

By J. Clarke Houston, III

During the 51st Leadership School, one day was designated ΣAE letters day. This was the day that all participants were encouraged to wear the ΣAE letters throughout the day — and they did! One could see all types of shirts, shorts, hats and sweatbands emblazoned with our Greek letters. What a sight! What spirit!

One shirt was of particular interest — on the front was imprinted " ΣAE Pride" in bold purple colors. It prompted one to stop to think of exactly what pride can or does mean to this fraternity.

Pride — or showing it in behavior — can cut either one of two ways. One way is defined by an overly high opinion of oneself, exaggerated self-esteem, conceit, arrogance. It espouses the belief that the group can do no wrong, that the group will protect the individual, that individual behavior will not reflect on the group as a whole, that in the name of unity, brotherhood, and fraternity, "anything goes."

Unfortunately, that display of pride has done ΣAE harm in some quarters. Manifesting itself in behavior which is generally unacceptable and unbecoming of The True Gentleman, this form of pride is the antithesis of that for which we stand. Disrespect for the rights and feelings of others, alcohol- or drug-induced "macho" behavior, poor scholarship, hazing, ill treatment of women, and indifference to public image are examples of that disdainful notion of pride that can make us all losers.

The second way pride can be defined is a sense of one's own dignity or worth, self-respect, a delight or satisfaction in one's own and others' achievements. It espouses the belief that we stand for those ideas which lift the individual beyond the limits of his own personality to fit into the higher order of mankind. This sense of pride, tempered with humility, can be an extraordinary asset to the individual and to our fraternity in general. This notion of pride can make us all winners.

Consider these descriptions of our fraternity from The Phoenix: "opportunity for self development," brothers are "challenged to give of themselves," the fraternity "fosters ... friendship, brotherhood, making and keeping friends," "to live as a friend in the fullest sense of the word," "to live and work successfully with others," "respects the dignity and worth of others," "seeks understanding and cooperation" and "able to disagree openly ... able to trust each other." These words describe the atmosphere in which a winning sense of pride develops.

Which definition of pride fits us? What would the casual outside observer tell us about ourselves? Would we hear gentlemen, good will, propriety, self-control, humility, frankness, sincerity, honor? Would we be considered winners?

Think about it.

THE RECORD

With this issue, we salute all the winners within the realm of Sigma Alpha Epsilon. We are proud of our winning heritage and we are humbled by the accomplishments of our outstanding brothers.

Among the many winning individuals presented here, you will enjoy getting to know Brother Robert Ballard, chief scientist of the Titanic exploration. A member of California Eta at the University of California at Santa Barbara, he is an impressive man who is acclaimed by the scientific community as well as the media. Brother E. Wes Ely, Jr. has earned the nation's top Greek scholarship for graduate students. Read about

FROM THE EDITOR

Wes, a medical student at Tulane University, in the "Alumni News" section of this issue. The Σ AE Foundation's Jones-Laurence Award for Scholastic Achievement was given to William Scott McCary, an Alabama Iota member at Birmingham-Southern College. Brother McCary won our fraternity's top scholarship award for many good reasons, as you will see in "Foundation Programs."

This issue also features the many alumni and undergraduate groups of brothers who worked together in teams to accomplish winning goals. ΣAEs have been producing many excellent programs and events in the last year — programs for scholarship within a chapter, and for others, such as alumni, rush guests, pledges, other students and for the needy.

The late Emmett Moore was ESA from 1949 to 1951 but served his fraternity for decades on the local, province and national level.

He entered the Chapter Eternal on August 3rd. He was a winner all the way and we dedicate this issue of The Record to his mem-

A REAL WINNER —

'Bottom Gun' Ballard Sets His Sights Low

By Tracey Stoll

E USUALLY THINK OF A WINNER AS someone who sets their sights high, who reaches for new heights . . . or ascends to the top.

Not so with Brother Robert Ballard. Ballard is a winner, all right, but he can hardly be associated with ascents or heights. Dr. Ballard is a winner for diving to new depths, for descending to the bottom. The bottom of the Atlantic Ocean, that is, or the Pacific Ocean ... or even Lake Ontario.

Ballard, California at Santa Barbara '64 (Eta), marine geologist and oceanographer, is the chief scientist of the teams that found the "unsinkable" Titanic at the bottom of the ocean last year, and revisited it this past July. But more importantly, Brother Ballard is a winner in the finest ΣAE tradition.

A goal-oriented man since his undergraduate days, Ballard (colleagues at the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution in Massachusetts call him Bob) learned early to take charge of his life. He told Oceanus magazine last year, "I really believe that a person can be what he wants to be."

"I decided in 1972 that I was going to find the Titanic," he explained to The Record. "At Woods Hole, you can pretty much choose your own destiny and work toward it. The Titanic project is something I always wanted to do. I set my own goal and then worked to attain it.

"I'm totally goal-oriented," he added.

Ballard: 'The Titanic project is something I always wanted to do.' What kind of individual can so selfassuredly reach for the stars, in a manner of speaking, and actually capture them? How can he be so sure he will succeed?

BOB HAS BEEN COMPARED TO AN astronaut, Captain Nemo and Lewis and Clark, all rolled into one. Secretary of the Navy John Lehman, whose department financed the Titanic expedition, declared Ballard the Navy's "Bottom Gun."

He has accomplished many things, most of which took long periods of time to complete. Like his ancestor "Bat" Masterson (of Wichita, Kansas gunfighting fame), he is something of a loner and unafraid of taking risks. He attributes much of his success to discipline, which he developed through many of his college experiences.

He went through the R.O.T.C. program at UC Santa Barbara, and was first commissioned as a lieutenant in the Army. He transferred to the Navy while still an undergraduate and got a job in the Ocean Technology Section, where he worked on submersibles.

Bob was in a rigorous academic program, earning his physical science degree with a double major in chemistry and geology, and a double minor in math and physics. He played intercollegiate basketball his freshman year, but was forced to give it up to devote more time to studying. He served as an officer at Cal Eta and was president of his junior class.

"The Titanic project drew upon many of the things I learned in those years," Ballard said.

"Primarily, it was teamwork — working closely with other people," he explained.

"Certainly the fraternity teaches you that, as do athletics and the military.

"During the Titanic project, just getting along with people was critical to the success of the operation. Fraternity life teaches you how to get along with people ... You certainly don't get to pick all your brothers in the fraternity."

In getting along with people, Brother Ballard enjoys the benefits of a good sense of humor. Reporters have mentioned his humorous antics, and he admits to being a ham.

He developed his "hamming" skills while training porpoises to perform at Sealife Park in Hawaii, where he went to do graduate work in oceanography.

"Of course, when you're raised in a fraternity, you're all hams," he laughed.

HAT WERE THOSE COLLEGE YEARS like for Bob at California Eta?

"Cal Eta was really a jock chapter. Intramurals were really big on our campus. Our football games against Delta Tau Delta drew more people than the school's football games.

"We did a lot of singing. The fraternity was really good at singing, although we didn't think of ourselves as singers per se.

"I don't know if they [Cal Eta] still sing as much as we used to."

Last fall, Dr. Ballard returned to UCSB to accept a Distinguished Alumni Award from the school's alumni association for his work in oceanography. Upon receiving his plaque for his "serious" work, he recalled for the audience a few pranks he pulled with ΣAE brothers and described how his college years prepared him for his current work. He finally "escaped" from a crowd of reporters to attend the homecoming football game with some brothers.

"We had a heck of a good gettogether. They threw a party for me. I got to re-establish some friendships. It was really marvelous to get together and tell stories and sing songs," Brother Ballard recalled.

"After the UCSB game, the fraternity invited us all over to the house. There were about 15 of us there from our era. We all just started singing ΣAE songs, and the younger guys came in the room and started singing with us. We remembered all the words - it seemed like we knew more songs than the young guys did," he said chuckling.

A FTER EARNING HIS B.S. DEGREE, BOB pursued his graduate education while serving as an officer in the Navy. In 1970, he was assigned to the Office of Naval Research in Boston as Oceanographic Liaison Officer, and went to work on the technical staff at Woods Hole. In 1974, he earned his PhD, which, he claims, made people start paying attention to what he had to say.

He was recently recommissioned as a commander in the U.S. Naval Reserves. and he contributes to the Navy's cause in his work at Woods Hole as well. Many of his projects are financed by the Navy, so Dr. Ballard does classified research "for submarine warfare," he explained.

