ONWARD AND UPWARD

Once a year we get a chance to report to our membership via The Record. Even though I know the True Gentleman should not boast of his achievements, I hope you agree with me that some of this good news is just too good to hold back. . .

I have asked ESR Dick Lies to prepare his report that you will find inside this issue. I hope you will find his facts to be informative and will make you feel proud of this past year's results. We have had a great year, thanks to all the diligence of our term Fraternity Office Staff and the hundreds of Volunteers who work tirelessly to keep the Σ AE dream alive.

By J.L. "Jim" Pope

Our undergraduate members have had a great year in the classroom. Scholarship reports indicate that Σ AE continues to rise our goals and expectations. The Σ AE Foundation continues to support deserving and achieving brothers in a big way. More student loans and scholarships were awarded in 1998 than ever in the history of Σ AE!

The 1997 Convention created for the first time in our history a permanent committee for scholarship. The new thirty (30) member committee will represent each Province with the Fraternity's Educational Advisor serving as its chairman. This committee will raise awareness, lend support, design programs and help keep score with all the local chapter scholarship chairs.

Our housing re-inspection program has been in full swing, making sure Σ AE housing is safe, up to fire code, and in good repair. The Housing Committee will report several new houses and revitalized house corporations at the 143rd Las Vegas Convention. Our leadership team has worked very hard to raise awareness and support the needs of the Fraternity in the housing arena. NIC's select 2000 initiative has been addressed by Σ AE's Official Faculty and a new Risk Management initiative has begun to help move Σ AE into a position of leadership within the debate about alcohol and substance use in fraternity housing.

Leadership School continues to be one of the single most successful endeavors of its kind with record-breaking attendance. The Fraternity and the Foundation still continue to find ways to better support the undergraduate experience, and the faculty volunteers last year were just spectacular. Thank you everyone for a great 63rd Leadership School.

Σ AE history was made this past year with the creation of the Graduate Leadership School for the purpose of better training for our alumni brothers who wish to assist our chapters as advisors, house corporation officers, alumni association officers, alumni commission members, and to serve as province officers. Last year a survey of entering freshmen surprised almost everyone when the results showed that more than 60% wanted to know more about community service. We answered the call for the education and leadership of our new members, so I need to personally thank all the brothers from the chapter and alumni ranks that continue to lead the Greek world with philanthropic efforts. Σ AEs continue to give more man-hours, money, and more support to the charitable activities in our communities and around the world. These individual acts of kindness, leadership and friendship to those less fortunate are helping us hold Σ AE's banner high over the bank of good will.

I am proud to report that Σ AE had a benchmark year in Rush/ Recruitment. Membership continues to grow at a very healthy pace and already this fall Σ AE reached a milestone when Brother Paul Lachance (OKMU '01) became our 250,000th initiate, continuing Σ AE's dominance as the world's largest and longest running Greek success story. Σ AE can be proud of its great scholars, good citizens, courageous young leaders and all the undergraduate brothers who are winning championships in the classrooms, intramural fields, student government associations, IFCs and throughout their communities and the world. We are blessed to have some really great young men who wear the letters of Σ AE. The TRUE GENTLEMEN of today!

As your ESA and President of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Foundation I cannot close without letting you know what a wonderful year the Foundation has enjoyed due to the generosity of all the many Brothers who have made a financial commitment to helping all of us remain second to none! "Thank all of you for all you do for Σ AE we are proud of you and proud for you."

In the Bond,

J.L. (Jim) Pope, ESA

143RD CONVENTION IN LAS VEGAS

The Fraternity will convene June 17-20, 1999 to celebrate its 143rd Anniversary National Convention in the "convention capital of the world," Las Vegas, Nevada. The Venetian Hotel and Casino, on the world-famous Vegas Strip, is currently being constructed and will be completed in April 1999...just in time for Sigma Alpha Epsilon to come to town. The Venetian is a $2 billion complex which is being heralded as one of the most luxurious destinations in all of Las Vegas. From its full marble bathroom to its raised sleeping area, each room is a suite designed to provide a comfortable and enjoyable visit for all guests. The rooms are $149 per night, so we encourage you to sleep four delegates to a room to keep it within your chapter's budget.

The main order of business for the convention is to establish and maintain the Fraternity Laws by which our organization is governed. If you have a new law or amendment you would like to have discussed at the convention, the deadline for submission is December 31, 1998. Please contact Steve Sikorski at 800-233-1856, extension 234, for more information regarding national laws.

In order to vote at this historic event, your chapter must be in good standing with the Fraternity Office. All forms must be updated, all reports must be submitted, and the chapter must have no accounts receivable with the Fraternity Office. There is a $500 fine for chapters that do not attend. In order to find out your chapter's status, please contact Chris Lane at the Fraternity Office, extension 233. Hope to see everyone in Las Vegas!

