A Message to Prospective Members

A story is told of Robert Benchley who, when a college student, was asked by one of his professors to discuss the conflict over offshore fishing rights, first from the point of view of the British and then from that of the United States. Benchley is said to have paused for a moment and then replied, "I know absolutely nothing about the dispute from the U. S. point of view, and I know even less about the position held by the British. I therefore should like to discuss the problem from the viewpoint of the fish."

I speak to you not so much as the National President of Sigma Alpha Epsilon as from the perspective of the "fish," as it were. Or, said in other terms, this fall I have one daughter who is a university sophomore; I have another who will be a freshman and, like yourselves, is going out for rush, as her sister did last year; and a son who will be entering college in one more year. I have said to each of them that whether or not they choose to participate in the Greek system is for them alone to decide. They must weigh the merits as related to their own needs and interests. However, I do hope for each of them that their college experience will be as rich, as totally meaningful, and as enduring as has been mine. For me these things happened in large part because of my membership in ΣΑΕ. I will not attempt to try to explain or to justify this statement. I can only say, again, for me this was a most valuable and worthwhile experience—both then and in the years which followed.

While you may find our chapter house or lodge attractive, we are not really in the real estate business. In fact some of our chapters have neither house nor lodge. We have many enjoyable social events, but neither are we primarily in the business of throwing parties. You may be attracted by our intramural program, but our purpose is not to win more trophies. Rather we say to you that we are in the business of cultivating lasting friendships built upon values essential to anyone who would be truly educated.

We believe that an education consists not only of acquiring knowledge but in developing values as well. It has been wisely observed that it is of little worth to be able to speak ten languages if you can't tell the truth in any of them. Not everything of consequence to you will happen in the classroom. In ΣΑΕ we hope to provide another type of setting where learning can be every bit as real and as important as in any academic building on the campus.

To those who would join with us, we would say that we want to be an important part of your collegiate experience; and to make that experience as great and as enjoyable as possible. By design we would hope to have an effect on you. We want you to grow in positive ways because of your having been a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon. That is what we are all about.

Welcome to Sigma Alpha Epsilon where no one need ever feel a stranger.

Louis E. Smith

From the Editor

Our assumption, in preparing this issue, is that any young man being exposed to college and to fraternities for the first time, would be kindly disposed to ΣΑΕ because of what is included herein. Rush is the very basic and uncomplicated art of selling ones' self in order to attract new members. We try in the next few pages to attempt just that; interest others in what we are about.

ESA Lou Smith, on the preceeding page, sets forth the basic goal of ΣΑΕ, that of "cultivating lasting friendships built upon values essential to anyone who would be truly educated. . . ." From there we talk of rush, and what we have to sell; the role and importance of the volunteer in the whole ΣΑΕ structure, and the concept that the Fraternity might very well be worthy of ones' time and talents after graduation; and the way in which we are governed. All of this, plus our regular departments, round out the issue.

We must pause also to express the gratitude of the Fraternity to Dr. Joseph W. Walt, Tennessee Kappa '47, for his service to the RECORD as editor during the past three years. Beginning with the Levere issue in August of 1975 he established a level of interest, readability, and presentation that had not been known before. He built a solid base in the way of style and format that will serve well all editors to come. The May 1978 issue was his last as editor but there is little doubt that he will continue to be involved in the future as advisor; as author; in any way that he is asked.

Change is indeed inevitable. With this issue we also announce the resignation of ESR Jack R. Hotaling. This was effective June 10, 1978. Having served the Fraternity for 20 years and as ESR for the last 9 years, he has departed to take up a new career. The Supreme Council is, at this writing, in the process of identifying a successor and when that occurs his name will be presented to the Fraternity.

This issue is the brain child of Ray J. Artigue, Arizona State '76 (Beta). He has been asked by the Supreme Council to be responsible for this and for the November annual report issue. Neither he nor anyone else will be designated as editor until a new ESR has been appointed and has had time to develop his own direction. In the meantime though, all is in order and we are being well served by competent brothers. As we will demonstrate, ΣΑΕ is enormously fortunate to be able to call on so many at every level to carry out any task that needs to be accomplished.

THE RECORD VISITS . . .

An Important Supreme Council Meeting

The RECORD went along with the Supreme Council members a few weeks ago as they set out for Washington, D.C. and their annual spring, or budget meeting. The nation's capitol was selected for this meeting in order to tie together a number of special events and, quite honestly, to get as much additional exposure and value for the travel dollar as possible. From our point of view, the Supreme Council succeeded admirably. Let's take a quick look at some of the special activities.

- On Thursday evening, April 27, they hosted a Congressional Reception at the Capitol Hill Club for some 40 congressmen, aides, congressional employees and special guests.
- Friday, at noon, April 28, everyone was on hand in Virginia's Capital city, Richmond, for the presentation of the traditional diamond badge to John Dalton, Virginia Kappa '53, Governor of Virginia.
- That same evening, they greeted many Province and chapter related officers, Alumni Association stalwarts, Founder Members, and other key area alumni, at a reception back in Washington.
- Because this is the financial meeting, they invited the members of the Board of Trustees from New York City to a special appreciation luncheon on Saturday, April 29.
- The various activities of the Province Gamma Convention were held that same Saturday, hosted by Washington City Rho at George Washington University and everyone had a pleasant evening with the delegates to the meeting.

And, in addition to all of this, a heavy agenda of work was completed.

We want now to tell you more about this busy weekend.

Let's First Introduce the Players

Each member of the Supreme Council brings a very distinct dimension to the overall decision making process. Varied backgrounds, different fraternity experiences, and a variety of occupational interests all lead to the type of diversity that serves ΣΑΕ in a truly exceptional manner. There are no stereotypes, and no "yes men"; but there is usually an arrival at consensus.