Dr. Ballard's work has led to authorship of many books, articles and encyclopedia pieces. He wrote the book Exploring Our Living Planet for National Geographic.

In his spare time, Bob and his wife of 20 years, Marjorie, remodel and refurnish their 17-room farmhouse. The house is more than 140 years old, and completing it has been another longterm accomplishment.

"It's almost done, after 16 years of working on it," Bob reported.

"I also go to my kids' hockey games." (His sons are 18 and 16 years old.)

"They're really into hockey. Hockey was their choice, of course. I didn't know the first thing about hockey," he chuckled. Ballard was born in Wichita, Kansas and grew up on the West Coast.

R. BALLARD HAS BEEN CREDITED Dwith running an inventive lab on shore, between his journeys to "the deep" with submersibles and robotics.

"It's a creative lab," he explained.

"That means hardly any management structure," he laughed, explaining that he is the lab's manager.

"I dream up the concepts that we work on. Having a creative lab means putting together a team of very talented people. It's sort of a breeder-reactor of talent," he explained.

He has likened his role as chief scientist to that of a symphony conductor, orchestrating ships, submarine and 250 people. Much of his research has scientific significance for the future; it is exploratory in nature and bears similarities to space exploration.

E VIEWS THE OCEAN FLOOR AS A hostile, sparse desert, and therefore does not visualize people inhabiting the ocean floor. What, then is the value of his work, to him and to our nation?

"It's the fundamental exploration of the new territories of America," Brother Ballard explained.

"The Exclusive Economic Zone pact essentially doubles the size of America. It's equal to four Louisiana Purchases.

"Lewis and Clark launched their expedition when America acquired the Louisiana Purchase ... I would like to be part of that Lewis and Clark exploration phase of our new territory," Bob said.

"The only difference is," he added, his sense of humor intact, "Lewis and Clark got to interview a lot of Indians.

"I don't have any Indians to interview, so we have to work in the dark."

1987 Portland Convention T-Shirts Now Available

Brothers planning to attend the $\Sigma AE 131$ st Anniversary National Convention in Portland will want to wear the official "city of roses" convention T-shirt to promote the convention among the brothers. Sales of the shirts support the Convention Committee's fundraising efforts, and will offset costs of convention events.

The T-shirt is a white adult Hanes Beefy Tee and the convention logo (larger than shown here) appears on the left chest area. Because Portland is known for its beautiful rose gardens, the logo features a rose in addition to the profile of the ΣAE lion.

To order your convention T-shirt, send a check for $11 to ΣAE National Fraternity, Attn: Merchandise, P.O. Box 1856, Evanston, IL 60204. Please indicate size L or XL. VISA or MasterCard orders can be made over the phone by calling 312-475-1856 between 8:30 and 4:30 Central Time.

'Tidal Wave' of Enthusiasm Launches Second Half-Century of ΣΑΕ Leadership Training

By Tracey Stoll

F THE ENTHUSIASM OF UNDERGRADuate brothers at the 51st Leadership School is any indication, the next halfcentury of ΣAE leadership training should be, in the words of one Michigan Iota-Beta brother, "awesome."

The high level of enthusiasm during this year's school was evident at every turn. Despite a four-delegates-perchapter limit, a record 631 undergraduates registered for Leadership School, representing 175 of our 193 chapters. Brothers were visible all over the Northwestern University campus in Evanston, wearing their ΣAE letters or their chapter's t-shirts and jerseys.

They showed their enthusiasm during each general assembly session — cheering, clapping and whistling, doing "the wave" in the auditorium, and heartily singing ΣAE songs.

"This year's undergrads were more pumped up than I've ever seen anyone," commented Dean Morell, Oregon '79 (Beta), a member of the volunteer alumni faculty for the school.

Colony delegates at the Levere Memorial Temple.

"The spirit of the school was extremely high," said Darrell Gibson, Ball State '72 (Indiana Zeta), Director of Leadership Training for the fraternity. "The participation in the programs was very good."

A Georgia Epsilon brother from Emory University said that the 51st Leadership School "filled me with a real excitement about ΣAE ."

One faculty member wrote, "I returned [home] with my 'batteries recharged' and a renewed commitment to ΣAE ."

'I returned [home] with my 'batteries recharged' and a renewed commitment to ΣΑΕ.'

"I cannot remember the excitement, enthusiasm and commitment to the school from the undergraduates in the three previous schools I attended," wrote another faculty member. "This was the most successful one ever."

Bill Stelter, Iowa Beta's delegate from the University of Iowa, said the school "showed that everything we'd been taught and told is true ... about how the national fraternity stands behind you, and there's really a national fraternity. It really helped to see that."

Brian O'Neel, a delegate from Cal Pi (California State University at Fullerton), described the 51st Leadership School from his perspective:

"It surpassed every expectation I had. People told me that I'd have a great time, that it would be great meeting all the 'bros,' and that I'd learn a lot. But the things I've learned, I can't even begin to describe.

"It's going to be very hard putting the feelings into words when I go back and try to share and express my feelings about what I've learned here with my chapter. It's because there's been so much ... it's overwhelming. It's like a tidal wave."

Colony Program

The 51st Leadership School brought together the largest-ever group of ΣAE colony delegates. Fifty undergraduates from colony groups attended the school, which included special seminars tailored for them, in addition to the general sessions and seminars. The colony group included delegates from the new Yale University ΣAE colony as well as the interest group at University of North Alabama.

"It was exciting to see 50 men so enthusiastic about the future of ΣAE on their campuses," said Brad Cohen, extension director for the national fraternity. "The 1986-87 school year should prove to be very productive for the fraternity's extension program, and the colony program at Leadership School provided added impetus."

200,000th Member

At the opening session of the school, Brother Noel "Sam" Painovich of Iowa Delta at Drake University received the 200,000th ΣAE badge from ESA Clarke Houston. Sam became the 200,000th member last spring when his pledge class was initiated.

Brother Houston said as he gave Sam his badge, "Since you have respectfully adopted it, may you always wear it worthily."

Focus on Alcohol Issues

There were several firsts at the 51st Leadership School. In addition to traditional alumni speakers and guest speakers, the delegates gathered for a general session on "Alcohol at Risk," a special presentation by Dr. Tom Goodale, Iowa State University '62 (Gamma). Goodale, who is vice chancellor for student affairs at the University of Denver and serves as the Educational Advisor to the national fraternity, has spoken to many collegiate groups and Greek conventions on alcohol and substance abuse. His Leadership School message was strong and effective; most delegates wanted copies of his material to take back to their chapters.

Another popular first at this school was a seminar on legal issues and alcohol use. The growing liability crisis in our country and the 21-year-old drinking age law in most states have made it necessary for the fraternity to educate its undergraduate members about the legal ramifications of serving alcohol, and to provide chapters with alternatives to "wet" social functions.

The new seminar, conducted by Dr. Goodale and attorney Marc Franson, Drake University '77 (lowa Delta), was well-received, even by delegates who said they were previously indifferent to the problem. Many chapter rush chairmen and social chairmen expressed appreciation for the valuable information and ideas shared in the seminar. A videotape of the seminar is available from the national fraternity office.

'I cannot remember the excitement, enthusiasm and commitment to the school from the undergraduates in the three previous schools I attended.'

The fraternity's new Suggested Chapter Alcohol Policy was distributed to delegates during their Leadership School "chapter" meetings. The new policy was discussed within the groups and delegates took home many ideas for implementing the policy in their home chapters.

"The fraternity is really beginning to take the alcohol problem seriously," commented Father Bob Hedges, Drake University '51 (Iowa Delta). Hedges serves as chairman of the fraternity's

House Corporation Officers

Committee on Men's Health Issues, and was pleased with the interest shown by delegates in the alcohol issue — its personal, societal and legal aspects. Through the ΣAE Foundation, Father Bob and the committee provide workshops on alcohol abuse prevention for individual chapters and province meetings upon request.

House Corporation Program

A special program was introduced at the 51st Leadership School to address issues concerning house corporations. Representatives from 15 chapter house corporations participated in the program, and their response to the program was favorable. Their meetings covered house replacement planning and implementation, property insurance, developing tax-exempt trusts, accounting and taxes.

A province archon who attended some of the House Corporation Program meetings commented that "Tom Devine [of the Chapter Housing Committee] and the national fraternity's Chapter Housing Committee have done an outstanding job. I hope we can send more representatives from house corporations in our province next year."

