was represented at the Conference by Charles F. Collins, Past E.S.A.; Dr. Fred H. Turner, E.S.D.A.; and Lauren Foreman, E.S.R., as delegates, and by Dr. John O. Moseley, Past E.S.A. and Director of Leadership Training, and Floyd W. Smith, Past Archon of Province Beta, as alternates.

W.S.C. Revamps Program

Otis C. McCreery, ΑΤΩ, Dean of Men at Washington State College in Pullman, who was Guest Speaker at the Eighth Leadership School this year, is busy administering enlistments of 1600 men at the college, the school's quota for enlisted reserve, and he also heads the campus personnel organization. With scores of faculty volunteers he helps each man and woman choose courses either in line with the war needs or regular programs. War-slanted courses at Washington State include mathematics, physics, anatomy, shop work, aeronautics, radio and blueprint reading, all placing emphasis on needs of the armed forces first. Even the physical and social sciences have been remodeled for the war effort.

ΣΔΤ Silver Anniversary

College campuses throughout the country were scenes of celebration for Sigma Delta Tau's Silver Anniversary the weekend of March 20. Originally planned for National Convention celebration in New Orleans, and canceled because of the war, the 1917 wartime founding date was celebrated this war year by chapters each holding their own social functions, initiation ceremonies, and religious services. At many chapters a "March of Pennies" was inaugurated to aid the war effort.

WHAT THE CITIZEN SHOULD KNOW ABOUT WARTIME MEDICINE (W. W. Norton and Company)—An autographed edition of this timely and pertinent book was presented to the library of the Levere Memorial Temple by the author, Lt. Col. Joseph R. Darnall, M.D., Mich. I-B '16. As Executive Officer of Walter Reed Hospital, Army Medical Center, Washington, D.C., Colonel Darnall discusses—authoritatively but clearly—the vital work of the Army and Navy Medical Corps in mobilizing medicine to meet new problems successfully and to conquer age-old diseases and epidemics. Among the wartime medical problems which Colonel Darnall discusses are the medical examination of selectees, communicable disease, military psychiatry, military hygiene and sanitation, wartime surgery, and—in conclusion—the military aspects of demobilization.

Fully discussing the organization of the Army Medical Department, which includes medical, dental, veterinary, medical administration, sanitary, and nurse corps, the author explains the functions of each department both behind the theater of military operation and in the zone of combat.

In up-to-date treatment of the acute problem of venereal disease he comments that gasoline rationing is expected to cut down the disease rate in the army. "The tactics of prostitution," he explains, "have been modernized to keep up with the changing methods of war." With gasoline rationing, he says, "the modern mechanized itinerant prostitute will be able to compete less effectively with the medical and enforcement officers who seek to curtail her proclivities."

Colonel Darnall discusses a great number of diseases specifically, and forecasts a mighty Medical Corps battle against typhoid fever in the postwar world. Yet he assures the reader that the problem will be met with the organized resistance of medical men who are now taking better care of our fighting men than ever before in the history of wartime medicine.

TWO OF A KIND (Little Brown and Company)—First-rate novelist and short-story writer Vereen Bell, N.C. Θ '32, has presented an autographed edition of this current, very popular book to the Levere Memorial Temple library. Two of a Kind is a vigorous story concerning the struggle of a man and a dog, and the efforts of the man to better himself. Woven in a background of bird dogs and field trials, the story is significant, convincing and most entertaining.

Duff Webster, a self-exiled outlaw from ordinary means of livelihood, encounters the dog Judas early in the tale. A vicious, fiercely-solitary animal is Judas—"a big straight-legged pointer with a chest like a well bucket"—but as a fellow outlaw Duff is drawn to him. Although at first repelled and severely injured by the animal, Duff eventually captures him, returns him to his ungrateful, surly owner, Amos Hawthorne, wherein events move on with steadily increasing interest.

Through the interest of the dog-owner's daughter, Duff is hired to handle the Hawthorne dogs. A first-rate dog and field man, he firmly determines to train the fierce Judas and make of him a champion bird dog. He does this. But not only does he gain mastery of the dog, but after a matrimonial mistep finally becomes master of himself. A thrilling climax at field trial week, where Duff Webster and his dog Judas prove themselves, winds up a story which proves as penetrating a study of character as did Bell's first novel, Swamp Water, which was reviewed in the August, 1941, issue of THE RECORD.

HISTORY AND CATALOGUES—Latest additions to the Fraternity Historical Section of the Levere Memorial Temple Library are: History Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity; 1902; Van Cleve, Charles L.; Catalogue Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity; 1870; Catalogue Sigma Phi Fraternity; 1862. They were received from Alexander B. Andrews, N.C. Z '93.