Let's then introduce to you your present Supreme Council:

Dr. Louis E. Smith is Registrar and Associate Dean at Simpson College in Indianola, Iowa. He is a 1951 graduate of Drake University in Des Moines (Iowa Delta) and received his doctorate from the University of Northern Colorado in educational psychology and school administration. He was elected to the Supreme Council at the Richmond Convention in 1971. Formerly Archon of Province Tau, he also serves as Advisor to the Greek organizations at Simpson. He is also designated as an Honorary Colonel in the Iowa National Guard. Brother Smith, his wife Joyce and their three children live in Indianola.

Richard F. Generelly was elected to the position of Eminent Supreme Herald at the New Orleans Convention. He previously was Archon of Province Gamma, President of the Washington, D.C. Alumni Association and is currently President of the Washington City Rho House Corporation. He has been President of the George Washington University interfraternity Association and is a 1947 graduate of the University (Washington City Rho). Eminent Archon of his chapter, he was also President of the local chapter of Omicron Delta Kappa. A partner in the law firm of Shannon and Morley, he and his wife, Nancy, reside in the nation's capitol.

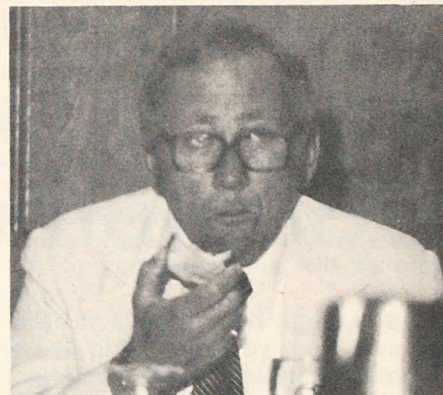

James D. Peterson served as an officer of Province Rho for 10 years and is present Eminent Supreme Warden. He is also chapter advisor and President of the House Corporation for Minnesota Alpha at the University of Minnesota. A graduate of that University in business administration, he has served as President of the Twin City Alumni Association. For both 1974 and 1975 he was a member of the Leadership School Planning committee and has served on the faculty of the school since 1974. He was an important member of the host committee for the 1967 Convention in Minneapolis. An executive with a major insurance firm in Minneapolis with specific responsibility in the area of group sales, he lives in Edina, Minnesota.

John B. Warren, Jr. was initiated on March 9, 1956 as the Georgia Epsilon honor pledge at the Centennial celebration in Tuscaloosa, Alabama. He has been President of the Atlanta Alumni Association, is Advisor to Georgia Epsilon at Emory University and Georgia Eta at Oglethorpe University, and is President of the Georgia Epsilon House Corporation. His service to Province Epsilon began in 1964 and he served as Archon from 1970 to 1974. He has also attended numerous National Conventions and is a member of the Permanent Committee on Chapter Housing, and the Development Committee. A tax partner with Arthur Anderson and Co., Brother Warren, his wife Esther and their four children reside in Atlanta.

Thomas R. Kessler is a 1961 graduate of Kent State University (Ohio Lambda), with a B.S. in marketing, an M.A. in sociology and a Juris Doctorate. He has served as an officer of Province Pi and Nu-Epsilon and of the New York City Alumni Association. Tom has served as a faculty member of the Leadership School for 16 years and was the Director of the School for four years. He has been a frequent speaker at Founders' Day events and has participated in numerous regional Leadership Schools, instructing in various aspects of chapter operation. He is presently head of the European division of a New York City bank, travels abroad frequently on business, and resides in New York City.

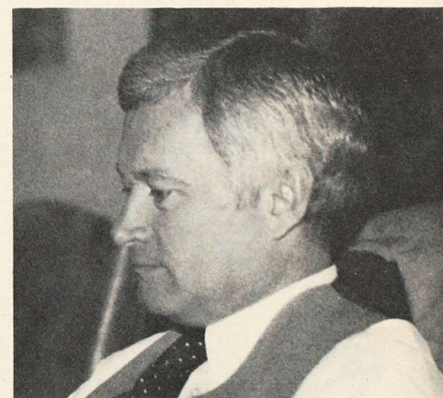

Kirk E. Dooley is a senior and member of Texas Alpha, Texas Tech University, where he has been involved in numerous chapter, campus and community activities. A Journalism/History major, he has served as sports editor of the campus newspaper; founded and edited Texas Tech's first Greek newspaper, The Windmill; and contributed articles for many Dallas publication. In 1974, Kirk won the Wick Fowler Scholarship for selection as the top student journalist in Texas. In the chapter, he has served as E.D.A. and Herald.

... So Now On To The Congressional Reception

ESH Warren

C.C. Dooley

For many years there has been discussion of a reception honoring the members of ΣAE who serve in the Congress, and also those who function on Capitol Hill in other capacities. A Supreme Council meeting in Washington finally provided the opportunity. Because of the success of the evening, it will probably become a regular event; the opportunity to express the appreciation of ΣAE for all who serve their nation in this vitally important way.

There was a very interesting cross section of attendees, from Congressmen, to White House appointees, to committee aids, to Federal Commissioners. Senator Wendell Anderson (Minnesota) and Republican National Committee Chairman Bill Brock sent regrets as did Jack Watson from the White House. Congressmen David Bonier (Michigan), Dan Flood (Pennsylvania), Walter Flowers (Alabama), John J. Flynt (Georgia), Lionel Van Deerlin (California), and Ralph Regula (Ohio) spent an enjoyable social hour with us. Jim Quello, a Federal Communications Commissioner interrupted his busy schedule for a brief ΣAE evening. Others, too numerous to mention, and from various parts of the country, came together under the ΣAE banner and with some pleasant surprises; some were known to one another professionally but were unaware of their fraternal bond.

All in all, it was a very pleasant evening.

Another ΣΑΕ Governor Honored; The List of Distinguished Brothers Grows

It all began with the presentation of a diamond ΣΑΕ badge to then Ohio Governor William McKinley, and the tradition continues to this day. That is why, during the meetings in Washington, the Supreme Council adjourned its meeting in mid-morning, boarded a bus for the two hour ride to Richmond, and jointly presented a diamond badge to ΣΑΕ's newest Governor, John N. Dalton, William and Mary '53, of the Commonwealth of Virginia.

