FORBES SELECTS BUSINESS LEADERS

By Don M. Gable

John D. Biggers, Mo. B '09, Mich. I-B President of the Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company in Toledo, Ohio. Selected by Forbes Magazine as one of 50 Foremost American Business Leaders.

also given unstintingly of his time and energy to the service of his community and nation."

Shreveport, La., Ottawa, Ill., Brackenridge, Pa., and Grasselli, N.J. Prior to that he was 12 years in the glass business and four years in the automobile field.

In 1946 Mr. Biggers received the President's Medal for Merit, highest civilian decoration, for his wartime service in the Office of Production Management and as minister to Great Britain in charge of coordination of war production. For several years he has served as a director of the Toledo Trust Company and the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad. He is also a member of the Business Advisory Council of the Department of Commerce. Also with the Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company is Vic G. Weaver, Ohio M '22, who recently joined the press relations staff of the firm after serving as assistant city editor of The Toledo Blade.

● In a recent poll by Forbes Magazine 50 of the foremost American business leaders were selected and among them were three members of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, namely, John D. Biggers, Mo. B '09, Mich. I-B, president of the Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company of Toledo, Ohio; James F. Lincoln, Ohio Θ '07, president of The Lincoln Electric Company of Cleveland, Ohio, and James H. Rand, Jr., Mass. Γ '08, president and chairman of the board of Remington Rand Inc., in New York.

The leaders received citations at a dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York in November. Mr. Biggers and Mr. Lincoln were among eight heads of Ohio business concerns selected. Mr. Rand was among 20 leaders chosen in New York. B. C. Forbes distributed the citations at the dinner, commemorating the 30th anniversary of Forbes Magazine. Thirty years ago, Mr. Forbes did the same thing and the one survivor of the executives of 1917, Thomas E. Wilson, Chicago packer, was a guest at the dinner, attended by more than 1,000 business leaders.

Mr. Biggers' citation read as follows: "Maker of a commodity that admits light into our human habitations, he is himself a man of clear vision and transparent singleness of purpose, vigorous and courageous in directing his company. He has Since 1929, the company of which Mr. Lincoln is president, has more than tripled its number of employes by progressively, year after year through the depression, adding more employes as more work could be found for them. He is author of Lincoln's Incentive System (recently reviewed in THE RECORD) which describes the human relationship between Labor and Management and the benefits obtained for the worker, the producer, the purchaser and for the owner or shareholder, and many scientific and technical articles and papers. He is a well-known lecturer on all phases of welding as well as on economic and political subjects.

Mr. Lincoln is a fellow member in the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, member and director of the American Welding Society and the National Electrical Manufacturers Association, member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and the Cleveland Engineering Society. He is a past president of the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce, member of the Union, Mayfield, Pepper Pike and University Clubs of Cleveland and the Engineers' Club of New York. He is also a member of the Board of Trustees of Ohio State University, Case School of Applied Science and Lake Erie College for Women. Also prominent in The Lincoln Electric Company is Alton F. Davis, Ohio Σ '12, Ohio Θ, vice president.

Fast Worker

Mr. Rand had an idea and $10,000 of borrowed capital at the age of 29 in 1915 and founded his own company, the American Kardex Company. In just one year not only was the company with the revolutionary visible filing idea solvent but also the $10,000 bank loan had been paid in full. Five years later the American Kardex Company was doing a million dollar a year business all over the world. This was long before Mr. Rand had any conception of the place in the business world he would eventually occupy as president and chairman of the board of the global-operating Remington Rand Inc., with its 33,000 employes and its $150,000,000 annual sales volume.

● Hon. Harold E. Stassen, Minn. A '29, former governor of Minnesota and potential candidate for the presidency of the United States, visited his alma mater and own Chapter, Minnesota Alpha at the University of Minnesota following the Minnesota-Wisconsin 1947 football game. In the lower picture he is shown with Minnesota Alpha men, left to right, Rohleder, Slatky, Herefurth, Chapin, Johnson, Hoffman, Newcome, and Dunn. When Mr. Stassen visited Atlanta, Ga., December 3, 1947, he was entertained by Georgia Epsilon members at Emory University. The Chapter sponsored a buffet supper and reception in his honor. The affair was the only private social event scheduled in Atlanta for the Republican leader. The Chapter issued invitations to prominent Atlantans to meet Stassen. Supper was served by members of the Minerva Club of which Mrs. N. E. McKay is president. On December 11, Stassen spoke at New Trier High School, sponsored by the Evanston and New Trier, Ill. Republican groups. Many ΣAE alumni in the vicinity of the Levere Memorial Temple, ΣAE shrine in Evanston, attended. On January 21 Mr. Stassen was one of the recipients of a Golden Key award on the Junior Chamber of Commerce radio program in Chicago as one of the "10 outstanding young men of 1947." He was guest speaker when similar awards were made by the JCC in Chattanooga, Tenn.

Contrary to popular belief, Mr. Rand was not born of wealthy parents. True, his father, James H. Rand, Sr., headed the Rand Company, pioneers in bank accounting equipment, but the Rand Company was never known as a huge, powerful industrial empire. It was early in his teens that the present head of the "business that serves all business" demonstrated the determination and application that would stand him in such good stead in the 1920s when he spark-plugged a series of mergers which in less than half a decade brought more than a score of the country's leading office equipment manufacturers under one unified management.

Perhaps the key to Mr. Rand's success was the simple concept which he used as a guide during his days at Harvard University, "a man can accomplish anything he wishes by application and concentration." By application and concentration he has personally created and designed numerous of the more than 20,000 products his company makes today. Several years ago he created the Miriam Rand Memorial Fund at Harvard Medical School with a $150,000 gift. Since that original grant for medical research he has given away more than $1,000,000 for similar purposes. Ask Mr. Rand how he accomplished his business miracle and he will tell you that it was by following his theory of big business management which he has believed in since his first excursion into manufacturing in 1915—the decentralization management.

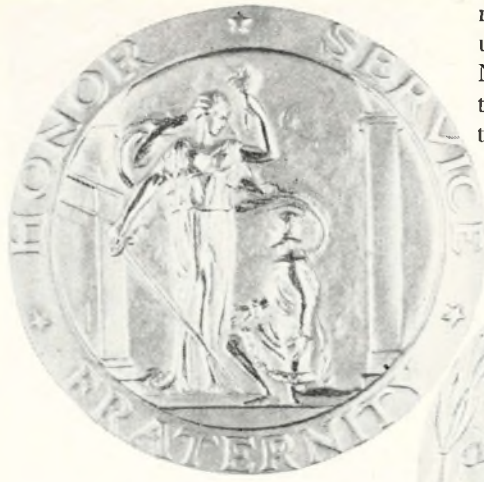

"Successfully operating a company like Remington Rand," says its president, "is largely a matter of careful initial planning; of selecting competent men for key positions and giving them the proper authority to direct the activities for which they are responsible . . . and holding them to that responsibility." He stated this belief in 1922 in his widely-read book, Assuring Business Profits. Recently he established a Laboratory for Advanced Engineering at Norwalk, Conn., where a staff of skilled researchers and technicians are devoting their talents to new products and improvements. Their research covers every field from chemistry to television.

Moseley Gets Award at NIC

● While many of his brothers in Sigma Alpha Epsilon witnessed, Dr. John O. Moseley, Okla. K '16, Calif. A, president of the University of Nevada, Reno, and past ESA of ΣAE, received the National Interfraternity Conference annual award for "distinguished service to youth through the American college fraternity" at the luncheon meeting of NIC at the Commodore Hotel in New York City, Friday, November 28, 1947.

A brief announcement of the gold medal award made by L. G. Balfour, ΣX, former chairman of the Conference, and presented by David Embury, Acacia, Conference chairman, was carried in the December, 1947, issue of THE RECORD. Dr. Moseley was cited for setting up the leadership school plan for Chapter officers and for originating Greek Week as a replacement for Hell Week. Among those witnessing the event were G. A. Ginter, tion, the College Fraternity Scholarship Officers Association. Also among the witnesses was Dr. Moseley's sister, Lt. Mildred Moseley Stewart of Carlisle Barracks, Pa., who wears her father's Phi Psi badge. During this affair, Lauren Foreman, Ga. E '01, ESR, was attending the luncheon meeting of the College Fraternity Secretaries Association.

The 39th annual session of the NIC was one of the largest ever held (more than 500 attending) and attracted the greatest number of undergraduates who for the first time since before the war met concurrently with the NIC. In connection with the panel discussions during the Friday afternoon session, the College Fraternity Editors Association held a shop talk and general discussion on the organization's plans for the future, development of a program, increase in dues and participation in the NIC. The group was led by Frank C. Ferguson, KΣ, president, and assisted by Secretary-treasurer Gable who gave the financial report.

That evening ΣAE national officers attending the NIC attended a banquet sponsored by alumni in the New York area at the Yale Club. The main speaker was Dr. Moseley, ΣAE's director of Leadership Training. Other speakers were ESA Ginter, ESR Foreman and Fairbairn Gilkeson, N.Y. A '14, Province Beta Archon. Honored in New York: Dr. John O. Moseley, Okla. K '16, Calif. A, President of the University of Nevada and Sigma Alpha Epsilon's Director of Leadership Training, Receiving the National Interfraternity Conference Award for 1947 for Services Contributed to the Greek-Letter World from David A. Embury, Acacia, NIC Chairman for 1947. The Award Was Made at the NIC Luncheon at the Commodore Hotel, November 28.

Mu attended the dinner. Leon C. Stowell, Mass. Γ '14, introduced the speakers and K. Brent Woodruff, N.Y. Σ-Φ '25, served as toastmaster. On the same evening Editor Gable was re-elected secretary-treasurer of the CFEA at a dinner meeting for 40 editors at Hotel Waldorf-Astoria. On Saturday, November 29, the final session of the NIC was held and included in the business was a resolution submitted by the CFEA, offering the group's services to the NIC, to have a representative on the executive committee and recommending that the editors be selected as delegates or alternates to the NIC.

Prior to the NIC, ΣAEs in New York for the event were entertained by Albert M. Austin, Ohio Δ '94, past ESA, and ESA Ginter and ESR Foreman met with members of the Board of Trustees of ΣAE.

*4,212 Members
Are $50 Men*

● Sigma Alpha Epsilon started the new year with 4,212 Life Members of the Chapter National. As of January 1, 1948, 158 members had subscribed to Life Memberships or completed payments on them since October 15, 1947, when the list was compiled for the December issue of THE RECORD.

The list of Founders was also increased to 74, Arthur L. Beck, Pa. Φ '22, of Buffalo, N.Y., Deputy Archon of Province Beta, having completed payment of his subscription of $1,000. The National Laws provide for 200 Founders. In addition to the 74 who have paid in full, there are several alumni who have subscribed for such memberships and are paying in installments.

It is hoped more alumni will take an interest in the Life Membership plan during 1948 and that the Fraternity will be able to establish a record enrollment for the year, possibly raising the total to more than 5,000. There is no limit on the number who may become Life Members by paying $50 either in one sum or in instalments to suit the convenience of the donor. For each payment of $3 for annual Chapter National dues a credit of $2.50 on a Life Membership is given and a Life Membership may be secured by paying the outstanding balance at any time.

Edward Kemp of Iowa Beta at the University of Iowa, Chairman of the Undergraduate Council of the National Interfraternity Council in New York, November, 1947, with James Banks, Theta Chi at the University of Richmond, Who Was Named Treasurer. At the Time of Kemp's Election He Was Eminent Archon of Iowa Beta.

Information as to the amount standing to the credit of any member and the outstanding balance will be furnished by the National Office, P.O. Box 1856, Evanston, Ill., on request. When a person becomes a Life Member he immediately receives a handsome membership card with a view of the Levere Memorial Temple and signed by Eminent Supreme Recorder. If a member does not wish to write a letter in regard to a Life Membership, he can make use of the form shown on the back of this issue of THE RECORD.

All donations for either Founder or Life Memberships are invested in the Levere Memorial Temple Sustaining Fund when checks are drawn in favor of The Levere Memorial Foundation and in the National Endowment Fund when checks are drawn in favor of Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Investments for both funds are made by men who are especially qualified for such work and the investments are carefully guarded by the National Laws. Donations in favor of The Levere Memorial Foundation are deductible from the personal income tax returns of the donors but donations to the Fraternity are not so deductible. New Life Members are:

Fraternity's 92nd year since the founding at the University of Alabama, March 9, 1856. With the anniversary date falling on Tuesday this year many Chapters and Alumni Associations will be holding celebrations over the weekend of March 5-6-7. Due to the revised publication schedule for THE RECORD this year it is impossible to reveal plans in this issue, and in view of this, Chapters and Alumni Associations are urged to inform members of plans to a greater extent this year. Last year's celebrations created a record in the history of the Fraternity, but all indications point to perhaps even a bigger 1948 for ΣAE.

Truman's Flying Chauffeur Quits

After serving as President Harry Truman's personal pilot of the Flying White House, "The Independence," without mishap for thousands of miles and claiming the President as an ideal passenger, Lt. Col. Henry Tift Myers resigned his unique position in January to return to commercial aviation with American Airlines.

Colonel Myers, who was replaced by Lt. Col. Francis W. Williams, veteran air force pilot, formerly flew the "Sacred Cow," the original White House plane. After flying President Truman to Mexico in his plane, Colonel Myers picked up "The Independence" in California. As a result of his trip to Mexico and serving as pilot for President Aleman of Mexico on his tour of the United States, Myers received a silver trophy from the Mexican chief executive. Dr. Antonio Espinosa de los Monteros, Pa. Δ '25, Ambassador from Mexico, arranged the visits.

