THE UNTOUCHABLES . . .

THE AUTHOR WAS THE LATE ELIOT NESS, ILL. THETA '25 (CHICAGO)

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is a reprint from the April, 1961 issue of the University of Chicago Magazine. Much of the material was gleaned from back issues of THE RECORD.

MOST FAMOUS ALUMNUS—He is the late Eliot Ness, '25, who with his band of ten Untouchables—agents of the Prohibition Bureau of the U.S. Department of Justice “untouched by bribery or bullets,” broke the Al Capone crime syndicate in Chicago. Mr. Ness attended the U. of C. from 1922-25, majoring in commerce and business administration. Even in college he couldn't deny the lure of detective and law enforcement work which had interested him since his teens. Stealing a few hours from his studies, he took a jujitsu course and became an expert shot at the Chicago police pistol range.

After graduation he was an investigator for the Retail Credit Co. for two years, and in 1927 this experience gained him a position as an agent in the Prohibition Bureau. In the Bureau, Mr. Ness saw Capone's bribery at work, and it was then that he came to believe that only a small hand-picked group of top agents working with a free hand could ever combat Capone and his grip on the law. To Mr. Ness's surprise, the U.S. District Attorney not only listened to his idea, but liked it, and gave him leadership of the squad with power to pick his own agents. Thus began the two and a half years of work in Chicago now immortalized on weekly TV during which Mr. Ness and his men closed down Capone's breweries, cut off the syndicate's income, and finally found the evidence to convict Capone himself of income tax evasion.

Mr. Ness's law enforcement work did not end, however, with the disbanding of the Untouchables in 1932, for he was appointed chief investigator of prohibition forces in Chicago. In 1933 he was transferred to the U.S. Treasury Department's Alcoholic Tax Unit, first in Cincinnati and then in Cleveland, and as a special investigator closed down hundreds of illegal liquor businesses. Because of his outstanding reputation Mr. Ness was subsequently appointed director of public safety in Cleveland in 1935, heading the police, fire and building inspection departments. At the age of 32, he was one of the youngest men ever to head the protective forces in a major American city, and reputedly one of the most energetic. His investigations led to major changes in the departments, particularly among the police where he forced many resignations and sent several high officers to prison.

During World War II, Mr. Ness served as director of social protection for the Federal Security Agency and it was not until after the war that he finally entered the business world. In 1944 he became chairman of the board of Diebold, Inc. (safe and vault manufacturing) which later merged with York Safe and Lock Co. Mr. Ness headed the combined firm, York Industries, Inc. (which manufactured plastics machinery, microfilming equipment, vaults and safes), with offices in New York City. He was also vice president and treasurer of the Middle East Co. Mr. Ness died on May 16, 1957, shortly after approving the final galley proofs of his book, The Untouchables, from which the current television series is adapted.

THE COVER . . .

MICHIGAN ALPHA—This 74-year-old Chapter at Adrian College was chartered on January 22, 1887, as one of the first in the fraternity's Northern expansion. One of its charter members was the late Dr. Stanley M. Rinehart, '88, husband of Mary Roberts Rinehart, famous writer and devoted friend of Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Among its prominent alumni are Charles M. Carpenter, '17, trustee emeritus of the fraternity's Board of Trustees, and Edward C. Pellowe, '44, director of development at Adrian College. The Chapter's present home was made possible through a gift of $20,000 from a friend of the college in 1956 and an accumulation of donations from alumni. The house originally valued at $39,000 was completely remodeled and is considered a thing of beauty in its interior.

Finds Fraternity Is Vital Personally In Short Times

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following letter was written by John R. Biros, Ohio Alpha '62 (Youngstown), and was suggested for publication by Edward J. Hulme, Ohio Theta '47 (Ohio State), Ohio Alpha adviser. After two years, Mr. Biros entered a seminary.

Dear Brothers,

I have been with the fraternity now for about a year and a half. During that time it has become a vital part of my life, a vital part of me personally. It has molded my personality. It has shaped my ideals. It has even altered my physical appearance from haircuts to suits. I would like to thank each and every single one of you for all that you have given me during the past 18 months. You have been brothers to me in the true and complete sense of the word. Where I was lacking socially, you corrected me. When I became lackadaisical toward my scholastic work, you prodded me. When I allowed exuberance or emotions to rule over my reason, you brought me back to earth. But even more important than this, you have opened the door to your house and to your hearts. Here you have offered me a place to find refuge, companionship, and a feeling of belonging I so desperately needed. For this I am eternally grateful to all of you. The memories, the friendships, the joys of my fraternity days I will never forget. My pin is constantly kept close at hand. It means more to me now than ever before for a part of each and every single one of you is in that little pin. All of my beautiful memories of Sigma Alpha Epsilon are encased within it. It is ever my present link with each of you.

If there is one lesson above all others that I have learned from my days in Ohio Alpha, it is to put proper values in their proper places. You have taught me that winning trophies or placing in events is not important in itself, but only in that it temporarily kindles the flame of brotherhood a little higher. How fortunate I was to have joined the one fraternity that did not need such things to bolster the feeling of brotherhood. Sure there were disagreements, financial troubles and disappointments at times. But somehow the Chapter always managed to rise above such minor details. For there was always present that one important ingredient, the true spirit of fraternal brotherhood. I hope you will never lose that spirit and never lose sight of the true objectives of fraternity life among the maze of details and disappointments you meet.

I will never be able to repay the Chapter for all it has done for me. Not only have you given me many wonderful memories but you have given me the self-confidence to meet life as it really is. Had it not been for the good-natured kidding you gave me, had it not been for the faith you had in me, had it not been for the feeling of belonging, the warmth of your hearts, the friendliness in your smiles, I would never have had the courage or conviction to make this decision and follow through on it.

I have tried to think of some way to express what I have chosen the course in life that I have. As I sit looking out of my window I can see a phrase carved in the building that I have read so many times. It is just a simple phrase but for the first time I realize that it sums up what I have been trying to say. It goes thusly, "Chemistry is Important, But God is More Important." This life is important, no doubt about it, but the life hereafter is much more important. We are young now but within a short time we will have a plot of ground in the cemetery named after us. Our life is too short to waste on unimportant things.

May God bless each and every single one of you and may He grant Ohio Alpha many happy, prosperous and blessed years. I ask only one small favor from all of you. I ask that you please remember me in your prayers once in a while. I need them so desperately.

Fraternally yours,

JOHN R. BIROS

Fehlhauer, '59, USA. At the meeting the group laid plans for another gathering of Wisconsin Alpha's "German Chapter" in Stuttgart next year.

Nominated for Atlanta Mayor

Ivan Allen, Jr., Ga. Phi '33 (Ga. Tech), won the Democratic nomination for Mayor of Atlanta, Ga., tantamount to election, in the run-off primary on September 22, 1961, polling 64,313 votes against 36,091 for his opponent, Lester Maddox. Allen had polled 38,820 votes and Maddox 20,914 in the primary on September 13, in which there were five candidates. As neither Allen nor Maddox received a majority of the votes cast, it was necessary to hold the run-off which followed a gruelling fight. It is assumed that there will be no opposition to Allen in the election on December 6. Mr. Allen had resigned as president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce in order to make his run as a "liberal" keyfoot Island Club with the ΣAE wives also in attendance at the June meeting. A golf outing was held in August at the new Silver Lake Country Club in Cuyahoga Falls. The annual golf tournament, with a history stretching back to 1933, was held on September 20 on the tough Firestone Country Club course with Dr. G. L. Gardner, Ohio Tau (Miami U), Neb. Lambda-Pi '49 (Nebraska), winning the trophy for the second straight year. Twenty members and guests from the Cleveland Alumni Association were present for golf and dinner. Starting in October, the monthly meetings are being held at the Akron University Club. FACING FRATERNITY PROBLEMS . . .

