SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON

NINETY-NINE YEARS OF PROGRESS

1955 brings Sigma Alpha Epsilon just a few steps from the fraternity's Centennial. It is appropriate that we begin to look back over the years and take pride in the accomplishments of ΣAE . They are most unusual. "Looking back," however, is not the key to our success. "Looking back" is constructive only when it encourages us to work today and plan for tomorrow.

ΣAE has been unique in the fraternity field. It has pioneered the principle of applying modern methods and has been "first" in a long list of projects, and despite the opposition of the "Doubting Thomases," has made them work successfully. In a friendly competitive life, ΣAE has risen to a top position in the fraternity field. Employing these same methods, the fraternity is a name with which to be reckoned. From its birth in 1856, the fraternity has accumulated 136 Chapters with 117 Chapter homes valued at more than eight million dollars, 130 alumni associations and a national headquarters building valued at more than a million. To say the least, ΣAE has a remarkable and successful history!

So much for the past, let's look to the future—a future that holds promise of increasing progress. As the fraternity progresses, as it changes in size, the fraternity also changes in shape with new Province divisions, etc. As the texture of composition changes with progress, so new problems are presented, and consequently, new approaches are required. The fraternity is decentralizing, and will continue to do so as more names are added to the 91,000 list. The fraternity is devising, and will continue to devise, new and better methods of getting the job done. We must all gear ourselves to cope with these changes, we must be ready for them and accept them. For if we are to continue along the avenue of progress and success, we must be at least one step ahead of the other fellow, for the good of all. We must prepare to make sacrifices and we must be prepared, if we are to progress, to tax our ingenuity and foresight to the hilt.

During 1955 and the years to come let's all remember that the accomplishments of the past and the challenges of the future impose upon us responsibilities—responsibility to continue in the acceleration of our accomplishments; responsibility for leadership in the fraternity world and responsibility for ever increasing the quality of our projects. And—we cannot escape the responsibility for conducting ourselves so as to earn the ever-increasing respect of respectable people. Remember, ΣAE will celebrate its 100th anniversary on a nation-wide scale on March 9, 1956. Members all over the country will take part in that celebration through a nation-wide hook-up from the DeVotie Memorial at Alabama Mu in Tuscaloosa, Ala., birthplace of ΣAE .

NEW HAMPSHIRE BETA—This Chapter was installed at the University of New Hampshire in Durham on March 10, 1917, as a Founders Day event. The architect's drawing of the Chapter's present home appeared in The Record in September, 1929. The actual structure appeared in the magazine in September, 1937. One of the Chapter's prominent alumni was Dr. Harry E. Barnard, '99, Director of Research, National Farm Chemurgic Council.

TEXAS GAMMA—This comparatively new Chapter at Texas Western College, El Paso, was chartered on November 9, 1947, when the college was called Texas College of Mines. The Chapter house is one of the newest in the realm of the fraternity, having been completed in April, 1954. The lodge consists of a living room, library and study, powder room and kitchen. The Chapter room and recreation hall are in the basement. No living quarters are allowed by college officials. Photographer for this color transparency was Samuel W. Fant, Jr., Texas Delta '28 (SMU), of Hotel Cortez, El Paso.

MISSOURI GAMMA at Westminster College, Fulton, is a relatively baby Chapter with a beautiful modern house, having been installed in April, 1949. Within a year the Chapter moved from its barracks to a $90,000 house built by the college. Beautiful color photographs of the new house were reproduced in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, with the caption "Simple Lines, Strong Colors."

New Congressman from Georgia

◆ To the list of ΣΑΕ's in the 84th Congress is added the name of John James ("Jack") Flynt, Jr., Ga. Beta '36 (Georgia), of Griffin, who will represent the 4th District from Georgia. Congressman Flynt brings to his new position a rich background of experience in public affairs including service as Assistant United States Attorney in the Northern District of Georgia, member of the Georgia House of Representatives and Solicitor General of the Griffin Judicial Circuit. He is currently president of the Georgia Bar Association. He has a distinguished military record and holds the rank of Lieutenant Colonel in the United States Army Reserve. Jack Flynt has been a loyal ΣΑΕ since he was initiated by Georgia Beta in January, 1933. He served as EDA and represented that Chapter at the 1934 National Convention. While studying law at Emory University and George Washington University he was affiliated with ΣAE Chapters at both institutions. In recent years he has maintained an active interest in the fraternity, especially in rushing outstanding men in his community.

Caffery Sets Diplomatic Pace

◆ At 67 years of age, Jefferson Caffery, La. Tau-Upsilon '06 (Tulane), has been representing the United States in the world's capitals longer than any other ambassador. Impeccably groomed, soft-spoken with the drawl of his native Louisiana, the U.S. ambassador to Egypt looks like a movie version of a diplomat. His diplomacy paid off again in July when British and Egyptian leaders signed an agreement that promises to end 70 years of strife over British occupation of Egyptian soil. Caffery played an important role as middle man in the delicate negotiations which will take British troops from the Suez Canal zone in 20 or so months.

National Theater Manager

◆ Scott Kirkpatrick, W.C. Rho '36 (Geo. Wash.), is manager of the National Theater in Washington, D.C. He became manager after serving as assistant to Edmund Plohn since last October. Mr. Plohn resigned after serving for 18 years. Mr. Kirkpatrick served as manager for the Ballet Theater during one of its cross-country jaunts.

"I Work for Uncle Sam"—Bailey

◆ Holding a unique position with the U.S. Government and serving his country in governmental work for 38 years is the story of Robert Livingston Bailey, Va. Omicron '14 (Virginia), of Washington, D.C. Mr. Bailey has offices in the Old House Office Building on Capitol Hill and is Congressional Representative (liaison officer) for the U.S. Civil Service Commission. If you want to know the names of any members of Sigma Alpha Epsilon in the employ of the government in Washington, just ask Mr. Bailey! He can go down the list of Senators and Congressmen and men higher up, and tell you if they are fraternity brothers or not. Around the offices, he is called "the man who knows everybody." Your editor whom Bailey said that he had actually heard of, had the pleasure of interviewing him in his offices in December and came out with much interesting and valuable information. Mr. Bailey has many sacred possessions, among them, the pocket watch worn by the late President Thomas Jefferson, and with his brother Ernest L. Bailey, Ret., own "Sunnyfields" Estates of 450 acres near Charlottesville, Va. Jefferson's watch is insured for $25,000. He received the watch from his mother at the age of 14, but she took it away from him after he had dropped and broken it several times. After his mother passed away it was found among her effects. The watch, engraved with the fleur de lis, was made by Charles Oudin of Paris, a pupil of Brequet, the last of the great artist-craftsmen watchmakers. Mr. Bailey has refused a fortune for this museum piece because of sentimental values. Mr. Bailey has a passion for autographed books, horse shows, traveling and his priceless watch. "Sunnyfields" Estates, with a modernized colonial brick residence built in 1775 near "Monticello" and "Ash Lawn," was up for sale for $180,000 not long ago, but the Bailey brothers decided to keep it.

To Head White House Conference

◆ Neil H. McElroy, Mass. Gamma '25 (Harvard), president of the Procter & Gamble Company in Cincinnati, Ohio, has been named by President Eisenhower to head a White House Conference on education. The conference is to climax a state-by-state study of U.S. educational problems launched by President Eisenhower. It is supposed to be the most comprehensive study of the American school system ever undertaken and is to seek a permanent cure for the crisis which has confronted American schools since before the war. Choice of Mr. McElroy was motivated by his work on the National Citizens Commission for Public Schools and on the Advertising Council.

A Degree and DeVotie Ave.