Notes on New Books

FRATERNITY MAGAZINES—A bound copy of the 1941-1942 issues of Pi Kappa Alpha's national magazine, The Shield and Diamond, Vol. LI, has been presented to the Levere Memorial Temple Library.

MISCELLANEOUS—Bound copies of the California Medical-Economic Survey, November, 1937, with foreword by George H. Kress, M.D., Ohio E '96, have been presented to the library of the Levere Memorial Temple. The Survey presents a formal report on factual data.

READING AS A VISUAL TASK (D. Van Nostrand, Inc.)—Another outstanding book on the complex and relatively unexplored field in which Matthew Luckiesh, D.Sc., D.E., Ind. B '09, is considered the world's foremost authority, has been presented to the library in Levere Memorial Temple. Published in 1942, this autographed edition is the twenty-second book Dr. Luckiesh has written on light and color, copies of practically all of which are in the ΣAE National Shrine.

As director of General Electric's Lighting Research Laboratory in Nela Park, Cleveland, the author has devoted many years based upon three decades of research in seeing, to the subject of sight. As Dr. Luckiesh summarizes: "First we have had to develop devices, criteria and techniques which make it possible to study reading material and readability by means of measurements." In this book the statement is amplified and verified, and a basis is formed for further measurement of many variants of types, printing materials, graphic techniques and seeing conditions which make the visual task of reading so complex.

Disregarding the clinical aspects, he deals with the effects of various controllable factors upon the processes of reading. With the premise that "No one can successfully defend the present unnatural slavery to near-vision tasks, under sub-optimal seeing conditions, as being desirable," he presents experimental results of investigation in the determination of visibility and readability and their relationships. Visibility, which applies to the reading matter, is influenced by such factors as style, size and boldness of type, by brightness-contrast, brightness-level and various factors of the environment.

"Since it is said that about one-half of the billions of neurones of the brain are involved in seeing, it follows that distractions of all kinds may influence seeing in various ways." Dr. Luckiesh considers the effect of auditory distractions, size and face of types, leading and line-lengths, papers and inks, duplicated materials and other factors.

Along with the author's scientific attitude so evident in his book, Dr. Luckiesh enhances cold facts and logic with a warm knowledge of the world—of people and their reactions and needs—which make Reading as a Visual Task an unusually interesting work, with a fluent clarity combined with a gripping depth.

Dr. Luckiesh has also presented his latest brochure on "Light and Sight," a paper presented by the author at the First Inter-American Congress on the Prevention of Blindness at Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, July 1-5, 1942. Besides his twenty-two books, Dr. Luckiesh has written hundreds of scientific and technical papers dealing with the vast complexity of light and color, vision and seeing.

MUTINY IN JANUARY—This latest work of Carl Van Doren, Ill. B '07, has received high praise at the hands of reviewers. It is another of his books dealing with the secret history of the American Revolution and is said to be the first complete history of the events of January, 1781, which might but for luck have reversed the result of the war for American independence.

The brochures "PROCEDURE IN REMOVAL OF CAUSES," and "CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION OF 1901 AND POLL TAXES," both by Judge Walter B. Jones, Ala. A-M '10, Past E.S.A., and a brochure, "30 Years of Engineering Experience," published by Howard A. Green Company, presented by President Howard A. Green, Ill. B '12, co-author of "Violets," have also been placed on the shelves of the library in the Levere Memorial Temple.

Ocean to Ocean

(Song by Albrecht F. Leue, Ohio E '98, Past Eminent Deputy Archon, Appearing on Page 86 of the "Songs of Sigma Alpha Epsilon," to which another stanza, the second, has been added by the author.)

Sweetest of our youthful pleasures,
None so rich and free,
Choicest boon of college treasures,
Brotherhood in SAE.
Fairer, brighter every morrow,
More than tongue can tell,
Ever true in joy or sorrow,
SAE, we love thee well.

Chorus—

Ocean to ocean,
Roll the chorus on:
"Thou, the queen of our devotion,
Sigma Alpha Epsilon."

Whether in the halls of learning
Or on track or field,
Toward Phi Alpha's radiance turning,
There we find our strength and shield.
Source of highest inspiration,
Guide us on our way,
That we serve our state and nation
To a clearer, nobler day.—Chorus.

College days are swiftly flying;
Still, though pathways part,
Truest friendship, never dying,
Glows in every Sig Alph heart.
Wiles of fortune cannot sever
Bonds of SAE,
For our faith is pledged forever
To our loved fraternity.—Chorus.

Secretary Roper Passes

HON. DANIEL C. ROPER, S.C.
Γ '88, United States Secretary of Commerce from 1933 to 1938 and long-time prominent public figure, died in Washington, D.C., April 11, 1943, after an illness of two months.