AND DOING SOMETHING ABOUT THEM

EDITOR'S NOTE: Herewith is the message of Dr. Glen T. Nygreen, Wash. Alpha '39 (U. of Wash.), Dean of Students at Kent State University, Ohio, and Director of Leadership Training, given at the 105th Anniversary National Convention at Yellowstone Park in June and at the time he was serving as Eminent Supreme Warden.

ON BEHALF OF the Eminent Supreme Archon and the members of the Supreme Council, I want to share with you some of our thinking over the past two years and more concerning some of the problems which Sigma Alpha Epsilon faces on college campuses today, and perhaps say a word or two about what we are doing and intend to continue to do about them.

In his very moving Opening Invocation of this convention, Brother Ivan Lee Holt asked Divine guidance to "keep us at tasks too hard for us." It is about one of these tasks that I rise to speak.

In his remarks of welcome, Brother Dennis Gordon, Executive Assistant to the Governor of the State of Montana, paused for a moment to warn us about what he considered the threats to our democracy coming from forces outside the mainstream of our American culture and concentrating, in his words, "on the American campus and on college fraternities as a focus."

Now it seems to me these two introductory remarks of yesterday set the focus for much of what has been on the minds of the Supreme Council. Once there was a day when the college fraternity obviously had a responsibility which the college appreciated, the responsibility for providing housing and feeding services to students. Colleges were less able to do this for themselves than they are now. In the post World War II period colleges all over the country have gone into the housing and feeding business in a way never before dreamed of, and the obvious reason for the existence of fraternities has all but disappeared.

Today we are essential. I want to leave no doubt on that point. Every educator here will claim that fraternities are as essential to the campus now as ever before. My point, simply put, is that the situation has changed. Where once the purposes we serve were readily discernible, today the obviously discernible things are the surface manifestations which bring criticism to us, not only our poor scholarship but the very evident anti-scholastic attitude in many Chapters.

You heard what Hal Pope said. He is a hard-headed business man, one of the most thoughtful ones I know. When he said they put into the application for Chapter house loans an item about Chapter scholarship you can be sure it wasn't done idly or as a whim.

Or we are known as a partying group. Sometimes it becomes a fetish for Chapters to emphasize the fact we are a social fraternity, bearing down heavily on the word "social." We have more parties than anyone else. They are bigger parties. They are wetter, or whatever the campus standard of the moment may be.

"Exclusive" Organization?

We claim we are a selective institution, choosing our members from among the best men on the campus, but other people look upon us as an exclusive organization. Once in a while they put the "exclusive" tag on us on the basis of race or religion, but more often it is because we invite to membership men who do not need the socializing we have to offer. We tend to look for pledges among the best dressed, the "smoothest," the ones most in demand by the opposite sex. It is obvious to others that our Chapter members are full of life and energy, but if you are a casual reader of the newspaper you are all too often aware of the fact that this life and energy is evidenced as thoughtless foolishness.

Now, your Supreme Council between conventions must deal with the problems which your Chapter brothers sometimes provide us. We must deal with present problems and future prospects. It is our responsibility to advance the cause of fraternity generally, and $\Sigma A E$ in particular, and to base our advancement upon the teachings of the Ritual which has been handed down to us through the long series of Conventions which preceded this one. We do this in the belief that the fraternity is an educational enterprise, doing a job the college cannot do as well alone as it can with us.

But it becomes a discouraging prospect at times when we face a succession of serious problems. Your Eminent Supreme Recorder and your Eminent Supreme Archon have not only their business days interrupted but their private rest as well with frantic telephone calls from deans and advisers and Chapter EAs because they face a very disastrous social probation, because the house is to be closed (and what happens to Brother Hal Pope's mortgage when the house is closed and the Chapter is dispersed); or when the Chapter, having agreed to follow closely the rules adopted by the Interfraternity Council, goes out and violates them; or because, feeling their independence, they exercise it in an offensive way, offensive to faculty, offensive to citizens of the community. These are the problems which the fraternity faces as an institution.

Obviously, ΣAE is strong, wealthy, acknowledged as a leader everywhere. Our rivals acknowledge it, colleges and universities acknowledge it, and we claim it. But there is another facet to this problem in addition to the problem of the fraternity as an institution, which grows out of the fact that our National Laws place upon the men in the Chapters the full responsibility for the determination of what the policies and practices of the fraternity shall be. I know of no other institution in this country, in fact, I know of no other college fraternity with anything nearly to compare in the way of wealth and strength and tradition, which invests as much authority and responsibility in the hands of the Chapter men as do we.

Risks and Tasks

Now, we believe in this, but after all, our Chapters are made up of young men celebrating their first real independence, engaged in establishing themselves in society, and there is always a risk involved in this. It is this risk which raises serious questions as to how long our wealth and our strength and our reputation will sustain us if we are not careful.

I should like to share with you for just a moment a point of view with regard to young men in late adolescence, young men in college, taking my cue from some of the writings of the psychiatrist Eric Ericson. He says all young men in college are engaged in three life tasks, and that these tasks underlie all the decisions he will make throughout his life. These three tasks are the task of ideology, the task of identity, and the task of intimacy. I should like to dwell briefly on each of these in turn.

By ideology, of course, he means finding a sense of purpose in life. This is not as easy as you may think, for our American culture provides no single model, no consistent model, no clear model of how a male person will go about finding a sense of purpose in life for himself. We are living in a time when our society is growing increasingly complex, increasingly impersonal and, although none of us like this, there is nothing we can do about it.

On one or two fraternity occasions I have commented that, when I was a student in college not so many years ago, demographers were predicting that the population of the United States of America would reach a total of 145,000,000 people and then slough off slightly. Today the Census Bureau tells us we have over 186,000,000 people in this country, and, even assuming a slight decline in the birth rate, we know that the population of the United States of America in the year 2000 will be at least 390,000,000 people. And how rare does a wilderness area like Yellowstone Park become then, but how much more complex becomes the problem of governing such a society! How much more complex becomes the problem of an individual finding a sense of purpose for himself in a society which tends to eliminate his individuality!

Well, from whence comes a sense of purpose? For some it comes from family, for some it comes from church, for some it comes from government. We need to stop and think what our role is, as fraternity Chapters governed by young men themselves, in seeking a sense of purpose, in trying to help other young men find a sense of purpose for themselves.

To some it appears as though this is not only a risky situation but one somewhat like the blind leading the blind. Of each of you young men who go back to your Chapters this fall, we, your Supreme Council, ask you to think for a moment about what you are doing with your members in terms of helping them find a sense of purpose in life for themselves.

There are many things I would say had I time, but I want to make it clear I am not suggesting that every young man who comes into a Chapter of ΣAE need be formed in a common mold. Far from it. I am suggesting that our problem is to help them find their sense of purpose uniquely, individually.

The second of Ericson's life tasks is that of finding identity, answering the question, "Who am I?" The most eloquent discussion of this you will find is in the feature address of the Convention of 1951 at the Edgewater Hotel when the late Reverend Charles McAlister, a great ΣAE , addressed himself to this subject.

It is not astonishing that so many of the people who tend to find a real identity for themselves come out of a Christian background. The Christian heritage which we all share teaches that we are all children of one God and therefore all men are brothers, that we may be sinners and yet by the grace of God we are forgiven sinners. Though forgiven we are sinners still, standing in the continuing need of God's grace.