Past ESA Howard Falls was in charge of the special luncheon at the Bull and Bear Club in downtown Richmond attended by, in addition to the Supreme Council and the staff, some 35 prominent alumni and Province Gamma Officers. It is interesting to note that there were six former Archons of that Province present, one of Chapter Eternal, Cecil F. Jones, Richmond '43 (Virginia Tau).

Governor Dalton accepted the badge with appreciation and with very appropriate remarks about the influence the Fraternity had on his life, and some of the lasting friendships he had made both during college and afterward as a result of ΣΑΕ. He recalled also riding to a Province Gamma Convention with Howard Falls and voting approval to what is now West Virginia Alpha (Marshall) to seek a charter.

Province Gamma then included Maryland, the District of Columbia, Virginia, West Virginia, and North and South Carolina.

Prior to his election as Governor, Brother Dalton served as a member of the Virginia House of Delegates and as Lieutenant Governor. His has been a distinguished career in service to his native state of Virginia.

During the bus ride back to Washington a good many Supreme Council matters were discussed and much was accomplished. ESA Smith was determined to make use of every bit of time possible in the conducting of the Fraternity's business.

At left, ESA Smith pins Diamond Badge on Virginia's newest Governor; Dalton then shares his appreciation and personal feelings of ΣΑΕ.

A Special Thank You to Those Who Serve

There is so much more that could be written about this busy weekend if only space would allow. We have about 200 more pictures all of which would serve to demonstrate the intense activity that took place.

We want, though, to comment briefly on the reception for Founder, Levere, and Moseley members, Province, Alumni Association, and House Corporation officers, and other key alumni in and around Washington. It is indeed a rare opportunity for the Supreme Council to be able to express its appreciation to such a group all at one time. This is one of the great advantages to having Council meetings every now and again at locations other than in Evanston.

It should be remembered that the Supreme Council is a group of very dedicated volunteers who give their vacation days, and times with family and friends, to provide direction to the affairs of ΣAE. It seemed to us that it would be of interest to our readers to know something of what happens at a Supreme Council meeting. Granted, this one is somewhat unusual in terms of the extra activities in addition to the regular business sessions. But when they do meet, usually four times a year, it is an intensive time of decision making and giving thought to the vital issues affecting our very existence.

So, during this two and one-half day period, five special events as indicated previously, and probably some 12 to 15 hours of solid meet time. With that type of commitment, it would seem as though the Fraternity is in quite good hands and the future is indeed bright!

At the "thank you" reception, old and new friends enjoy a pleasant few hours together.

Volunteer is a very wonderful old word that has through the years, retained much of its original meaning. It defines "one who performs a service of his own free will or who assumes an obligation voluntarily."

It also defines the very back bone of any organization such as SAE. Without those who are willing to give rather substantially of their time, their talents, or both, there would be little prospect for any substance or long-life to our Fraternity. To quote Past ESA Bob van Blaircom, "one wonders why some of our loyal members have served SAE with such devotion while others 'drop out' before they get started. Fraternity means friendship or brotherhood, and this is one good explanation. I believe there is another word which also does much to answer why. The word is 'altruism'. The definition of it is 'regard for and devotion to the interests of others—opposed to egoism or selfishness.'"

The November issue of the RECORD will carry a great many figures which will depict our growth and the present state of the Fraternity. It is our annual presentation of where we are and what we have accomplished along the way. It will not, however, in any way adequately demonstrate the major factor for any success we may have achieved; the gifts of time and resources from so many.

Yes, there is a National Office and a paid staff there to serve. But, the simple fact of the matter is that the paid professionals are so small in number in regard to the enormous tasks to be accomplished that their role must, of necessity, be one of assisting others to succeed; providing back-up, support, the tools for accomplishment, indeed the necessary direction and motivation. Those who are out there on the firing line are the true unsung heroes and the ones who make SAE go; the volunteers!

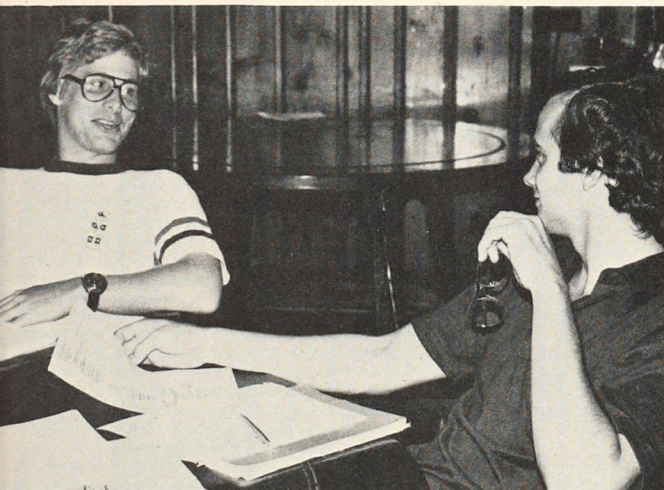

All of this tends to demonstrate that the fraternity experience need not be, and indeed should not be a brief college interlude, soon to be forgotten in the rush of other life experiences. We referred earlier to the gift of time, resources, or both. Just as other segments of the private sector of our society ask for the energies of the populace in order to survive and achieve, so can the Fraternity. This applies as much to the student years as to the time beyond.

In conclusion then, let us again quote from Past ESA van Blaricom when he says "there is no way for SAE to ever be anything but a volunteer-operated Fraternity. In our complex and growing organization, our needs are indeed great. But when I think of the host of loyal brothers past and present who serve and have served, my natural optimism is reinforced. The only threat to our future could be a time when good men will do nothing for their Fraternity."

“What Should One Look For In Choosing A Fraternity?”

Taking the oath of pledgship is just the beginning of a lifetime experience.