Talent Show

The 51st Leadership School also featured the first annual ΣAE talent show, masterminded by faculty member Bill Dowell, Birmingham-Southern College '78 (Alabama Iota). The show, dubbed "Sig Alph Night Live," featured acts by brothers of all ages, including a skit performed by the Supreme Council.

"Judging by the number of entries in the talent show, and its enthusiastic audience, it was a huge success," Brother Dowell commented. "We had mostly comedy acts this year, but we will present serious talent, too, if we have a talent show again next year."

Send a Brother to Leadership School.

 ΣAE alumni, friends of chapters, and parents can help delegates attend the ΣAE Leadership School by making tax-deductible gifts to the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Foundation.

Each brother who attends the school must pay a tuition fee and his travel expenses, unless donations have been made to offset these costs. The tuition fee has been $150 the last two years.

Leadership School contributors may designate the chapter or chapters for which their gift is made. Individual recipients of the funds are chosen by the chapter based on need, scholarship and character.

If you wish to help to send a brother to Leadership School, please make your check payable to the " ΣAE Foundation," specifically designating for Leadership School tuition, and send it to the ΣAE Foundation, P.O. Box 1856, Evanston, IL 60202.

LEADERSHIP SCHOOL SPEAKER T. BOONE PICKENS:

'You don't have to cheat to win'

Guest speaker for the 51st Leadership School was the infamous takeover entrepreneur of the oil industry, T. Boone Pickens, Oklahoma State University '51 (Mu), president and chief executive officer of Mesa Petroleum Company.

Pickens, who has spoken to 25,000 college students nationwide in the last two years, addressed the question, "How can I go out and do what you've (Pickens) done?" His advice focused on the following points:

- Analyze well; assess risk carefully. There is no substitute for good research.
- Be objective. Don't get emotionally involved when making decisions involving risk.
- Once you've analyzed well, don't be afraid to act. Make a decision. Indecision is a disease, and it can ruin a good career.
- Play by the rules. Remember what motivates people: Profit is the driver in the case of business. Make money honestly. You don't have to cheat to win.
- Do things in moderation. It's true what they say about a healthy body — it makes a healthy mind. Whatever it is, do it in moderation. Success doesn't mean all work and no play.
- No matter how successful you become in business, don't ever forget what it's like to eat hamburgers. Don't get on a sirloin steak diet and believe you can never go back. If you're going to be aggressive in business, you're going to have some losers.

"I promise you that if you stay fit, work hard and play by the rules, that you'll have fun and you'll beat the hell out of the competition," Brother Pickens concluded.

Pickens answered several questions from the alumni and undergraduates in the audience. He told the brothers he likes what he sees on college campuses today, describing a "willingness to work, and a revival of the entrepreneurial spirit."

"Change is coming like a tidal wave," he said, referring to what he calls good ole' boys left over from another era: "Professional managers who are more concerned with keeping their jobs than working for the shareholders." Brother Pickens cited the alarming number of top corporate executives who own little, if any, of their company's stock, and therefore don't have a stake in the success of the corporation.

"The entrepreneurs are replacing the good ole' boys in modern corporate America, and that's good. That's good for you, because young people love change; because change means opportunity. Old people want the status quo; they're afraid of change. We're going to see the good ole' boys moved out of corporate America and that's going to make this country a lot more competitive.

"When I look out over this group right here," Pickens said, "I see another room full of leaders for this country. I like what I see, and I'm comfortable with what I see.

"The future of this country is not with some 58-year-old," he said, referring to himself, "it's with you people right here."

Scott McCary Wins $3,500 Jones-Laurence Scholastic Award

WILLIAM SCOTT McCARY, A MEMBER of Alabama Iota at Birmingham-Southern College, has been named the recipient of the ΣAE Foundation's top scholarship award, The Jones-Laurence Award for Scholastic Achievement. As the winner of the award, Scott received a cash prize of $3,500.

Currently a medical student at the University of Alabama, Brother McCary graduated last spring with a degree in chemistry. Going into his last semester at Birmingham-Southern, he had maintained a 3.96 grade point average out of a possible 4.0. Scott held several offices in his chapter; he had been a leader in many campus organizations; he is a member of Mortar Board, Omicron Delta Kappa, Phi Beta Kappa, a pre-med honorary society and other honoraries; he was active in intramural sports; and he worked as an intern to a local surgeon during the school year.

But it was not just an impressive list of accomplishments and several recommendations from administrators that set apart Scott McCary's application for the Jones-Laurence scholastic award; it was his essay on academics as the foundation of a true education.

"I believe that in order to get a wellrounded education one must participate in a mixture of activities in college. First and foremost, though, one should strive to build a strong academic base from which they can better pursue the many other valuable experiences of college life," he wrote.

He cited students who use college to "get the most out of their new-found personal freedom ... [arguing] that they are receiving an 'education' through their experiences in extracurricular activities."

"This 'education' is a shallow one and in the long run unfulfilling, failing to produce the satisfaction and benefits of an education built upon academic excellence."

A^{CADEMICS, HE EXPLAINED, TEACH "... the process of learning to think critically and logically, and to explore what is important."}

"I believe that the insight we gain from the classroom is an invaluable tool in all aspects of the fraternity," he wrote.

"Perhaps the most beneficial thing to the fraternity is the characteristics that the members acquire in their pursuit of academic excellence — desire, discipline and persistence. These characteristics are universal; if one shows them in the classroom, they will surely spill over into all other areas of his life," he explained.

McCary: Top scholar

'Academics teach the process of thinking critically and logically.'

Runners-Up

Brothers John F. Mitchell of New York Alpha (Cornell) and Tim Beals of Washington Gamma (Puget Sound) were named runners-up for the Jones-Laurence Award for Scholastic Excellence. They each received a cash prize of $500.

We're loaning money to deserving brothers.

The ΣAE Foundation can loan up $3,000 to deserving ΣAE juniors, seniors or graduate students who apply for the student loan program. Eligible applicants may borrow up to $1,500 during an academic year. For more information, contact Roberta Nelson, student loan administrator at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Foundation office, P.O. Box 1856, Evanston, IL 60204.

Spring loan applications must be submitted before February 15, 1987.

The 36-year-old head physician of the U.S. Olympic Team was a leader even before Cal Delta pledged him.

At age 16, Jim Puffer had been elected student body president at El Segundo High School.

But Jim was able to enrich his leadership skills with the experiences he gained as Eminent Archon of California Delta at UCLA, and as the chapter's delegate to the ΣAE Leadership School.

"The fraternity provided the opportunity for me to mature as a person as well as to learn the importance of consensus and communication in leading one's peers," Jim says.

Today Jim is chief of the Family Medicine Division at the UCLA School of Medicine. He is a noted sports medicine expert and he's a leader in Drug Control and Abuse programs for the NCAA and the U.S. Olympic Committee.

" SAE is an institution which has provided countless opportunities for thousands of young men during their college education. It has provided support, encouragement and motivation during an important transitional period in our lives, and we should seek to sustain this essential experience through our donations as well as our commitment to the principles of fraternity."

James C. Puffer, M.D. California Delta '72 Head Physician, U.S. Olympic Team

The Path to Leadership

THE CAMPAIGN FOR ∑AE seeks $7.5 million over a three-year period to reinforce existing strengths by endowing leadership development and educational and financial aid programs for undergraduates. The fundamental commitments of The Campaign are to preserve and perpetuate the fraternity's rich heritage of leadership, scholarship and fellowship.

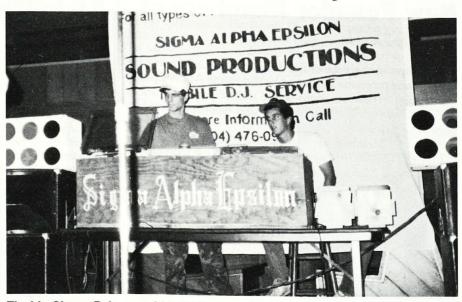

West Florida Chapter Honored for Community Service

THE FLORIDA SIGMA CHAPTER AT West Florida was named the winner of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Foundation Award for Excellence in Community Relations at the 51st Leadership School in August. Past Eminent Supreme Archon Joseph Mancini presented the award to the chapter's delegates and their Chapter Advisor, James Bell, Emory '31 (Georgia Epsilon).

The Award for Excellence in Community Relations was originally funded by the ΣAE Leadership Foundation, which Past ESA Mancini established. When Brother Mancini announced the winning chapter, he described the award saying, "This award was established to recognize the chapters that contribute their time and energy to those in need.