Somehow this traditional approach to religion is not greatly appealing to the modern generation of college men. We are not as ready as were the young men of Noble Leslie DeVotie's time to say positively that Christ is the answer to the question, "Who am I?" The modern college generation is more likely to respond "Christ is an answer," rather than the answer.

We know from studies made of the religious behavior of young men and women that the period defined by the ages 18 to 24 tends to be the least religious period of life. Now the question to answer is what is the role of any fraternity Chapter in the identity crisis faced by its members?

All too often our fraternity Chapters function to provide the means by which young men take on the external signs of adulthood rather than the internal strengths. By the external signs of adulthood I mean things like dependence on fast and flashy cars, indulgent women, reaching for the drink still forbidden because the laws say you cannot possess it until you are a certain age, so you possess it in defiance of the law in order to prove to yourself and, hopefully, perhaps, to some other people that you are now an adult. You can add to these signs. You know them well. The real question we have to ask when we are providing the arena within which a man may reach for these things, the question we must help a freshman answer, is again this question, "Who am I?"

The third of these life tasks is the problem of intimacy. This in a very real sense is the toughest problem of all. It is analogous to what Bishop Holt called a cooperative life, and it is uniquely an area in which the fraternity Chapter can function.

By intimacy I do not mean the kind of bogus sexual intimacy that modern advertising parades so blatantly, but the thoughtful concern for others which helps you bear another's burden not because you must but because he is your brother.

I sometimes go to Chapters and look at the pledge training program. Each of us does this. You might think that the members of the Supreme Council always ask about scholarship when they visit a Chapter, but we are much more likely to be concerned with nature of the pledge training program. All too often the pledge training program is a barrier toward the understanding of the pledge. It builds barriers between him and other people, rather than building bridges of understanding.

All too often we see Chapters ridden with cliques vying for recognition. In time of stress and danger for the Chapter we find them electing as the Eminent Archon one of the weakest men in the Chapter, because the men who lead the several cliques instinctively recognize that the weakest man is no threat to them in their contest for support.

The problem the fraternity Chapter ought to be addressing itself to in pledge training, in our opinion, is giving guidance and recognition to the younger men in the Chapter, the newer men, the more insecure men. It is a rare Chapter which can truthfully say that it produces in its entire Chapter, much less in its pledge class, a sense of interdependency and common understanding.

Aspects to Problems

In these all too brief moments, I have been trying to say that there are two aspects to the problem of the fraternity of the future. There is the institutional problem in which the apparent functioning of the fraternity has disappeared and only our faults remain obvious, and how is it that we are to demonstrate our less obvious values? This becomes particularly difficult in the face of our frequently recurring public displays of irresponsibility.

The second of these problems is the individual problem, the problem of being concerned enough about one's brother that you help bear his load in life. Now, we build our program with leadership in our Chapters drawn from the pool of those who became our Brother through responding to the same types of stimuli. It is really a remarkable thing that over the years ΣAE has been able to attain the stature it now holds. When we all stood and showed our approval of men like Lauren Foreman and Dolph Ginter and others in our fraternity who have given much of their lives to leadership, we are in effect saying that the cumulative effect of their functioning has been to build an institution which is greater even than they.

If we are to advance the cause of ΣAE in a questioning or even a hostile world, there are several things we must do. It is for this purpose that I arose this afternoon.

The first thing we must do is give more attention to our Ritual and to its content. If there remains a Chapter which does not bring its neophytes before the sacred altar rested, alert, sensitive to the experience which they are to share, then that Chapter is missing a very real bet. I didn't even hear the Ritual until the second time I was exposed to it, because the first time I was supposed to have heard it it was 4:00 o'clock in the morning and I had not had any sleep for two days. Not a one of us heard a word of it. I hope that day is long past.

And we have to reexamine the kind of behavior we present to the world, the way in which we exhibit ourselves on social occasions, particularly with respect to drinking. One young man told me at lunch today of the dean at his school who loved to drink himself but found it very easy to criticize the fraternities on his campus for drinking. A very wise Province Archon sitting at that same table said, "That is an argument you agreed not to accept when you went to this school, because you knew the announced position of the institution and what your responsibility was with regard to that rule."

You can substitute for the word "drinking" the words "noisy behavior" or "violation of rules." We must examine these matters thoughtfully, creatively, courageously. I say to you in all sincerity, and with no desire to frighten but at the request of the Eminent Supreme Archon, that if we fail to do this, if we fail to re-examine and correct our course, there may not be a 107th Anniversary Convention of Sigma Alpha Epsilon. The line is just that thin between continued opportunity to serve education in this country and destruction for us.

We must reexamine the character of inter-personal relationships which exist within the Chapter. I suggest to you these terms ideology, identity and intimacy as three useful pegs on which to hang this re-examination, but you may substitute your own if you like, for either we shape up or we get out of business.

Determination for Strength

And so your Supreme Council has been acting quietly, in an unannounced fashion, in a very tough way. We have suspended one Chapter's charter. You will be asked to act upon this tomorrow. We are perfectly willing to suspend other Chapter charters, and we have told you so, not because we want to be punishing but because the welfare of the rest of the fraternity demands it. I am not talking about

Assistant to the Eminent Supreme Recorder

“YOU OF Sigma Alpha Epsilon are now enlightened as to the progress and the people of Phi Alpha of Western Michigan University—We, the petitioning fraternity, now give you our promise:

“‘Ours is the promise of success, and a promise to succeed’

“A Chapter Collegiate at Western Michigan University would be a worthy addition to the realm of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.”

So spoke a group that had banded together as the Phi Alpha Fraternity on October 9, 1958 for the express purpose of seeking a charter from ΣAE . Three years later, to the day, the first officers of Michigan Delta Chapter at Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, were installed by Eminent Supreme Archon Arthur L. Beck, of Buffalo, N.Y.

Phi Alpha at Western Michigan was granted a charter by unanimous vote at the 105th Anniversary National Convention at Yellowstone Park in June. The ceremonies which made it the newest Chapter in ΣAE were held on October 6, 7, and 8, 1961, and were presided over by ESA Beck.

The first event of the weekend was an indoctrination session held in the Audio-Visual Center of the University Library at which time ESCh. Paul B. Jacob, Jr. presented a capsule history of ΣAE . This was followed by a discussion of the organization and National Laws by ESR Rex A. Smith, a mention of the values of membership in ΣAE by Robert VanBlaricom, Past Archon of Province Iota and now a resident of Kalamazoo, and an insight into the Province structure by Province Pi Archon H. Franklin Waltz. Chapter Supervisor Howard Hansen talked briefly on the relationship of ΣAE to the institutions where it is located, and Past ESA G. A. Ginter presented the group with warm insights into ΣAE history by way of personalities whom he has known. ESA Beck concluded the meeting with an expression of some of the hopes, responsibilities and expectations of membership in the Fraternity.

The initiation of the 73 new members took place at 2:00 on Saturday afternoon, October 8 at the Carver Center in downtown Kalamazoo. A capable initiation team was comprised of members of surrounding Chapters and included: Eminent Archon, Neil Austing, Michigan Gamma; Eminent Preceptor, Tom Wahlrobe, Michigan Alpha; Eminent Recorder, Nick Benyo, Ohio Lambda; Eminent Chronicler, Ray Davis, Ohio Sigma; Eminent Herald, Bob Kraft, Ohio Nu; Eminent Warden, Mike Hiniker, Michigan Iota-Beta; Chaplain, Shad Hanna, Indiana Beta; Song Leader, Bergen Bull, Michigan Gamma.