One of Colonel Myers' first big trips in the new plane was to Greece last July. This was followed by President Truman's visit to South America. To give an idea of Colonel Myers' record as the President's personal pilot and the chief executive's faith in him, the following article is reprinted from Time Magazine, December 8, 1947 (Courtesy of Time, Copyright Time Inc., 1947):

Bad weather was reported dead ahead. Airport officials at Key West, anxious for the President's safety, were loth to permit a take-off. Then the President put it up to his pilot.

"What would you do if I weren't aboard?" he asked.

"I'd fly," said Hank Myers. Without hesitation, President Truman got aboard the plane. The trip to Miami was made—without incident.

This decision, made last March, was not the first of its kind for Hank Myers, who would fly the President to Key West for a brief vacation this week. As a command pilot, Lt. Col. Henry Tift Myers, holder of a "Green Ticket"* in the Air Transport Command, has the authority to clear his plane to any destination under any flight plan he elects. As personal pilot for the President, Hank Myers' decisions are not always easy.

Routine Rain. On Christmas Day, 1945, President Truman wanted to visit his mother in Grandview, Mo. An all-night downpour of sleet, which had sheathed the Washington airport in ice, turned to murky rain by morning. Hank Myers studied the weather reports. He laid out a flight plan, made his decision. At 12:06, the President's plane, with Harry Truman aboard, lifted into the mist. Nearly six hours later, Myers cushioned the "Sacred Cow" to a landing at Kansas City airport. When newspapers called the flight foolhardy, Pilot Myers was amazed. "Routine," said he.

In 5½ years as the A.T.C.'s foremost flying chauffeur, most of Colonel Myers' flights have been routine. Since piloting Franklin Roosevelt to Yalta in 1945, Myers has logged 48,000 presidential miles. His passenger roster has included Congressmen, Cabinet members, Generals. In his 17 years of flying, he has been in the air 15,000 hours, has covered more than two million miles over 30 countries. He has never had an air accident.

Ideal Passenger. Hank Myers, a 39-year-old Georgian, got his wings from the Army Air Forces in 1931. He flew for commercial airlines until called to active duty with the A.T.C. in 1942. From the start, he was given the job of toting VIPs; his engaging, infectious self-confidence soothed the nerves of air-wary officials. His popularity as a pilot has allowed him little time to spend with his wife and young son.

Hank Myers considers his present boss the ideal air passenger. When someone recently suggested that it might be a good idea to replace Hank with a Missourian, the President replied with a grin, "Even if Hank were a Republican [being in the Army, he has no politics], I'd rather have a pilot who knows how to fly this plane than a Democrat who doesn't."

Veterans' Chief Gray Isn't Fooled By Shower of Praise in Washington

Editor's Note: This article by Ray Mitten of the Washington, D.C. Staff of The Chicago Daily News concerns Carl R. Gray, Mo. B '11, Ill. B, and is reprinted with the permission of Everett Norlander, managing editor.

⊙ The country's new dean of ex-service-men is suggestive of a bridegroom who starts talking about the grocery budget before the honeymoon has begun.

When Carl R. Gray, Jr., recently left his railroad executive's office in St. Paul, Minn., to take over as Veterans Administration chief, he was determined to get down to brass tacks immediately.

He decided the love and kisses that greeted him here wouldn't last unless he did his job well, decided to face the facts of life ahead now. He told Congress so.

His first meeting with the house veterans affairs committee the other day sounded like a luncheon club installing its new president. Bouquets flew like confetti at a New Year's party.

They praised the military record of this former major general who was director general of military railways in North Africa, Italy and, later, the European theater.

Likewise, his business record, including executive posts in the mail order, ice and railroad businesses, topped off with a Chicago & Northwestern railway system vice presidency.

Wanted Businessman

They had wanted a businessman to take over this seven billion dollar agency from Gen. Omar N. Bradley, who is soon to become Army Chief of Staff, succeeding General Eisenhower. They like President Truman's choice of Gray, whom he first met in Kansas City, Mo., when Gray was with Montgomery Ward & Co.

Gray—a conservatively dressed, short, stocky man of nearly 59, with steel-gray hair and wide face—returned their plaudits with the grace acquired in the executive, social and civic activities attending his career.

He praised their hospitality, ceremoniously shook hands with Republican Rep-

New Chief of Veterans Administration: Carl R. Gray, Jr., Mo. B '11, Ill. B Right, Called on President Truman at the White House following His appointment as Head of the Veterans Administration. Mr. Gray, Past Honorary Eminent Supreme Archon of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Took Over His New Duties, January 1, 1948, Succeeding Gen. Omar Bradley, Newly Appointed Army Chief of Staff. Mr. Gray Was Vice President in Charge of Public Relations of the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad in Chicago at the Time of His Appointment. representative Herbert A. Meyer from his home state of Kansas, jokingly told Red-hating Representative John E. Rankin, Democrat of Mississippi, "Sometimes I think I must be part Sioux Indian because my favorite color is red." He guaranteed the committee his cooperation and equal treatment of all veterans, regardless of race, creed or color.

Gray appears to puff up a bit as he talks and suggested a frog about to leap each time he popped up to speak. Afterwards a few members thought he had tried too hard to sell himself.

Meanwhile, though, Representative Robert Tripp Ross, Republican of New York, gave Gray his opening by advising him not to "be fooled by these phrases dripping with honey."

"Today is the beginning of the honeymoon," Gray replied knowingly. "Everything is rosy. I thank you for your nice words and hope you always feel the same. And I also hope I'll have your belief, despite possible differences of opinion, that I'm trying to do what I think is right."

Hits Red Tape

Over at VA he already had left the same feeling—of down to business goodwill. He found difficulty in adjusting himself to the idea of federal employes not working on Saturdays. When a four-page letter was sent in for his signature, he ordered it rewritten into one page. He rewrote another three-pager himself into two paragraphs.

His military and business experience have taught him to demand action, shun red tape and put a premium on brevity. He is devoted to the memory of his father, former Union Pacific executive and first citizen of Omaha, who died in 1939, and tries frankly to emulate him.

Gray is strong for facts. "I've never knowingly lied in my life," he once said. "The man who lies stays in trouble."

Gray's new job is a tough one—caring for 14,000,000 veterans. Rising costs have forced VA into budget trouble. But then Gray says that recently "I've been having to make one railroad car do where 10 are needed."

Biggest VA headache is the national service life insurance program. Already Gray has enlisted Franklin D'Olien, chairman of the board of Prudential, to help improve it.

Once king of its Winter Carnival, Gray is well liked and active civically in St. Paul. The veterans organizations think well of him, too. He's been a joiner. He is a member of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Military Order of World Wars.

Born in Wichita, Kan., April 14, 1889, of old American stock, Gray was graduated from University of Illinois as an engineer in 1911 and started his rail career. He went into World War I as a captain, emerged a colonel, served in the reserve corps afterwards and spent 34 months overseas in World War II.

Mr. and Mrs. Gray have a son and a daughter, both married.

Work Expands in VA

● Eric A. Dawson, Miss. Develops Great Railroad While Serving as "Temporary President"

By Prime F. Osborn, Ala. Mu '35

Editor's Note: The author of this article on the man who became the oldest railroad president in America in point of service is attorney for the Gulf, Mobile and Ohio Railroad in Mobile, Ala.

● I. B. ("Ike") Tigrett, Tenn. H '98, was the usual student at Union University, which he attended at Jackson, Tenn., just a short distance from his home at Halls, Tenn. He made average grades, attended all of his ΣAE fraternity meetings, and took an active part in its functions. He quarter-backed and captained the Union squad of 1899 which held a powerful Yale eleven to a close score, tantamount to victory.

Today Tigrett is president of Gulf, Mobile and Ohio Railroad. It's a strong, financially sound system stretching from the Great Lakes to the Gulf Coast and built by its president in an acorn-to-oak expansion from a 49-mile log line to its present 3,000-mile national prominence.

The small-town college boy still lives in Jackson. His home isn't too far distant from the Union campus, and on still nights (if it's one of the infrequent times when he doesn't attend the game) he can hear the cheers which rise from the stadium. Brother Isaac of 1898, who attended all of the Chapter meetings, is a trustee of the University of Tennessee today, and although his business schedule is a heavy one, he very rarely misses a board meeting. And the football captain whose teammates threw him, ball and all, across the Yale line that memorable day not so very many years ago, today is a championship flight golfer who has many cups and trophies which attest to his athletic prowess.

But it is as a builder, a financier and as a friend of his fellowman that Tigrett is known today. Under his direction his railroad has through six adroit moves, the last of which was the acquisition of The Alton Railroad in June, become America's newest rail system, a 150 million dollar property with annual operating revenues of 65 million. And it is the head of this big company who recently said, "In all my business life, I have attained no privilege that gave greater satisfaction than that of furnishing useful employment to men and women, so that they might earn an independent livelihood."

Mr. Tigrett's life reads like a Horatio Alger story. When he graduated from college, he returned to Halls, where his parents were living, and began to consider what his future would be. His father wanted him to be a preacher or a farmer, but some months later when his father passed away and left him $800 insurance money, he decided to go into the banking business. A short while thereafter the Bank of Halls, Tenn., was opened in a little office upstairs over a general merchandise store with a goods box for a counter and an old wire window screen for a railing. It was three or four days before he had a single customer. Then a man came in and deposited $50. The banker said laughingly that he sat up until one o'clock the next morning balancing his new books.

Leaving the bank in Halls in 1903, he went to work for another bank, the Union Bank and Trust Company in Jackson. There he made steady progress, set up his own investment house, and at the age of 30, was elected president of The Tennessee Bankers Association. When a man named Hall from Tigrett's home town started the Birmingham and Northwestern Railroad in 1911, he got "Ike" Tigrett to be treasurer of the company; "which meant that I was to get out and find money to run the road," Mr. Tigrett said.

"Until Some One Else"

In 1919 while still treasurer of the struggling B&NW, (nicknamed "Beer and No Whiskey") whose power consisted of two second-hand locomotives, Mr. Tigrett was named a director of the GM&N Railroad which was then just building in Jackson. The next year when the GM&N was returning hurriedly to private ownership by the government after World War I, Mr. Tigrett was named "temporary president" of the GM&N; until the board of directors could find someone else capable of handling the job. The directors regarded the selection as being such a temporary one, as Mr. Tigrett already was very busy with his own private business, that they almost forgot to stipulate a compensation. When the matter was eventually remembered, Mr. Tigrett said, one of the directors opined that they would let the matter go and that they would pay him what it was worth. This temporary job has run on into the years and Mr. Tigrett today is the oldest railroad president, in point of service, in America.

The GM&N was just about broke and the new head turned to the banks in Mobile, the railroad's home office, for help. He told the bankers that he didn't know much about running a railroad but that he would be careful with the money. The first bank he went to treated his problem with indifference, the second offered him $25,000, the third offered to back him more heavily. The president of this bank, Mr. J. F. McRae, is a director of the GM&O today.

Mr. Tigrett spent a lot of time out on the railroad, calling on shippers, soliciting business, and instilling new spirit into the personnel. He stressed courtesy, knowing it would pay dividends. It was soon apparent to Mr. Tigrett that his little GM&N must branch out and get a longer haul on traffic or ultimately die. From the very start he began to formulate an integrate system. The first to be absorbed by the GM&N was the B&NW, Mr. Tigrett's initial road. Next, in 1925 he took over the 33-mile Memphis and Meridian Railroad which ran from Union, Miss., a point on the GM&N, to Meridian, then Mississippi's largest city located on the old and prosperous Mobile and Ohio.

Then looking westward with his eyes toward the state capital of Jackson, Miss., and ultimately the revenue-rich port of New Orleans, Mr. Tigrett in 1926 bought the Jackson & Eastern from Union to Lena, Miss., and then constructed a new line from Lena to Jackson. This new segment furthered the importance of the Road in the State of Mississippi and attracted much new business. It was three years later before the progressive rail president was able to develop the New Orleans picture further. In a deal with New Orleans Great Northern Railroad, Tigrett took this Road into the GM&N and pushed on from Jackson to Slidell, La., where long-term trackage agreements were made with the Southern Railroad for the operation into the port city. Again looking northward for a longer haul and an outlet for traffic at Jackson, Tenn., the GM&N entered into trackage arrangements with the NC&StL to reach Paducah, Ky., a lucrative interchange with the Burlington. Later the NC route changed in favor of a similar agreement with the Illinois Central. All the time Mr. Tigrett was stressing the "personal touch" and training his employees to give the shippers "a little something extra." He and his alert young officers spent a great deal of time on the line learning shipper's problems and working out more efficient and satisfactory ways of handling tonnage.

Orders Streamliners

From 1929, when the NOGN was acquired, there was a brief pause in the development of the GM&N Railroad while the system took stock and tightened down to weather the depression. It was about this time that the nation got its first streamlined train, and Mr. Tigrett, although his railroad had very little prospective passenger business, placed an order mediately for two streamliners. He saw in them the "window dressing" or the advertising front for his ever-growing "eight" business. He even went a step further and placed attractive girl hostesses aboard as America's first train hostesses.

Carrying out his service idea further and checking the bid of competing truck lines which were gradually increasing in strength throughout GM&N's territory, the railroad began to acquire franchises over the highways paralleling the railroad and formed the Gulf Transport Company, truck and bus subsidiary. Charles Bransford Whitlow, Tenn. H '28, until July 15, Mr. Tigrett's assistant, is now president of the Gulf Transport Company.