"Brothers of ΣAE have ... historically endeavored to improve the lives of those less fortunate than themselves. The Award for Excellence in Community Relations honors the chapter which most excels in this aspect of fraternity life."

As the winner of this award the chapter received two grants of $500 each to the charities of their choice. They chose the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation and the Muscular Dystrophy Association to benefit from the grants.

Florida Sigma D.J.s provide student entertainment.

The brothers of Florida Sigma participated in campus and community events and philanthropies in many ways. They raised money for non-profit health agencies by riding in bike-a-thons and dancing in a dance marathon. They volunteered their time as ushers, ballot box collectors, Santa and Christmas carollers and Special Olympics coaches, referees and supporters. The chapter arranged and promoted three bloodmobile visits to the campus, and hosted and provided entertainment for the freshman convocation, the freshman cookout and the College of Business orientation. In the midst of all this activity, the brothers published and mailed five newsletters during the school year to their alumni and local friends, further enhancing their community relations.

WANTED: Brothers Who Are Tops in Their Fields

Each year, the fraternity honors several outstanding alumni brothers with The Highest Effort Award. These alumni are recognized for their nationally significant professional accomplishments and exemplification of the ideals of the fraternity. Recipients of the T.H.E. Award are selected from your nominations.

A T.H.E. Award candidate must have made a significant contribution to society through his professional life; he must exemplify the ideals of ΣAE and The True Gentleman; and his service within his profession and to mankind should represent a model for brothers to follow.

To nominate an outstanding ΣAE , send a nomination that includes information on the nominee's involvement with his profession and related work, and any personal information you have that would further qualify him for this honor. Nominations must be received by December 15, 1986. Address them to: John Edwards, The Highest Effort Award, Sigma Alpha Epsilon National Fraternity, P.O. Box 1856, Evanston, IL 60204. Please include name, address and telephone number of person submitting the nomination.

Are you concerned about your brothers? Alcohol and drug abuse present a real life problem.

If you are concerned about these issues on your campus or in your chapter, help is available from the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Foundation.

Dynamic speakers and effective hands-on workshop leaders can work with you and your brothers, or address the entire campus. For more information, contact Tom Hume, director of foundation programs at the ΣAE Foundation office.

P.O. Box 1856, Evanston, IL 60204.

A. Robert Towers

Editor's Note: Brother A. Robert Towers, 93, was featured in the Summer 1986 issue of The Record for memorializing his late grandfather with a generous gift in his grandfather's name to The Campaign for ΣAE . The following letter from Brother Towers was received by the ΣAE Foundation office, together with his check for $1,000, which establishes him as Founder Member 1288.

Thank you for the copies of the summer issue of The Record and your inclusion of me in the Georgia Phi Chapter Roll of the Founders.

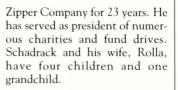

The response to the gift has been wonderful and most pleasing to me for being the giver. I had no idea that it would merit the lead article in The Record but am glad that it did for it included the second publication of my grandfather's birthday letter to his son and reaches the generation that I wanted to — the ones that might need financial assistance so as to stay in college and not be a dropout.

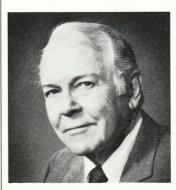

To show my appreciation I am enclosing my check for one thousand dollars as a Founder's fee in my behalf.

You did a splendid job of editing and publishing "That is the end of my story."

My best and lasting regard to you and brother Houston.

Letter From a True Big Brother

Editor's Note: The following letter was forwarded to the national fraternity office by the author's mother. It was written by a 30-year-old physician, an ΣAE brother, to his youngest brother, who pledged ΣAE over the summer. The brother who wrote the letter has asked to remain anonymous.

Congratulations on becoming a pledge of Sigma Alpha Epsilon!

Looking back to 12 years ago when I was in your position, I remember not knowing what to expect from school, life in the dorms, and being a pledge and meeting literally thousands of new people. I can say with complete confidence that being a pledge in ΣAE was the most important thing that had happened to me up to that point in my life. Its positive aspects on my life are uncountable. Friendships, help with classes, social activities, and now business opportunities have all been made possible by ΣAE .

However, being a pledge and (hopefully) a future member of ΣAE is much more than just a means of social activities. I would encourage you to learn The True Gentleman, understand it, and live it. You and your fellow members of your pledge class have a vast legacy to live up to. ΣAE has over the years at [our school] been a dominant force in student government, intramurals, and academics. Our chapter is one of the two or three largest in the country and ΣAE is the largest fraternity in the country. You will learn that it was members from [our school] who have been some of ΣAE 's greatest leaders of the national fraternity.

I would encourage you and your fellow pledges to be leaders, and have high goals. Believe me you can be anything you want if you desire it.

I am sure all of this sounds very corny (much like a graduation speaker). Besides all the serious stuff, the next years of your life (in my opinion) will be the best of your life. Enjoy everything, live everything to the fullest.

I am already looking forward to your initiation next spring.

Fraternally yours, Your Brother

Emmett B. Moore: A Memory

Eminent Supreme Archon, 1949-1951 Montana State '24 Montana Alpha

By Dr. Glen T. Nygreen, Past ESA Washington '39 (Alpha)

Emmett B. Moore, Montana Alpha '24, joined the Chapter Eternal on August 3, 1986. He was 84 and our oldest living Past Eminent Supreme Archon.

If ever anyone represented the "perfect bond fraternal" it was Emmett B. Moore. He served his fraternity with distinction at every level. He was Eminent Archon of Montana Alpha (Montana State University) and left behind him a strong and united chapter which for the next thirty years earned a record of outstanding achievements.

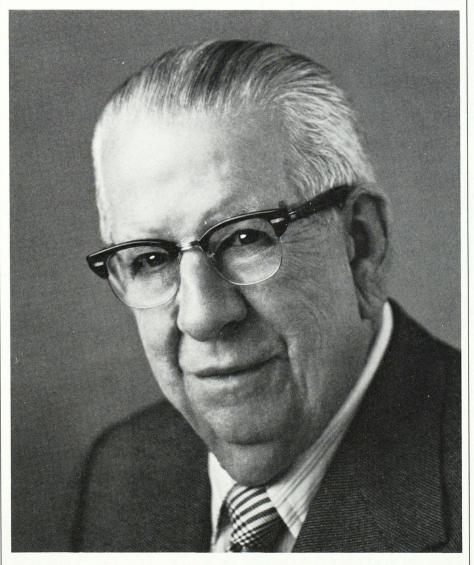

He was Archon of Province Lambda when it covered a huge western area. By diligent application and attention to duty, he built a strong, cohesive province structure.

He served on the Supreme Council during the years of World War II and later as ESA from 1949-51. That the fraternity came through the tumultuous and trying years of war into a period of great growth and strength is attributable in considerable measure to Emmett Moore's careful stewardship and visionary zeal.

For many years he served on the Leadership School faculty and as Assistant Director. He was a major influence in the growth of the fraternity through his chairmanship of the Committee of Extension. Firm in purpose, Emmett was the embodiment of fraternal good will, trusted and admired by everyone.

I first met Emmett one April Sunday morning, under the star's pale light, when he served as the initiating officer for Washington Alpha's large pledge class. I was impressed by the ceremony, so long looked forward to, and especially by the quality and teaching ability of the person who conducted it. We quickly became good friends. His advice enabled me to become more effective as a chapter advisor. His mentorship led to my assuming province office and rising through the ranks. He encouraged me to become Scholarship Commissioner and advised me as we developed a comprehensive program for the fraternity. At every point he kept before us all the interests and welfare of the fraternity, urging us to strive continuously to reach the goals held forth in the Ritual.

Emmett served as a member of the faculty and for many years as chairman of the Department of Civil Engineering at Washington State University in Pullman. He was often called upon by the college to carry special assignments (continued) of trust and importance. In all of these he served with distinction, ever keeping the welfare of the college before his personal interest.

As we look back over life's pathway, each of us recognizes that our way has been made easier and more meaningful by the thoughtfulness and caring of many brothers. Emmett Moore is one such mentor figure whose friendship has meant for many the difference of understanding how what we do affects the efforts of others. John O. Moseley recognized the quality of this engineer/ educator and kept him close to the Leadership School. A long succession of ESAs recognized this and leaned upon Emmett for leadership. What finer accolade can be given a departed brother than to say that in every thing he touched he made a difference.