Participants in the various tableaux and scene shifters were: Joe Binder and Jeff Noss of Ohio Rho; Bill Banfield, John Cappis, John Jensen and George Emeny of Ohio Sigma; Dave Papenhagen of Michigan Alpha; Pete Froehlick of Ohio Nu; and Joe Zitnik of Ohio Alpha, and all were under the direction of Jay Beck, Ohio Mu. (Denison). ESA Arthur L. Beck presented each new initiate with the official badge.

More than 250 attended the initiation banquet at the Battle Creek Country Club. Toastmaster Edward Pellowe, Mich. Alpha, (Adrian), introduced Adviser to Michigan Delta, George E. Monroe who gave a synopsis of the inception of Phi Alpha and an insight into some of the work which brought the group to its present position.

President Brings Greetings

Dr. James W. Miller, president of Western Michigan, brought greetings and expressed his pleasure at being able to welcome ΣAE to the campus. The Dean of Students, Dean of Women, Dean of Men and members of their staffs were presented. Other introductions included Past ESA G. A. Ginter; ESR Rex A. Smith; Province Pi Officers; Mrs. Flora Gilbert, housemother; and members of the initiation team. Province Pi Archon Waltz presented the Merit Key Award to George Monroe on behalf of the Province for his outstanding and devoted service to ΣAE and for his aid to the petitioning group.

Archon Waltz offered to the new Chapter sage words of advice and challenge. The Eminent Archon-elect, Richard Rathburn, accepted on behalf of the Chapter various gifts presented by Chapters in the Province, the Province Officers and others. The newly formed "Little Sisters of Minerva" were recognized and received badges from ESCh. Jacob.

A banquet, in tasteful surroundings and abounding with good fellowship, was closed by an inspiring message from ESA Beck. He welcomed the opportunity for ΣAE to be represented on the Western Michigan campus and in accepting the challenge for leadership there, stated some of the aims, objectives and present programs of the Fraternity. He stressed the moral and spiritual values inherent in the teachings of ΣAE and described them not as a substitute for one's own religious endeavors but rather as an extension of them, and equated the precepts of ΣAE to the growing concern for high standards in college students today. "If Michigan Delta will only subscribe fully to those things for which ΣAE stands, it will be a positive force in the lives of its members and the college community as well," he stated.

At 9:00 a.m., Sunday, the following officers were installed by ESA Beck and ESCh. Jacob: Eminent Archon, Richard Rathburn; Eminent Deputy Archon, Paul Stanton; Eminent Recorder, Robert Kent; Eminent Correspondent, Larry Wittkop; Eminent Treasurer, Robert Moles; Eminent Chronicler, David TerBurg; Eminent Warden, Wally Dean; Eminent Herald, Carl Kucsera; and Eminent Chaplain, Bruce MacQueen. This was followed immediately by the formal pledging of 28 men, the ceremony being conducted by members of the National Office Staff with the aid of Jay Beck, and Province Beta Archon Russell P. Heuer, Jr.

Services in the First Methodist Church of Kalamazoo were attended by the group and ΣAE was welcomed to the city in the bulletin and by the pastor. In the afternoon a reception was held in the lounge of the Western Michigan Student Center and guests were greeted by EDA Paul Stanton, Mrs. Gilbert, ESR Rex Smith, EA Richard Rathburn and ESA Beck. Refreshments were served by the Little Sisters of Minerva and an attractive exhibit about ΣAE was arranged. The Chapter then welcomed guests to the Chapter house and thus ended the installation of ΣAE 's 142nd Chapter.

LEADEERSHIP SCHOOL, the 27th, opened on August 20, and again on August 27, for the second session at The Levere Me-memorial Temple in Evanston, under the direction of Dr. Glen T. Nygreen, Director of Leadership Training, ESDA, and Dean of Students at Kent State University. Three hundred and ninety-eight members from every corner of the Realm of Sigma Alpha Epsilon were in attendance and I was one of them. I was there for a week of fellowship and association with undergraduates, alumni and National offices. I was there to acquire information and ideas to improve my Chapter. I was there to learn more of the history and traditions of $\Sigma A E$. I was there to gain further insight into the Ritual and Ideals of my fraternity. I was there to learn more of the practices and responsibilities of the fraternity. I was there for Leadership Training. . . .

NTHUSIASM, high upon arrival, expanded throughout the week. Our zeal manifested itself as we sought for more and more ideas for our Chapter in specially conducted discussion groups that were labeled "bonus sessions." Many of us also spent extra hours working in a special interest group.

The bonus sessions were extremely popular. The extra sessions on rushing provided innumerable ideas, hints, and gimmicks, for use in rush parties and during rush week itself. Various techniques and guides in extending verbal bids to rushees were vividly demonstrated. Additional discussion was held concerning chapter financial operations on which we sought answers for our problems of budgeting, control, collection of accounts receivable, and finance committee operations. A fruitful exchange of ideas for social committees and social chairmen evolved around such topics as the planning of the social events, themes, publicity, chaperones, decorations, entertainment, and costumes. The relatively new practice of chapter retreats was also discussed in an extra session. We delved into specific ways to plan, organize, and conduct one of these periods where the chapter leaves the campus and conducts seminars on their problems, re-evaluates their operations, and gives thought to the Ideals of our fraternity. Pledge trainers, and those of us interested in pledge training, also had a bonus session where discussion centered around specific problems of the pledge trainer and new means of helping pledges of Sigma Alpha Epsilon become better men.

Special interest groups were organized for those of us who wanted to contribute in other ways. Under the advisorship of Don Gable, Editor of THE RECORD, and Bob Bonitati, Chapter Supervisor, we published The Hustler, the Leadership School newspaper. An Initiation Team, directed by Jay S. Beck, Ohio Mu '56, was formed from the delegates in attendance to conduct the Model Initiation that was held on Friday. Other delegates served as Big Brothers for the pledges that attended Leadership and a few others assisted John Baugh, Still other delegates worked on the presentation of a playlet on the founding of ΣAE which was directed by Tom Kessler, Ohio Lambda '61.

In accordance with the spirit of the Leadership School, the late Dr. John O. Moseley, we were enthusiastic in our exploration for answers to our problems and plans for our betterment.

We arrived in Evanston on Sunday afternoon by car, bus, train, airplane, and foot.

Registration was held in Bobb and McCulloch Halls on the Northwestern University campus.

ADDRESSES TO THE general sessions by leaders in the fields of business and education were high points in our week at Leadership School.

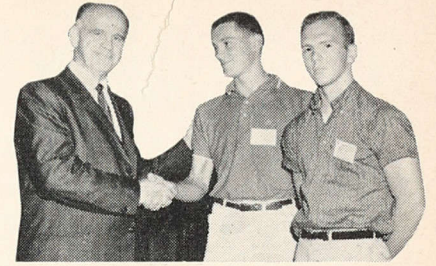

Donald M. DuShane, Dean of Students at the University of Oregon, challenged us to re-evaluate our Chapters and our fraternity system to meet the scrutiny of college administrations, prospective members, and the general public. We must accept the blame for our being regarded as college playgrounds and also accept the responsibility of bringing the actual fraternity experience closer to the spirit of a true fraternity. We were asked, "What do you do to induce members to produce results?" The fraternity is an adjunct to a college education and may be judged by the results of membership.

Brother Lloyd E. Yoder spoke to the delegates of the first session about the benefits that a fraternity man can obtain throughout his college days and in later life.