◆ Judge Walter B. Jones, Ala. Alpha-Mu '10 (Auburn), of Montgomery, has been awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree by the University of Alabama Board of Trustees. At the time of the approval in October the Board also named an avenue adjoining the Alabama Mu Chapter house in Tuscaloosa, DeVotie Avenue in honor of Noble Leslie DeVotie, principal founder of ΣAE. DeVotie Avenue runs by the side of the DeVotie Memorial Room. Later on the street will be extended for a new fraternity row.

SOUTH DAKOTA GOVERNOR—Joe Foss, S. D. Sigma '40 (South Dakota), who was elected governor of South Dakota with a total of 127,592 votes in 1,839 precincts against his opponent's total of 98,456. Foss whose complete name is Joseph Jacob Foss served as Eminent Deputy Archon of his Chapter in the second semester of his senior year. Also serving as Eminent Recorder was Phil Saunders, S.D. Sigma '42, who was elected as State Attorney General on November 2, 1954. Alpha '31* (Kansas), received a plaque at the Kansas-Oklahoma football game, enshrining him as one of 39 former grid greats chosen charter members of the football pantheon to be built at Rutgers University. Bausch only played two years but earned all Big Six selection both years, 1929, 1930. One of his teammates present was Forrest

Mock's father is Dr. Harry E. Mock, Sr., Ind. Alpha '04 (Franklin), Ill. Theta (Chicago), of Evanston, Ill. Two of his brothers, Harry Mock, Jr., Ind. Alpha '33, and Charles Mock, Mass. Gamma '42 (Harvard), are doctors who share an office with their father in Chicago, and a third brother, John Mock, N.H. Alpha '44, is a doctor in Philadelphia. After winning the contest, Mock stated: "I have written a novel (revised 10 times and still unpublished), about a quarter of another, and scores of short stories. To maintain my family, I have worked at a variety of jobs, as a caretaker, a bookkeeper, special policeman, tutor, postal clerk, assistant manager of a municipal auditorium and a grass salesman." After attending Dartmouth Mock took his master's degree at Northwestern and then went to France to attend the Sorbonne. When the Germans invaded Poland, he joined the Iroquois ambulance corps, an American volunteer group, and was sent to the Finnish front. After the Finnish armistice he returned to France and joined the Polish-American ambulance section, another volunteer group. He remained with it until the fall of France. After several months in German occupied

Among the activities of the Greater Kansas City Alumni Association is the publication of an alumni directory. The 1954-1955 issue distributed last November includes a greater area around Kansas City, Mo., resulting in the addition of 150 new names to the Directory. The association plans to publish a revised directory every year. It will be the first duty of the new vice-president each year. The association has a luncheon every Monday at the University Club. Dues are $3.00 per year and covers the following items: contribution of $75.00 each year to send a freshman member to Leadership School, rotating between Kansas Alpha and Beta and Missouri Alpha and Gamma; medalion and engraving at $25.00 for Honor Man Award at Founders Day; $125.00 scholarship cup awarded to Chapter showing best improvement within a year; mailings each year amount to $300; $230.00 for master typesetting of Directory with a cost of $75 for each succeeding year; $105 for National dues, stationery, guest luncheons, floral decorations, Christmas gifts and miscellaneous items.

Trustee Emeritus Uzzell

He thoroughly enjoys information from the National Office and Chapters, and appreciates hearing from Colorado Zeta alumni. Mr. Uzzell has been lying in bed since a paralyzing stroke on November 17, 1951. His appreciative messages are read to him. His son is W. C. Uzzell, *Pa. Magazine Gets Break

◆ As a result of Carl Hinkle, Tenn. Nu '38 (Vanderbilt), being featured in November, 1954, issue of THE RECORD, the ΣAE magazine received a break in the December 5 issue of The Nashville Tennessean Magazine. The article read in part: "The national magazine of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity recently reminded its readers that Carl Hinkle, Vanderbilt's great All-American football player, is 'Still a Big Man on the Campus' by reprinting a feature story with that title from the June 27 issue of The Tennessean. The ΣAE RECORD dug out of its files a photograph of Hinkle, snappy in West Point grays, which it had printed in 1941. The Hinkle waistline, it should be added, is just as trim today."

Gainesville Christmas Dance

◆ Members of the Gainesville, Ga., Alumni Association, their wives and friends held their annual Christmas dance at the Gainesville Civic Bldg., the evening of December 26, 1954, which was enjoyed by 100 couples. JOE COLLEGE 'GROWS UP'

THE MAN ON THE CAMPUS HAS CHANGED, DR. GLEN T. NYGREEN NOTES

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is a full page reprint with illustrations from The Seattle Wash. Times of September 19, 1954. Dr. Glen T. Nygreen, Wash. Alpha '39 (Washington), is Sigma Alpha Epsilon's Scholarship Commissioner and Assistant Director of Leadership Training. He is Dean of Men at Kent State University. Alumni as well as members of the Chapter Collegiate should enjoy this slant on college life.

By CLARK SQUIRE

Fresh from high school, an army of enthusiastic young men of the Pacific Northwest is in the midst of the annual college-campus invasion in pursuit of higher education.

Some will go to universities and colleges in other parts of the country, but most will remain in this region. Many will enroll in state-supported institutions—the University of Washington, Washington State College, the teachers' colleges and the junior colleges—while others will enter private schools.

In an unsteady, rapidly changing world, what is the attitude of today's freshman? Is he directing his thinking and adjusting his tempo to the pace of the atomic age?

Or is he the same old Joe College of pre-war days?

To the last question an emphatic "no" is given by a man who has gained recognition in his work with students on the University of Washington campus. He is Dr. Glen T. Nygreen, newly appointed dean of men at Kent State University in Kent, Ohio, and former executive officer in the office of the dean of students at Washington.

Dr. Nygreen has been staff counselor to students at Washington since 1941, with the exception of two years in the Navy. He served as assistant dean of men, counselor for men, counselor for students and assistant dean of student affairs.

Nygreen is a past president of the Northwest College Personnel Association and is a former secretary of the College Fraternity Scholarship Officers' Association, which works with university and college administrations for academic improvement. He also served on the regional advisory board of the National Students' Association and is Scholarship Commissioner for Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity.

"These young students in college today are the finest and most responsible college generation I ever have observed," Nygreen says. "As compared with prewar student bodies, one noticeable difference is that present-day students show a remarkable ability to handle what I call the certainty of uncertainty.

"Prewar students spoke and wrote in terms of a possible requirement that they enter military service. Today's students know they face the certainty that at least two years of their lives must be given over to such required service.

"They have made this a part of their thinking since high school and no longer show any mass disconcertment at the prospect. It is an example of the healthy ability of individuals to adjust to the requirements of a society when those requirements have been arrived at democratically."

Joe College shows a growing sense of putting first things first, in Nygreen's opinion. Early attention is given to academic work. There is less tendency to give precedence to student activities.

"In my student days," Nygreen continues, "undergraduates competed for recognition and jumped at a chance to appear as a leader. Today students do not react as promptly to 'calls to leadership.' This is particularly important in an academic institution where scholarship and academic achievement should come first. Contemporary students appear to be better masters of their time."

Students used to be reminded of the privilege of attending the university and of the opportunities afforded them. Now they are impressed with the fact that they have certain responsibilities and obligations. Emphasis is given to, the state's part in providing facilities for continuing an education and to the student's resulting obligation.

Service to State

"We now stress the policy of developing students who have a desire to be of service to the state rather than merely equip themselves to make a lot of money," Nygreen explains.

"Students are suspicious of mass movements generally. The completely nonpolitical National Student's Association, which the United States Department of State has depended upon as its representative in relation to international student movements, has failed to interest modern students, at least in terms of participating in them while on the campus.

"This appears good to some who fear the rather traditional radicalism of college youth, but it is a source of worry to many who see in this reluctance a running away from the responsibilities of citizenship.