We pray that Mrs. Emmett Moore, a loyal Chi Omega known to all as "Brownie," will take comfort and pride in knowing that we, "his sorrowing and afflicted Brothers," are better individuals because we knew Emmett. Their son, Dr. Emmett B. Moore, Jr., a Washington Beta member, is continuing in the model set by his father. The family stands as a living tribute to the stalwart exemplar of our ideals whom we called "Brother Emmett."

"There, with perfect Bond fraternal, 'Neath the all-seeing eye eternal, Love, our hearts, shall closer bind."

Rudy Vallee Stage, Radio and Screen Star

By Scott Haggard, Director of Chapter Development

Hubert P. "Rudy" Vallee, Maine '25 (Alpha), star of stage, screen and radio entered the Chapter Eternal July 3. Police reported that he died of a heart attack while watching the Statue of Liberty centennial salute on television. He was 84.

Vallee began his career in the late 1920s after attending the University of Maine and Yale University when he landed his own radio show on NBC called the "Fleischmann Hour." Rudy and his band, the Connecticut Yankees, soon became a hit on East Coast radio. Variety credited him with proving himself as a "smooth emcee and actor equally comfortable with straight lines and comic."

Vallee was probably best known as the megaphone-wielding crooner of the Depression era. He was the first of the crooners, preceding Bing Crosby and Perry Como. He was regarded in the 1930s much the same as Sinatra was in the '40s, Elvis Presley in the '50s and the Beatles in the '60s.

Vallee packed houses across the country with swooning female fans on his night club tours. When he married for the second of four times in 1931, 10,000 devastated female fans besieged him with reproachful telegrams at his honeymoon apartment.

As a matinee idol, Rudy appeared in more than 50 motion pictures. On stage, success came his way when he was acclaimed in "The Revue" and "Jenny Kissed Me."

In the '60s, Vallee staged a comeback and took Broadway by storm in what is his bestknown role as J. B. Bigley in "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying." In

Rudy Vallee in 1933

1967, he repeated the role in the motion picture of "How to Succeed," winning public enthusiasm for both himself and the film.

As a loyal fraternity man, Rudy was a frequent guest, speaker and entertainer at Sigma Alpha Epsilon functions nationwide for many years. Brother Vallee's first saxophone, and a large portrait of him, remain in the museum of the Levere Memorial Temple in Evanston, Illinois as a tribute to this great entertainer and brother.

For more on Brother Vallee, see "Letters" section in this issue of The Record.

John D. Jaspers, South Dakota Theta '86

John D. Jaspers, a May, 1986 graduate of South Dakota State and immediate past Eminent Archon of South Dakota Theta, died in July following an accident with a farm machine.

Brother Jaspers had been employed as assistant manager of the Pride Seed Corn Facility, a division of Northrup-King, in Wisconsin. He died after a corn detasseling machine he was operating tipped and pinned him.

John served his chapter in several offices and was an active leader on campus, belonging to several academic and leadership honoraries. He received numerous awards and scholarships as a student at SDSU.

South Dakota Theta has established a scholarship endowment fund in John's name. Memorials for the fund may be made to the John D. Jaspers Memorial Scholarship Endowment for ΣAE , c/o Greater State Fund, Tompkins Alumni Center, SDSU, Brookings, SD 57007.

Bob Wood, Former CBS President

Robert Dennis Wood, Southern California '49 (Gamma), died in May in Santa Monica, California, following a massive heart attack. He was 61.

A former Eminent Archon at Cal Gamma, Wood rose to the presidency of CBS in 1969 and held the position until 1976. He is credited with replacing what the Los Angeles Times called "corn-fed" comedies with controversial and thoughtful programming such as "MASH" and "The Mary Tyler Moore Show."

Brother William E. Krupp, Jr., Cal Gamma '52, wrote that many of the brothers of Wood's era attended the memorial service. "I thought it was best said by Don Rickles of TV and Las Vegas fame, 'He [Wood] always cared and thought of others, they really came before himself."

E. Smythe Gambrell, Former ABA Chief

E. Smythe Gambrell, Harvard '22 (Massachusetts Gamma), a past president of the American Bar Association, died in July in his home in Atlanta, Georgia. He was 90.

Brother Gambrell was a longtime Eastern Airlines attorney and founder of the Atlanta Legal Aid Society. A successful investor, he made gifts of $1 million and $5 million to Emory University and a hall bearing his name at the Lamar School of Law, respectively. He was a lecturer to Emory law students for 18 years.

Gambrell earned his law degree from Harvard in 1922, and was a past president of the Harvard Club of Atlanta. He received an honorary doctorate of law from Emory in 1964.

Dear Brother:

We are, here, presenting to you this year's official Sigma Alpha Epsilon clothing and gift line. These are items you will be proud to wear and use.

The lines of merchandise offered are well known and top quality. The embroidery and the sewing of the Greek letters will be done by the skilled craftsmen in Kalamazoo.

This is a joint venture with Ihling Bros. Everard Co. of Kalamazoo, Michigan. This firm has been in business since 1869. The company has been managed by fraternity men for over sixty-five years. That's two generations, with the third learning the business. We have worked with them for eight decades and know the quality of their work and their integrity to be above reproach.

This year working with the Ihlings, we are trying to anticipate the demand and be ready for prompt shipment. You can have confidence in the guarantee described below. But, do remember these are very specialized items, strong demands cause delay. It will be wise to anticipate extra delivery time, and do allow two weeks for transportation.

Fraternally,

Ken Tracey

IHLING BROS. EVERARD CO. Kalamazoo, Michigan SERVING SAE SINCE 1909

Pete Noonan, 'Pensacola's Own'

The ushering into the Chapter Eternal of William J. "Pete" Noonan, Illinois '11 (Beta), was sadly noted by alumni brothers in the Pensacola, Florida Area Alumni Association.

"Pete was initiated at Illinois Beta, and graduated from Notre Dame, but was surely one of Pensacola's own brothers," wrote Sam Waite, president of the Pensacola association.

A civil engineer, Brother Noonan owned a construction company he started in 1927. He was a past president of the Pensacola area Chamber of Commerce and dedicated time and energy to many philanthropic and fraternal organizations.

A Pensacola newspaper read, "he was a diminutive man, with a warm and friendly presence, active for nearly nine decades, known to Pensacolans as a giant among West Florida's road-construction pioneers."

Noonan: Warm, friendly

Charles Wennerstrum, Nuremberg Presiding Judge

Charles Frederick Wennerstrum, Drake '12 (Iowa Delta), a former Iowa Supreme Court judge and a judge in the Nuremberg trials of Nazi leaders in 1947 and '48, died in June at age 96.

Brother Wennerstrum presided over and sharply criticized some of the Nuremberg war crime trials after World War II. He "assailed what he saw as the nationalistic and biased approaches of some prosecutors to the trials, suggesting that some of them were more interested in furthering their own careers than in seeing justice done," wrote the New York Times upon Wennerstrum's death.

Serving on the Iowa Supreme Court from 1941 to 1958, Judge Wennerstrum took a leave of absence for the Nuremberg trials. He is preceded in death by sons Scott, Iowa State '49 (Gamma), and Roger, Drake '50 (Iowa Delta).

John Dalton, Former Virginia Governor

Dalton: Took stands

John Nichols Dalton, William & Mary '53 (Virginia Kappa), died in July in Washington, DC of a form of lung cancer. He was 55.

Dalton, a nonsmoker, served as Virginia's governor from 1978 to 1982, following a landslide election victory in 1977. He learned in 1983 that he had cancer, and began a lengthy fight with the disease.

A Richmond newspaper editor wrote, "... as a popular Governor, John Dalton took stands. He led."

Noted for his efforts to improve the state's economy, he kept promises to "cut the cost of government and improve its efficiency." He made solid contributions in the state's transportation, corrections and education systems.

"His life was short," the Richmond editorial reads, "far too short, but it was lived fully, with purpose and intelligence — and with success that was both abundant and deserved."

Kevin H. McDonnell, Missouri Alpha '84

By Frank Drinkhouse, Missouri Alpha '84

You may have known him, perhaps not, but we all have known and lost people like Kevin — a person who opens our awareness of life and leaves us enriched. Kevin McDonnell has passed away now, though still a brother beloved. I was asked by his family to share Kevin's beauty and joy with readers.

While at the U of Mo, Kevin was a tough house manager and a strict warden. ... He was a true fighter, and was strong until his twilight moments. He was calm and strong in mind and never lost faith during his illness. I would like to think that Kevin was ready to go and that he had his affairs in order. Although he spent a disappointingly short time with us all, he had some mighty fine times being a brother in Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

For those of you who didn't know Brother McDonnell, hopefully you have known others in your life like him — a special person who passes from you and really leaves you changed. Brother Kevin Hein McDonnell passed to the Chapter Eternal on July 23, 1986 after a bout with cancer. He was fighting to the last moment, and that's the way I'll remember him. "Phi Alpha, Kevin," from the Brothers of Missouri Alpha. "We'll miss you, Brother."