About this time, Mr. Tigrett, alarmed at the number of employees who were financially involved due to the depression, illness and other unavoidable misfortunes, started a unique personnel department to help those who were distressed. This department helped any employee who needed help, getting co-operation from his creditors and working out a budget to return the employee to a sound financial footing. The railroad president believed that no employee could give full value unless he had peace of mind and as few worries as possible. With the return of business conditions to normal, the cause for assistance gradually diminished, but Mr. Tigrett had further endeared himself and his railroad to those who worked for it.

Castling about for a still longer haul, Mr. Tigrett in 1934 saw possibilities in the once strong, but then bankrupt, Mobile & Ohio Railroad, which paralleled the GM&N from Mobile to Jackson, Tenn., but then went on for a northern outlet at St. Louis. For three or four years it was merely in the idea stage, but in 1938 The Southern Railway, which controlled the ailing Mobile & Ohio, became receptive to consolidation feelers.

After a rather lengthy court battle, which was to make railroad history, GM&N and M&O became GM&O on September 1, 1940, and the Baptist preacher's son "who didn't know much about railroading" was the boss of a 2,004-mile system, built from the little 49-mile B&NW. Now GM&O had several important terminals, which served both the ports of Mobile and New Orleans, and the industrially great cities of Birmingham, Memphis, Montgomery and St. Louis.

Meets War Needs

The new railroad proved a great success from the start, and GM&O was now in a real position to compete for through business. During the war GM&O never once failed to fulfill an obligation or a request for the movement of wartime traffic.

The GM&O had thought that it had reached the end of its growth, but such was not the case. In the spring of 1945, GM&O was approached by parties interested in the affairs of The Alton Railroad, a 1,000-mile road between St. Louis, Chicago, and Kansas City, to determine whether or not it would be interested in acquiring those properties. After some preliminary consideration, extensive surveys and analyses were completed indicating that many advantages would accrue to both the GM&O and Alton by such a joint operation, an operation which, incidentally, would again increase GM&O's long haul. The regular legal steps were begun and on September 19, 1945, the Interstate Commerce Commission approved the proposed purchase plan and a hearing on the plan was held February 19, 1946, before the Federal Court in Chicago, and no objections to the plan were then made by any party. GM&O stockholders, many of them who had been with the company since its earliest days, voted enthusiastically, by a ballot of 99.82% of the votes polled, in favor of acquisition of the new road.

Final action was on June 1, and Mr. Tigrett gave the nation its newest trunk-line system, extending from the Gulf at Mobile and New Orleans to the Great Lakes at Chicago, and serving the rich midwestern agricultural and industrial area bordered by Kansas City on the West.

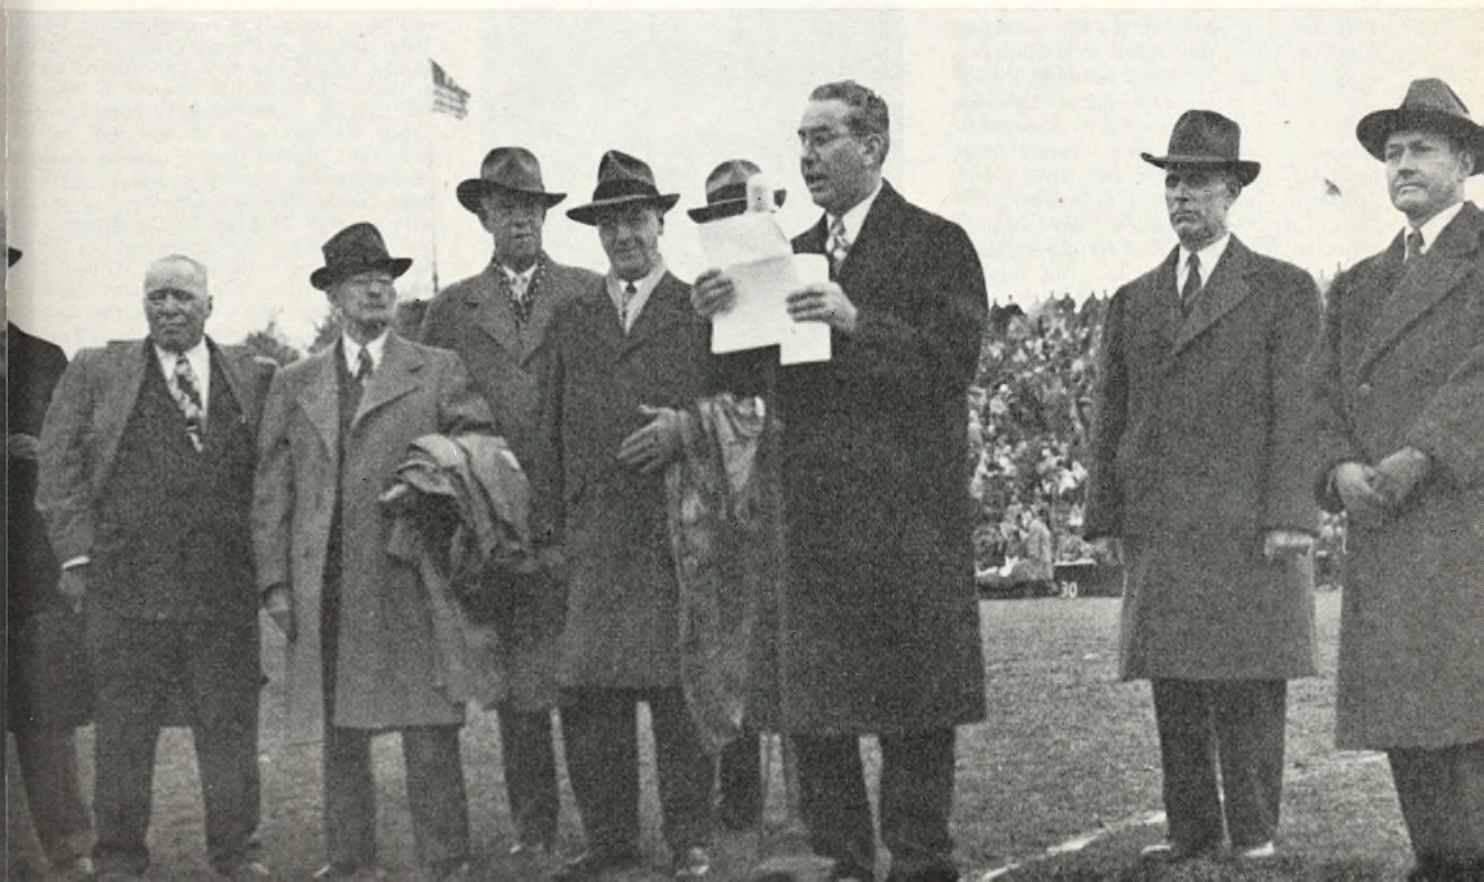

Mr. Tigrett's little 49-mile railroad had finally grown into one of the great railroads of the nation. Its boss is just as great, but to his business associates he's just "one of the boys."

"The Old Oaken Bucket"

● Of the four surviving Indiana University members of the "Old Oaken Bucket Founders" to be honored at a pre-game luncheon at Bloomington, Ind., November 22, 1947, by the presidents of Purdue and Indiana Universities, three were members of Indiana Gamma of ΣAE: Benjamin H. For exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service to the United Nations during the period of the recent war. Bishop Lee, while touring Army and Navy installations throughout the United States and the Southwest Pacific Area, India, Burma Area, China Area, and isolated islands at the invitation of the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Navy, performed a duty which was impossible of execution by the Army or political leaders among civilians. Having served previously for twenty-three years in the Far East and in many of the islands, with headquarters in Manila and Singapore, on his tour throughout the Southwest Pacific he contacted high civilian leaders and Christian Churchmen who respected him as a friend and a leader. In this capacity he was able to impress upon the natives the moral issues confronting the United Nations in defending the civilized people of the world from aggressor nations. He travelled over 30,000 miles by plane and contacted more than five hundred chaplains personally assuring them that the Protestant Churches in the United States were back of the chaplains and the servicemen who were away from their homes in the service of their country. Bishop Lee's mission was characterized by tact, diplomacy, churchmanship, high patriotism, and outstanding accomplishments for the High Command.

Knows His Foods

As a result of his technical skill in the restaurant business, A. Boyd Pixley, Ill. Θ '12, executive vice president of Pixley & Ehlers, Restaurateurs, in Chicago, Ill., was honored by the Secretary of War. On April 25, 1946, Mr. Pixley of Oak Park, Ill., received a citation from the commanding general of the 6th Service Command as a representative of Robert P. Patterson, Secretary of War. The War Department citation read: "The War Department expresses its appreciation for patriotic service in a position of trust and responsibility to A. Boyd Pixley who, as a consultant during the period from October, 1944 to the present date, contributed his experience and leadership in the food industry to the improvement of Army Mess Service. His faithfulness and technical skill were important factors in the development of the Food Service Program of the Army." According to the last edition of Who's Who in Commerce and Industry, Mr. Pixley opened his own restaurant in Chicago in 1909 under the name of Pixley & Wheaton and owned three restaurants by 1915. He merged with Pixley & Ehlers in 1919 and now operate 15 restaurants in Chicago. Mr. Pixley has other talents too. He is a former warrant officer and bandmaster of the Chicago Black Horse Troop and is the composer of "Amonavis," concert overture, first performed by the Woman's Symphony Orchestra in 1938. He also is the composer of plays. At the present he is rehearsing for Rose Franken's new play, "The Hallams," in New York. While attending Harvard Mr. Beal got his stage start and after a couple of commercial ventures, he went back to the theater and has remained there. According to Mr. Beal he has had "the customary routine of hits, flops, road companies, stock companies, etc. that fall to actors if they survive." His last Broadway show was "Parlor Story" with Walter Abel. He played the lead in "Kiss and Tell" for a year and was the original C.F. Friday in "Boy Meets Girl." "And I have been lucky enough to play in several other Broadway hits," Actor Beal commented.

"Chicago Black Horse Troop," "Troopers Courageous," "The Mounted Band," "106th Cavalry," "Boots and Saddles," (marches); Idyll "Sunset;" "Illinois College Alma Mater." He is a Life Member of the Chapter National of ΣAE.

Among Alumni Associations

Joint Calif. Dinner

● Alumni members of the Santa Barbara and Ventura counties held a joint dinner and meeting at the Colonial House in Oxnard, Calif., October 22, 1947, and the guest of honor was Edward G. Hathcock, Calif. Δ '30, new member of the Supreme Council. This was the first meeting of the Santa Barbara and Ventura groups since gasoline rationing during the war, and many old acquaintances were renewed and newcomers welcomed. ESCh. Hathcock presented a review of the recent progress of the Fraternity and discussed the prospects of ΣAE granting a charter to local Gamma Sigma Pi at the University of California at Santa Barbara. Hosea L. ("Dick") Williams, Ark. A-T '38, reviewed the alumni activities in regard to the local group on the UCSB campus. Report of the meeting was made by Derald J. Crawford, Calif. Γ '40, secretary-treasurer of the Santa Barbara Alumni Association.

Danville Rush Party

● Members of the Danville, Ill. Alumni Association held a pre-rushing dinner at the Danville Country Club, August 15, 1947, for 15 young men in the Danville area. Plans for the informal affair were made by John A. Crays, Ill. B '25, president, of Rossville, and Kenneth Horne- man, Iowa Γ '33, of Cayuga, Ind., secretary-treasurer.

Meet in Indianapolis

● Under the direction of Harry Freyn, Jr., Ind. B '42, the Indianapolis, Ind., Alumni Association has launched a series of meetings and they will end with the Third Annual State Day next spring. On Thursday, October 16, the group met at The Canary on The Circle to hear W. W. Grear, Ill. B '35, consultant and director of engineering for the Terra Temp Company. His subject was "The Heat Pump, The Revolutionary Method of Home Heating and Cooling." The association was host to the wives and sweethearts at a party at the Canary Cottage, December 11. Mr. Freyn arranged for a strolling accordionist. There were door prizes and gifts for bridge winners. On January 15 the alumni attended a meeting at the Canary Cottage to see a series of sports movies arranged by Mr. Freyn. The movies included "Football Thrills of 1947," "Knockout Thrills" and "World Series of 1947." Plans were revealed concerning a dance to be held in connection with Province Delta convention in March.

Active in Baltimore

● According to a report given by Charles W. Sylvester, the Baltimore, Md., Alumni Association was very active during the period, March 10, 1946, to March 9, 1947, and plans have been made for a wide program for the fall of 1947 and Founders Day, 1948. During the past

New Charters Granted

● During the past few months the Supreme Council of Sigma Alpha Epsilon has issued charters for 12 new alumni associations thruout the country, bringing the total of active alumni organizations to 111. For several years the Fraternity had approximately 85 alumni associations, but new interest among alumni during the past two or three years and mainly since the instigation of The Alumni Program of ΣAE, the roll has grown. New associations are: Fresno, Calif.; Santa Clara Valley, San Jose, Calif.; Fort Collins, Colo.; Orlando, Fla.; LaGrange, Ga.; Valdosta, Ga.; Michigan Gamma, East Lansing, Mich.; Billings, Mont.; Raleigh, N.C.; Bowling Green, Ohio; Salem, Ore., and Ogden, Utah.