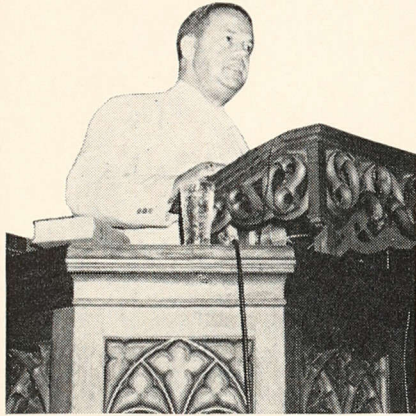

He correlated many benefits he received by membership in ΣAE to the success he has in his business proceedings. "Only in a fraternity can you get assistance from older brothers in certain courses, social graces, and better adjustment to college life and life after college. Then in post-college days, the contacts you have, your college experience and your development into a man make you ready to face life." He stated further that leadership training gained while an active member of a fraternity will be of definite assistance when in your chosen field later.

Brother Joseph A. Mancini, with feeling and emotion for the Fraternity, related his experiences as an ΣAE to the second session delegates. He told that at one time he was in such bad financial condition that he was forced to live a very meager existence and become financially inactive in his Chapter, but continued to attend meetings and enjoy the warm, considerate association with his Brothers in the Chapter. He offered his feelings and his life as a challenge to all of us to live the intangibles of brotherhood and practice true fraternity.

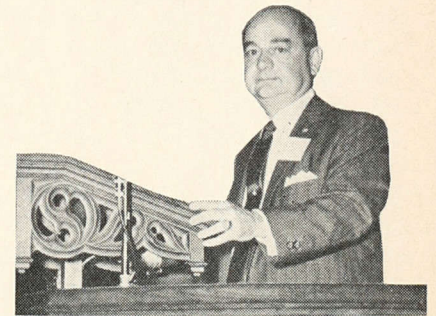

We were greeted at The Levere Memorial Temple by the faculty members, were given tours through the building, and became acquainted with other delegates, faculty members and National officers.

Donald M. DuShane, Dean of Students, University of Oregon, members of the General Council of Phi Delta Theta.

Joseph A. Mancini, Ohio Epsilon '35 (Cincinnati), Archon of Province Kappa, Founder No. 78 of The Levere Memorial Sustaining Fund.

The Welcoming Dinner on Sunday evening in the Temple's Nippert Hall was highlighted by a surprise birthday greeting for ESR Rex Smith.

DELINQUENCY IN member's accounts, budgeting procedures, and ideas for better management were discussed in the financial national conferences lead by Ted Baker, National Treasurer, and Neal Berte, Ohio Epsilon '62. Also included in this section was a very practical presentation by Capt. Thomas Hanson of the Evanston Fire Department on fire prevention and fire protection in our chapter houses.

I was not surprised that a real difficulty encountered by other Chapters is the collection of their accounts receivable. Delinquency has usually developed through improper enforcement of Chapter laws and neglect of duty by the Treasurer and Eminent Archon. Hence, many of us have Brothers with a very irresponsible attitude—to a point that I hope we are all able to impress upon our Chapters that a member has a definite financial obligation to his Chapter. With these thoughts as a basis, we talked about specific means for collecting delinquent accounts; denying social, boarding, and rooming privileges; signing promissory notes; notifying the parents of the delinquent Brothers, prorating outstanding amounts among every member in the Chapter; use of the collection services of the National Office; and enforcement of the provisions of our National Laws regarding delinquent members.

We furthermore exchanged ideas on improving our budgeting procedures, kitchen operations, billing systems, purchasing, money raising projects and finance committee functioning—virtually every area of our Chapters' financial operation. One of the basic functions of a fraternity is training in management and this conference definitely pointed out ways and means in which we can operate a better Chapter.

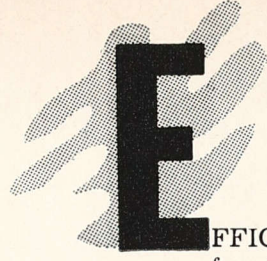

A problem that most of us, I'm afraid, tend to overlook is fire hazard. The very useful talk by Capt. Hanson covered the causes of fires and definite steps we should take to protect ourselves from these hazards, as well as other points that we should investigate to insure our safety in case of a fire. I feel that some of my fellow delegates may have taken an "it'll never happen to us" attitude regarding this topic, but others were definitely impressed that we should investigate our own chapter houses and insure our protection against fires. Delinquency in this area could cost several lives, whereas simple precautionary measures could dispel many worries.

Dr. Glen Nygreen presented inspiring and informative talks on the Escutcheon and Insignia of ΣΑΕ.

There was plenty of free time to chat with Brothers from all over the country . . . and drink cokes, too.

EFFICIENCY IN THE administrative functioning of our Chapter was stressed in sectional conferences on Chapter Administration. Led by Tom Kessler, Conrad Smith, W.Va. Alpha '61, and Chapter Supervisor Howie Hansen, we were constantly reminded to re-evaluate our operations, to give advance thought to new programs for the Chapter, and to have constant surveillance over these functions to insure that we are not weighed down with trivial tasks and time-consuming activities.

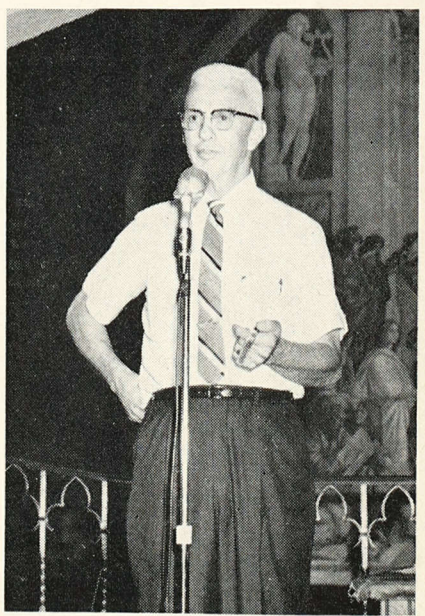

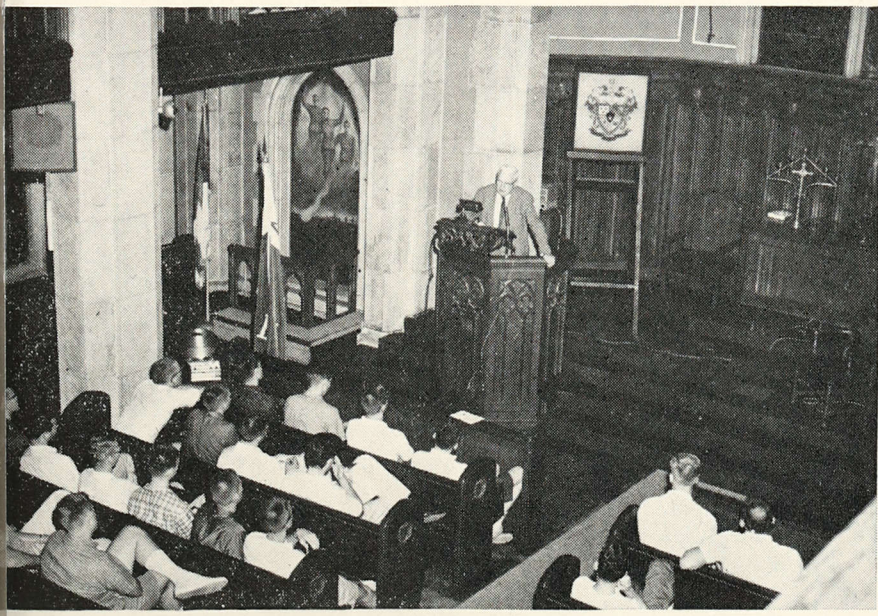

We considered various aspects of Chapter Administration, such as Chapter organization, committees, Chapter by-laws, rules of parliamentary procedure, Chapter advisory systems, minutes of the meeting, and the visitation program. We should have clear-cut lines of authority and responsibility between our Chapter, Eminent Archon, Executive Council, Eminent Deputy Archon and so on, but avoid unnecessary details of organization. The duties of all officers and chairmen should be well-defined and the lines of communication known and easily accessible. We were given ideas to make our committee system function properly by discussing a means of selecting chairmen and members, duties of each committee and each member of that committee, composition of the committees, control of the committees, and the need and content of final and weekly reports of each committee. While discussing Chapter by-laws we were told the proper form to follow, content, and use, and were advised to examine our present by-laws and begin an immediate revision if necessary.