"As a result, this generation has been called 'the silent generation.' Personally, I deplore this designation as unfair. It simply is that today's youth know they participate directly when they think about such things as military service and income taxes. There is more concern about and fundamental protection of individual freedom among today's college students than in all my previous experience."

Nygreen points out that students are realistic in their thinking about involvement in international affairs but are determined in their belief that only through intelligent, democratic participation can real progress in international relations be achieved.

"Part of this sense of responsibility for others and at the same time self-determination of their own policies shows up in scholarship awards," he says. "Twice men have refused $500 cash awards.

"A single man declined a renewal of his scholarship, saying: 'It helped me last year when I couldn't have gone to school otherwise, but now I can manage, so give the money to someone who cannot go without it.'

"Likewise, a married man with three children turned down a similar offer. While working a night shift at Boeing's he maintained a 3.7 scholastic average. Asked why he rejected the offer, he said he had received a pay raise and could get along without it. He asked that it be given to someone who really needed it."

Marriage Increase

More than 25 per cent of students are married. In 1941 the percentage was 6.7.

"Married students overwhelmingly recommend marriage for others," Nygreen says, "even if it is necessary for the wife to work so that the husband can complete his education.

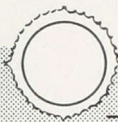

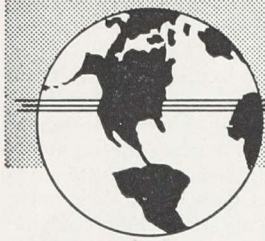

"Church groups, fraternities and co-operatives are more important now than before the war. Closely knit, self-governing groups like fraternities are appealing more than ever to college students. There is something there the kids want. Memberships are larger than before the war.

"This need for the close comradeship of an intimate and democratic group satisfies personal needs which the impersonal atmosphere of a large-city university never can meet.

"Since fraternities have a genius for adapting their programs to meet the needs of their members and can change their programs by decision of the group without control from college, alumni or national officers, they are of tremendous appeal to young men.

"Most of the hazing has disappeared and a more educational attitude permeates the houses."

In other words, Joe College has become less of a cutup and more of a genuine student.

THE FAITH OF THE FOUNDERS . . .

WHAT MANNER OF MEN WERE THEY?

Dear Brothers:

AT THIS season of celebrating the anniversary of the founding of our beloved order and as we approach the nation-wide observance of our one hundredth birthday, it is fitting to inquire into the objectives and ideals of our founders. What were they trying to do on March 9, 1856? What was their faith for the future? What manner of men were they?

To our members who look upon this legacy as their personal property to do with as they please, this type of talk will have small appeal. But to the Brothers who regard their oath of membership, who believe in ΣAE, and who try to live the ritual, an interpretation of the motives and vision of our founders will be gratefully received. Let us then, as we approach our centennial, review 14 fundamental tenets of our Order which taken together present a mosaic of our fraternity ideology:

1. ΣAE WAS BORN AS A MAN MAKING ORGANIZATION

Noble Leslie DeVotie in the preamble to the original constitution declared that we must cultivate, FIRST in OURSELVES and THEN in one ANOTHER, those noble and manly qualities which improve character and attract the most intimate and lasting type of friendship. The word cultivate means to plow. To plow implies action, or in other words doing something about it. The founders believed in conscious self-improvement by conscious self-discipline. They practiced what they preached. Every early member of the fraternity chose a Topos which was a broad subject in the field of humanities. They set so much store by these Topoi that members were given Greek Letters as a sort of nickname to indicate the subjects chosen for these essays.

Thus, it is apparent that from the beginning the founders ruled out the idea that congeniality is all that counts. ΣAE was not founded as a social club. This distinction is fundamental. Unless you go along with the founders on this point Number One, you might as well throw the rest of the points in the ashcan. The acid test of the worth of a fraternity is, "does it help or hurt the man?"

2. THE FOUNDERS BELIEVED THAT ΣAE WOULD BE TRULY IMMORTAL

Our ritual is shot through with intimations of immortality. Some of the most fundamental of our practices in Chapter meeting attest to their belief that their fraternity would last. They realized the shifting sands upon which many fraternities were based, and being conscious of it, they attempted to avoid the things which destroyed friendship. Having survived four wars and three depressions, and entering now upon our second hundredth year, we may take courage in the thought that they built upon solid foundations.

3. THE MEMORIAL FEATURE OF ΣAE HAS BEEN EMPHASIZED FROM THE BEGINNING

Many references to the innate desire of men to be remembered after death is contained in our ritual. The early Chapters prescribed a formal funeral ceremony and ordered that swords and sashes be worn in a special manner whenever a member of the fraternity joined the Chapter Eternal. During the active membership of the writer of these lines, it was still the practice to wear black crepe under the badge as a mark of mourning for a departed Brother. The influence of the Leadership Schools and Province Conventions has in recent years restored to fraternity practice the idea that, "We write in water the faults of our Brothers, and carve their virtues in stone."

4. THE FOUNDERS BELIEVED IN FUN

In the original group there were no "stuffed shirts." The record shows that they appreciated the lighter side of life. Most of the founders were still in their teens. The early minutes show that Noble Leslie DeVotie was fined more than any other member for minor infractions of good order and discipline. Their first banquet after the original meeting was a happy occasion. It was well they had good times together for the horrors of civil strife would be soon upon them.

However, they believed in fun with proper limitations. The sanctity of private property, and the sacredness of the human personality were ingrained in their natures. It is hard to explain campus raids of recent years, the violations of human personality, and vulgar initiations except that they were later additions to some chapters whose members had not experienced the same type of home life as was enjoyed by our founders.

Our Fraternity is retreading the long road back. There will be errors in the future. We cannot be discouraged. We must prepare for our grandsons and their sons the type of social organization envisioned by our founders.

5. ΣAE AND THE CHRISTIAN RELIGION

There has always been an inseparable connection between ΣAE and the Christian Religion. Our founder was a candidate for the ministry, and after three years in the Graduate School of Theology of Princeton, became a clergyman in the Baptist Church. Sections of our ritual have been taken from the Scriptures. A distinguished line of preachers of all ranks and denominations have repeated their first vows to a secret society at the altar of Minerva.

Yet, occasionally in our ranks are to be found self-proclaimed atheists, in spite of the fact that their vows were taken in the name of Deity. Also, we are confronted with the fact that there are members of our Order who claim to believe in God and the Christian mode of living with their fellow men, and yet their actions indicate otherwise. We must remember that one of the twelve apostles was Judas Iscariot. One out of twelve would be a very high proportion for members of ΣAE who wilfully reflect upon the good name of their fraternity.

6. ΣAE WAS BORN IN UNSELFISHNESS

On that fateful evening of March, the ninth in 1856 in Tuscaloosa, Alabama at Johnson School House, the man in the chair was Noble Leslie DeVotie. After their constitution had been adopted and various regulations for the conduct for the new fraternity, the time came for the election of officers. I wish more of our chapters would study this phase of our history and present it to their members on election night. Since DeVotie was the organizer and leading spirit of the original group, by common consent his name was on the hearts of everyone for the first president of the fraternity. Before he could be nominated, he arose and asked for the privilege of the floor and pointed out that perhaps his best usefulness would be as Recording Secretary and suggested that a younger man be named president. In accordance with his wishes, John Webb Kerr holds the distinction of being the first president of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Every bit of progress in our Fraternity has been gained by outstanding examples of unselfishness on the part of someone. In like fashion, the wheels of progress have often been stopped by selfishness. Perhaps the most outstanding example is that of the good Brothers of the Chapter at Sewanee, Tennessee who in the early day had the good judgment to realize that the fraternity had grown beyond their control and appeared at the national convention to hand back their authority and request that a new form of government be devised. It was this action which led to our early adoption of our present form of Supreme Council Government. At the 1937 national convention, three of these Brothers were honored for their sacrificial devotion, Brothers McGlohon, Glass, and Stevens.