NEW EXHIBIT ADDED TO THE MUSEUM

Sigma Alpha Epsilon's involvement in the Great War, featuring Billy Levere's uniform, comprises the exhibit mounted in the Walt Library at the LMT. The exhibit was erected in time for our Leadership School this year and the anniversary of the start of the war in 1914. Billy Levere improved the perception of our involvement as Americans in World War I (1917-1918). Levere was, (in today's language) age and weight challenged but overcame those obstacles by joining the YMCA to serve "our boys" in France. His popularity and influence were larger than life.

The World War I display was put together to properly display the attitudes of our country and fraternity during The Great War. The display features such articles as a German Naval Shell, Billy Levere's helmet and gas mask, French military pieces and even paddles made at the time of the war. We encourage all visitors to stop by the World War I display and take a look into the past!!

ARTICLES FOR THE RECORD

The Record encourages participation from our membership in stories, updates, profiles and briefs on issues which are directly related to Sigma Alpha Epsilon and fraternity life. We offer the following guidelines to assist and encourage this participation: For opinion and thought pieces on fraternity issues, recollections, and experiences, please contact the editor first for a show of interest. If you have already written a story that pertains to ΣAE, you may submit it on a disk (preferred) with accompanying hard copy as a manuscript. Submit photos with identification of the pictured left to right and explain what they are doing. Photos become the property of The Record and cannot be returned. Please do not send photos that include the use of alcohol. Any printed information that is relevant will be forwarded to the chapter and alumni scrap book. Please have a print made solely for the magazine's use if necessary. Polaroids or copies of photos cannot be used. Send submissions to: Attention: Editor of The Record; P.O. Box 1856; Evanston, IL 60201. They may also be sent by fax: (847) 475-2250 or e-mail: cmundy@fraternity.org.

NEW CLASS ON CAMPUS ALCOHOL 101

Alcohol 101 is a revolutionary new program being distributed to colleges and universities nationwide. The CD-ROM based program is the first of its kind, using interactive, user-friendly technology to make sensible decisions about alcohol, and see its potential effects. This is NOT a boring video that tells kids to "just say no." It deals realistically with social situations—including doing shots at the "virtual bar."

As you navigate through the party at Alcohol 101, you travel through a variety of social situations and will learn about real-life campus tragedies resulting from alcohol abuse. When you drink at the virtual bar, a blood alcohol content estimator provides personalized information on how that drinking pattern is affecting you—and your friends. The program is fun and entertaining—a flight simulator for a college party.

Copies of Alcohol 101 are being distributed to every Chapter Advisor, Risk Manager, and Province Archon. More information on Alcohol 101 can be found at the website, www.alcohol101.org. You can also contact Rob Parker, at extension 223, or Province Psi Archon Chris Hancock, at extension 367. The University of Urbana-Champaign and the Century Council developed Alcohol 101, with input and support from a variety of organizations, including the NIC and Panhellenic Council.

CORRECTIONS: The editorial staff would like to apologize and report a correction to the Chapter Eternal section of the Summer 1998 issue of The Record. The chapter listings in that issue included Edward A. Rusin (MIGA '48). Brother Rusin is very much alive and living in Bloomfield Hills, Michigan.

FROM THE READERS

Support Our House Corporations

"I was most impressed with the feature article on "Mansions of the Magnolia State." Not only did the article highlight the outstanding architectural attributes of these four ΣAE houses in Mississippi, it also honored those brothers and house directors who worked behind the scenes to make these projects a reality. In addition, the article emphasized the importance of strong, well financed house corporations and their role in the success of these four exceptional houses. It behooves all ΣAE alumni to stand strongly behind their chapter house corporations and make a serious financial commitment each year to insure that "mansions" like those in Mississippi can become a reality throughout the ΣAE realm.

Great Basketball Career Recognized

I was very pleased to see that Matt Kovarik (MDBE '98) has been recognized in The Record. He has been on the Terp's basketball team for five years and a top contender in the highest ranked division in college basketball.

Ryan Maloof - Maryland Beta '96

Leading Edge

In reviewing your recent publications of The Record, I became interested in your Leading Edge Program. Tri Delt is in the process of creating a program specifically dealing with topics such as interviewing, living on your own, life after college, etc. I would like to review the information you have included in your Leading Edge program.

Nicole J. Harmon - Programming Development Coordinator (Delta Delta Delta)

What About Jack?

The recent article in The Record regarding baseball television broadcasters should have prominently featured John (Jack) Corrigan, New York Alpha '74 and Ohio Lambda '76. Jack has been for many years the play-by-play announcer for the American League Central Division Champion Cleveland Indians. Go Tribe and Phi Alpha!