The conference on Chapter Administration made it plain that the main objective in improving our administrative operations was for increased efficiency and, therefore, progress.

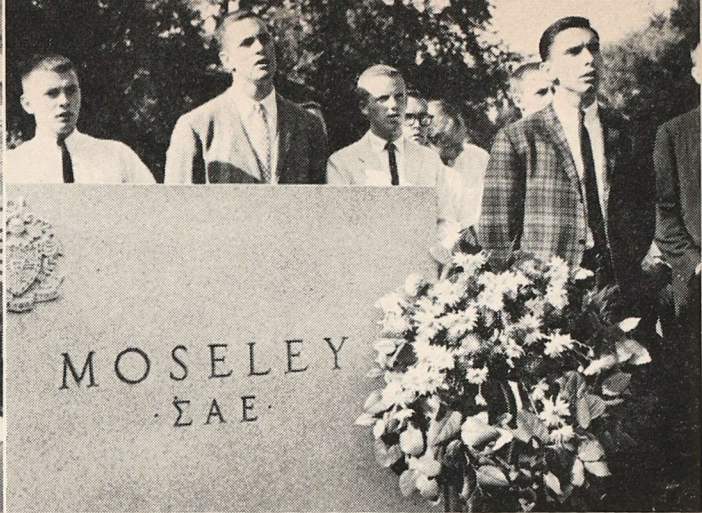

Brother John Baugh, Chapter and Alumni Affairs Supervisor, presented us with many useful ideas in the conference on the ABC's of Alumni Relations.

We heard a wonderful talk on the history of ΣAE by our beloved and distinguished Brother Lauren Foreman.

Cleverly presented "bonus sessions" on rushing proved very enlightening in new procedures, ideas, and gimmicks for our Chapter's rushing program.

On Wednesday afternoon we made a memorable pilgrimage to the graves of departed Brothers John O. Moseley and William C. Levere.

R

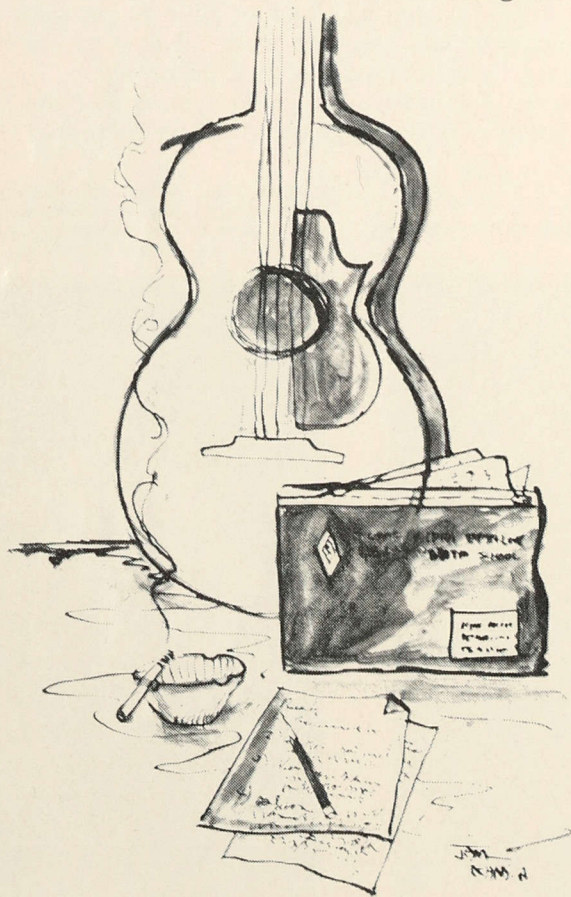

USHING SECTIONAL conferences were lead by Lee Walthall, Ala. Mu '62, Lt. Bill Brickle, S.C. Gamma '60, and Chapter Supervisor Bob Bonitati and were based on the theme, "It's time for a change." "It's time for a change" in our outlook and attitude toward rushees and toward our fraternities. We were warned that fraternities must provide a positive influence in an individual's college experience. We were questioned about the basis upon which we appealed to prospective members. Is it our 30 trophies? Is it our 46 social functions? Is it our great ability to wine and dine a rushee? Is it our extensive participation in "collegiate" pranks? Or is it because we are a man-making organization, aware of our purposes, and striving to keep true to our ideals for the betterment of the individual and chapter? With these thoughts in mind, we discussed ideas for a better rushing program for our Chapter.

It was strongly emphasized that we regard rushing as a year-round activity and plan ahead accordingly. We must give great consideration to our selection of a rush chairman and should select him well in advance—preferably a full year. We were urged to give prior thought to the number of men we were going to pledge and what type of men we needed. The importance of an active summer rushing program was also stressed with the greatest emphasis given to making personal visits with the rushees during the summer months.

Many valuable suggestions were given to enable us to improve our rushing during the rush period itself. One in particular was to conduct a seminar prior to the rushing period in order to re-acquaint the Brothers with the techniques, fundamentals, and details of rushing. It was further suggested to have "conversation pieces" such as maps, scrapbooks, and posters strategically placed throughout the house. Proper dress, hospitality, a spotless house, and other details were also mentioned.

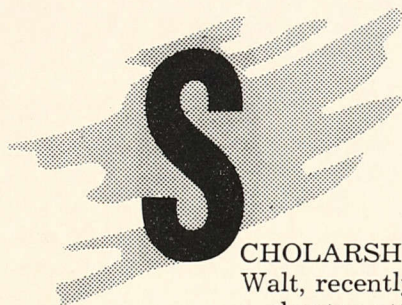

This was an invaluable session, very effectively presented, that gave us much insight into new approaches and ideas for rushing.

Brother Rex Smith, ESR, explained sections of the National Laws pertaining to the Chapters and changes in the National Laws made at the 105th Anniversary Convention to us in a Thursday afternoon session.

On Thursday evening, our sectional conferences discussed the important topic of Public Relations and, particularly, ways in which we can present a better image of fraternities.

SCHOLARSHIP WAS of paramount importance at Leadership School. Dr. Joe Walt, recently appointed Scholarship Commissioner, urged all of us to develop a chapter attitude that emphasized scholarship. He presented 27 tips that a chapter could use to improve its scholastic standing and attitude. None of us should have to ask "What can we do about our scholarship?" after listening to Brother Walt.

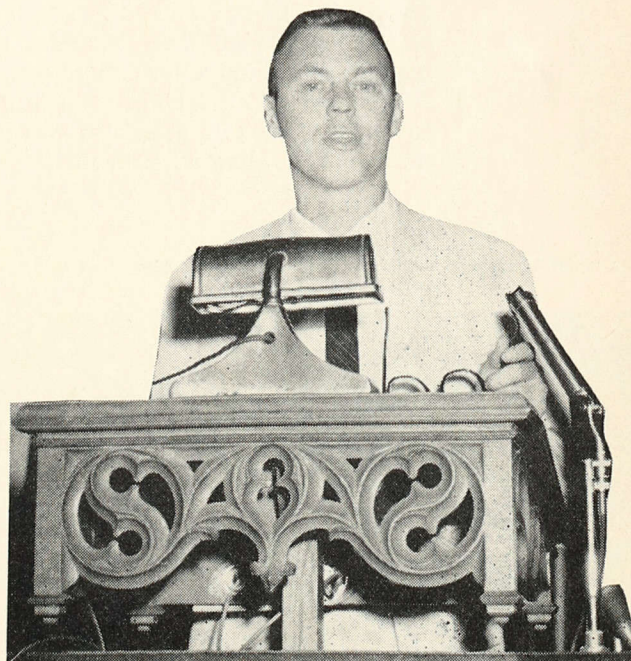

Much importance was placed upon strong emphasis of academics in the pledge training program. This is the best place to start developing the proper attitude toward good scholastic achievement. And of particular importance is the example set by the active Brothers in the Chapter. If they are conscientious in their academic pursuit and encourage pledges to study with them, it will be very beneficial in aiding the pledge to realize his potential.