G. C. Briggs, Calif. Γ '25, is president, and Dr. Louis A. Mudge, Ill. Ψ-Ω '23, is secretary-treasurer of the Fresno Alumni Association. The Santa Clara Valley Alumni Association started out with a potential membership of 75 and is of great assistance to California Alpha at Stanford University and the new California Zeta Chapter at San Jose State College. Since the inauguration of the Fort Collins Alumni Association, the group has done much to promote good relations between Colorado Delta at Colorado State College and the alumni.

Arthur T. O'Neal, Wash. A '09, is president of the Orlando Alumni Association and William W. Arnold, Fla. T '38, is secretary, and G. Louis Castor, Fla. T '33, is treasurer. Porter G. Smith, Ala. A-M '47, secretary-treasurer, was one of the main organizers of the LaGrange Alumni Association. The Valdosta group was granted a charter, December 5, 1947. Forest A. Smith, Mich. Γ '22, is president of the Michigan Gamma Alumni Association at Michigan State College, East Lansing.

Officers of the Billings Alumni Association are Robert E. McKenna, Mont. B '38, president; Robert R. Mountain, Mont. B '38, vice-president, and Clark Fergus, Mont. B '25, secretary-treasurer. Meryl G. Hoskinson, Ohio K '24, is president of the Bowling Green Alumni Association at Bowling Green State University. Robert Brady, Ore. B '17, heads the Salem group at Willamette University.

year the Baltimore Luncheon Club became a unit of the alumni association and continues the monthly meetings under the direction of a chairman and secretary-treasurer. A new schedule of dues called for annual memberships at $3.00, sustaining members at $5.00, and G.I. membership (for members out of college not more than five years) at $2.00. During the year the association had a membership of 43, including 22 regular, 13 sustaining and eight G.I. members. Four scheduled visits were made by committees to the Maryland Beta Chapter house at the University of Maryland, College Park and at least eight other visits were made by alumni during the year. A Founders Day dinner meeting was held at Hotel Stafford, March 15, 1947, following an initiation at Maryland Beta. On November 9, 1946, 26 Baltimore alumni and guests joined the Chapter at a homecoming game and banquet at College Park. The association gave a buffet lunch at the Chapter house May 11, 1946, after which the members attended baseball and lacrosse games. A special luncheon was held at the Merchants Club, September 14, 1946, in honor of rushers for Maryland Beta, Virginia Kappa, Virginia Sigma and Pennsylvania Alpha-Zeta. The alumni association holds weekly luncheons during the year at the Merchants Club with an average attendance of 18, including 40 different members. The association during the past year maintained a telephone listing—ΣAE Veterans Bureau—for the benefit of returning servicemen.

Mississippi Dance

● The Central Mississippi Alumni Association in conjunction with the Chapters at the University of Mississippi and Mississippi State College again sponsored an annual rush dance in the Victory Room of Hotel Heidelberg in Jackson, September 5, 1947. Report on the dance was made by Edward A. DeMiller, Jr., Miss. Γ '39, president of the association.

Buffalo Outing

● The country home of John C. Ward, N.Y. A '29, was the scene of a summer outing for members of the Buffalo, N.Y., Alumni Association, August 4, 1947. Activities of the outing varied from card games to horseshoes. Those attending were: John W. Baird, Ill. Ψ-Ω '06; Burton A. Hoffman, Ill. Ψ-Ω '26; Eugene G. Swezey, N.Y. A '23; Al Stetler, Iowa I '42, secretary; G. Reynolds Stearns, Jr., N.Y. M '13; Charles A. Stiemke, Jr., N.Y. Δ '16; Gordon E. Smith, Ill. Θ '26; Leonard A. Anderson, N.Y. Δ '27; Bert A. Hansen, Wash. A '09; Howard L. Schultz, N.Y. A '32; Stanley W. Smith, Mich. I-B '34; R. A. Blauvelt, N.Y. Δ '36; George G. Sipprell, Colo. X '36; Robert W. Wilson, N.Y. A '39, and W. A. Fink, N.Y. Δ '22. Report on the activities was made by Secretary Stetler.

Miami Valley Meeting

● New life came to the Miami Valley Alumni Association when 20 members met in Dayton, Ohio, in May, and elected the following officers: Tibb Wahl, Ohio E '24, president; Bob Boeckman, Pa. Ψ '34; vice president; Frank Somers, Ohio T '21, treasurer, and Clint Courson, Ohio E '37, secretary. In June G. A. Ginter, Ohio E '97, ESDA, and Arthur M. Peck, Jr., Ohio T '40, Province Delta Recorder-Treasurer, addressed 35 members in the Dayton area and the topic was "What to do with the local gang, and why!" Annual dues were collected from 28 members. In July the alumni association was placed in good standing with the National Office. Judge Cal Crawford, Ohio T '19, Clarence L. Fraas, Ohio T '17, and George Donson, Ohio Θ '26, were named to the executive committee. As part of the association work Bob Schneider, Tenn. N '44, contacted Dayton high schools for names of rushees for Chapters. On September 11 the re-organized alumni association held a dinner meeting at the Dayton Country Club.

Party at the Temple

● Members and their families in the Chicago area attended an informal get-together sponsored by the Chicago Alumni Association at the Levere Memorial Temple in Evanston, Ill., Sunday evening, June 29, 1947, and approximately 75 persons enjoyed color motion pictures of the 1947 Rose Bowl Game and the Tournament of Roses. Following the movies in the Panhellenic Room the group adjourned to the Banquet Hall for refreshments. Visitors were shown thru the Temple by Mrs. Eva M. Hansen, librarian. The party was planned by Jack E. Parks, Wis. Φ '34, president of the association, and assisted by Don M. Gable, Ohio Δ '35, Ill. Ψ-Ω, editor of THE REC-

ORD. Among the guests were Arthur H. Knox, Ill. Ψ-Ω '02, architect of the Levere Memorial Temple; Clifton H. Merry, Ill. Ψ-Ω '15, member of the advisory council of the Levere Memorial Foundation; Dr. Clarence K. Jones, Okla. K '12, past president of the Chicago Alumni Association; Albert J. Schoth, Ore. A '18, Chapter Supervisor, and Robert F. McNulty, Ill. Ψ-Ω '45, assistant Chapter Supervisor. On Wednesday afternoon, June 4, the association held a golf tournament at the White Pine Golf Club near Bensenville. Arrangements were made by Milton J. Lark, Ill. Ψ-Ω '26. The tournament resulted in a tie between William C. Baker, Jr., Va. Σ '38, Ill. Ψ-Ω, and Gene Otley, Ill. Ψ-Ω '38. Their names have been engraved on the Chicago Alumni Association golf trophy under the name of Mr. Lark who won the tournament in 1937, at the time the award was first presented. The trophy is on display at the Levere Memorial Temple. Following the golf game the members enjoyed refreshments and dinner at the club.

Greensboro Banquet

● According to Montgomery S. Hill, Ga. Φ '11, honorary Archon of Province Gamma and president of the Greensboro Alumni Association, the alumni in Greensboro, N.C., had the best Christmas banquet they have ever held at Bliss', December 22, 1947. More than 100 alumni attended the occasion including five members and their wives from High Point and they were introduced by Tom Turner, N.C. Ξ '47, and actives and pledges of the Chapters were presented. The highlight of the banquet was the presentation of a Merit Key thru The Alumni Program Committee of the National Fraternity and Province Gamma to Edwin F. Lucas, Sr., N.C. Θ '14. A 15-minute movie of the "Football Highlights of 1947" was given. ΣAE recordings were played. The citation for Mr. Lucas read by Mr. Hill was: For outstanding service to ΣAE, as evidenced by your continued interest thru the years, your organizational work in behalf and your presidency of the Greensboro Alumni Association; your leadership in restoring ΣAE in Greensboro; your understanding counsel to and interest in the Davidson Chapter especially, and your friendship with the boys themselves. Your home, a tribute also to the warmth and charm of Mabel's personality, is in spirit and in fact a ΣAE house in Greensboro. You have proven yourself a real friend of the undergraduate and you have never failed to help the Chapters Collegiate when the opportunity arose.

Twin City Activities

● Members in Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minn., have been taking part in Sigma Alpha Epsilon activities recently and according to late reports more activities are planned for the 392 members in the area. The Twin-City Alumni Association has been holding a series of regular luncheons in both Minneapolis and St. Paul, informing members by postcards for arrangements. The Minneapolis group meets on the first and third Thursdays at Hotel Dyckman and members in St. Paul gather at the St. Paul Athletic Club on Tuesday. On September 3, the St. Paul ΣAEs held their annual golf party at the Keller Course with a turn-out of 58 for the tournament and dinner. Jack Kuehn, Minn. A '38, and Wayne Ruedy, Minn. A '40, tied for the championship. The "Tin Pan Alley," the famous ΣAE party to which everyone goes dressed as a song, was staged again at the Fort Snelling Officers Club, Friday, December 12. On February 6, a stag party was held and election of officers took place. This was in conjunction with Province Mu Convention.

ESA in Cleveland

● G. A. Ginter, Ohio E '97, Eminent Supreme Archon of ΣAE, will be the guest of honor at the Founders Day celebration of the Cleveland, Ohio, Alumni Association on March 11. Mr. Ginter will also attend celebrations in Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Ind., and Danville, Ky. Other members of the Supreme Council will attend celebrations, known to date, as follows: Prof. Emmett B. Plan N.Y. Dinner

● The New York Alumni Association is planning a Founders Day dinner at the Yale Club, 44th Street and Vanderbilt Avenue, March 10. Further details will be sent to members, according to Frederick W. Sands, Mass. Γ '37, secretary. Members in the New York area not at present receiving notices of alumni association activities may be placed on the mailing list by contacting any of the officers listed in The Directory of this issue.

Milwaukee Breakfast

● Members residing in the Milwaukee, Wis., area are planning a Founders Day breakfast, Sunday, March 9, 1948, at the Milwaukee Athletic Club, according to Robert E. Hering, Wis. A '44. A similar event was held last year with a good turnout. It is hoped that another breakfast of this nature will stimulate members in the area to greater activity during the year.

Toast for Founders Day

By Roy Fleischer, N.Y. Delta '26

*Noble is his christened name
And noble was this seer
Who, March 9, 1856,
Formed our fraternity.*

*Minerva in her wisdom
Placed him first in ancient gold
Upon the royal purple
Of Phi Alpha's sacred scroll.*

*And other brothers followed
And wrote their names with souls
That pledged anew the brotherhood
De Votie had foretold.*

*To him and Alabama Mu,
We toast our loyalty,
And swear upon Minerva's brow,
Our troth to ΣAE!!*

Pyle Chapter Opens in Tokyo

● The Ernie Pyle Alumni Chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon was organized in Tokyo, Japan, August 3, 1947, and a group of approximately 30 members in the Tokyo-Yokohama area now meet once a month at any one of the several leading hotels in Tokyo.

Officers of the alumni Chapter are Sgt. Bill Pryor, Tenn. Z '49, president; Julian E. Jackson, Wis. A '21, vice president; Joe Johnson, Minn. A '47, recording secretary; Capt. Julian F. Lewis, Ga. B '23, corresponding secretary, and Maj. Joe Lacey, Utah T '38, treasurer. Officers were elected when the group met at the Osaka Hotel, August 3, and at which time the name of the organization was recorded.

Real activities got under way September 4, when the members were hosts at a buffet supper and dance at the American Club in the heart of downtown Tokyo. Following the supper a dance was held and fraternity songs were sung during intermission.

The first official meeting took place in the Crystal Room of the Osaka Hotel, Sunday, July 20, with Sergeant Pryor presiding. At that time the group decided to hold a meeting on the first Sunday of each month, beginning August 3. Sergeant Pryor was named temporary president. Methods of publicity for meetings were discussed and George L. Disharoon, Miss. Θ '40, was named director. He was instructed to appoint his own publicity men in the General Headquarters of the 8th Army.

A special membership card denoting the first meeting in Tokyo was designed for each charter member. Others attending the July 20 meeting were: Stephen J. McMahon, Wis. A '03; Thomas L. Booker, Va. T '48; Jess B. Cheatham, Jr., Ala. A-M '49; Byron W. Kisner, Minn. A '49; John W. People, Pa. Z '49; James R. Scott, Iowa

Δ '49; Richard C. Sullivan, Pa. Ω '49, and Harold H. Treleaven, La. E '48. A charter from the National Office was granted in the name of Ernie Pyle Alumni Association in December, 1947.

Christmas Formal

● The Portland Alumni Association held a Christmas Formal Dance at the Portland, Ore., Golf and Country Club, Friday evening, December 19, 1947. Bolton McMahan and his eight piece orchestra furnished the music. A floor show was provided by members of Oregon Alpha and Beta. Walter Dickinson, Jr., Ore. B '45, was in charge of tickets and reservations. The alumni association holds weekly luncheons each Wednesday noon at the Shrine Club, Broadway and Main thru the courtesy of Harry Hanson, Ore. B '34.

Co-ordinators Help Veterans

● Thru The Alumni Program of Sigma Alpha Epsilon there are co-ordinators in 28 leading cities ready to aid any veteran of World War II with his problems upon release from service or help him find a job. These co-ordinators have their telephone numbers listed with ΣAE in order that veterans may contact them. The co-ordinators work in connection with the Job Placement Service under the direction of Dr. Fred H. Turner, Ill. B '22, past ESA and dean of students at the University of Illinois, Urbana.

The co-ordinators for the benefit of veterans are listed as follows:

Musings of a Fraternity Pin

By Parker Lowell,
Ill. Psi-Omega '10

● I am a fraternity pin—the one you are wearing so proudly because it reminds you that you are a “brother” of famous men like senators, generals, business tycoons, authors and athletes.