It is significant that the first Northern Chapter to be established after that cruel and unnecessary war was located at Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, a place of many bitter memories for the Brothers of that day. At the Atlanta Convention of 1893, one name was on everyone's lips for Eminent Supreme Archon, Harry S. Bunting. A dozen men were clamoring for the privilege of the floor to nominate him, and he could have been named by acclamation. Harry, then in his early twenties, advanced to the rostrum and said, "Brothers, name an older man. Let me continue to serve you as a private in the rear ranks." How well he did that is ΣAE history. He never was named to an office until late in life, when he was made Honorary Supreme Archon.

At another Atlanta Convention, the name of E. B. Webb was nominated for the vacant place on the Supreme Council. He arose and asked that his name be withdrawn and that he be given the honor of naming a man who was destined for the job at this particular time, Judge Alfred K. Nippert, the builder of the Levere Memorial Temple. Many more examples come to mind, but space precludes their repetition here. Read the Phi Alpha on the subject of raising dues and fees. Read the latest convention issue of Phi Alpha on the subject of dividing the Provinces. Read the next issue of Phi Alpha on the subject of the lump sum initiation fee which will reduce the amount of dues and fees for the active member and for the Chapter as a whole, and will greatly reduce the work of the National Office. It may not pass at the convention of 1955, but eventually it will pass. And so it will be always in the history of ΣΑΕ. Selfishness is the canker which eats away fraternal tissue; unselfishness is the vitamin upon which our Fraternity feeds.

7. ΣΑΕ WAS FOUNDED BY UPPER CLASSMEN

At that historic meeting, seven men were present of whom two were Juniors and five were Seniors. The eighth founder was unable to be present and was initiated later. There were other fraternities on the campus at the University of Alabama. How could they have overlooked a man like Noble Leslie DeVotie? Born of an aristocratic southern family, with coal black hair and flashing black eyes, possessing the highest grade average ever made up to his time, he was the most popular man on the campus. He was the Validictorian of his class, and after graduation entered the Graduate School at Princeton University where he graduated with the highest honors. What a tradition has been established for our Fraternity of looking over the campus and picking a few men who know both sides of the fraternity question!

At the installation of Texas Alpha, a Brother sat next to me at the banquet and in the course of conversation, he remarked that he had been a member of our University of Virginia Chapter. He proposed the name of one of the most promising Sophomores on the campus. Each time the Chapter voted "No," and each time the name was presented again. Finally, at the end of the school year, the man was accepted. "Do you know the name of that man," asked my friend. "No, I have never heard the story," I replied, "but I would like to know his name." "He was T. Gibson Hobbs, one of our greatest Supreme Archons."

I was on the point of telling him about several Province Archons, William McKinley, A. K. Nippert pledged in the second semester of his Junior year, and the familiar story of Levere pledged to ΣΑΕ by Harry Bunting and Jimmy Chapman at the time of the organization of Illinois Psi-Omega. Instead, I chose two recent outstanding young Brothers both at that time Eminent Archons of their respective Chapters. Harp Didier at California Zeta and John Turner, California Alpha, both pledged from the upper classes and both making great records as leaders of their active Chapters.

Brothers, the tradition is there, and I could give many more examples. In fact, look about you and find them for yourselves. Let no one tell you that ΣΑΕ does not rush and pledge upper classmen.

8. FROM THE BEGINNING ΣΑΕ HAD A DEFINITE PLAN OF EXTENSION

And it is a good thing that it did. Within eighteen months, all fraternities had been expelled from the campus of the University of Alabama. Only 22 men were ever initiated into the original Mother Chapter. Unless a few Chapters had been instituted in neighboring colleges and universities during this eighteen month period, ΣΑΕ would have died aborning. ΣΑΕ did not believe that they could make themselves great by making themselves exclusive. Our extension policies have been constructive throughout the life of our Fraternity. Some mistakes have been made, but by and large the program has been good and will prove itself in the years to come. In the next few years all fraternities are going to lose a number of chapters. May that number for ΣΑΕ be small!

9. OUR FOUNDERS SET A TRADITION OF SCHOLARSHIP

Alas, in this tradition we have probably been weakest. In our original constitution, the improvement of a man's intellectual qualities was listed as the prime requisite of a fraternity. It seems strange that a selected group of men cannot achieve better than mediocre grade averages. Let us name as one of our chief goals of the second hundred years, the improvement of scholarship. With the example of Noble Leslie DeVotie how can ΣΑΕ do otherwise?

10. ΣΑΕ WAS FOUNDED ON FRIENDSHIP

That friendship in turn was built upon scholarship, personality, and character. These three qualities may be combined in the one word: GENTLEMANLINESS. Gentlemanliness in turn is built upon self-discipline. Our ritual, symbols, and our chapter practices teach both inhibition and sublimation.

You can't like a man for a long time unless he has something to offer which you are bound to respect and admire. You can be attracted to a man by superficial qualities, but in time these agreeable traits which induce congeniality fade into insignificance, and it is the man upon whom you can count that you are going to like for a long time. Let's put it another way. We can see that the founders of Sigma Alpha Epsilon were well ordered individuals. They have left us a tradition of integrated personality.

11. OUR EARLY CHAPTERS SET UP MACHINERY TO REMOVE FROM OUR RANKS MEMBERS WHO BY THEIR ACTIONS AND ATTITUDES REFLECTED UPON THE GOOD NAME OF FRATERNITY

This machinery for getting rid of the member who could not be respected and admired was quite elaborate. It is fully symbolized in our ritual. Our early chapters were diligent in their precautions to notify every member of the fraternity of the names of expelled men and the reasons for the expulsion. This tradition has been somewhat neglected in these latter days. But with the recent issuances of Black Books and the insistence on reporting suspensions and expulsions, we believe that in the next era of our history we will return ever more closely to this good tradition.

12. OUR FOUNDERS AND EARLY CHAPTERS PAID THEIR OWN WAY

An examination of the early records shows with what accuracy and care money matters were handled. At that first Founder's Day Banquet, no doubt each member paid for his part of the expenses. Some of the records of early chapters were models of neatness and frugality. They kept a record of five and ten cent items with more zeal than some chapters itemize their expenditures in dollars. It never would have occurred to them to use initiation money for paying food and drink bills and to liquidate last year's expenses of a former chapter. Chapters which follow this practice are running a racket and not a fraternity.

13. TO OUR FOUNDERS, FRATERNITY WAS AN EMOTIONAL EXPERIENCE

E means away from and Moveo means to move. It is through the emotions that a man moves away from himself. The man glorifies the fraternity, and not the fraternity the man. Some think that the pin guarantees that the wearer of it is possessed of the social graces, practices the art of gentlemanliness, and is worthy and capable of the most lasting and intimate friendship.

Read the early history of our fraternity and ponder upon the duels, fist fights, and other personal encounters engaged in by our early members to uphold the honor of fraternity. Attend a Monday night meeting of our modern chapters and note the Brothers who are fighting to uphold the honor of fraternity. These modern heroes are the heirs of the heroes of the past.

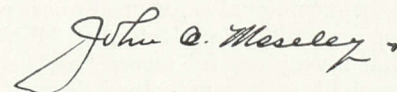

14. TO OUR FOUNDERS ΣΑΕ MEANT LEADERSHIP AMONG FRATERNITIES

By our name, motto, traditions, and chapter practices, this ideal has always been uppermost. I think that if our founders could come back today, they would say, "You have borne well your heritage." Perhaps they would add that there is still room for improvement. However, as they would contemplate our early struggles, the many times when ΣΑΕ was threatened with destruction, and then our present strength and prestige they would say to the present "prophets of gloom," wait please, for another hundred years. There is only one thing which can destroy ΣΑΕ now: self-sufficiency.