Other ideas mentioned by the Scholarship Commissioner included "pledge the man that has shown his scholastic ability; be realistic in assessing each member's scholastic potential; use a study table if it really helps; let the school administration know you care about scholarship and want to improve it; make use of college facilities; post grades on the bulletin board—all of them; offer prizes and awards of recognition in the Chapter for scholastic attainment; investigate the feasibility of engaging the services of a graduate tutor; conduct reviews before examinations; maintain a good Chapter library and use every device to get your members to use it."

Following Brother Walt's talk, we were divided into our sections for further discussion of the tips just presented. We also shared other ideas used in our own chapters to attain good scholarship.

Through all of the discussion, it was evident that to achieve a high scholastic standing we must pledge capable and desirous men and then instill in them further incentive to realize their academic potential until we have an attitude in our Chapter that is conducive to good scholarship.

Scholarship Commissioner Walt

H

AZING AND other undignified practices inconsistent with the National Laws and the Ritual of Sigma Alpha Epsilon were strongly discouraged and other means for the proper development of a pledge were presented in the sectional conference on pledge training. Leaders for this conference were John H. (Wimpy) Stone, West Virginia Alpha '58, Bill Smith, Texas Beta '62, Bob Dickeson, Missouri Alpha '62, and Rowland (Lobo) Lo Bianco, California Gamma '62.

We discussed and, formed for ourselves, the various objectives that a sound pledge training program should have. This included proper adjustment to college, loyalty to the school and fraternity (which is essentially unity), reasonable scholastic achievement, character building, personality development, social training, and other complementary goals. Knowledge of the history of ΣAE is important, but a pledge need not be required to be a walking encyclopedia of ΣAE . We were reminded to appraise our pledge training program in the light of the vows that we ask our pledges to take at the time of formal pledging. Are we actives always guided by the ideals of the fraternity that we have asked the pledges themselves to strive for? The ideals of our fraternity should be kept uppermost in our minds at all times.

Hazing—excessive fatiguing, deprivation of normal sleep and rest, undignified methods, mental and corporal punishment, personal services—is contrary to the policies of the National Fraternity expressed through the National Laws, Ritual, and actions of the Supreme Council. It is certainly in opposition to our ideals and not in accordance with the objectives of a good pledge training that we established at the onset of our conferences. Extra duties around the house are not discouraged and extra duties may be imposed as disciplinary measures. Effective use of a Big Brother System, Pledge Council, guest speakers to the pledge class, discussion of our ideals and goals, were some of the means mentioned whereby we can better accomplish our objectives.

We were admonished to continually re-examine our pledge training program to insure that our activities were leading to the accomplishments of our objective of building a better man.

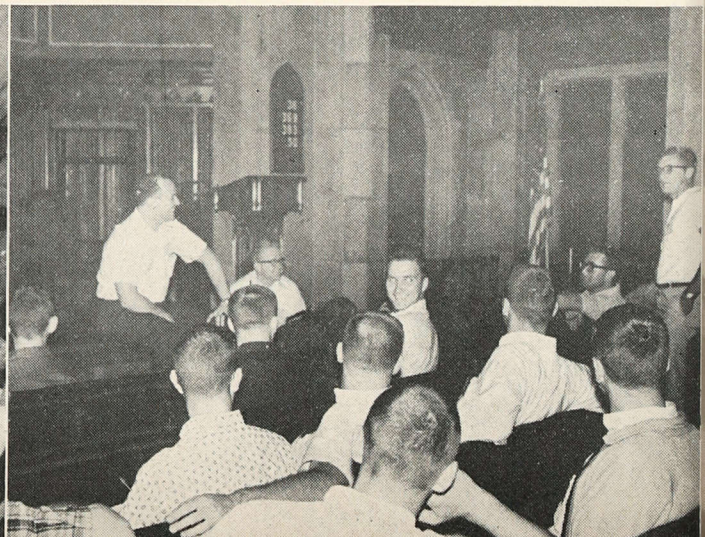

GOALS OF PLEDGE TRAINING IN ΣAE

1. Effective adjustment to college.
2. Creditable scholastic attainment.
3. Build respect for freedom of the individual.
4. Loyalty to the college and to the fraternity.
5. A balanced personality trained in mind and body.

Our general sessions were held in the beautiful Chapel of the Levere Memorial Temple.

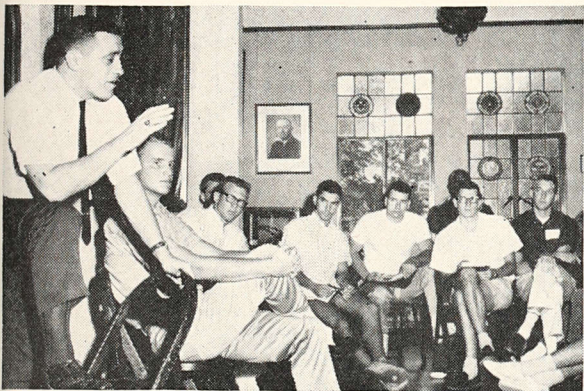

Frank and informative discussions of pledge training goals and practices comprised the bulk of our pledge training sectional conference.

IDEALS AND practices was an extremely worthwhile session presented by Assistant to the ESR Jack Hotaling and John Mott, Ark. Alpha-Upsilon '58,

We gave thought to the ideals for which we stand and discussed means by which we can put these beliefs into actual practice in our own chapters. Upholding the ideals upon which our fraternity is based is probably the only real way in which we can hope to continue to exist. Much has been said about the hypocrisy of fraternities in saying they stand for one thing but actually are doing something else. The best way in which we can exert a positive influence upon our members is to attempt to live by our Ritual and the ideals set down by our founders over 105 years ago. There was an extremely vital message presented in this conference and I hope all Brothers in attendance are able to impress their respective chapters with the importance of considering our ideals and our objectives in their Chapter's activities and programs.

Assistant to the ESR Hotaling

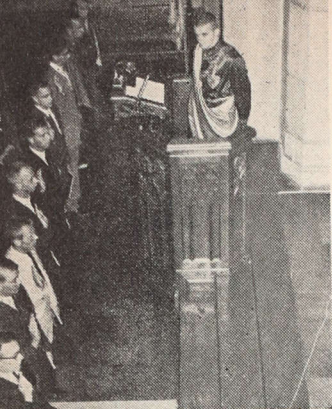

Initially there is the pledging ceremony. Is this made as impressive as possible? Do we do anything afterwards in our pledge training program to instill unselfish ideals in our pledges? The importance of the Chapter discussing its objectives, reasons for existence, and so on was greatly stressed. And a means of doing this is a Chapter retreat where one weekend is set aside—away from campus, if possible—for this specific purpose. Too often we are prone to forget about the real reason we are in college and the function to be performed by our fraternity. I was pleasantly surprised that several of our Chapters already have successful retreats. Is our Initiation Ceremony an impressive and important occasion? It should certainly be the highlight and climax of pledgship. But what about after men are initiated? It was mentioned to provide further instruction in the Ritual and a deeper study into the operations of the Chapter and the responsibilities of active membership for the newly initiated.