Scott Cunningham - Ohio Lambda '77

Hazing on Trial

I was very impressed with the the column by Larry Shackelford on hazing. After dealing with the issue as an undergrad in the 1950's and then as the House Corporation President in 1960's, I feel very strongly about the act of hazing has no redeeming value to our fraternity or the academic environment in which we exist. My life experiences as a military professional, commander and Air Force combat pilot revealed no evidence of character building in hazing; however, the concepts of friendship and brotherhood did repeatedly. A true gentleman has no place in his make-up as a characteristic which condones the meaningless act of hazing.

LICENSED VENDORS

Help protect the integrity of our Coat of Arms and letters. Purchase only from ΣAE licensed vendors! We are continually battling to keep illegal, scab vendors from displaying and producing Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity merchandise. The illegal vendors operate without the licensing or endorsement of either the Fraternity Office of ΣAE or even the Greek System. Illegal vendors cheat ΣAE out of royalties by operating outside the rules and profiting on our brothers! If you are approached by someone who is not a licensed vendor, turn them away from your chapter door and advise the Fraternity Office, Lee Lanfare, at 1-800-233-1856 ext. 216. For years, few vendors were authorized to merchandise ΣAE endorsed sales and services. We have changed this policy for the purpose of (1), extending a wider range of services and benefits to our membership and (2), generating income from such sales to fund Fraternity programming. Following is a list of AUTHORIZED licensed vendors of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Sharing Sigma Alpha Epsilon's Success Story

By Richard L. Lies, ESR

The mission of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity is to promote the highest standards of friendship, scholarship and service to our members, based upon the ideals set forth by our founders and as especially enumerated in "The True Gentleman".

At the request of our Eminent Supreme Archon, J.L. (Jim) Pope, I am proud to bring you the accomplishments of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity and Foundation for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1998. I wish to congratulate the Supreme Court, the Province Archons and all the volunteers who diligently worked to achieve these terrific results that I am pleased to share with you.

SCHOLARSHIP

The Sigma Alpha Epsilon Foundation awarded almost $150,000 in scholarships and grants to deserving brothers who excelled in their scholarly achievements. I am proud to report that your Foundation loaned $451,000 to both undergraduates and post graduates to help them pay their tuition costs. Of the more than 90 fraternity and sororities foundations that exist, Σ AE is the leader in the Greek world, providing over $500,000 of support to our many worthy recipients of student loans and academic achievement awards. Our scholarship committee of 29 brothers, representing every Province, is most skillfully chaired by Ron Thiesen (ORAL '61). The committee has published new study guidelines and enhanced scholastic achievement reporting from chapter member schools.

RECRUITMENT/RUSH

I am pleased to report that the Fraternity's efforts in recruitment/rush have been outstanding. Last year, we saw a 23% increase in paid initiates from the previous year when 4,202 initiates joined Sigma Alpha Epsilon. This result is the best initiate record of this decade. I am pleased to report dynamic efforts in expansion and revitalization of chapters. Alex Miller (TNBE '98) has joined the Chapter Services Staff to assist with these projects. Four (4) closed chapters have been revitalized this year. Marshall University (closed in 1982), University of Hartford (closed in 1974), University of California-Los Angeles (closed in 1993) and Oklahoma City University (closed in 1986) have all seen major rush efforts and new pledges at those locations. Expansion to new schools of high stature and learning have also been a major priority. Σ AE's realm has been extended to four (4) new locations, The University of South Carolina- Spartanburg, Fort Hays State University (Kansas), the University of Alaska and the University of Hawaii. Our plans are to revitalized Rhode Island in 1999, thus having Σ AE active in every state in the Union.

FINANCES- Fraternity

Initiations, pledging and dues increased $185,000 or 11% from our 1997 total. The favorable stock market again helped our Fraternity with an investment increase of $109,000 or 18% better in 1998 than in 1997. Our total revenues grew 10% or $389,000 from a year ago. I am proud to report that our Fraternity's assets, for the first time in our history, exceeded $6,000,000. Sigma Alpha Epsilon's balance sheet has never been so strong. Our assets increased $1,200,000 or 25% above our position of 1997.