Then let our program for the future keep us continually on the alert against complacency. Let us bring to our altars young Americans who believe in God and the destiny of our country. Young men who come to school to get an education. Pledges who by home training have been taught the inviolability of the human personality and the sanctity of private property. Brothers who will respect their oath, live the ritual and regard their fraternity as a vehicle of self-improvement.

With a membership like that, we shall continue to "show the way."

THE 3th ANNUAL ALL

THE FOOTBALL SEASON of 1954 has been significant for the unusually large number of stars that have been developed in their junior and sophomore years. At least, such is the case among the players of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

In most of the universities and colleges throughout the nation, a man does not reach his peak in the sport until the year of his graduation, and, in not a few of the larger schools, he does not have much opportunity to participate until his senior year.

During the many years that the writer has been following the fortunes of Σ AE in the pastime, he has always felt that only in exceptional cases are juniors or sophomores entitled to top recognition in selecting an All-America team. The fact is that a very careful record has been kept on each player through his collegiate football career (where Chapters faithfully report on their players each year), and, it is on the basis of his complete record, that selection is made.

Always a football-minded Chapter, Tennessee Omega at the University of the South (Sewanee), was tied by our University of Virginia Chapter, each having a total of 11 players on the squad. The Chapters at Wofford and Gettysburg followed closely with 10 players each, and Montana State College, William & Mary, Ohio Wesleyan and the University of New Hampshire sported an even eight. Adrian College with seven and the University of South Dakota and Norwich College with six, follow in that order.

The Chapters at Bucknell, Harvard, Miami (Florida), Purdue, Memphis State, St. Lawrence, Fresno State, Southwestern and Millikin each had five men on their squads.

Two years ago, we were fortunate enough to have the

TAKES COACHING JOB AT HOUSTON

Bill Meek, Tenn. Kappa '42 (Tennessee), who brought almost as many victories in the past two years to Kansas State University as the school had seen during the previous 10 seasons, is now head football coach at the University of Houston, Houston, Texas, having signed a contract in January. Prior to being at Kansas State for four years, he was assistant coach at the University of Maryland. His contract at Houston is for five years at about $15,000.

PRESS TIME NOTE: *At press time for this issue it was learned that Kurt Burris, Okla. nationally proclaimed number one backfield man for our team Captain in the person of Jack Scarbath of Maryland.

Lineman of the Year

This year, we are equally as fortunate in having the lineman of the year as our Captain. We refer to Kurt Burris of Oklahoma who not only was a unanimous first team choice to practically every All-American selection of any consequence, but he was also the runner-up to the backfield star who was awarded the Heisman Memorial Trophy as the outstanding college football player of 1954.

It is also interesting to note, that beginning with Quarterback Jack Scarbath in 1952, the University of Maryland was able to come up with claimants for the identical position in 1953 and 1954 in the selections of Bernie Faloney and Charles Boxold, respectively. Not in the history of football has any other institution of learning introduced in succeeding years such an amazing trio of field generals!

With each passing year, it becomes more and more difficult to impartially select from among so great a number of Chapters at the following schools report that they have no players for consideration this year: Allegheny, Arkansas, Cincinnati, Colorado, Dartmouth, De Pauw, Dickinson, Idaho, Illinois, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana State, Marshall, Michigan State, Mississippi, Missouri, Mt. Union, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oklahoma A&M, Pittsburgh, Rensselaer Tech, San Jose State, Southern California, Stanford, Toledo, U.C.L.A., Utah, Willamette, Wisconsin and Worcester Polytech. Chapters at these schools reported that they had no intercollegiate football this year: Case Tech, M.I.T., Union, Washington & Lee and Westminster.

Despite several requests, no reports were received from Chapters at the following schools; Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Richmond, Birmingham-Southern,* Florida Southern,* Florida, Emory,* Mercer, Drake, Denver, Mississippi State, Tennessee, California at Davis, Nevada, Oregon, Puget Sound, Pennsylvania State, Carnegie Tech, North Carolina State, Michigan, Minnesota, Southern Methodist, and Texas Western.

brothers the limited few who are awarded positions on the All-America teams. And, too often, the lack of adequate information does not permit a fair appraisal of the men under consideration. And, because of this, there are often instances where a player in the "Honorable Mention" group might well belong on the first, second or third team.

As is normally the case, ΣAE has been unusually strong at End, and the number of juniors and sophomores (even freshmen) coming up, who are excelling at that position, assure great strength at End for years to come.

At one end, we have placed Captain Jimmy Long of the Auburn Tigers. Claiming a starting berth as a freshman on the defensive team during the two platoon era, Long repeated as a starter during his remaining years. Ranking high scholastically as an engineering student, he gained in stature as a leader of his team, and was invited to play in the Blue-Gray contest this year, an engagement he could not accept because Auburn had accepted a bowl bid.

At the other flank, Bill Sennett of the Georgia Tech Yellow Jackets got the call. Like Long, Sennett stood high scholastically and was rated one of the best pass receivers in the South. Consistently a high ranking football school, Sennett played with Georgia Tech in the Cotton Bowl, and was invited to the Senior Bowl.

Francis Machinsky is one of two juniors who was granted a position on the first team. With Ohio State conceded the number one team in the country, and with Machinsky—next to Burris—receiving more all-star recognition than any other ΣAE lineman in the country, we just couldn't deny him top rating among an exceptionally fine group of tackles.

The Duke University Blue Devils, who ranked with the top teams of the country and finished in the post-season Orange Bowl game—to the discomfort of Nebraska—furnishes the other tackle stalwart in the person of Fred Campbell.

As sometimes happens, there was a lack of depth among the senior guards of the major football schools. However, this position seems to be well taken care of for at least the next two years, for there are a number of strong juniors and sophomores who will be bidding for top consideration for this position.

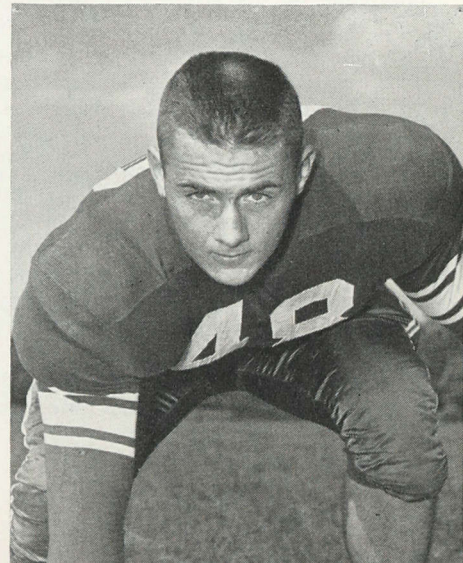

Under the circumstances, we took the liberty of filling one of the guard spots with a deserving tackle, Buddy Lewis of the Arizona Wildcats. All-America Honorable Mention and All-Border Conference his sophomore, junior and senior years, he also was an All-Time Arizona Selection and further received the unusual distinction of twice being elected captain of the football team, his junior and senior years.

Captain-Elect Bill Meigs, although only a junior, was another player who could not be denied a first team rating. An AP All-America 2nd team choice, he was also named to several All-East and other sectional honors. And it was with the help of Bill Meigs and four other brothers that brought the Big Three Championship to Harvard this year.

When a man is selected to practically every All-America and is named the outstanding lineman of the country, we simply call him Captain of the ΣAE All-America, and let it go at that! Kurt Burris, center of the Oklahoma Sooners will long be remembered as a credit both to his school and his fraternity.