Jim Trueman, Indy 500 Car Owner

Last June, eleven days after tasting the sweet victory of owning the winning car in the Indianapolis 500, Columbus, Ohio businessman Jim Trueman, Ohio State '60 (Theta), died of cancer at his home.

Brother Trueman, 51, had been battling the disease for more than two years. After the rigors of the long, exciting day when Bobby Rahal, driver of Jim's car, triumphed at the Indy 500, Jim's condition deteriorated rapidly. Calling the race "one of the highlights of his career," he was unable to attend Columbus' celebratory parade and ceremony honoring Rahal and the TrueSports Co. race car team, which Brother Trueman founded five years ago.

A race car driver himself, lim competed beginning in 1962. He had 125 victories. He owned and developed a race car track in Lexington, Ohio and in 1972 founded the "no frills motels" Red Roof Inns. The chain today includes 150 inns with 4,500 employees in 30 states.

Edward Q. Perry, Texas Publisher

Edward Q. Perry, Kansas State'15 (Beta); former publisher of the Plainview Daily Herald, died last spring in San Antonio at age 91.

Brother Perry, according to his daughter, "was all his life a proud Sig Alph . . . and even more proud when his grandson Keith Perry Jordan became an SAE at Southern Methodist University."

Chapter Listings

This list is published in each issue of The Record to identify brothers who have joined the ΣAE Chapter Eternal. The list includes the names of all brothers for whom obituaries have been received at the national fraternity office since the last issue was published. If a chapter is not listed, it is because no death notices have been received on members of that chapter. Obituaries and death notices about SAE brothers should be sent, bearing the name, address and telephone number of the sender, to the national fraternity office.

Rudy Vallee: Originator of Little Sisters?

Sometime in late 1949 or early 1950, Rudy Vallee was in Minneapolis appearing at a hotel. His accompanist was also an SAE. Brother Vallee kindly agreed to have dinner at the Minnesota Alpha house and "sing for his supper."

There were several sorority pledges also present as guests and Rudy presented them with scrolls, making them Little Sisters of Minerva. That is the first time I had ever heard the term. Whether it was Rudy's idea or that of another brother present, I don't know. The question is: Does that represent the beginning of the LSOMs? Certainly it was a very early occurrence and of interest in that Brother Vallee was involved.

A short time later, Rudy's new bride Eleanor was also a guest at the ΣAE house. The enclosed photos were taken, but unfortunately I have no pictures of the early (original?) Little Sisters.

Keeping SAE Tradition in the Family

With each issue of The Record I receive, I enjoy seeing many pictures of my fellow ΣAEs across the country. For that reason, I decided to submit this photograph to possibly be published.

It is a photograph of (1 to r) my grandfather, Raymond L. Hanson, my brother and sister, Mathew and Christine, and myself, Mark Cabot. We are appropriately standing in front of the California Rho chapter house of Sigma Alpha Epsilon on the University of the Pacific campus in Stockton, California. My grandfather was a member of California Alpha, Stanford University, in the early '30s, while my brother and I have been active brothers of California Rho. Our sister is a Little Sister of Minerva also at California Rho.

Vallees and Minnesota Alpha brothers

We are very proud to be affiliated with Sigma Alpha Epsilon and will do everything in our power to keep the family tradition going.

MARK A. CABOT University of the Pacific '87 California Rho

Proud SAE Dad: Two Sons-Brothers

Recently, my second son William Thomas Porter II was initiated into the active chapter at Alabama Iota (Birmingham-Southern) and now along with his older brother, Robert L. Porter, Jr., are both actives. I was fortunate enough to be EA of the chapter as was my older brother before me. I have checked as closely as possible and believe that I may be the only alumnus in the history of the chapter to have two active sons in ΣAE at the same chapter at the same time. This is certainly a very simple distinction, but one I have wished for all my life - now it's for real.

You can see I'm extra proud of my "sonsbrothers" and for the many benefits of being an ΣAE.

T.H.E. Award Recipient Writes: No Honor More Valued

I am indeed honored to receive The Highest Effort Award for 1985 in the field of Education and Religion. I sincerely appreciated the presentation made by Brother Dennis O'Neel [archon, Province Chi], and I have read with great pleasure the account of the award which was reported in the Spring issue of The Record.

For over fifty years I have been associated with the University of Southern California School of Medicine as Professor and (from 1951-1972) as Chairman of the Department of Pathology. During this time, I have received honors of different sorts, but none will be more valued by me than this just given by Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Alumni Awards Announced

The fraternity recognizes the dedicated efforts of its outstanding alumni through various awards. This year at the ΣAE Leadership School winners were announced for alumni association awards, the Merit Key Award, Outstanding Chapter Advisor Award and the House Corporation Award.

Nebraska Lambda-Pi

The Nebraska Lambda-Pi Alumni Association (Nebraska) won the 1985-86 Chapter Alumni Association Award on more than its strength in numbers. This 12-year-old association, which has 150 dues-paying members, provides numerous innovative programs for the chapter's undergraduates, as well as alumni activities.

Topping the group's list of programs is its chapter scholarship offered to deserving undergraduate members. The association also participates in initiation and provides a pledge class dinner and career speaker program for the chapter.

For the chapter's 1,000 alumni, the association publishes an alumni newsletter three times a year and hosts an annual golf tournament.

Nominees for the Chapter Alumni Association Award were the Mississippi Sigma (Southern Mississippi) and California Iota (Cal State at Fresno) alumni associations.

Atlanta

The Atlanta Area Alumni Association, often recognized as one of the fraternity's finest, was named the top Area Alumni Association for 1985-86 at the 51st Leadership School.

The Atlanta group boasts many achievements, including hosting the fraternity's National Convention in 1985.

In 1986, the Atlanta Founders Day dinner was attended by more than 125 brothers from 35 chapters, according to President Clint Smith, Oklahoma '77 (Kappa). The Atlanta Area Alumni Association also hosted the Province Epsilon Golf Tournament this year.

The Atlanta association annually sponsors the Ivan Allen Rush Party for all young men in the Atlanta area planning to attend a college where there is an ΣAE chapter. The Atlanta group meets the first Wednesday of each month and has more than 140 duespaying members.

The Central Mississippi Alumni Association was also nominated for the Area Alumni Association Award.

Detroit's Newsletter

The Detroit Alumni Association was named the winner of the 1985-86 Alumni Association Newsletter Award. The association's newsletter, ΣAE Alumnews, was published four times during the year. ΣAE Alumnews is "rife with news of its many events, members and nearby chapters," according to John Edwards, director of alumni services for the national fraternity, who presented the award. The Detroit group's newsletter is edited by brothers Bill Fiscus, Michigan State '50 (Gamma), John Prost, Michigan State '58 (Gamma), and Paul Dittmer, Ferris State '72 (Michigan Zeta).

Fred Martin

Fredrick E. Martin, North Dakota State '34 (North Dakota Beta), a founding member of, and long-time contributor to, his chapter, was recognized for his faithful service to the fraternity with the Merit Key Award. Merit Key Award recipients are nominated by their Province Archons and are approved by a two-thirds vote of the Supreme Council and by the Eminent Supreme Recorder.

Brother Martin, who currently serves as North Dakota Beta chapter advisor, has provided much financial assistance to his chapter over the years, enabling the completion of many projects and aiding brothers suffering financial hardships.

"Not to be satisfied with mere cash contributions to the house," wrote one undergraduate member of the chapter, "Brother Martin has invested his time and emotions in the house, which has reaped a bounty not only for him but also for the brothers of the chapter."

Brother Martin has not missed a meeting or function of the chapter "for as long as anyone can remember." He is credited with writing many letters of goodwill on behalf of the chapter to parents and newspapers, as well as letters of inspiration to the chapter as a whole.

"Nobody has a better time than we ΣAEs do. There is clear and irrefutable evidence in abundance that we have had one of the best years ever!" Fred wrote in a recent letter to the chapter.

"No fraternity could ask for, or hope for, more or better! We have a great spirit going ... So let's be justifiably proud of all our Brothers and their achievements," he added.