Should I, too, not be proud because you have chosen me from all the glittering galaxy of fraternity emblems? I pray that you will not flaunt me as a symbol of snobbery nor hold me cheaply to be passed on as a “trophy of the hunt” to the first starry-eyed co-ed who may have started a sparkling collection.

Consider me, if you please, as a reminder that you have come to college to play a man's part. In the class-room, on the athletic field or on the forensic rostrum conduct yourself so that I shall be proud to have you wear me—so that others may be eager to wear the same kind of a fraternal emblem that you are wearing.

When you meet the right kind of a girl and offer me to her as a token of admiration or devotion, may she be proud to accept me because I have helped you become what she considers an ideal man whose friendship she will cherish forever.

In many sections of the country I have become recognized as an acknowledgment of an engagement which will lead to marriage. In that event, you will be presenting me as a symbol of your sincere devotion. I will have all the sacred and solemn significance of an engagement ring.

An engagement ring or a fraternity pin, in cases like these, must be handled with care—like dynamite or the atomic bomb. People will say things, you know.

Do not use me as a bribe, hoping that the lady attracted by my dazzling, bejeweled lure, will learn to love you as she loves my flashing charm. For after all, I am one gleaming star in the dazzling firmament of fraternity.

YOU are the man she is selecting as her all-time, All-American champion—not me, a sparkling fraternity pin or an engagement ring featuring a costly solitaire.

You are selling YOURSELF as well as your fraternity, whether it be to the lady of your choice or to some young fellow who is groping more or less blindly for an association which will mean much to him during his college days and even more when he goes out into the busy marts of life where the clamor dims the glamor of a pin which means as much as I have tried to mean to you.

When you give a girl a pin or a ring for her finger, remember that it may become a true mark of proprietorship signifying that she is yours and also that you are hers. Until You feel that way and until she feels that way, let no temporal glitter blind you to the fact that only mutual respect and admiration develops into lasting love and affection.

NEW BOOKS in Temple Library

By Don M. Gable

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN—Letters and Papers of Benjamin Franklin and Richard Jackson, edited by Carl Van Doren, Ill. B '07, has been added to Mr. Van Doren's collection of books in the Temple library. As a member of the Committee on Library of the American Philosophical Society and one of its Research Associates, Mr. Van Doren has edited and annotated the important correspondence of Benjamin Franklin and Richard Jackson (1753-1785), most of which has recently been added to the very extensive collection of Franklin manuscripts in the Library of the APS. The greater part of the correspondence covers the critical period, 1762-1764. Since Franklin and Jackson were friends and philosophers as well as officials, their letters are full of things other than government business and political matters. The importance of their contents, as well as the fact that they were written by two of the foremost stylists of letter writing of the period, gives a special significance to these letters. At the time of the American Revolution it was taken for granted that Jackson was a man of universal knowledge. Franklin had the highest opinion of Jackson's knowledge of America as well as of his good will towards the Colonies, and regarded him as a principal ally in his controversies with the Proprietary and Tory governments. Said the Magazine Section of the Chicago Sunday Tribune: "Carl Van Doren's introduction in this book is unusually suggestive and his editing is at all times adequate." An attempt is being made to find a copy of the revision of Van Doren's Secret History of the American Revolution which is out of print.

EL TEATRO AMERICANO—Albert Croissant, Calif. E '17, professor of modern literature at Occidental College, Los Angeles, Calif., has provided the library with a copy of El Teatro Americano, a critical analysis or introduction for Spanish-speaking people to American Drama. Professor Croissant had this translation made and published to further cultural understanding in Latin America.

El Teatro Americano (Keystone Press) is the only book in Spanish covering the whole field of American Drama. The book involves such names as David Belasco, Clyde Fitch, Augustus Thomas, William Vaughn, George Ade, Eugene O'Neill, Maxwell Anderson, Rachel Crothers, Paul Green et al. Professor Croissant, who sees the need for this type of book in every public library and in the libraries of all the colleges and high schools, has taught Modern Drama at Occidental for 20 years and is one of the directors of the Educational Field Research Institute, Inc.

WARRIORS WITH WINGS—"Skipper of the 'Werewolf'" is the title of the chapter in this book devoted to Maj. George J. Oxrider, Va. O '40, ΣAE's 757th Gold Star, B-17 pilot who was missing in action over Poland, April 9, 1944, and presumed dead by the government as of August 14, 1945. Warriors with Wings (Thomas Y. Crowell Company, N.Y.) by Philip McKee contains the stories of those World War "KIA" (killed in action) men of the Army Air Forces. Chapter II tells the story of Major Oxrider and his fortress flights, leading to his death.

COLLECTED SPEECHES—The collected speeches under the same title by Heber H. Rice, Ky, E '04, of Chevy Chase, Md., honorary president of the United Nations League of Lawyers, have been contributed in booklet form to the library by the author. The volume of more than 30 speeches was published by the Southeastern Press, Inc., Roanoke, Va., and includes Mr. Rice's speech at the Founders Day Dinner of ΣAE at the John Marshall Hotel in Richmond, Va., March 9, 1942. Other speech titles of interest are: "Necessity for Selective Service," "Our Soldiers in Field and Camp," "Buffalo Bill Reviews West Virginia Troops," "A Kentucky Pioneer," and "V-J Day 1945." Mr. Rice is a past national president of the Federal Bar Association and served on the Judge Advocate's Staff in World War II. Following publication of Collected Speeches, Mr. Rice received many comments. For instance, Erwin N. Griswold, dean of the Harvard Law School, wrote: "I appreciate Collected Speeches very much. I have already found a great deal of interest in reading your talks, which are most genuine, and occasionally salty."

CITIZENSHIP AND VOTING IN ALABAMA—A study of the laws of Alabama relating to citizenship and voting including the Boswell Amendment with a complete explanation of the Constitution of the United States has been published under the title of Citizenship and Voting in Alabama (American Citizen's Press) by the Hon. Walter B. Jones, Ala. A-M '10, past ESA and presiding judge of the 15th Judicial Circuit, Montgomery, Ala. An interesting part of this volume of 164 pages is a chapter headed, "Do You Know?" This includes more than 60 paragraphs stating some of the essential facts of Alabama history. Another good chapter is "The American Constitution, Its Establishment and Purposes." The book ends with a list of the presidents of the U.S. and the governors of Alabama. Judge Jones, who contributed his book to the library, was unopposed for circuit judge six times. His new term began in January and will carry him until 1953. Because he has held many important state, county and city offices and has been on the circuit bench for more than 27 years, Judge Jones was chosen by the publishers to write the book. Judge Jones has studied the history of Alabama and his numerous addresses, delivered in every part of the State, have delighted countless Alabama audiences. Judge Jones has generously contributed to the Library by presenting a set of handsomely bound volumes of his Alabama Practice and Forms (West Publishing Company, St. Paul, Minn.). The six volumes should be of inestimable service not only to Alabama lawyers but also to lawyers and courts in other States. They cover every phase of the subject including equity, law, Probate Court, criminal law and Justice of the Peace practice.

WHERE I STAND—Despite the busy days of Harold E. Stassen, Minn. A '29, former governor of Minnesota and possible candidate for the presidency of the United States, he was able to meet the request of Doubleday & Company, Inc., and produce copy for a book entitled Where I Stand in which he gives his views on American and foreign policy. This political book is a straight-from-the-shoulder story of an ambitious man, a man who wants to aid his country. Mr. Stassen begins his story with his first taste of labor disorder in Minnesota, his home state, when he was 14 years old. One of the most interesting chapters concerns his interview with Joseph Stalin. His chapter on "Sergei of Sverdlovsk" considered more in detail the systems of Communism and Socialism. Stassen stated in this chapter: "The Russians do not have a Communist economic system as distinct from Socialism. Actually the Russian economic system is a Socialist collective system dominated by a one-party dictatorship under the Communist party. Their own writings admit this." Mr. Stassen completed his chapter on "Communists in America," with: "Needed, and needed badly, is a vigorous, co-ordinated, and comprehensive bipartisan program to clear up this center of Communist activity, with a united opposing front, of federal, state, and local governments, and of labor, the press, radio, and those most vital and dependable of all clarifiers, the people of everyday New York life." In discussing American life, Mr. Stassen stated that one of the biggest blots on our country is the housing situation. "We must not close our eyes to the glaring fact that we need action, major action, imaginative action, now for more homes in America." The inadequacy of our hospitals and medical services was discussed in the chapter, "The Health of America." He commented: "America's medical and hospital care in so far as it affects the average home in our land has lagged behind our progress in other respects to a tragic degree."

In his last chapter, "In Summation," Mr. Stassen said: "And I do have an abiding faith in the American people. Thus I seek to share ideas with them, not keep thoughts from them. These basic beliefs, this fundamental faith, this underlying philosophy, are all deeper than the tides of political fortune can ever reach. From them springs my sober optimism in the long-term future of the United States of America and of mankind's freedom and of peace on earth."

VACATION WITH PAY—Another book to come out of World War II is Vacation with Pay by former Lt. Alan H. Newcomb, Ohio Δ '42, of Asheville, N.C., son of Charles M. Newcomb, Ohio Δ '07, and brother of the late Capt Robert T. Newcomb, Ohio Δ '36, ΣAE's 283rd Gold Star and author of the historical novel Janissa, and Charles E. Newcomb, Ohio Δ '32, program director of station WSKY in Asheville. Alan, now an announcer and production manager of Station WNCA in Asheville, was a co-pilot of a Flying Fortress, shot down over Germany and a prisoner in Stalag Luft No. 1, north of Berlin on the Baltic, for eight months. Vacation with Pay (Destiny Publishers, Haverhill, Mass.) is a diary with illustrations of Alan's life as a German prisoner. The book of 198 pages has an easy style with resultant fast reading. It is dedicated to the living memory of his brother, Captain Newcomb (Bob), who was killed in an auto accident near Lafayette, Ohio, November 11, 1944. The day-by-day account of life in a prison camp tells of the hardships faced by Alan and his comrades and how they attempted to overcome great handicaps, mainly the food situation. Despite the environment, the author indicated a sense of humor in his writing. One of the most impressive passages appears when he received his first letter from home, his sister Eleanor (now assistant advertising manager in an Asheville department store) writing to him when Alan was still believed to be missing in action. Patiently waiting for word from home, Alan's first letter revealed the death of his brother. Alan recalled that the night Bob was killed he had been listening to music which Bob loved so much. Alan felt that this had really been his "goodbye" to Bob. Alan brings his book to a close with his return to the States. After that he returned to Ohio Wesleyan for graduate work, and as he stated in a recent letter to the editor, "mainly for the purpose of being around Ohio Delta once again and to date the young lady whom I married, Jeanne Lilly, a Tri Delt." Now Alan is preparing to write a book about small radio stations. THE RECORD editor had the honor of receiving an autographed copy of Vacation with Pay, and it is interesting to note that the author made several references to his fraternity in the book. For instance on page 100: "The other day at Roll Call, they announced that all members of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity were to report to the orderly room and turn in their names! I did so, but could learn nothing about why a college fraternity list was being made in the middle of Germany. A couple of days later it was explained when Lt. Nick B. Robson (Kan. B '43) called on me." Receipt of Vacation with Pay refreshed the editor's memory of the close association he had with his beloved friend Bob and reminded him of the fact that he had the honor of reading the first two chapters of Janissa upon the request of the author long before it appeared as a book. The editor also recalled that he had received a prisoner-of-war postal card from Alan.

MISCELLANEOUS—"Buzz-Bomb Assaults on London," a reprint from The Military Surgeon, Vol. 100, No. 6, June, 1947, has been contributed by the author, Col. Joseph R. Darnall, Mich. I-B '12, Medical Corps, U.S. Army, Station Hospital, Ft. Belvoir, Va. He also provided a reprint of "Scouting for Hospital Sites in Normandy" and "Fixed Hospitals Follow the Breakthrough to Paris." John L. Arlit, W.C. P '09, of New York City, has provided a copy of Who's Who in Pi Gamma Mu. A booklet in memory of Dr. Augustus R. Hatton, Ind. A '98, who died at Austin, Texas, November 12, 1946, has been contributed to the library by Mrs. Hatton of Wilmette, Ill. The attractive booklet was presented at a memorial dinner at the Georgia Hotel in Evanston, Ill., October 8, 1947, and among the guests were Lauren Foreman, Ga. E '01, ESR, and Dr. Harry E. Mock, Ind. A '04, Ill. Θ, and Mrs. Mock. The publication includes the life story of the noted economist and his autobiographical sketch from Who's Who in America for 1946-1947. It contains photographs of Dr. Hatton and the Hatton home (1942) at Dripping Springs, Texas. Dr. Hatton was considered one of the greatest contributors to the progress of municipal government. Most notable was his drafting of the Cleveland city charter of 1921. Among the excerpts from publications and letters in the booklet was a letter from Dr. Mock. A handsomely bound two-volume history of the Russell Sage Foundation, 1907-1946, has been presented to the library. One of the three authors of this detailed work was John M. Glenn, Va. Σ '79. The Russell Sage Foundation was established in 1907 by Mrs. Russell Sage "for the improvement of social and living conditions in the United States of America." Mr. Glenn, senior author, served the Foundation at 130 E. 2nd St., in New York as general director from 1907 to 1931, and is now a trustee. A total of $9,015,000 has been given to 119 agencies and special projects in the social field by the Russell Sage Foundation, according to a report made at the time of two-volume publication, marking the 40th anniversary of the organization, November 24, 1947.