As intimated in the early part of this article, Charles Box-old, flashy quarterback of Maryland, labored under a terrific handicap when he was forced to understudy men like Jack Scarbath and Bernie Faloney (both Sons of Minerva), his sophomore and juniors years. He did come into his own at the end of his junior and senior years, piloting his team, despite injuries, to a most successful season. This was climaxed by the coast to coast TV game of the day, when the Terps bowled over the Missouri Tigers 74 to 14.

Coming into prominence as a junior, when he made the second Skyline All-Star team, Captain Dick Heath of the Montana Grizzlies turned in the top passing and total offense record on the team. His all around ball handling ability and aggressiveness would undoubtedly prove an asset to any All-Star combination. He appeared as a member of the third team on the 12th Annual ΣAE All-America.

Halfback Bob Wallace on Miami University's once beaten team was a definite factor in bringing to this Ohio school its Mid-American Conference Championship. He was the team's leading ground gainer and an excellent pass defender. A ferocious tackler, in their win over Indiana University, he hit the Hoosiers' star halfback so hard that he fumbled on three different occasions.

With Buddy Lewis, fullback Walt Hynoski of the Pennsylvania Quakers was promoted from last year's ΣAE All-America Second Team. Although playing its most disastrous season in many years, Hynoski was elected to The Chicago Tribune's 1954 All-Players' First All-East Team, and you just can't fool experienced players, especially when they include such teams as Army, Navy, Duke and Notre Dame.

There have been no first team repeaters from last year. Tackle Bob Ferris, Army '56 might well have qualified, but was out of the game all season with an eye injury.

Having received no complaints on last year's ΣAE Little All-America selections, we are going to stick our neck out once more in an attempt to master-mind an almost impossible undertaking. It's difficult enough trying to establish the relative merits of the minor schools throughout the country, let alone trying to classify the comparative abilities

ARKANSAS ALPHA-UPSILON HOUSE DEDICATION

R. Jack Sasser

The new home of Arkansas Alpha-Upsilon at the University of Arkansas, Fayetteville, the day after completion. The huge home cost $267,000 and houses 76 men in two and three-man rooms.

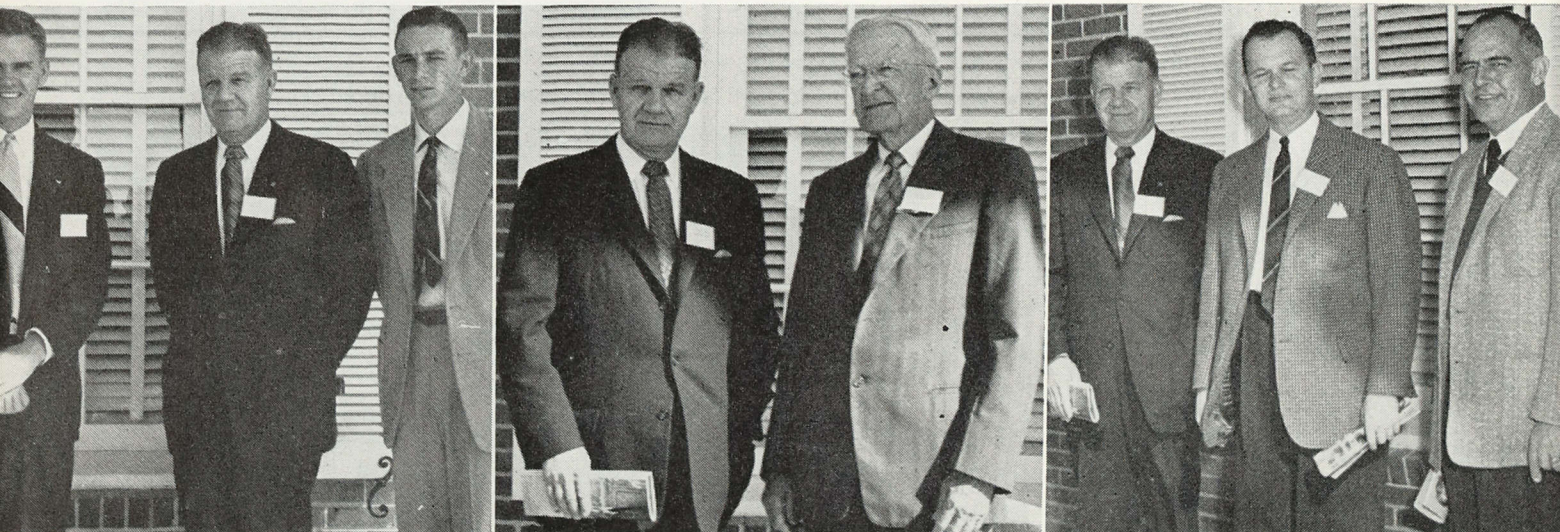

R. Jack Sasser

"Dedicated to the furtherment of the ideals and traditions of Sigma Alpha Epsilon in the hope of perpetuating the Fraternity through friendship and brotherhood." That was the theme of the dedication of Arkansas Alpha Upsilon Chapter's new house at the University of Arkansas on November 15, 1954, the same day of the colorful annual homecoming football game.

A large and successful homecoming parade started the activities of the day with the dedication program following. The dedication ceremony was held on the front porch of the $267,000 house located on a hill overlooking a beautiful Ozark valley. The house both inside and out was decorated, making it a gala and a very colorful event that Alpha-Upsilon will long cherish and remember. Harry Shipley, '43, Recorder of Province Sigma, made the welcoming speech and introduced the Master of Ceremonies, J. N. Heiskell, Tenn. Kappa '93 (Tennessee), publisher of the Arkansas Gazette. Mr. Heiskell, after brief introductions, commented on the impressive red brick, colonial house that had been the dream of Alpha-Upsilon for many years.

Mr. Heiskell introduced Dr. Chester D. Lee, Eminent Supreme Archon, who made the main address. Dr. Lee made many comments on the house itself and itemized the things which make a house a real fraternity home. He stated that a true fraternity is not made by just an array of impressive houses, but through the brotherhood which exists within each house. He stated that it would take a great deal of brotherhood and co-operation to fill a house like this and to make it a real part of a great fraternity like Sigma Alpha Epsilon. He added that he believed that Alpha-Upsilon had made the grade, because here at Alpha-Upsilon lies true fraternity brotherhood. Following Dr. Lee's speech, the dedication address was given by Mr. Heiskell, and the traditional ribbon cutting ceremony was held.

Attending officers of the fraternity included ESA Lee, James C. Roe, Deputy Archon of Province Sigma, Recorder Shipley and Clyde H. Brown, Arkansas Alumni Secretary. The men to whom most of the gratitude belongs are those who make up Alpha-Upsilon's house corporation—Hayden McIlroy, president, Webb Williams, Mr. Shipley; and Al Eason Jr., Secretary-Treasurer.

The Chapter house remained open during the rest of the day in order to allow visitors the chance to leisurely inspect it. An estimated crowd of 1,000 people toured the house during the day. Many of the alumni, when passing through, would comment that they wished they could have stayed in something like this when they were attending college. The alumni, along with the Chapter, felt that they had created a milestone, not only in Alpha-Upsilon's history but in the history of ΣΑΕ. The house is the most spacious fraternity house on the campus and will hold 70 men, therefore allowing both actives and pledges to reside under one roof. The house itself contains beautiful suites for the housemother and Eminent Archon, a large den, a living room, utilitarian kitchen, and a dining room with a seating capacity of 100 people. It has two large rooms in the basement, Chapter room and a room for social events.

Pledges Paint Church

Pledges of Kentucky Kappa at Centre College, Danville, Ky., put their pledge period to good use last December when they painted the interior of a church. The 13 pledges spent most of the pledge period renovating the buildings and grounds of the McDonald Mission Presbyterian Church in the Knobs section of Boyle County. They cleaned and painted the walls of the sanctuary and the new Sunday School room which Centre students constructed several years ago and have cleared weeds and bushes from the churchyard and cemetery. The church project was part of the Chapter's plan to assist in off-campus programs. The Chapter received publicity in the Louisville Times.