Whether in small or large groups, fraternity and its members provide stimulus to interaction and thus, personal growth.

That is an important question! A wrong choice can lead to the non-productive or even detrimental development of an individual. If the correct choice is made, the fraternity experience is an education in living and working with others that cannot be had anywhere else.

Graduation cannot end the fraternity's beautiful way of making friends—that process, and the rewarding benefits from it, go on for a lifetime. In National Fraternities, different chapters and alumni are brought together for leadership, sporting, and social activities, so the experience can't be limited to one campus.

A good fraternity provides the programs and experiences that enable a man to develop his own innate qualities, while helping him to discover new character dimensions. Membership should be composed of individuals with diverse interests and backgrounds so that everyone can be exposed to a wide variety of ideas, philosophies and personalities.

Strong alumni groups should be evident in order to assist the chapter with its management, academic and career development. Strong and dedicated alumni support is sheer proof that the undergraduate fraternity experience was indeed worthwhile. Theirs was a meaningful influence, thus they wish to share and perpetuate it with others.

Fraternity members should be free to make choices that affect their future; free from pressures to do things that could jeopardize their lives and careers.

A good, perhaps even great chapter, has spirit and pride in everything they do. And their success comes by no mistake! Rather it is premeditated from intelligent, motivating leadership. With each and every achievement the chapter members build a silent confidence; an important ingredient for life after college.

Those successful persons—whether they be educators, businessmen, politicians, or laborers—who have had a rich fraternity experience in college continue to point to their chapter days as the most formative in their lives.

Fraternity, quite simply, is for a lifetime. It has been with us for more than 200 years. Fraternity, because of what it does in people's lives, shall be with us forever.

In the weeks and months to come, many of us will be involved in the process of convincing others to join Sigma Alpha Epsilon. We have to be able to adequately relate “all of the good” we have to offer. The pictures and words presented here are intended to provoke some thought in this direction.

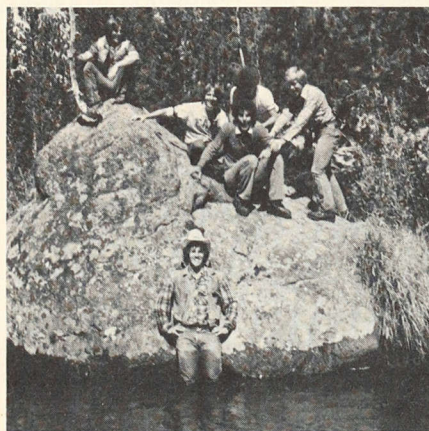

When you get right down to it, we can sum it all up in one question: “Where can I make friends who will exert a positive influence on me?”

The answer should be a resounding ΣΑΕ!

“Membership should be composed of individuals with diverse interests and backgrounds so that everyone can be exposed to a wide variety of ideas, philosophies and personalities.”

Friendships, quite obviously, are the main ingredient of fraternity.

Weekend retreats are becoming a popular method of bringing a chapter together in order to set their goals for the year. They also prove to be an enjoyable time for all.

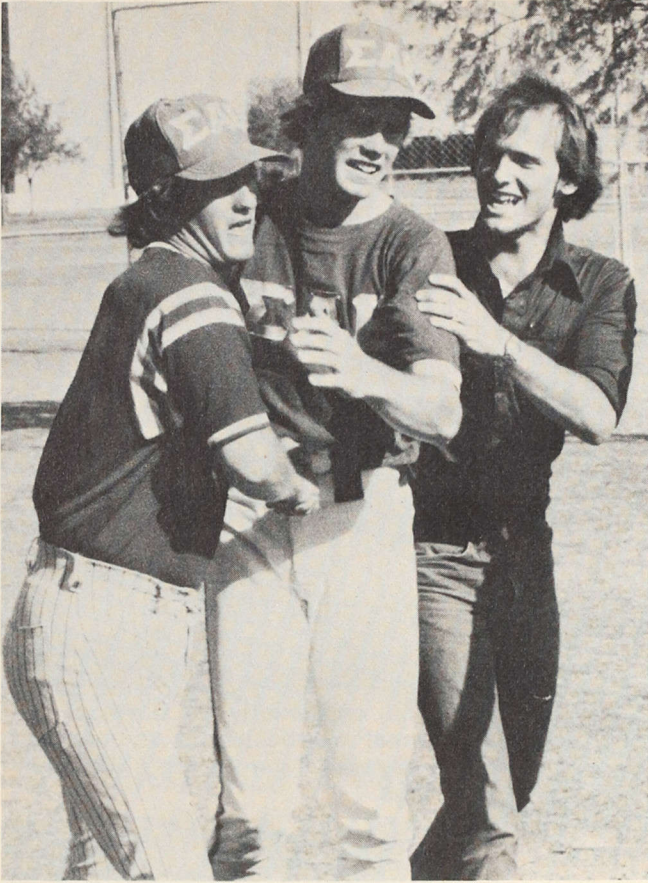

The opportunity to develop personal relationships is an important aspect of fraternity life while in college.

Helping others through various community service projects has always been an important part of ΣΑΕ chapters.

In most chapters, intramurals are an integral part of the day-to-day activities.

Whether in the dining room or on the playing field, chapter brothers are brought together for four years of unity and brotherhood.

A refreshing slice of watermelon requires only solitude to enjoy; however, it's a group effort to persuade an engaged brother to take a dip in the duck pond.

This story and photo essay was authored by Kenneth D. Tracey, Eastern New Mexico (Alpha) '69. As the RECORD goes to press, the Supreme Council announced the appointment of Tracey as Eminent Supreme Recorder, replacing retiring Jack R. Hotaling. Complete story coverage in the upcoming November issue.

Alumni Notes

Mrs. Lawver; First Housemother to become Founder

Mrs. Virgil C. Lawver, beloved first housemother of Indiana Delta at DePauw from 1948 to 1956, became Founder Member 346 of The Levere Memorial Foundation, posthumously, on February 23, 1978.