Upon accepting the Merit Key Award, Brother Martin recalled some of his memories of being a delegate to the first and second ΣAE Leadership Schools, and thanked the many brothers who made the award possible.

Chapter Advisors

Six brothers were given the Outstanding Chapter Advisor Award at the 51st Leadership School. These brothers are recognized for diligent and enthusiastic guidance to the chapter they serve, helping the chapter to become as self-sufficient as possible. Named outstanding chapter advisors for 1985-86 are the following:

Paul Cain

Advisor to California Tau Cal Polytechnic at San Luis Obispo

Richard Hooker Advisor to Massachusetts Delta Worcester Polytechnic Institute

Dr. Samuel Kennedy Advisor to Missouri Delta Rockhurst College

David Lorenz Advisor to South Dakota Sigma University of South Dakota

> Gordon Timpany Advisor to Iowa Chi University of Iowa

Dr. Joseph Walt Advisor to Iowa Sigma Simpson College

Indiana Beta House Corporation

The fraternity's House Corporation Award is given in recognition of outstanding performance of the house corporation's duties. These include finance, maintenance, contracting, legal matters and insurance. Planning, goal-setting and the working relationship with the chapter are all evaluated in selecting the winning house corporation.

This year, the award was given to the Indiana Beta House Corporation at Purdue University. The Indiana Beta chapter house ranks as one of the most beautiful and outstanding structures on the Purdue campus. The award judges found the budget management and projection plans of the house corporation exemplify the superior work of this dedicated corporation.

C. Rick Coneway, Tulane'68 (Louisiana Tau-Epsilon), president of Coneway and Associates, Inc., was named the American Consulting Engineers Council's first "New Principal of the Year." Coneway is a consulting civil/ environmental engineer, and his firm has grown from three to 30 personnel in the last two-and-ahalf-years. The council's judges cited him for numerous professional awards and civic achievements. Brother Coneway has been a military jet pilot for 17 years and currently flies F-4 phantoms for the Air Force Reserve.

Joseph A. Devine, D.D.S., Wyoming '48 (Alpha), was recently installed as president-elect of the American Dental Association. Devine, a general dentist in Cheyenne, Wyoming, is a past president of the ADA and has served as a district trustee for several years. He has been active in other dental and civic organizations as well.

Osteopathy

Charles Vargas, Lewis & Clark '81 (Oregon Delta), was named president of the Undergraduate Academy of Osteopathy. At the time, Vargas was a second-year student at the University of New England College of Osteopathic Medicine at Giddeford, Maine. He was also president of the university's local chapter of the academy.

Home Furnishings

Robert E. East, University of Evansville, '51 (Indiana Epsilon), has been installed as president of the International Home Furnishings Representatives Association, which has 5,000 members in the industry. The association acts as the voice of wholesale representatives in the U.S., Puerto Rico and Canada. A long-time representative of a furniture firm, East is active in numerous civic activities.

Advertising

Harry Blomgren, Beloit '60 (Wisconsin Phi), was recently elected secretary/treasurer of the national council of the American Advertising Federation. Blomgren, vice president of the Cramer-Krasselt Co. of Milwaukee, has been involved as a governor and chairman of the AAF's 8th District, and is a recent recipient of the Milwaukee Advertising Club's Aid to Advertising Education Award.

Shoppers Guides

Jim Crosby, Drake '56 (Iowa Delta), was recognized by the Shoppers Guides of Iowa recently with the Distinguished Service Award for his 18 years of service to the organization. He has held every office in SGI. He is vice president of FNCO Corp., a chain of shopping guides. Brother Crosby recently helped an undergraduate member of Iowa Delta to find employment. The undergraduate wrote The Record, "Mr. Crosby has proven to me how far the bonds of fraternity stretch. (He) is a special brother'

SAE Med Student Wins Nation's Top Greek Scholarship

Brother E. Wesley Ely, Jr., Tulane '85 (Louisiana Tau-Upsilon), a medical student, has been named the first place recipient of the 1986 Balfour Scholarship, the top scholarship in the fraternity world.

Designed to provide financialassistance to full-time graduate or professional school students, the scholarship is awarded annually in memory of Lloyd G. Balfour by the National Interfraternity Foundation. Robert K. Ausman, M.D., of the foundation's board presented the scholarship award to Ely at the 51st Leadership School, noting that Mr. Balfour's personal mission was the improvement and advancement of fraternity life.

Ely received a grant of $5,000 as the first place winner. The foundation awards a total of $20,000 annually to several students. The scholarship selection committee bases its decision on the following criteria: Scholarship; contribution to fraternity life and demonstration of leadership; contribution toward community service and community life during the four years of college life; financial need; and a description by the applicant of his or her goals in life, career and further fraternity endeavors.

"The competition consisted of 70 applicants screened by their own organizations," explained Dr. Ausman. Applications are accepted from all national fraternities and sororities, including professional fraternal organizations.

"This year, the four judges had no disagreement about the first choice. There was unanimity of opinion," Ausman noted.

Brother Ely wrote in his application that "the fraternity system and the experiences which I cherish, have exposed to me direct routes by which I can use some of my talents. In the future, my career goals are to show others the same respect and care which has been poured out to me."

As a member of the national fraternity's Men's Health Issues Committee, he is able to put to use some of the knowledge he is gaining in medical school. While earning his master's in public health and studying to become a medical doctor, Wes conducts alcohol and drug abuse workshops with other fraternity officials at various campuses and ΣAE chapters. He is involved on his own campus lining up speakers for an alcohol and drug education week.

"During the past five years, the fraternity has provided for me a blessed treasure of friendships as well as a rich source of personal growth," Ely wrote. "... my activities in support of the fraternity system, notably concerning the health of our young men and women and the role of fraternity in the lives of our alumni, are outgrowths of the same love and concern for people that inspire me to become a physician."

As an undergraduate, Wes served his chapter as Eminent Archon, Eminent Deputy Archon, alumni relations chairman and editor of the chapter newsletter. He was a delegate to the ΣAE Leadership School, and served this year on the school's alumni faculty. Wes was the top scholar in the Tulane Department of Biology in the class of 1985, graduating summa cum laude. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Omicron Delta Kappa (for overall academics, athletics and leadership) and Phi Omicron Delta (for contribution to campus spirit, awarded to 15 students annually).

As a student at Tulane University Medical School, Wes has been a lay eucharistic minister for the school's Catholic chapel, he has served on the Community Action Council of Tulane University Students and as a New Orleans Hospital volunteer and he swam on the Tulane Masters Swim Team.

Reunions: Brothers from '20s, WWII, even '80s, Reunite

Washington Alpha Washington

Sixteen members of Washington Alpha (Washington) who were initiated 50 or more years ago met for an informal luncheon meeting last June in Seattle, Washington. The brothers, who represented Washington Alpha classes of 1925 through 1936, plan to meet every year in Seattle. The reunion of 50-plus-year members was planned by Col. (U.S. Army Retired) Charles G. Kirk of the class of '27. Brother Kirk may be contacted at 12630 N.E. 3rd Street, Bellevue, Washington 98005.

Louisiana Tau-Upsilon Tulane

Another group of brothers got together at Hilton Head last summer to enjoy their "lasting friendships." Several members of the Louisiana Tau-Upsilon classes of '80 and '81 and their wives and guests enjoyed a week of sun, sailing and skiing. According to Brother John McBrayer, the week "turned out to be an outstanding vacation." The group is planning to go on a ski trip next February. "It is obvious that the bonds of $\Sigma AE...$ endure the years and distance separating us from our fraternity days at Tulane," McBrayer said.

IIIInois Psi-Omega Northwestern

More than one hundred Illinois Psi-Omega (Northwestern) alumni and wives met in Evanston, Illinois last May for the "World War II Years, Once in a Lifetime" reunion weekend. They came from as far as Florida, California, Louisiana and the Virgin Islands.

Organized by Past Province Mu Archon Barry McNulty, Ralph Fisher and Roger Moran, the reunion featured visits to the chapter house, restaurants that were "popular haunts" over 30 years ago, a tour of the enlarged NU campus and a memorial service and dinner dance at the Levere Memorial Temple, headquarters of the national fraternity in Evanston.

Brothers from the classes of 1943 through 1953 were represented at the reunion. Many of them had not seen each other in 30 or 40 years. They quickly bought out a supply of sweaters which had been imprinted with the reunion logo to memorialize the event.

The memorial service held in the chapel of the Levere Memorial Temple honored seven members of the chapter who lost their lives in World War II. Colonel Emory Stoker, Illinois Psi-Omega '23, of the U.S. Army Reserve, and Commander Hank Hellweg, Illinois Psi-Omega '47, of the U.S. Naval Reserve, presided.