Three Men in a Tub Win

Colorado Zeta at the University of Denver took first place in the homecoming float parade with the Chapter's interpretation of "Three Men in a Tub" in the nursery rhyme character battle among fraternities and sororities. The Chapter also took third place in the house decorations contest.

Give Aid During Tornado

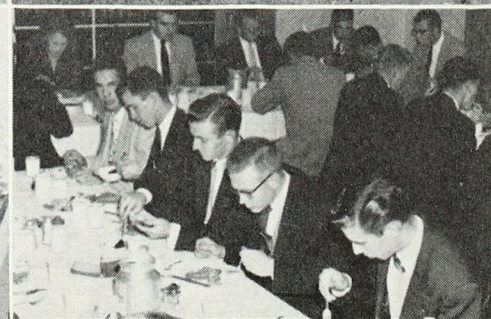

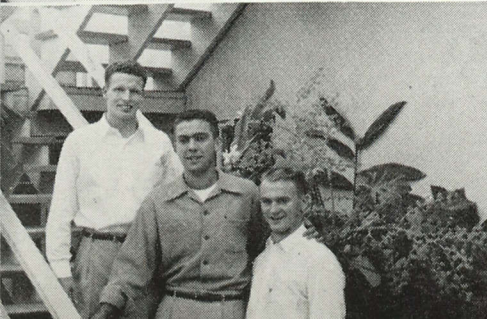

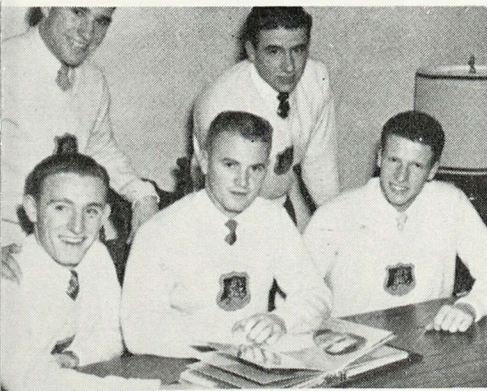

When a tornado hit Franklin, Ind. last summer several members of Indiana Alpha at Franklin College gave a helping hand. When the power went off during the storm, the elevators stopped at the hospital. Joe Kelly, a patient at the time, called to the Chapter house and within 10 minutes seven members had arrived at the hospital. They carried dinner trays to patients and helped otherwise for more than an hour. The volunteers included Tom Bacot, Louis Osterman, Jim Woods, Jim Temple, Doug Jackson, Bob Kelly and Thomas Thomas Thomas (his real name!). Reported by Maurice Johnson, Ind. Alpha '14, of Greenwood.

New Home for Pa. Phi

Pennsylvania Phi at Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh, will have a new home in February, 1956, as that Chapter will be one of three fraternities to share in a unique housing plan. A new dormitory will have three fraternities under one roof, ΣΑΕ, Beta Theta Pi and Delta Upsilon. This is a new departure in fraternity housing as there will be no loss of the individual features distinguishing one fraternity Chapter from another. The building is expected to set a pattern for future fraternity housing at Carnegie. The approved plan calls for a unit of four distinct houses joined under one roof. A driveway circling the building will provide parking space for 50 cars. There is a solid wall between each two houses insuring corporate entity. Only the basic structure of the houses are alike. The front and rear court areas can be landscaped, used as an outdoor living room, a dance hall, exhibition space for displays or

Wis. Phi "Honor Alumnus"

Wisconsin Alpha at Beloit College recently issued a unique coin for alumni, called "Honor Alumnus." This memento of the Chapter has the typical symbolic lion on one side and "1915, Wis. Phi, ΣAE, 1856, Honor Alumnus," plus the initials of the alumnus on the other side. In a form letter to alumni about the coin, Perry MaGill, Wis. Phi '25, of Chicago, stated: "Here it is . . . your 'HONOR ALUMNUS' coin . . . as promised earlier this year. A memento of our Chapter, with the Lion in a typical Wis. Phi pose, not just satisfied to guard what we have, but rearing up and always fighting for advancement in the fraternity, and for all the better things in life."

Record Album Booms

The new record album of ΣAE songs is a smash hit!

Barely more than a month old, this album of songs has proved so popular that a second pressing has been necessary to take care of the orders which have poured in following announcement in the November issue of THE RECORD.

Produced with the desire to please both the old-time alumnus as well as the newest of the active members, the musical aim has been accomplished if the varied complimentary comments are a true criterion.

Leaders will find a coupon for convenient ordering in this issue, which also lists as the ones to be recorded the songs selected by the General Fraternity for the album.

As a note of caution, and to insure prompt delivery, be sure to indicate desired RPM speed. The albums are available in 45 RPM, 78 RPM and 33 $\frac{1}{3}$ RPM in order that all ΣAEs may be able to enjoy this Fraternity music.

The price of $3.95 includes all taxes, handling charges, as well as postage.

Conn. Beta Sweeps Sports

Connecticut Beta at the University of Connecticut, Storrs, was the 1953-54 all-sports intramural champion by amassing 455 points. The Chapter piled up the first place points with a first in touch football, second places in softball, volley ball and basketball and a third place in track. Robert Boesch was re-elected business manager of the Connecticut Campus. Hans Andersen has appeared in more major roles than any other student in the history of the speech and drama department. Malcolm Scott Graham was president of 1954 senior class. James Shaw served as vice president of the Student Senate. George Findell was chairman of the Winter Carnival. Phil Gaudet broke the Meriden municipal golf links record by scoring six under par 62, one stroke better than the age-old 63 stroke.

Ga. Epsilon Leads Senate

Georgia Epsilon at Emory University lead the Student Senate during 1954 by four members being elected out of the 10 set aside for the university. Also one of the members was elected president of the Publications Council. By the end of last summer the Chapter had raised $10,000 toward the $65,000 extension to the Chapter house. The House Corporation had placed the Chapter in charge of raising one fourth of the total amount. Construction will start this summer. Reported by Joe Freeman, past EA.