"Managed Currency" is a pamphlet by George F. Ogilvie, Nev. A '15, presented to the library by Charles G. Garabrell, Mass. Γ '27, vice president of the Irving Trust Company in New York City. Tom P. Walker, Nev. A '15, is also a vice president of the trust company. Mr. Ogilvie has served as president of the Nevada State Farm Bureau and director of the American Farm Bureau Federation and the 11th Land Bank District, Farm Credit Administration, Elko, Nev.

Studying in England

● Roger Swire Woolley, Va. K '45, of the College of William and Mary, is an exchange student at the University of S.W. England. He is residing at Mardon Hall, Streatham Drive, Exeter, Devonshire and will remain there until May.

Two Moravian Bishops

● Dr. Howard Rondthaler, N.C. Ξ '93, president of Salem College at Winston-Salem, N.C., for 38 years, was named as a bishop of the Southern Moravian Church, November 19, 1947. He will serve jointly with Bishop John Kenneth Pfohl, N.C. Ξ '98, who succeeded Bishop Rondthaler's father in that office in 1931. For the first time, the Southern Moravian Church now has two active bishops, both of them alumni of the University of North Carolina Chapter of ΣAE.

Howell Hall at N.C.

● When the Pharmacy School at the University of North Carolina held its 50th anniversary, November 13, 1947, the event for alumni, students and faculty was held in the school's quarters, Howell Hall, named for the late Dean Edward Vernon Howell, N.C. Ξ '00, "a professor-halfback who ran 51 yards against Virginia to give Carolina its only undefeated and untied football team in history." In the November issue of The Alumni Review the celebration was featured and the following information given concerning Dean Howell: "Here's how it all happened. President Edwin A. Alderman in his inaugural message in January, 1897, cited the university's need for a 'Chair of Pharmacy.' Three months later a Department of Pharmacy was established on a permanent basis and a 25-year-old pharmacist of Rocky Mount, E. V. Howell, was chosen to fill the chair. Professor Howell was a graduate of Wake Forest College where he had played football against Carolina in 1888 in the first inter-collegiate game ever played by a team to represent the university. When he came to Chapel Hill his energies were not fully consumed by directing the work of the 17 students who were enrolled in pharmacy during the first year. So that fall he went out for the varsity football team even though he weighed only 138 pounds. Let it be said that the university catalogues of the three years which Professor Howell played football listed him as a graduate student as well as Professor of Pharmacy. Whatever his status, his prowess on the gridiron established him in Carolina's hall of athletic fame. Dean Howell continued to head the Pharmacy School for 33 years until his death in 1931."

The 1947 All-America Football Teams

By Harry A. Ackerburg,
Ill. Psi-Omega '14

● In reviewing the 1947 football season, it is pleasing to note that Sigma Alpha Epsilon has once again come up with its customary galaxy of stars. It was therefore no easy task to reduce this large field of talent to All-America elevens.

Magazine space being limited, it is possible to give only the highlights of each player's record, and so, without further ado, we submit the qualifications of the various men which prompted their selection to the Major All-America.

MIKE COOLEY earned his position as first string center his first year at Georgia, starred in three bowl games, one of which being in 1946 when Georgia's undefeated, untied team beat North Carolina in the Sugar Bowl. This year, he was elected president of the "G" Club, and was given honorable mention as All-Southeastern center.

One guard position goes to BILL HEALY, captain of the strong Georgia Tech team. He was awarded a place on the Players All-America second team, honorable mention by the Saturday Evening Post's and the U.P.'s All-America, and a spot on the All-South first team.

At the other guard, KNOX RAMSEY of William and Mary gets the nod. Elected to several honor elevens in 1946, he was this year named on the second string U.P. All-America and given honorable mention by the Saturday Evening Post. Associated Press also gave him a first team berth on its All-Southern team.

Tackle WALTER BARNES of Louisiana State seems to rate for this position. During 1946, he was selected as a first team choice by both the U.P. and Bill Stearns for their All-America elevens. He also received All-Southern honorable mention during 1947. Barnes is also All-Southern weight lifting champion in the heavyweight class.

The other tackle post goes to RALPH KOHL of Michigan, the number one team of this country. Michigan invariably used one team for offense and another team for defense. While it is true that the two tackles at offense got the lion's share of publicity, Kohl was first string on the defensive aggregation.

Co-Captain ROBERT STECKROTH, also of William and Mary, is awarded one of the flanks. During 1946, he was given All-America honorable mention and a place on the All-Southern second team. In 1947, the A.P. elevated him to its first All-Southern team.

A prep school teammate of the celebrated Anthony Minisi, JOSEPH DISTASIO of Cornell stands out at the other end position. He has a record of connecting with seven out of eight passes in a crucial game, and outplayed such ends as Hank Folberg and Barney Poole. He received All-America honorable mention his junior year.

In the back field, fullbacks seem to predominate. But one ANTHONY MINISI, a halfback from Pennsylvania, stands head and shoulders above his ΣAE pigskin brothers. He is the lone member of ΣAE to be awarded the number one spot on the Collier's All-America team, and the Saturday Evening Post selected him in the number two spot.

JACK CLOUD, another William and Mary star, is only a sophomore, but rates very high in gridiron circles. Of Indian ancestry, this promising fullback was given first place on the A.P. All-Southern team and a third team spot on their All-America.

Another sophomore who could not be denied a position on the Major All-America is fullback DICK McKISSACK, an outstanding star on one of the top-ranking elevens of this country. He is the "Mr. Inside" of the aggressive Southern Methodist eleven, and was voted first string for the Players All-Southwest team.

VERL LILLYWHITE, a triple threat on the gridiron, completes this powerful backfield. Playing two seasons as quarterback for Southern California, he was this year shifted to the number one fullback slot, a versatile ball carrier on a powerful team.

The Minor Team

Lacking the national publicity accorded schools of larger enrollment, it was undeniably a much more difficult task to make a fair appraisal of the relative merits of the men who fell in this group. If there have been any unintentional errors in judgment, we most humbly apologize.

At center, PAUL DIETZEL, team captain of the undefeated Miami, Ohio, eleven, which later took the measure of Texas Tech in the '47 Sun Bowl game, seems to take the edge. He was selected for All-State and All-Conference first teams, and performed well as a 60 minute player.

Team captains DENTON BROWN of Bucknell and BRISCOE INMAN of Centre are paired at the guard positions.

JAY KENDRICK of Miami, Florida, and GERALD KRUTCH of South Dakota seem well placed at tackle. Brilliant work on the part of the latter opened the way for 20 out of 22 touchdowns, as plays were built around his side of the line.

At the wings, FRANK BRINEY of Montana State and EDGAR CHENOWETH of Wyoming gave excellent performances. Briney, a sparkling sophomore, was chosen on the Pacific Coast Conference All-Opponent Second Team.

In the backfield, there was a wealth of fullback material, as was true with the Major All-America selections. These men from schools of smaller enrollment turned in records that were little short of miraculous.

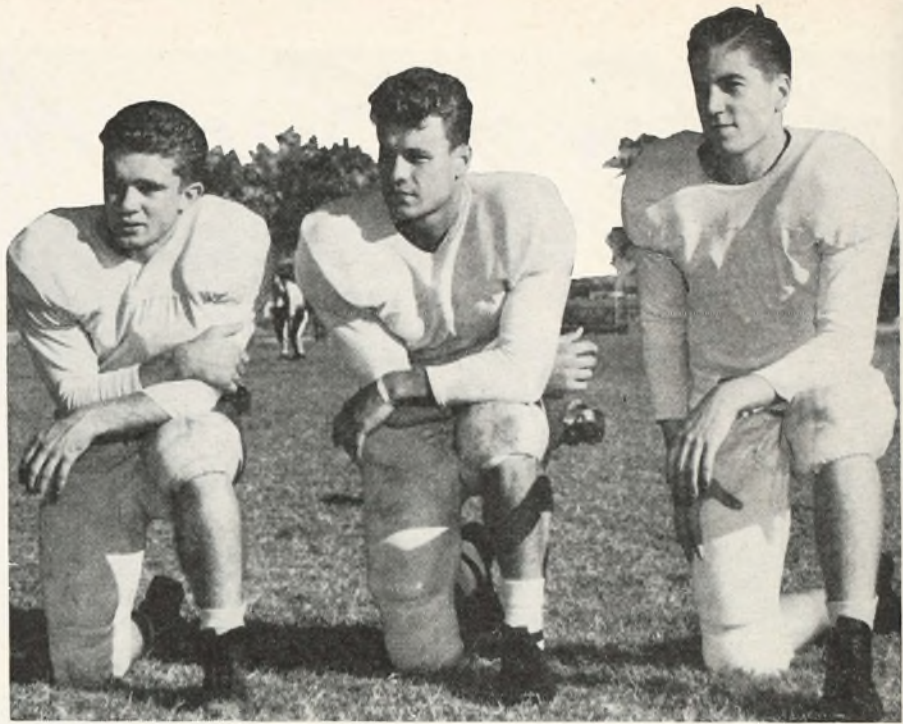

PAT GREEN of Colorado A. & M. made nine touchdowns in Big Seven competition for a total of 54 points.

As of November 27, 1947, fullback EDWARD SMITH of Texas Mines held fourth place in rushing in the entire nation, according to the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau. In the Border Conference, he was second in both scoring and rushing, with a total of 48 points to his credit.

HOWARD BLUMHARDT of South Dakota is another sophomore fullback who will bear watching. He led his team scoring with 53 points, and gained 520 yards for an average of 7.1 yards per try. At Stockton, Calif., he carried the ball 34 times, gaining all but 23 of South Dakota's 143 yards in this game. He was the only unanimous choice for All-Conference honors.

Completing this startling backfield is RUDY KRALL, a senior at New Mexico and another member of the tough Border Conference. Although detailed statistics are not available, he has played outstanding football during the four years he attended the University of New Mexico.

Before leaving the Minor All-America, it would be unfair not to recognize the ability of team captain ROBERT OWENS who played center brilliantly for the University of South Dakota, co-champions of the North Central Conference. Senior guard ROBERT MIDDLETON of Occidental College was the only member of his team to receive an offer from the Professionals, the Pittsburgh Steelers, and junior guard LAWRENCE MARTOGLIO of Wyoming was selected on the Big Seven All-Conference First Team. JOHN WILSON of Centre and ARTHUR SAEY of Miami, Florida, also rated at the tackle spots. GLEN CULP of Dennison, quarterback of his undefeated team would prove a valuable fifth man in the roster of brilliant backfield stars.

To Summarize

Just a word of thanks to the many SAE Chapters who made these selections possible. If any of our pigskin heroes were overlooked, it is just possible that their Chapter officers neglected to make the nominations or failed to supply adequate details necessary for their full consideration.

Best Football Player: Left to Right, Tom Shaffer and Bill Uecker of Indiana Gamma at Indiana University Awarding Harry ("Chick") Jagade the Falcon Club's Trophy for the Outstanding Player of the Indiana-Purdue Football Game. The Trophy is Awarded Each Year to the Player Who in the Opinion of the Student Body Has Played the Best Game in the Big Rival Game. All Three Men are Members of Indiana Gamma and the Falcon Club. Jagade Was Recently Named President of the Club.

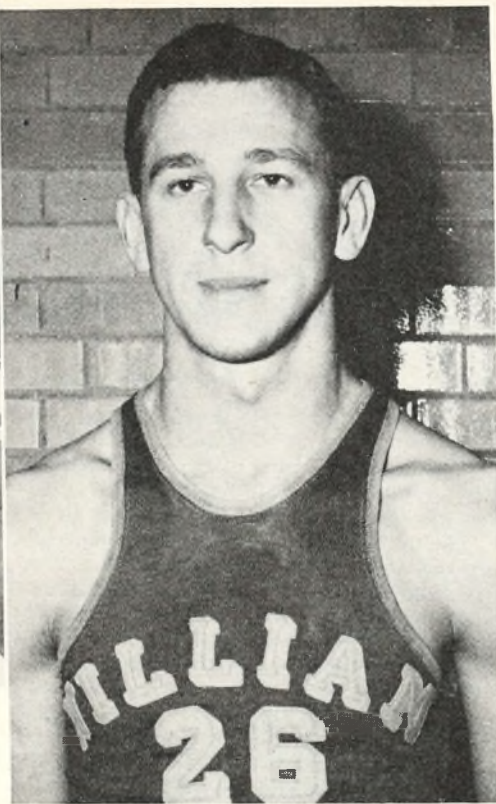

With three members on the Major eleven, it would seem that William and Mary received more than its share of the spotlight, but Virginia Kappa put such an array of talent on the gridiron that they were not to be denied. THOMAS THOMSON, at center, was given considerable thought, but being a junior, he with JACK CLOUD can be given consideration again next year. End BOB COX, a North Carolina Tarheel, and halfback ROGER STEPHENS of Cincinnati are two other juniors to watch in 1948.

Wyoming Alpha is a second Chapter that monopolized the gridiron at their Alma Mater with at least one man assigned to each of the eleven team positions with the exception of center. Here's another football Chapter to watch in the coming years.

All told, the year 1947 was a banner year for football, with attendance topping all records, and team play the keenest it has ever been. Michigan, without question, despite a biased Press that usually grants Notre Dame first place before a game has been played, was the standout for the past season, in a conference that furnishes more rugged competition than any conference in the country. For witness lowly Northwestern, Big Nine cellar champions, who licked the mighty Uclans, fought the Irish to a standstill, and ended the season by decisively defeating the Illini, Rose Bowl champions of 1946.