"Mom" Lawver joined Indiana Delta when the first pledge class, in dire financial straits, was struggling to open the house and qualify for a charter as a chapter of ΣAE. Her money-saving ingenuity and sewing skills played a big part in that drive.

Her ability to inspire the young, her courtesy and graciousness, her awareness of the sensibilities of others were remembered long after her departure as housemother. And her devotion and loving care will never be forgotten by her "boys."

Some of the members of that era, as well as family and friends, banded together after her death to give a lasting tribute to her memory, and to make her the first ΣAE housemother to become a Founder Member.

This young chapter's alumni event brought back over twenty alumni to establish the Arizona Gamma Alumni Association. Among the guests was alumnus Jim Hamlin '75, who has been serving as E & L Consultant in the SAE National Office.

The big news this year is the acquisition of a two-story, three-fireplace house which has been totally renovated. It was one of the first homes built in Flagstaff and the brothers of Arizona Gamma hope to keep up the history and tradition that surrounds it.

Kansas Alpha at the University of Kansas had its "Diamond Jubilee Weekend" in April of this year at Lawrence, Kansas.

The 75th anniversary celebration began with a golf tournament on Friday, and continued Saturday with volleyball, softball, basketball and tennis. California Delta at U.C.L.A. held an ΣAE Invitational Surfboard Championship contest recently. Five houses, including the ΣAE's, participated in the event at Manhattan Beach. Four to six foot waves, the unpressured atmosphere and nonintramural air provided a good time for all who participated. Brother John Rothstein won the event, with Mike Cunningham taking third place.

"Kite Day" at Washington City Rho

Last spring, the brothers of Washington City Rho sponsored a "Kite Flying Day" for Muscular Dystrophy which they plan to make a yearly event.

The day included a brief kite-making session with the children who were in wheelchairs and ranged in age from 7-16 years. Then all moved to the Washington Monument grounds for the afternoon. Close relationships developed between the brothers and the children while the parents, enjoying a day of limited responsibilities, were off to see the surrounding parks.

After a few hours of kite flying, everyone adjourned to the house for refreshments, good talk, and plans for the next outing.

They won first place in diving competition, backstroke, and relay; and placed second in freestyle, fly, breaststroke, and diving.

More Than 300 Brothers Join for Kappa/Chi Convention

California Iota at California State-Fresno was the host as over 300 brothers from two provinces, Kappa and Chi, came together in a joint convention which came to be called "Phi Alpha Weekend."

The joint gathering held in April attracted brothers from 17 chapters in California and the chapter in Reno, Nevada. Included in the weekend was a leadership seminar, the two conventions themselves, and to cap the whole affair, a Paddy Murphy party—the likes of which haven't been seen in a long time.

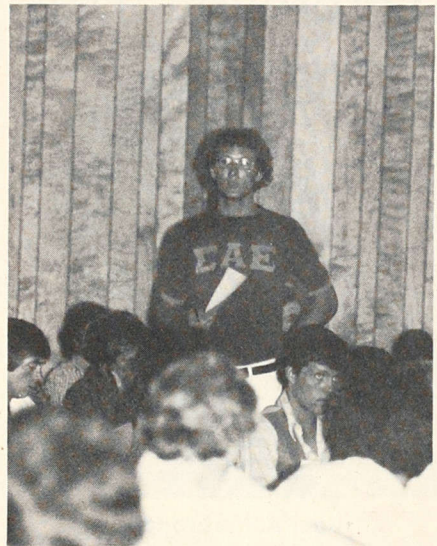

Over 70 little sisters attended the convention and were not idle. They held their own convention with workshops and a luncheon banquet with Kirk Doolley, Collegiate Council chairman, as keynote speaker.

Saturday afternoon brought the convention to a close with the re-election of Archons Dan Castillo in Kappa and Walt DeAguro in Chi. After a stirring speech by ESW Jim Peterson, the brothers began preparation for the night's "Paddy Murphy" celebration.

And what a celebration! A funeral procession through the streets of Fresno began the evening's events. More than 700 brothers, alumni, and dates were treated to an eloquent eulogy by Brother

Robert Louis Stephenson, capped off with a party lasting into the wee hours of the morning.

Simpson hosts Province Tau Basketball Tournament

Province Tau held its annual 1978 Basketball Tournament at Simpson College in Indianola, Iowa.

Iowa Beta won the A division championship by beating Nebraska Iota 60-55. Iowa Sigma won the B division championship by beating Iowa Gamma 48-39 to claim their second consecutive B championship. The win also represented the first time a host team had won the tournament.

Iowa Sigma (above) captured its second Championship while Iowa Beta (below) claimed the A-league title.

Province Omicron and South Carolina Nu welcomed delegates from all the chapters in North and South Carolina to the 1978 province convention held at Clemson University, Clemson, South Carolina, in February.

The weekend turned out to be an exciting event, with fraternity business interspersed with social activities.

At the awards banquet, various chapter excellence awards were presented. ESCh Tom Kessler was the featured speaker along with E & L Consultant Tip Tracy. This was the most successful and meaningful program Province Omicron has had in a long time.

Behind the power hitting and pitching of the Knapp brothers, Leo and Kenny, the Texas Alpha softball team at Texas Tech blew through the season undefeated, winning three independent tournaments and the Greek championship.

Coach Paul Spalla attributed the perfect season to team spirit, clutch hitting, and "Elam's right wing which kept singles from turning into doubles." Tony Elam, the left fielder, threw out 11 base runners during the season.