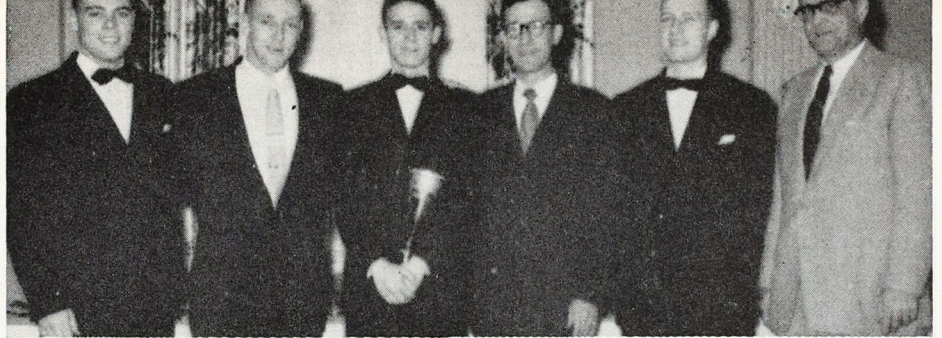

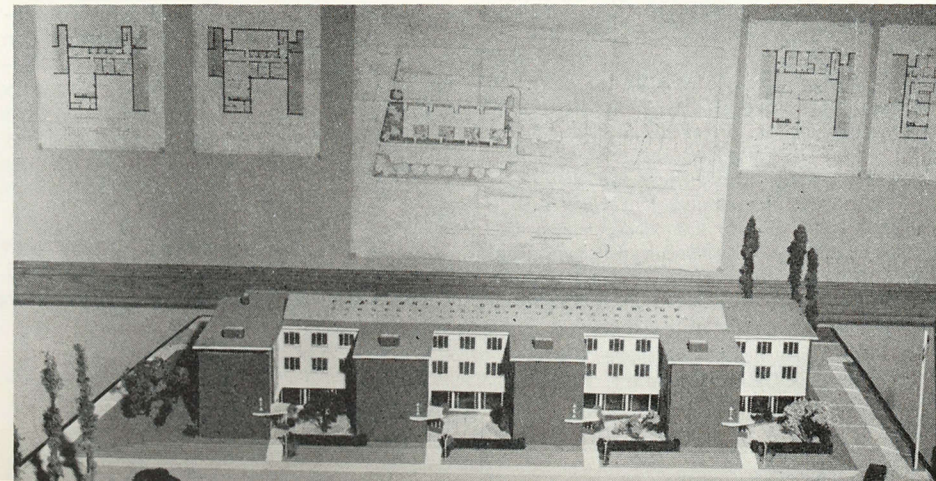

Auburn Campaign for House

Alabama Alpha-Mu at Alabama Polytechnic Institute at Auburn is starting a campaign this month (February) to raise funds for a new Chapter house. The Chapter owns a four-acre lot adjoining the campus and it is thought that the lot will lend itself to a fine ranch-type fraternity house. Norman Pease of the well-known ΣAE Pease family of Columbus, Ga., is serving as Eminent Archon. Judge Walter B. Jones, Ala. Alpha-Mu '10, past ESA, pinned the badge on 19 pledges of the Chapter in January. Six of the men were from his home town, Montgomery. Since February, 1949 Past ESA Jones has placed the badge on 240 initiates and during his fraternity life has officiated at the initiation of more than 400 pledges. He recently was featured in many newspapers by a reprint of a speech he gave before the Alabama Associated Press Association meeting in Mobile.

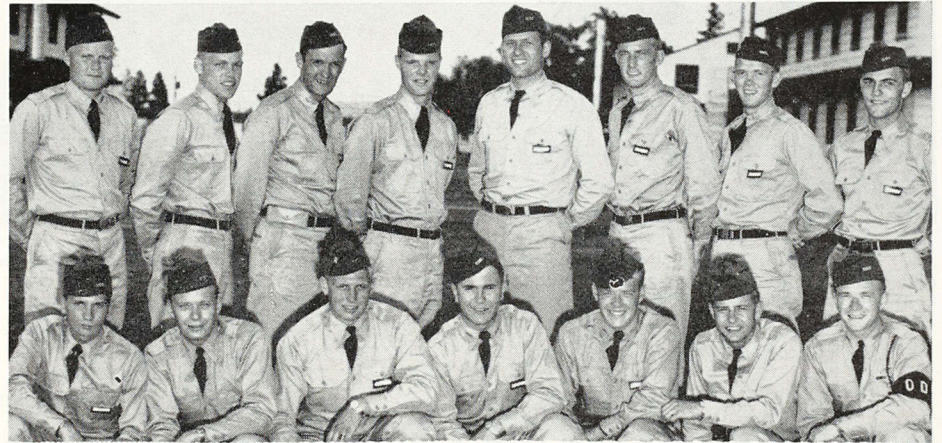

Jones is presiding judge of the 15th Judicial Circuit of Alabama and president of the Alabama Bar Association. He was special circuit judge for the Phenix City vice trials. His article "The Bench Is No Place for Press Censorship" appeared in the January issue of The Bulletin of the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

Joint dinner of the College Fraternity Secretaries Association and the College Fraternity Editors Association during the National Interfraternity Conference at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel in Philadelphia, Pa., December 3, 1954. Representing Sigma Alpha Epsilon were Albert J. Scoth, Chapter Supervisor (at first table on right) and Don Gable, Editor of THE RECORD (at far table).

22 MEMBERS ATTEND NIC IN PHILADELPHIA

Among the 22 members of Sigma Alpha Epsilon attending the National Interfraternity Conference, in its 46th session, in Philadelphia, Pa., December 2-3-4, 1954, were past and present national officers, Province and alumni association officers, deans and undergraduate members.

ΣΑΕ's activities started prior to the sessions with a breakfast for 17 members in the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, Friday morning, December 3. Those at the breakfast were Charles M. Carpenter, president of ΣΑΕ's Board of Trustees, a member of the NIC Executive Committee and House of Delegates representative; Dr. Fred H. Turner, past ESA, dean of students at the University of Illinois; Dr. Glen T. Nygreen, Scholarship Commissioner, dean of men at Kent State University; Albert J. Scoth, Chapter Supervisor, and Don Gable, editor of THE RECORD, both NIC delegates in the absence of John O. Moseley, ESR, and Dr. Chester D. Lee, ESA.

Fairbairn Gilkeson, Archon of Province Nu; four officers of the Philadelphia Alumni Association, Bill Cadzow, Jr., president, Dick Leversee, vice president, C. William Richardson, secretary, and Bill Mat-chett, Jr., treasurer; Mike Trueblood, Iowa Beta '51 (Iowa), of Philadelphia; William T. Warner, EA of Pennsylvania Theta, and other active members, Bob Neal of Connecticut Beta, Jere Felker of Tennessee Nu, Bob Eisenhuth and John A. Carpenter of Pennsylvania Alpha-Zeta, and a late arrival, Bill Schafer of Indiana Beta.

Others attending the NIC were Foster Alter, dean of men at the University of Miami, and Chapter members, John Lovvorn of Georgia Epsilon, Winship Moody of Maine Alpha, and Gerald Farmer of Wyoming Alpha.

One of the first members to take part in the House of Delegates opening session Friday morning was Board of Trustees President Carpenter who gave report on the Litigation Resolution of the NIC Executive Committee, concerning the fraternity situation in the State of New York. Decision on the resolution was tabled for further study.

Deans Take Part

Deans Nygreen and Alter attended a dinner-meeting of the Deans and Executive Committee and Past Chairmen Friday night, while Editor Gable and Chapter Supervisor Scoth as guest attended a dinner of the College Fraternity Editors and the College Fraternity Secretaries Association at which time a motion by Cecil F. Williams, Phi Kappa Psi, was passed to send a message to ESR Moseley for best wishes for a speedy recovery from his illness. One of the major issues at the meeting was a resolution of CSEA in regard to a stand against drinking in Chapter houses. Out of the discussion came the suggestion from Judge Luther Z. Rosser of Chi Phi, that the matter and others be discussed among the secretaries and deans at a future NIC meeting.

Dean Turner of Illinois served on a panel on "The Fraternity and the College: Study in Co-operation and Mutual Understanding," on Saturday morning, December 4. At the closing session Saturday afternoon, a resolution was passed to send greetings to ESR Moseley from the entire Conference. The main speaker that afternoon was Dean James C. McLeod of Northwestern University, who spoke on the subject: "When in Athens." Arrangements for his appearance at the NIC had been made by ESR Moseley in Evanston. Dean McLeod, well known as a speaker, said: "Fraternities express an idealism that is often forgotten, and we must watch the evidence of the carry-over of those high moments in the ritual of the fraternity. Some people make the world, while others just come along and sit in it."

At the final banquet, attracting more than 500 persons, in the Ballroom of the Bellevue-Stratford, Board of Trustees President Carpenter was at the speakers table as a member of the Executive Committee. Main speaker was Dr. Kenneth McFarland, educational consultant to General Motors, who also stressed the idealism in fraternity, as was the general theme of the entire Conference, including the panel discussion on "Manners and Morals." Dr. McFarland referred to the American people constantly holding onto ideals, but thru so many wars and strife, they are becoming a little weary of the ways of the world; however, those basic ideals will always be there, as they must in fraternity.

A final meeting of the House of Delegates was held on Sunday morning, December 5. The next NIC meeting will take place in St. Louis, Mo.