Ga. Phi Members Build Their Own Furniture; Called "Homemakers"

Editor's Note: This article by Margaret Beauchamp Armistead is a reprint from the Atlanta, Ga. Journal Magazine, November 23, 1947, and is offered as a suggestion to other Chapters.

● The members of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity at Georgia Tech have gone one step farther than the Scriptural command: "They shall beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning-hooks." For these young men, most of them veterans, have not only learned to plow and prune while beautifying their fraternity house at 221 Fourth St., Atlanta. They have also wielded a hammer and saw and paint brush with truly professional skill.

As a result of their labor, their newly-finished rumpus room, or Lions' Den as they call it, looks like something out of House Beautiful; the whole lower floor is fresh and attractive; and the grounds have been landscaped, planted and terraced so they will be a place of beauty by next spring.

Because of the ΣAEs' outstanding work, they have received the loving cup awarded by the Office of the Dean of Students for the greatest improvement made on any fraternity house at Tech. The ΣAEs hasten to assure you that they weren't working for the cup, that they didn't even know one was offered. They were just striving to make their home away from home one to be proud of. Then they got the letter from Dean Griffin saying he was happy to present the cup to the ΣAEs. So they feel that virtue is not only its own reward, but occasionally you get recognition for it.

When the boys went into the service they left their fraternity house in pretty good shape. They had always taken pride in it. But during the war the Navy took it over as a dormitory, and afterwards it emerged as one of the casualties. To quote its present inhabitants, "It was run down, beat-up looking, and the furniture was worn out."

Show Real Interest

So last spring they held a big pep meeting and decided to redecorate the house and build a recreation room—all with their own strong hands and by the sweat of their own manly brows. Real interest played a large part in this decision—and so did that bugaboo, FINANCES. Present high prices of labor would make the job tremendously expensive, and anyway the brothers had plenty of brain and brawn, and a few leisure hours.

Their president, Fred Avey, of St. Louis, was the dynamo who rallied the boys' zeal to the working point and got the project under way. Starting on the first floor, they sanded floors, painted walls and laid stair carpeting to the ground floor. Here they tackled the dining hall, painting the walls a light cream and refinishing the floor. The dining hall draperies were made by members of the Minerva Club, composed of mothers of the ΣAEs.

With the greatly increased membership of Georgia Phi Chapter, the kitchen facilities were woefully inadequate, so the boys turned their attention to that room next. Over the gas stove they constructed a ventilator hood, which masterpiece they point to with pride. They put in a deep freeze cabinet and bought a huge new refrigerator.

The Lions' Den

Then, with all the utilitarian needs taken care of, they devoted their energies to creating the thing they had set their hearts on—the Lions' Den, a play room 15 x 28 feet, so-called in honor of the Guardian Lion of the ΣAEs. Two of the architectural students designed the room and its furnishings. These talented young men, Mark Hampton and Murphey Pound, also painted the attractive murals which adorn two walls of the room.

The next job—the brand-new venture of furniture-making—failed to daunt Prexy Fred Avey and Brother Bill McCuen, of Savannah. They began work on Murphey's and Mark's designs with at least outward confidence. They built the frames for three 10-foot-long seats. Well, they reflected, that wasn't too complicated, but how about this upholstering business? That was a subject not included in Georgia Tech's curriculum.

Lining the framework with cotton and moss, they covered it with muslin and then upholstered it with green plastic leather. They must have been apprenticed to a furniture maker in one of their previous incarnations, for the two amateurs completed the job with an enviable professional touch.

Pleased with their success, the craftsmen made three built-in corner lamp tables. One of their most ingenious touches was to enclose the piano, juke box and ice box with combed plywood, so that only the keyboard of the piano and the front of the juke box show.

Three substantial long low tables were produced by the efforts of Lloyd Baxter. These serve a multitude of uses and they too, show skill and craftsmanship.

Another clever touch in the Lions' Den is the flower box, which the brothers call their tropical garden. It is made on an exotic-looking base of glass bricks, and above it the boys fastened a row of bars, to carry out further the idea of a lion's den.

In the living room upstairs are two yellow leather upholstered fireside seats on which James ("Wild Bill") Walker spent about 25 hours. The finishing touches were supplied by an outsider, but Wild Bill labored long and faithfully getting the job ready for him.

Mothers Help

Besides the work the boys have done, the Minerva Club, under the leadership of its president, Mrs. Raymond Tooke, and Mrs. Randolph Smith redecorated the living room—"courtin' parlor" the younger generation call it. This room is now crisp and lovely in its red and turquoise blue furnishings. Above the mantel hangs a portrait of one of Sigma Alpha Epsilon's most illustrious alumni, Robert Tyre Jones, Jr., for whom the fraternity house was named. When the boys and their dates gather for their Saturday night get-togethers, the "courtin' parlor" by tacit consent is reserved for romancing couples.

When it came to work on the grounds, J. I. ("Jock") Wilson, of Miami, proved to be a stone mason par excellence. He was in charge of all outside work, and the brothers greatly admire the retaining walls he built in the back and front yards and also the steps and gravel driveway, which they find quite an improvement over the red mud it replaced.

Again the Minerva Club helped out when it was time to plant the yard. They directed the work, and the boys executed their plans. Grass has been sown and flower beds laid out, with the hardy annuals already planted. The lower terrace has a court for badminton and volley ball, and future plans call for an outdoor dancing pavilion as well.

Altogether, these young men who returned from the wholly undomestic business of waging war have shown an unusual facility in making their bachelor quarters livable and charming. In fact, surprised parents have been heard to sigh, "I wonder why we can't get them to work like that at home."

It's Their Home

The boys just grin and say nothing in reply. They know the reason they put forth yeoman labor at the ΣAE house is that it is peculiarly their own. They give full credit to the Minerva Club and to "Mama Lou" Burnell, their helpful, sympathetic housemother. But they feel justifiably proud that they themselves initiated, financed and completed a rather large cooperative undertaking. Each boy sees his handiwork as a contributing part that makes a pleasing whole.

● On the evening of December 5, 1947, the Alabama Mu Building Fund Drive was opened officially with a banquet given by the Tuscaloosa Alumni Association and the Active Chapter of Alabama Mu. The scene of the banquet was the main hall of Chapter house. Rev. Dubose Murphy, Tenn. Ω '18, pronounced the invocation.

The program for the evening was opened by Judge Robert Carr, Ala. N '12, Ala. M, of Montgomery, who served as toastmaster. G. Herbert Jones, Sr., Ala. M '02, president of the Tuscaloosa Alumni Association, extended a welcome to the guests. Judge Carr introduced several distinguished guests, among whom were Judge Walter B. Jones, Ala. A-M '10, Ala. M, past ESA; Cobb Torrance, Ga. B '21, past ESA, and Judge Robert Simpson Ala. M '15, associate justice of the Alabama Supreme Court.

Judge Jones, in addressing the group, stated his belief that the time had come for the Fraternity to erect a suitable Memorial honoring Noble Leslie DeVotie and the other founders of the Fraternity. He also expressed the hope that the Memorial, besides being one of great beauty, would also be a useful one. "It is our duty to ΣAE," he said, "to make plans that will be an inspiration and a challenge." Past ESA Torrance gave an interesting report on the National Fraternity, and encouraged the members of Alabama Mu by pledging his support to the plans for a suitable memorial. The guests were reminded by Judge Simpson that the task of getting a new house and Memorial would be a difficult one and would require the support of all members.

Armistead I. Selden, Jr., Tenn. Ω '42, Ala. M '48, EA, reported on the work that had already been done toward the realization of the plans. He cited the burning of the mortgage on the present house in May, 1947. The work of the Alabama Mu delegation at Mackinac Island during the last National Convention, the procurement of an excellent building site for the new house, the publication of an extra edition of the Chapter news-letter, and a good will tour among the alumni of the state. All of these projects were cited as milestones along the highway towards the final goal.

Lewis E. Crook, Ga. Φ '19, prominent architect of Atlanta, presented the plans for the Memorial and the new Chapter house. Crook estimated the cost of the new house at approximately $140,000; the cost of the Memorial, $35,000; the cost of the Library, $20,000; a total cost of approximately $195,000.

T. S. Lawson, N.C. Θ '26, associate justice of the Alabama Supreme Court, Chairman of the drive, presented the keynote speech of the banquet. Justice Lawson said that the need for a new house was self-evident, pointing out the unfavorable location of the present house, surrounded by business establishments and situated off the campus. The fact that the present members of the Chapter would not benefit from the new house any more than the alumni was brought out by Judge Lawson as proof that the drive is an unselfish effort on the part of the active members. The coming fraternity centennial and the great interest which the University of Alabama has shown in the project were stressed as other important incentives for the drive at this time.

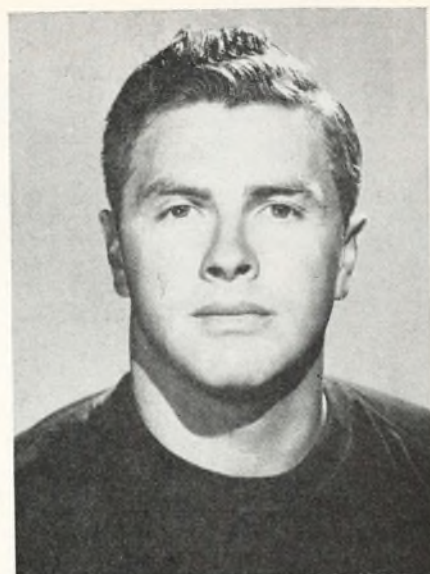

Lamar Branscomb, Ala. I '26, of Tuscaloosa, assistant chairman of the drive, explained the mechanics of the campaign. He outlined plans for the drive, indicating the work of the state committees and suggesting means of contacting each alumnus.

Mr. Torrance closed the discussion period with helpful suggestions on how a fund raising campaign can be successfully conducted. Pride in ΣAE and interest in the Fraternity will be the main support of the drive.

DOWN CHAPTER WAY

Ken Sharp

Fred Enke, Arizona Alpha's Star All-Round Athlete, Who Was No. 1 Ground-Gainer in the Country during the Last Football Season, Voted the Most Valuable Player in the Border Conference, and Was All-Border Conference Guard in Basketball Last Year, Now Captain-Elect of the University of Arizona Team.

Ariz. Alpha Takes Firsts

● Arizona Alpha at the University of Arizona was represented by 14 men on the varsity football team last fall and among these, three, Fred Enke, Fred Knez and Harry Varner, received All-American honorable mention. Knez, a senior, was elected team captain at the close of the season. Enke, one of the outstanding athletes in Arizona history, finished the past football season as the leading back in total offense in the entire nation, rolling up a total of 1,781 yards thru his passing and rushing. One of the leading passers in the country, he is being sought by pro leagues. He was voted the most valuable player in the Border Conference. Enke was All-Border Conference guard on the basketball team, and is captain-elect for this year. Besides Enke, five others are on the varsity basketball squad, including Linc Richmond, the high scoring All-American candidate and who will be making his third trip to Madison Square Garden this year. Richmond is also an outstanding baseball player. Homecoming honors were taken by the Chapter for the second consecutive year last fall when the members won first place in the house decoration contest. Halloween was observed when a costume party was held at one of the nearby guest ranches. Bill Ritchey has turned to the professional ranks in boxing.

King of the Dance

● Vince Shryack, eminent archon of Colorado Delta at Colorado A. and M. College, Fort Collins, was named King of the AWS Dance by the women students on the campus last fall. Another highlight in the Chapter's fall activities was the winning of the interfraternity touch football championship. According to Jack B. Collins, EC, the Chapter was "unscored upon, untied and unbeaten, making a perfect record of championships for the past three years."

Iowa Beta's Captains

● Iowa Beta at the University of Iowa has been prominent on the campus this year for several reasons, but one of the Chapter features has been leadership in the sports field. Ed Kemp, former EA, and who was named chairman of the Undergraduate Council of the National Interfraternity Council, was captain of the wrestling team and Big Nine champion in the 145-pound division. Wally Ris is captain of the swimming team and gunning for Olympic berthing. His latest honors include three places on the AAU All-America swimming team: 100-yard free stylist; member of the 440 and 880-yard free style team, and member of the 300-yard medley relay quartet.

Psi-Omega Adopts Boy

● Illinois Psi-Omega at Northwestern University has "adopted" a Polish boy, Bronislaw Komarowski, 14, thru the Foster Parents' Plan for War Children. The boy's father was a locksmith and his mother was a doctor. After the German occupation of Poland, the boy's family was deported to a German concentration camp and eventually the mother was sent to work in an Italian hospital. The father escaped, joined the Italian partisans, and was later killed. The FPP for WC is caring for more than 52,000. On December 8, Illinois Psi-Omega sponsored a Christmas party for children with Alpha Phi at the Levere Memorial Temple, ΣAE's shrine in Evanston, Ill. Twenty-eight children were fed a turkey dinner, received gifts and were entertained by singing and acts of magic.