To be a more important, dynamic part of the educational system, we have to have belief in the basis of our common bond and strive to put these beliefs into practice within our own Chapter. Are we a social club or a Fraternity? Do we evolve around parties or ideals?

We saw an entertaining and educational playlet Friday morning on "The Founding of ΣAE."

An outstanding address concerning the responsibilities of fraternities in the higher educational system was presented by Brother Joe Walt on Friday morning.

The pledges were formally pledged into ΣAE in ceremonies in the Chapel on Monday morning.

P

LEDGES WERE also an active part of our Leadership School. In addition to faithful attendance at every session, they became formally pledged, studied under the pledge training program of Brother John Baugh and the Pledge Committee composed of several delegates from various chapters, were given the additional guidance and assistance of two Big Brothers, and were formally initiated into Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

The pledges received additional insight into the history of ΣAE by having a special meeting with Brother Lauren Foreman. Further inspiration was provided by ESA Art Beck and ESDA Glen Nygreen in their meetings with the pledge class. As mentioned in a Topoi written by William Middleswart, Iowa Sigma, during his pledgship at the School, "Pledgship is an act of Faith . . . that our lives will be enriched in all phases through our relationships with the people, ideals, and traditions of Sigma Alpha Epsilon."

But the real highlight of the pledgship came on Friday afternoon at the Initiation. This was a Model Initiation performed by the delegates to the School and directed by Jay Beck. Held in the ideal surroundings of the Great Hall of the First Methodist Church in Evanston, it was a stimulating, impressive, and letter-perfect Ceremony—a real credit to everyone who participated. An additional thrill for the newly initiated Brothers was a visit to the Tower Room of The Levere Memorial Temple—which was previously "off limits"—immediately after the Initiation.

The culmination of our week's experience at Leadership School was the final banquet on Friday evening. The new actives were officially welcomed into our Order and each spoke briefly about his feelings and intentions for ΣAE . Brother Nygreen was emcee for the Banquet and kept a tone of true brotherhood and fraternity within the dining room and within the hearts of all Brothers in attendance. And in the waning moments of the 27th Leadership School, our Eminent Supreme Archon, Brother Arthur L. Beck, with great sincerity and affection, capped the evening—and the week. With reference to Bishop Ivan Lee Holt's Benediction at this summer's National Convention, he asked us to "keep at work at tasks that are too hard for us."

With the chorus of "Friends" fading from our ears, but not from hearts, the too quick good-byes to friends we had made, the introspection of the good times, fellowship, education, and inspiration, and dedication abounding in our hearts and minds, we departed. . . .

FIRSTHAND REPORT (Harper & Brothers, New York) by Sherman Adams, N.H. Alpha '20 (Dartmouth), former Presidential aide, is the story of the Eisenhower administration and tells what happened in a crucial era by the man who probably exercised more power as a President's confidential adviser and co-ordinator than any other individual in modern times. Mr. Adams gives a vivid understanding of Eisenhower the man; describes the inner workings of the administration and the activities of the top-level men around the President, and conveys the atmosphere and circumstances in which the great decisions were taken. It was up to Mr. Adams to co-ordinate the missions of Congressmen, generals and admirals, statesmen and ambassadors, politicians great and small with the work at the office of the President. Eisenhower's policies were in large part determined by the men around him. Sherman Adams describes the Cabinet meetings—who talked up, who kept silent, and how much faith Eisenhower placed in group decisions and his own power to persuade opponents. He reveals the foreign policy role of Dulles, one of the very few men who had access to the President whenever he chose, and their differences in approach to the Russians. The 500-page book well illustrated contains many surprises concerning events and personalities, little known outside official Washington, which were of major importance to the administration.

THE UNTOUCHABLES (Julian Messner, Inc., New York, N.Y.) by the late Eliot Ness, Ill. Theta '24 (Chicago), with Oscar Fraley is the story of the handful of incorruptible men who smashed the bootleg empire of "Scarface" Al Capone and the book made TV history from coast to coast on the Westinghouse Desilu Playhouse. In 1929 Eliot Ness was a 26-year-old prohibition agent who approached a U.S. District Attorney with a plan to end Capone's reign in Chicago. Ness was convinced that only a small, tightly-knit group of agents, handpicked to insure against bribery, could obtain the evidence to convict Capone. Ness screened the federal personnel records for every available agent. At last he selected nine men. He, himself, was the 10th and leader. This is the story of these 10 men who became known as "The Untouchables," and who closed in, step by step, on Capone. It tells of risks to which they were subjected for two and one-half years, of the hair-breadth escapes, murder, brewery and speakeasy raids, wire tapping, checking and re-checking information.

Mont. Beta Scholarship

Montana Beta at the University of Montana, Missoula, has accomplished the difficult task of winning the scholarship trophy for the past two years and also won the all-intramural cup for the same two years. No fraternity at Montana has ever won both of these awards in a single year.—Reported by Harold B. Gilkey, EDA.

Wis. Phi Fights for Honors

After sweeping the top intramural awards for the past school year, Wisconsin Phi at Beloit College is currently fighting to retain the six individual championships, the Supremacy Cup, and the Participation Cup. The chapter took first place trophies in touch football, volleyball, softball, tennis, badminton, and table tennis. The highly coveted Supremacy Cup for overall standing in the twelve intramural sports and the Participation Cup for not missing any events were both captured by Wisconsin Phi. The house placed second in swimming, track, and basketball and was third in wrestling, bowling, and golf. Selected as most valuable intramural player at Beloit for the second straight year was Frank McClellan, who participated in eight IM sports. On the varsity level, he was outstanding in basketball and golf. Both years Frank won individual championships in swimming, wrestling, and badminton. Dean Mack was selected MVP in basketball, and freshman Dennis Brown was individual champion in tennis. The chapter's intramural program was headed by Tom Rath and Bill Boyd, athletic chairmen, who used almost every man in the successful campaign. Reported by Roger Renstrom, EC.

Annual Little Kentucky Derby at the University of Kentucky, Lexington with Kentucky Epsilon winning the LKD bicycle race for the second consecutive year and the third time out of five. The Chapter not only won the 15-lap bike race but the team also set a new track record of 11:02.5 minutes, bettering last year's time by 33.9 seconds. Riding to victory were Bill Smith, Bucky Teeter, Dave Cliness, Jim Congleton and Jim May. Alternates were John Paul Broderick and Jim Trammell. The LKD weekend included a co-ed tricycle race, costume and queen contests and a concert. Miss Linda Woodall, pin-mate of John Mutchler reigned as queen of the derby.

the glistening badge I wear or the badge you wear. I am talking about the welfare of all the Chapters and the men in them.

If there is a single Chapter whose behavior is consistently less than the standard we would seek to uphold, or whose reputation is slipping, or whose scholarship is consistently down, or whose finances are consistently delinquent, or if in any way a visiting Chapter Supervisor can determine a trend in a negative direction, your Supreme Council has been and will continue to act strongly. You may react to this if you like with a feeling of being against the National Fraternity. That is your privilege. But we who have been your servants and will, if you ask us, continue to be your servants, are determined that we are going to build a stronger Sigma Alpha Epsilon regardless of what any other fraternities do or fail to do, and all we ask and pause this moment in this Convention to ask from the bottoms of our hearts is your understanding and your cooperation and your dedication to the oath we all took in common at the same altar.