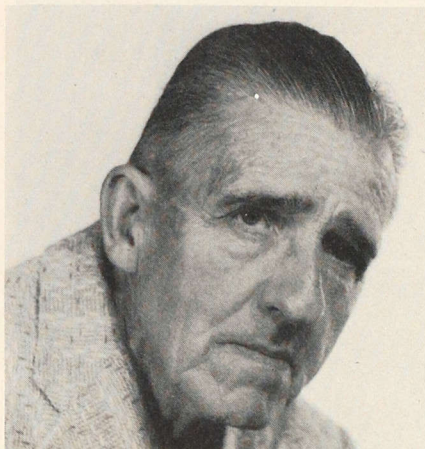

Washington Beta at Washington State has had a very active and productive year with seventeen new initiates showing strong leadership qualities, exemplified by their second-place finish in the local heart fund drive.

From Delegate to Doctor — and Leadership School Has a New Director

by Ray J. Artigue

IN 1963, as reward for his efforts, Texas Gamma at the University of Texas, El Paso, sent its "Outstanding Pledge" to the National Leadership School in Evanston, Illinois.

Neither the chapter nor the young "junior active" probably thought much about the impact that the trip to the fraternity's National Headquarters might have. There would be hundreds of brothers from around the country in attendance. All would learn much, have fun, return home, and life would go on.

This August, exactly 15 years later, that same outstanding pledge from Texas will return to the 44th Leadership School. This time, however, as Dr. Richard Lee Moore, II, and not to learn but rather to teach. He will serve as the new Director of Leadership Training.

"The School has changed a great deal since I first attended," says the brother that friends call 'Skip', "but those changes are in the format more than anything else. The enthusiasm and the singing and the spirit are still the same."

Skip's enthusiasm seems no different for this, the first school under his direction, than it was for his first as a delegate. After a lengthy list of service to ΣAE spanning the chapter, province and national levels, he returns, as in Homecoming, to the place where he first learned of ΣAE's magnitude and significance.

Skip admits that he won't change much of the School in his neophyte year as its director. "I will continue to build on the good work of the previous directors but I'm not going to monkey around with what is now the best leadership school in the Greek world."

If and when changes do occur, Moore's education and experience will ably lend to the occasion. He is currently the Assistant Director of Continuing Education and assistant professor of continuing education with appointments in the College of Medicine at the University of Nebraska Medical Center in Omaha. At age 33, and with his Ed.D, he is well on his way to a successful profession in higher education.

It is not surprising then, that Moore believes the National Leadership School is the best single thing that ΣAE can offer its members.

"The School is the most important thing we do because it's our best shot at directly influencing the lives of our chapters. It rejuvenates the spirit for all the good things fraternity has to offer," says Moore.

For brothers that have been to Leadership School, not many would argue. However, some 50 chapters from year-to-year do not find the time to attend the three-and-a-half day sessions in Evanston.

The new Director is not at all hesitant to outline what a chapter misses by failing to attend the School.

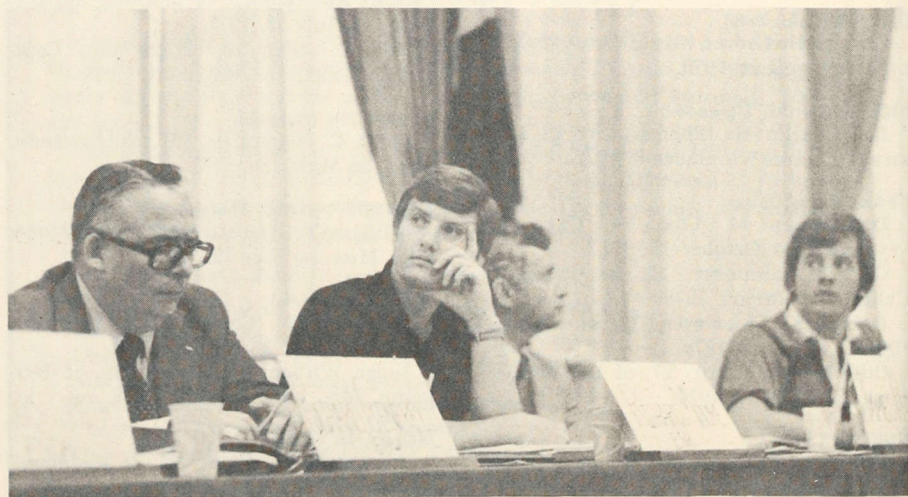

"They miss a chance to be involved in the world of ΣAE that's bigger than their chapter; they miss a lot of new and good ideas; they miss a chance to have some advice on chapter problems; they miss the brotherhood shared by 400 men from around the country; and they miss having the spirit brought home to grow. It is their loss (with no apologies)."

Moore does not mention, however, the lesson of leadership itself. Does not the Leadership School build leaders among its delegates?

"We too often look to an office holder as a leader," says Moore, "or we wait for some catastrophe for a leadership situation (to develop). The fact is that leadership is influencing others and we all do that daily in the way we live our lives.

"I believe that any good, mature Chapter Advisor who lives a positive influencing life is more of a true leader on a long term basis than someone like me who serves in a national position. I guess I'm saying that leadership is just not all that dramatic — inspiration might be — but daily influencing of others toward a good life is my idea of real leadership!”

A moment of reflection for Skip and wife Peggy as the new Supreme Council is sworn in at the final banquet in Philadelphia.

This philosophy about leadership is not new to those brothers in the fraternity who have heard Moore deliver speeches as he traveled the United States under the roles of Eminent Supreme Herald and Chronicler. He believes strongly in the idea of influencing others lives—for their betterment—and has obviously gained the fraternity’s support by doing so.

“The thing I liked most about serving on the Council was having the opportunity to see guys all over the country having a real positive fraternity experience.”

Skip will continue to see brothers — more than 400 at a time — having that “real positive fraternity experience” only now they will be traveling to him rather than he going to them, an adjustment he says he will enjoy.

“Serving on the Council required a real time commitment in order to get a hold on everything—you’d be amazed at the mail ΣAE generates with all the reports and letters, etc.

“The main reason I left the Council was time. I have a young family (daughter, Sara; son, Brian; and wife, Peggy) as well as a developing career and during this time of my life I need my weekends at home.”