Mass. Gamma Banquet

● Massachusetts Gamma at Harvard University held its winter initiation ceremony and banquet at the University Club in Boston, December 13, 1947. The program was planned by James J. Callahan, III, '48, social chairman, and I. Henry Chilcott, '46, pledgemaster. Guests at the banquet included William W. Paddock, W.C. P '06, Province Alpha Archon; Henry S. Dyer, Mass. Γ '27, associate dean of Harvard College; Horace U. Ransom, Mass. Γ '36, treasurer of the Chapter's board of trustees; Philip Johnson, EA of Mass. Iota-Tau and Wendell Warren, EA of Mass. Beta-Upsilon. John Morgan Browder, '50, of Montgomery, Ala., was presented with a miniature gold paddle in recognition of his record of being the outstanding pledge. The banquet was followed by a formal dance in the Old Colony Room of the club. A dinner in honor of the active members was held at the Harvard Club in New York City, January 9, 1948. Leon C. Stowell, Mass. Γ '14, served as toastmaster. A special guest was Albert M. Austin, Ohio Δ '94, past ESA, who addressed the group. The committee in charge included William Wilbur, Mass. Γ '48, chairman; Henry Shine, past EA; Jesse Greenman, Mass. Γ '24; John Heinz, Mass. Γ '17; Richard Lincoln, N.Y. M '22; Hal Pope, Mass. Γ '25; Frederick W. Sands, Mass. Γ '37, and Murray Smyth, Mass. Γ '27. Mr. Pope and Mr. Sands also spoke. Another alumni speaker was William Morton, Mass. Γ '27. Sherwood Chillingworth, EA, George Goodrich and Past EA Shine spoke for the Chapter.

Unique Xmas Greeting

● Mississippi Theta at Mississippi State College issued a unique Christmas greeting for 1947 in the form of a booklet, thus taking the place of a Christmas card and serving as a Chapter publication. The attractive booklet, approximately 3 x 4 1/2 inches, contained 36 pages and included holiday decorations. Such a booklet is suggested to other Chapters for use next year, applying the cost of Christmas cards toward a Chapter publication. Among the subjects covered in the compact booklet were: Eminent Archon's message, tribute to Gold Stars, introduction of new initiates and pledges, Housemother, Homecoming weekend, presentation of scholarships, information on new house, financial statement, activity men of the Chapter, social activities, officers, etc.

Honored on Radio

● Ex-Marine Cpl. Loyal A. Mehrhoff, Jr., Neb. Α-II '49, a student at the University of Nebraska, was honored when his colorful service story was presented as the "Marine Salute of the Year" on a Marine Corps 3rd Infantry Battalion radio program celebrating the 172nd Marine Corps anniversary, November 10, 1947. The St. Louis, Mo., Battalion honors an ex-Marine each week and Mehrhoff's story was chosen for the special show. Mehrhoff had fought his way thru encounters on Bougainville, Guam and Iwo Jima. He was wounded twice.

N.H. Beta Dance

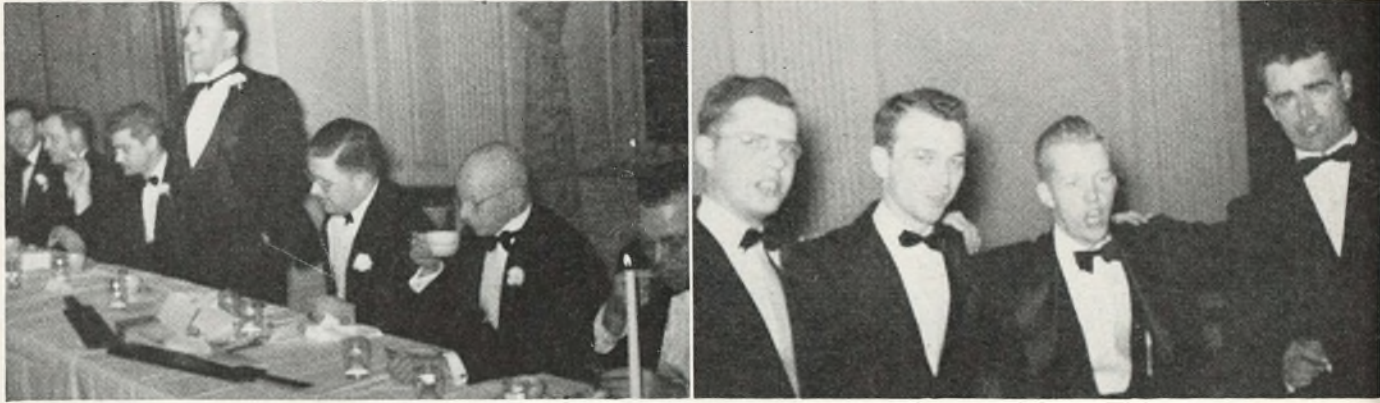

● The annual "Bowery Brawl" dance held at the chapter house by New Hampshire Beta at the University of New Hampshire on December 13, 1947, proved to be the most colorful and gala occasion that ΣAE has seen in a long time, and one that will long be remembered by the "bums" and their dates. ΣAE also took top honors by winning the Fall "Mayoralty Campaign" with "Chick" Long sweeping the election for the mayor of Durham, with his brilliant piano playing and "clean" campaign under the name of "Benjamin Thompson Long, the perennial sophomore." He was sponsored by "Superman," "General Ike," "Harry Truman" and other important dignitaries. The Chapter was represented at the "Glass Bowl" football classic held at Toledo, Ohio, by Mickey Gage. The 1947 rushing campaign was a very successful one, with 27 new pledges accepting bids. Honors go to Frank Farnham for showing a lot of enthusiasm during rushing. Pledge training began after the Christmas vacation, with a well conceived program scheduled. The university hockey team boasts of two ΣAEs who are paving the way for a thrilling season, Lloyd Farwell and Tom Kelly.

Entertain Children

● New York Delta at Syracuse University held a Christmas party for 35 children, December 14, 1947. The children, members of the Syracuse Boys' Club, ranged in age from three to ten years. Donations and gifts were obtained from the local department stores, and money was collected at Chapter meeting to obtain money for least two gifts. Three sound films were shown to the group. Cake, ice cream and cokes were served. The members brought their dates to the affair.

Ohio Stassen Movement

● Richard Einwalter of Ohio Mu at Denison University, Granville, Ohio, has initiated a "Stassen for President" movement on the campus and is co-ordinating an endeavor to spread the movement to action groups in other colleges and universities. The Chapter as a whole is currently occupied in a Chapter-alumni co-operative drive to expedite the building of a new house. Glenn ("Whitey") Culp, quarterback on the T-formation, Ohio Conference winning football team and basketball letterman, has been elected eminent archon. Norman Dellner, former EA, was also a regular starter on the unbeaten, untied team.—Richard W. Jansen, EC.

Wins Essay Medal

● Charles Garvin of Oklahoma Mu at Oklahoma A. and M. College received a gold medal as first prize in the nationwide Saddle and Sirloin Club essay contest for animal husbandry students. Garvin of Duncan, Okla., received the award from Charles E. Snyder of the Chicago Saddle and Sirloin Club. Garvin's essay on the topic, "A Side of Bacon," was judged the best of those written by students from a score of American agricultural colleges.

Oklahoma A. and M. received a trophy as the top school in the contest. The awards were presented at the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago. Garvin's prize included a free trip to the Windy City.

Texas Delta Anniversary

● Texas Delta Chapter at Southern Methodist University will celebrate its 25th anniversary on March 9, 1948. Phi Alpha local was organized on December 6, 1916. The group was granted a charter on March 9, 1923. The late T. Gibson Hobbs, Va. O '09, was ESA, while Lauren Foreman, Ga. E '01, was ESDA and the late William C. Levere, Ill. Ψ-Ω '98, was ESR. The SMU Chapter is planning an anniversary reunion banquet for its charter members. The 40 charter members include Bennett H. Branscomb, chancellor of Vanderbilt University; Charles W. Ferguson, a senior editor of Reader's Digest, and Paul E. Martin, bishop of The Methodist Church. Five members and pledges of Texas Delta have been elected 1947-48 class officers at Southern Methodist University. The 16 class offices include eight men. The class leaders are: Charles Irwin, senior vice-president; Paul Thorp, senior treasurer; Dick McKissack, sophomore president; Carl Wallace, sophomore treasurer, and Kyle Rote, freshman president.

Utah Takes Cup

● Utah Upsilon at Utah State College was presented with a cup awarded for the outstanding fraternity assembly for the school year 1946-47 at the beginning of the new year, 1947-48, and the unexplained delay made the trophy of more value to the Chapter. The winning assembly was a revamped comedy version of a popular operetta. All parts, both male and female, were taken by the members. Flowers were presented to the leads at the final curtain. The Chapter added another trophy to its collection by virtue of the Homecoming house decorations.—Howard D. Rasmussen, EC.

Wash. Alpha Party

● Laughing and screaming with delight, 20 youngsters from the Washington State Children's Home charged thru the open door into the Washington Alpha Chapter house at the University of Washington, Seattle, to have the time of their lives at a Christmas party sponsored by Chapter members. The eyes of the ten boys and ten girls bulged with pleasure when they saw the gaily decorated Christmas tree surrounded by gifts. Of course Santa Claus, in the person of burly Jim Foster (whose physical endowments precluded the necessity for donning a pillow), soon put in his appearance and distributed two gifts to each child. Also on hand were two clowns (Fritz Krives and Cece Hohnbaum) whose antics were hugely appreciated by the youngsters. Finally a turkey dinner was served and a few of the tots stuffed themselves so full that they had to be assisted from the table. As the children reluctantly took their leave, it would have been difficult to determine who had the most fun—they or the Chapter members.—Pete Hayes, EC.

years. The football squad won four games out of five, and the basketball team remained unbeaten in games played before the Christmas recess. Iota-Tau, Beta-Upsilon and Gamma Chapters were hosts at a dance in the autumn to the other Chapters of Province Alpha. The annual Sailor Dance was held at a suburban yachting club.

MINNESOTA, Minnesota Alpha

Activities: Nine men were pledged during fall rushing. Fifteen members and their dates were entertained for the weekend of the Minnesota-Northwestern football game. The Homecoming party after the Minnesota-Purdue game was attended by six members from Purdue. The annual stag party with ΦΕΠ was held after Chapter meeting on November 3, and the pledges staged their walkout. Thirty members and their dates visited the Iowa Chapter on the weekend of the Minnesota-Iowa game. After the Minnesota-Wisconsin game, presidential candidate Harold E. Stassen, Minn. A '29, visited the Chapter house. A barn and gambling party for 26 members from Wisconsin, and their dates, was a success. The annual dinner and party for settlement children was held again this year. Fifteen children were entertained, presented with gifts, and served a turkey dinner. The Chapter has outlined plans for redecorating the Chapter room.

OHIO WESLEYAN, Ohio Delta

Activities: Five men were out for varsity football and three of them, Don Boothe, James "Tubby" Madison, and Tom Wenzlau, were first team regulars. For the Homecoming game with the Roughriders of Case, a corral was erected in the front yard to hold the Case Bucking Bronco, an old nag rented from a local farmer. Quentin Brelsford led the cross country team in a victorious season. The ΣΑΕ intramural teams won championships in touch football and volleyball, and started the basketball and bowling seasons with wins in both sports. The Chapter again was represented on the varsity basketball team by John Meyer, former EA, and Jack Thompson. The pledges entertained at a formal dinner and dance on October 31, and the Chapter held the annual Hard Times party on November 15. A contest for Sweetheart of ΣΑΕ, determined from photographs of dates for the winter formal on December 6, was held preceding this party, and Miss Marilyn McCreary was chosen. At the dance, she was presented with a special corsage and a gold loving cup. A Christmas breakfast was given for members and their dates at 5 A.M., December 19, the last day of classes before vacation.

Conditions: The Chapter completed a successful rush week with a pledge class of 43 new men, four of whom were pledged during the summer session. For the first time rush week was held one week prior to the opening of school, which proved an advantage. As part of the postwar program construction on a permanent Chapter room has been started. Plans include full-length knotty pine paneling, indirect lighting, and hardwood flooring. The room will be 40 feet long and 15 feet wide, and will contain symbolic emblems of the Fraternity. To meet the need for additional recreational space the Chapter is planning a game room, which will likewise be finished in knotty pine, but decorated in a rustic theme with antique lighting fixtures, upholstered wall seats and rust draperies. These projects are made financially possible by means of individual donations and the support of the House Corporation. The October meeting of the Minerva Club of Tennessee Kappa was given over to discussion of the yearbook to be published in the spring and dedicated to the Chapter's 17 Gold Stars of World War II. Mrs. Joseph Kimsey, chairman of the project, announced that pictures of the 17 men will be shown in the book. Members of the Minerva Club will give a silver tea on the last Wednesday in February at the Chapter house, at which Mrs. Benjamin F. McMurry will present a book review.

Did You Leave Town?

● If you moved lately, please let us know in order that you will receive your copies of THE RECORD which you are entitled to as a life subscriber effective with your initiation. You always know where we are, but we have difficulty locating you if you don't give us the word. Sigma Alpha Epsilon has quite a few members listed in the "lost file" and a conscientious drive is underway to get everybody back on the current mailing list. Today two clerks in the National Office spend all of their time just making address changes. Yes, they are very busy, but if you drop us a card or send a letter concerning your change of address, it will be handled in time for the next issue of the magazine. Many times we hear this: "I haven't seen THE RECORD for a long time; can't understand why I don't get it." A few questions from us and we find that person hadn't given us any indication of his change of address! You can help also by letting us know of any other fraternity members moving. And by the way, mail to the National Office should be addressed: Sigma Alpha Epsilon, P.O. Box 1856, Evanston, Ill. Mail for the Chapter house (Illinois Psi-Omega) at Northwestern University should be addressed: Sigma Alpha Epsilon, North Campus, Evanston, Ill.