Mr. Roper was a charter member of South Carolina Gamma at Wofford College, a Life Member of the Chapter National, and served as Honorary Eminent Supreme Archon from 1935 to 1937. He always took a lively interest in Fraternity affairs. Dr. James H. Roper, Mich. I-B '14, is his son.

One of the most interesting chapters in his long public service came on May 1, 1939, when he was named by President Roosevelt as minister to the Dominion of Canada to serve during the visit of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth and to extend to them an official welcome.

Showing his unflagging interest in the Fraternity, Mr. Roper wore his

Hon. Daniel C. Roper, S.C. Γ '88, Former Secretary of Commerce, Who Died April 11, 1943.

ΣAE pin when he was presented to their majesties and at all official dinners. When he was called upon to sign and seal a parchment to be placed among the archives of the British Empire as a permanent memoir of the visit of the King and Queen to American shores, Mr. Roper used his ΣAE ring as a seal, thus imprinting the coat of arms of the Fraternity on this historic paper. A portrait of Mr. Roper by Johannes O. Waller, Ill. Ψ-Ω '35 hangs in the Library of the Levere Memorial Temple.

At the funeral at the Mount Vernon Methodist church of Washington, the Supreme Council was represented by Harry G. Griswold, Ga. E '15, Archon of Province Gamma, and the Washington Alumni Association by Charles R. Allen, W.C. P '18, Past Archon of Province Gamma; Paul A. Walker, Ill. Θ '05; and Vincent M. Miles, Va. Σ '07. Judge Alfred K. Nippert, Ohio E '94, Past E.S.A., was a pallbearer and Col. Augustus R. Brindley, Ala. M '02, an usher.

HARRY R. SAFFORD Indiana Beta '95

■ Harry Robinson Safford, Ind. B '95, charter member of the Purdue chapter and Life Member of the Chapter National, senior executive assistant to the president of the Missouri Pacific Railway and for many years operating vice president of the Missouri Pacific System lines in Texas, with headquarters in Houston, died from a brain hemorrhage in his hotel room at Hot Springs, Ark., April 10, 1943.

FRANK GEORGE KANE Michigan Iota-Beta '08

■ Frank George Kane, Mich. I-B '08, nationally known advertising man, former newspaper writer and professor of journalism at the University of Washington, died in New York, N.Y., April 6, 1943.

WATSON BARTEMUS SELVAGE New York Sigma-Phi '98

■ Watson Bartemus Selvage, N.Y., Σ-Φ '98, N.Y. A '02, Pa. Θ '04, retired professor of philosophy and lecturer, who was prominent in the affairs of the Fraternity at the turn of the century, died in Philadelphia, Pa., March 11, 1943, after a brief illness. During his career he had taught in institutions in the United States, Canada and England. At one time he was professor of ethics at the University of the South, Sewanee, Tenn.

BISHOP WM. T. CAPERS South Carolina Delta '88

■ Rt. Rev. William Theoditus Capers, S.C. Δ '88, Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church for the Diocese of West Texas, died at San Antonio, Tex., March 29, 1943. He will be recalled affectionately by all who attended the Fort Worth Convention of 1940 at which he was a prominent figure. He was one of four ΣAE brothers and the son of the late Bishop Ellison Capers, S.C. Δ.

CHAPTER ETERNAL

CHARLES EDMOND BLAINE Washington Alpha '38

■ Charles Edmond Blaine, Wash. A '38, Boeing Aircraft flight test engineer, was one of eleven Boeing personnel killed in a test-flight crash of an army bomber near Boeing Field, Seattle, Wash., February 18, 1943. On a routine test flight, the plane caught fire. Blaine was one of three passengers who jumped, but too low for the parachutes to open. The twenty-six-year-old flight test engineer was one of the original high altitude pioneers when Boeing's started research in stratosphere flying.

RUFUS LENOIR PATTERSON North Carolina Xi '93

■ Rufus Lenoir Patterson, N.C. Ξ '93, chairman of the board of the American Machine and Foundry Co. which he organized in 1900, died in New York, N.Y., April 11, 1943. Mr. Patterson was the inventor of machinery for packaging tobacco which revolutionized the industry and brought him a large fortune. In 1935 he was listed as one of the eight highest paid executives in the United States. He was one of four ΣAE brothers, all initiates of North Carolina Xi at the University of North Carolina.

How Firm a Foundation

Dr. Charles Wesley Flint, Chancellor of Syracuse University, has this to comment on fraternities:

There is a law which brings men together in groups; it acts like the law of gravity, and regardless of what is done to divert it, it holds true. Thus we have the college fraternity.