Skip has said many times that the fraternity—the chapters of ΣAE —will continue to live on in spite of a Supreme Council or any other outside factor. He stops short of excluding Chapter Advisors, however, when declaring chapters’ independent existence.

“If there is any formula for success in a chapter, it is the involvement of members in programming and decision-making; having a variety of activities; and being of sufficient size so as not to over-involve everyone. All of these things must then be coupled with alumni support and advice.

“The key to handling chapter problems is in surrounding the group with good solid alumni advisors who are positive examples of adjustment and common sense. As these men become known to the men of the chapter then they become the necessary resource in times of trouble.”

While serving as Archon of Province Theta as well as traveling to many chapters for four years, Moore had more than ample opportunity to see chapters in “times of trouble.” He believes that problems will always be with us but not because the fraternity necessarily fosters them. “Fraternity, in and of itself, doesn’t foster problems like alcohol and drug abuse; they occur in all segments of society,” says Moore.

“There are a couple of concerns, though. One is that many of our members are at a stage of maturation in which they are trying to establish workable patterns for their lives. This leads to experimentation with ideas or practices which may or may not be particularly helpful in the long run. And in some cases the chapter reinforces the incorrect behaviors as in the case of laughing at the problem drinker.”

All in all, no one believes in the value of the college fraternity more than Skip. He calls it the most positive college experience a young man can have.

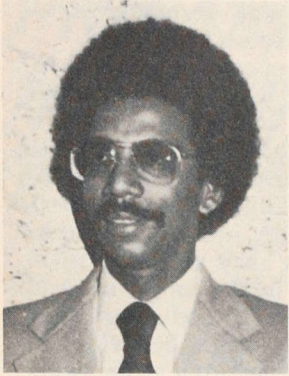

“I know that my involvement in ΣAE has figured in my life, time and again, and I’m glad to have an opportunity to maybe help provide an atmosphere that will give that experience to others in the future.”

Beginning this August, Skip will begin to “figure” in many, many lives!

Volunteer Leadership Is Cog In the Wheel of Progress . . .

THE Greek term Archon, in that language, means Ruler. In ΣΑΕ, the word has been translated to mean President.

For thousands of undergraduates and alumni in the 25 Provinces that span the country, the word Archon implies hard work, tireless dedication and a deep knowledge of fraternity practices.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon is extremely proud of its nationwide volunteer structure; and especially of those brothers that make it work on a day-to-day level. Because of these persons, and their devotion to ΣΑΕ, we are able to grow and prosper with each year that passes.

The National Office is happy to present the newest slate of Province Archons for 1978-80. These brothers are truly outstanding individuals—in both their professional and fraternal lives—and because they serve without compensation, they are as generous as they are talented. We thank you—each of you—as do the hundreds of brothers that rely on your leadership. . . .

Re-elected to another 2-year term were: Gerald Alleyne, Alpha; Q. Todd Dickinson, Beta; W. Charles Witzleben, Epsilon; John F. Miller, Zeta; J. Clarke Houston, Eta; M. N.Y. Association honors 12 brothers with T.H.E. Award

The New York Alumni Association held their Founder's Day Celebration on the fraternity's exact birthdate, March 9, and the highlight of the evening was the presentation of THE HIGHEST EFFORT Award (THE).

T.H.E. award goes annually to those alumni who have been recognized as "truly outstanding persons who have performed a service that betters human conditions or furthers the knowledge of mankind."

The 1978 T.H.E. winners Award went to 12 brothers, eight of whom were in attendance to receive their awards on Founder's Day. This year's winners, in alphabetical order, are as follows:

Mr. Tommy Bell, University of Kentucky '44, referee for the National Football League for 35 years which includes officiating two Super Bowls. Bell is now retired and practicing law in Lexington, Kentucky.

Mr. Mike Burke, University of Pennsylvania '39, is now the President of Madison Square Garden and is widely recognized in the sports world. Burke is past President of the New York Yankees, CBS Europe Radio and General Manager of Ringling Brothers.

Mr. Howard Cerney, University of Iowa '48, currently a member of the fraternity's Board of Trustees, practices law in New York City. Cerney has practiced law before the Circuit, District, and U.S. Supreme Courts.

Mr. John Dalton, William and Mary '53, was just recently elected Governor of the Commonwealth of Virginia. Prior to becoming Governor, Dalton served the state as Lt. Governor since 1973.

Mr. Pete Domenici, University of New Mexico '55, did the "impossible" in the state of New Mexico and won a seat in the U.S. Senate—as a Republican. Previously, the Democrats had held that position since 1912.

Dr. George Gallup, Sr., University of Iowa '22, is the founder of the Gallup Poll and Research Organization in Princeton, New Jersey. Author of many books, director of several associations, Gallup has been consultant to every U.S. President since Roosevelt.

Mr. John Jakes, DePauw University '53, wrote his first book while an SAE at DePauw. 55 books later, selling some 22 million copies, he has been a "best selling author" for many years.

Mr. Bob Kamerschen, Miami University '57, lives in New York City and is President of the Chanel Corporation, making him one of the youngest corporate presidents in America.

Mr. Prime Osborn, III, University of Alabama '36, is President and Chief Executive Officer of Seaboard Coast Line Industries. Osborn, a third generation legacy of SAE, played a key role in merging the railroad and airplane arms of Seaboard in 1970.

Mr. Robert L. Rooke, Bucknell University '13, was presented with Bucknell's highest award—the Stephen W. Taylor Medal. "In all its long history, no son of Bucknell has more tirelessly served his alma mater than you have . . .," reads the inscription on Rooke's award.

Mr. Bobby Troop, University of Pennsylvania '55, now a resident of Los Angeles, can currently be seen in his star role as "the older doctor" on the television series, "Emergency." Troop is married to another star of the same show, the lovely Julie London.

Mr. Tom Williams, Georgia Tech '50, is currently serving as Chairman of the Board of the First National Bank of Atlanta. Williams is deeply involved in community activities and is a Trustee on the Board of the American Cancer Society.