The dinner dance featured music from the '40s and '50s. Several brothers spoke to the group, making "remarks from the heart — some humorous, some very emotional," according to Brother McNulty.

At one local restaurant, Fanny, the 80year-old owner greeted many of the brothers and their wives, who had been customers years ago. At the dinner, one brother shouted, "I bet we can sing better than the active chapter!" An impromptu songfest ensued.

New Orleans Group Hosts 1st World Series Tourney

The year-old New Orleans ΣAE Alumni Association has hit upon a new event that not only brings together many of the 500 area alumni brothers, but lends a new dimension to rushing and interchapter relations. The event: The ΣAE World Series Softball Tournament.

The 1st ΣAE World Series Softball Tournament was held last June, on the same day as the New Orleans annual summer rush party. The annual party is an evening, coat and tie affair. The tournament, which was implemented to complement the evening rush party, "would even turn Billy Martin, Oakland Athletic, green with envy," in the words of the Alumni Association Secretary Geary Mason.

Eminent Supreme Champions: LSU 'Old Boys'

The tournament is open to any ΣAE teams wishing to participate. The 1st World Series brought together eight teams vying to become Eminent Supreme Champions. The teams were Alabama, Louisiana State Actives, LSU Old Boys, Tiger Vets A (LSU alumni living in New Orleans), Tiger Vets B, Tulane Actives, Tulane Old Boys and Southwestern Louisiana.

The LSU Old Boys reign as the first Eminent Supreme Champions as they won all three of their games. The consolation game winner was the Tulane Actives team. Brothers Brian Berns, Louisiana State '82 (Epsilon), and Kenneth Delahoussaye, Louisiana State '81, were voted the tournament "Co-Most Valuable Players."

The tournament, which is sponsored by the New Orleans association with "much help" from the Tulane chapter, Louisiana Tau-Upsilon, will be held again next June. Any interested ΣAE chapter or alumni group is invited to participate. Contact Geary Mason at 1314 Pine St., New Orleans, LA 70118; (504) 866-0661.

Florida Beta Team Wins XAE National Golf Tourney

By Bob England

Tournament Chairman

The 8th Annual ΣAE National Golf Tournament was played in May under the beautiful, sunny skies of Florida. The tourney attracted brothers from 18 states, and 35 chapters were represented.

The winner this year was A. Downing Gray, Florida State '61 (Beta). Brother Gray is a repeat winner of The ΣAE National Golf Tournament, and a former member of the U.S. Walker Cup Team for several years. Members of Florida Beta's tourney team, with Downing's help, were the team champions. Included on the Florida Beta team were Jack Williams, Doug Mitchell, Jeff Goldworn, Jeff Files and Gray.

First place flight winners of the tournament were Jeff Goldworn, Florida State '83 (Beta); Thomas Marine, Southern Mississippi '84 (Sigma); Thomas Warren, Georgia Tech '76 (Phi); J. Randy Nobles, West Florida (Sigma); Louis Ray, Florida '88 (Upsilon); and Jerry Shoulders, Southern Mississippi '84 (Sigma). Tourney collegiate champion was J. Sandy Brasher, Tulane '84 (Louisiana Tau-Upsilon).

The tournament was played at the Tiger Point Country Club in Pensacola, on a course that is a championship layout and provides a challenge for the low handicapped and a fun time for the weekend golfer. Social activities included a poolside cookout, an evening at Seville Square, New Orleans-style cuisine at Shanahans, a banquet and a dance.

Plans are set for a great tournament in 1987. The 9th Annual ΣAE National Amateur Tournament will be held April 30 through May 2, 1987. If you want to be on the tournament mailing list, send your name and address to: ΣAE National Amateur, P.O. Box 12281, Pensacola, FL 32581. Further details will appear in the Winter 1986 issue of The Record.

New Alumni Directory Available

The 1986 ΣAE Alumni Directory is now available. All brothers who purchased the directory should receive it by November 20. If you have ordered a copy of the directory and have questions about delivery, or if you want to order a copy, write or call the Customer Service Department of the Bernard C. Harris Publishing Company Inc., 3 Barker Avenue, White Plains, NY 10601 (914) 946-7500.

Los Angeles Alumni Invited: Exciting Events

John Keough, Harvard '75 (Massachusetts Gamma), recently moved to the Los Angeles area from New York City and has put together a schedule of "exciting, unusual, spectacular and original" events for brothers in the L.A. area.

The group's first function included a tailgate party and seats at the UCLA, versus Long Beach State football game in September. Other events include an evening horseback ride in scenic Hollywood Hills and Burbank, an early morning marlin fishing trip, lunches and dinners at El Torito restaurants, and — not to be missed — an opportunity to enjoy a "select piece of real estate" to watch the 1987 Rose Bowl parade.

Los Angeles area brothers who are interested in attending an exciting event can call John Keough at (213) 472-0104.

SAE NEWS-GRAM

ALL THE LATE-BREAKING NEWS FROM 1856 SHERIDAN ROAD

NEW CHAPTER POLICIES MANDATED – Due to the mounting liability crisis, the Supreme Council has mandated new chapter policies regarding alcohol use, drugs, hazing, sexual abuse and fire and safety precautions. The new policies require all ΣAE rush activities to be dry, and prohibits all open parties, among other things. All chapters and advisors have been informed of these new fraternity policies.

LIABILITY/RISK MANAGEMENT QUESTIONS? Any questions about the fraternity's new Chapter Risk Management Policies should be directed to the ΣAE national staff. For helpful answers, call the national fraternity office between 8:30 AM and 4:30 PM Central Time.

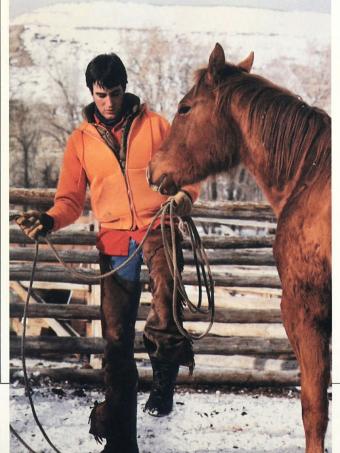

PREPARE FOR FOUNDERS DAY NOW – Alumni associations and chapters planning to award 50- and 25-year membership certificates at Founders Day should order the certificates as soon as possible from the national fraternity office. If your Founders Day event is already planned, notify The Record of date, time, place and person in charge. After your Founders Day event, be sure to send photos and any news from the event to The Record.

EXTENSION/INSTALLATIONS – As this issue of The Record goes to press, new chapter installations are planned, pending mail ballot approval, at the State University of New York at Binghamton on November 2, and at Santa Clara University (California) on November 22. At this time, the fraternity has 193 chapters and 12 colonies.

Any alumni interested in assisting with the new ΣAE colonies at Millsaps in Jackson, Mississippi and at Yale in New Haven, Connecticut, should contact Brad Cohen, extension director, at the national fraternity office.

LEADERSHIP SCHOOL FACULTY APPLICATIONS are due at the ΣAE Foundation office by December 1, 1986. If you are interested in serving as a faculty member, please send a completed application to Tom Hume at the ΣAE Foundation office. Faculty members will be in Evanston Saturday, August 1, 1987 through Wednesday evening, August 5, 1987. Brothers who have previously served on the faculty and wish to serve again should also notify Brother Hume.

THE RECORD DEADLINE – The Spring, 1987 issue deadline for news and photographs is February 1, 1987. All contributions should be clearly identified and should include the sender's address and telephone number. Send submitted material to Tracey Stoll, associate editor of The Record, at the national fraternity office.

Nine ΣΑΕ Campuses Labeled "America's Best"

... Nine ΣAE campuses ranked as the nation's pacesetters in a survey of college presidents last year by the magazine U.S. News & World Report. The survey identified the top ten national universities for major research and granting of doctoral degrees, the top ten liberal arts colleges and the top ten regional liberal arts colleges that award more than half their bachelor's degrees in liberal arts. Of the top ten national universities with ΣAE chapters, Stanford ranked first, Princeton fourth, Duke sixth, California at Berkeley tied for seventh, North Carolina at Chapel Hill ninth, and Dartmouth tenth. Picks for the top regional liberal arts colleges with ΣAE chapters include Denison (Ohio) fifth, Birmingham-Southern (Alabama) seventh and Richmond (Virginia) tied for ninth.