More than 100 brothers, representing eight Province Chi chapters, were in attendance for the festive province Founder's Day banquet on March 11, 1978.

ESA Louis Smith was the Guest Speaker and Province Archon Walt DeAgüero presided.

Following the banquet, the brothers of California Gamma at the University of Southern Cal, hosted a party at their chapter house.

Pledge waits 30 years to become initiated!

Rhesa Bostick, a pledge to ΣAE in the fall of 1948, was recently initiated by the brothers of Florida Upsilon during their Founder's Day Weekend Celebration.

Bostick was forced to leave the chapter in '48 to join the military during the Korean War. Thirty years later, he finally became an ΣAE and was pinned by his ΣAE son Steve.

Amidst other Founder's Day festivities, the Joree McFarlin Scholarship award was presented to Eric Muller, '80.

Guest Speaker at the chapter's final banquet was Eminent Supreme Chronicler Thomas R. Kessler.

Minnesota Alpha at the University of Minnesota welcomed 150 brothers to its Founder's Day, March 9, 1978.

The Celebration was held in the beautiful University of Minnesota Alumni Club on the fifth floor of the I.D.S. Tower.

Four Fifty-Year Certificates were presented and the $60,000 Chapter Remodeling Program, scheduled to begin this summer, was announced.

Special tribute was made to Brother Pat Meyman '78, who was killed in an auto accident this past winter.

Nearly 200 SAE's, parents, and guests gathered on February 26th in Sioux Falls, South Dakota, for the First Annual All-South Dakota SAE Founder's Day.

ESA Louis Smith was the Guest Speaker following a luncheon in the Starlite Room of the Downtown Holiday Inn.

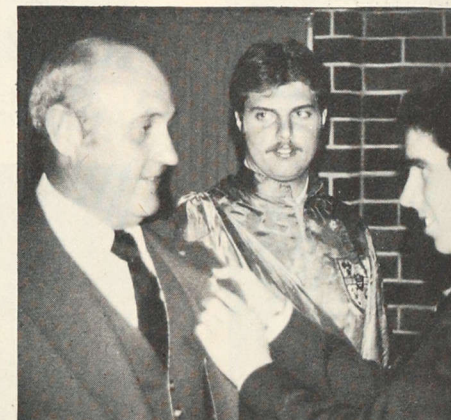

Hosted by the Sioux Falls SAE Alumni Association, the event was chaired by Jay Zea, South Dakota '68; Rex Christensen, South Dakota '78; and Jim Welke, South Dakota State '78.

Zea, vice president of the Alumni Association, said the two chapters and alumni hope to establish a tradition and hold Founder's Day in Sioux Falls every year.

"A great day, a great time . . . with truly great brothers!"

That is how one brother summed up the 1978 Founder's Day Celebration of the Pensacola Alumni Association, held March 11, 1978, at the Knights of Columbus Hall. The festivities were held in conjunction with the annual Awards Banquet of Florida Sigma at the University of West Florida.

Guest Speaker was Province Omicron Archon Dave Covert. He was later awarded the Order of the Phoenix, as was Gene R. Flathman, University of West Florida '74. Dr. James A. Bell, Emory '28, was presented with his Fifty-Year Certificate.

Rhesa Bostick is pinned by son, Steve, as E.A. Jim Ware looks on.

Army base is site of ΣAE's birthday party

Founder's Day is a time of celebration for brothers of Sigma Alpha Epsilon—no matter where the location.

This year, several brothers at the Fort Leavenworth Army Command in Kansas toasted ΣAE's birthday.

By rare coincidence, three of the brothers in attendance and on the base were undergraduate brothers at Missouri Alpha.

Those in attendance were: Lt. Col. James C. Cooper, Missouri '60; Major Michael F. Boyd, Mississippi '66; Lt. Col. Paul P. Foely, Massachusetts '62; Major Andrew W. Coffey, Missouri '63; Major H. T. Linke, New Hampshire '67; Air Force Capt. Stephan A. Mosier, Missouri '66; Lt. Col. Larry L. Grabhorn, Indiana '60.

Founder's Day 1978 was indeed a special occasion for the Memphis Alumni Association. After being dormant for nearly three years, not only was the association revived but it sponsored one of the most successful Founder's Day banquets in the city's history.

More than 200 area alumni, actives, and Little Sisters of Minerva crowded into the Memphis University Club on March 9th to pay tribute to ΣAE.

Association President Mark S. Nunn, Arkansas '74, presided over the festivities which were highlighted by an address from the mayor of Memphis, the Honorable Wyeth Chandler, Tennessee '51. Other activities included the presentation of four Fifty-Year Certificates.

The Atlanta Alumni Association concluded their 1977-78 year with a Founder's Day Dinner on February 24, at Aunt Fanny's Cabin in Smyrna, Georgia.

With more than 130 persons in attendance, this year's celebration proved to be the largest ever for the Atlanta alumni. Past Association President Clyde A. Tallent, Oglethorpe '72, said the earlier date was the reason for better attendance, but it may just have been Aunt Fanny's gracious Southern "home cook-in'."

Fifty-Year Certificates were awarded by Brother Robert L. Cousins, Mercer '24, to the following: Richard P. Dupage, Jr., Washington & Lee '31; Frank H. Maier, Georgia Tech '31; Hamilton Lokey, Georgia '31; and Paul L. Dorn, Georgia Tech '31.

Some 125 brothers were in attendance March 10th as the Greater Kansas City Alumni Association of SAE held its 84th annual Founder's Day Celebration at Milburn Golf and Country Club in Overland Park.

Highlight of the evening was the announcement of the 1978 "Honor Man" award which went to Sanford W. Stuck, Missouri '30. Stuck is President of West-

Numerous awards were bestowed by this tradition-rich alumni association and among those were Fifty-Year Certificates. Recipients were: Newman R. Donnell, University of the South '31; Melford E.