FINANCES- Foundation

The Sigma Alpha Epsilon Foundation revenues improved by $645,000 compared to 1997 or an increase of 18%. This revenue increase was led, in part, by a fantastic effort in improving our annual giving. Annual giving increased $127,000 during fiscal year 1998, an increase of 21% over last year. The Foundation added 983 new donors, or an increase of 17% this year. 7,970 brothers donated to our Foundation, an excellent achievement. Our donor base increased by 20%. A highlight is that our brothers' average in the 1998 fiscal year is 1.21 gifts per year. Combine the fact that brothers donate more than once a year with an average donation in excess of $92, thus providing the best result in history for our annual fund. Congratulations to Chuck Larson, Director of Development; to Steve Sikorski, Director of Fraternity and Foundation Services; and to the Trustees are certainly in order. Additionally, a good stock market propelled return on investments by 11% this fiscal year. These returns on investment exceeded $2,200,000. Overall, the net assets of the Foundation, for the first time in our history, exceeded $15,000,000, an increase of 22% from our Foundation net assets in 1997.

CHAPTER SERVICES

The Supreme Council's vision of better chapter support has become reality. Two (2) new Education and Leadership Consultants have been added to the staff. Their areas of travel have been reduced and their concentration on fewer chapters with more in-depth visits has been increased. The country is divided into seven (7) regions, thus having our consultants where the action is, up-close and personal with their chapters. The Fraternity has added a professional engineer housing consultant. Brother Richard M. Hooker, Jr. (VTBE '55) has traveled to over 25 chapters during the last year, revitalizing house corporations, conducting fire and safety inspections, writing appraisals and loan advice to the Fraternity Endowment Fund Board of Trustees. The Fraternity has added a consultant, Dr. Thomas G. Goodale (IAGA '62), a professor at the College of William and Mary, to help the Fraternity's effort in alumni recruitment, university relations and media relations. This increase in support has been applauded with great enthusiasm by our Province chapters. These service improvements will help ensure adherence to the Fraternity Laws and our expectations of good chapter programming. Ben Lewis (EP '95) was promoted to the new position of Manager of Recruitment, Media and University Relations. Ben will lead the alumni volunteer recruitment effort. Ben has developed a weekly Internet news bulletin to all the schools where Σ AE has a chapter. Our proactive communications effort (the first of its kind from any Greek organization) has received rave reviews from many school administrators.

STRATEGIC PLAN

The Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity Mission is supported by seven (7) vital objectives that will assure our vitality and relevance as a fraternity continues to be enhanced. The Trustees of the Σ AE Foundation have created a new mission statement. "The mission of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Foundation is to support our members and their chapters; to help fulfill their educational aspirations and goals; to promote programs teaching leadership, scholarship, citizenship and personal development; and to ensure the preservation of the Levere Memorial Temple." The Trustees meet to assure that the seven objectives are accomplished. The Supreme Council and I believe it is important for all brothers to be informed that our strategic plans exist, that our mission statements are clear, and achievement of these objectives are our utmost responsibility.

CONCLUSION

Statistics point to a superb performance for fiscal year 1998. I would be remiss, however, not to point out that all of these fantastic numbers aside, we still have challenges with our brotherhood. We must be ever vigilant not to allow alcohol to become a focal point in our chapters. We must be ever vigilant not to allow hazing to creep into our undergraduate chapters. I ask you to please continue to support our undergraduate chapters and members with your leadership as chapter advisor, house corporation member, alumni association member, or in anyway you see fit. I ask you to financially support the foundation to continue the many good works of programs and scholarships that have been developed to perpetuate Sigma Alpha Epsilon as the best fraternity.

Sincerely,

Richard L. Lies, ESR

NIC Research Initiative Findings

Fraternity, Sorority Members Pinpoint Friends, Academic Support, Feeling Connected as Reasons Greeks Stay in College

By Colleen Aiken

As we talk, Rob Boles is sitting on the back steps of his fraternity house looking at the place he enjoys so much. "Four years ago our fraternity was in trouble, but thanks to some great brothers we have built it up to the strongest fraternity on campus," says Boles proudly. "I love it. If I had to sum up why, I'd say it's the friendships."

Boles is the president of the Phi Delta Theta chapter at California State University Northridge. After serving in the Marine Corps in Desert Storm, Boles decided to enroll in college. He was 25 when he joined Phi Delta Theta, and he is finding it to be an "amazing experience." Boles and others' positive feelings about Greek life go hand in hand with the results of an independent study showing that members of fraternities and sororities are more likely to stay in college.

On behalf of the Research Initiative sponsored by members of the National Panhellenic Conference (NPC) and the National Interfraternity Conference (NIC), the Center for Advanced Social Research at the University of Missouri-Columbia interviewed 653 students who had dropped out. The study found membership in a fraternity or sorority increased retention by 28%.

Craig Loundas, Dean of Student Life at Widener University in Pennsylvania, says, "Once Greeks join, they have made a connection, whereas another freshman may go home and think (I) didn't enjoy [the college experience.] The Greek community has unity because they are able to connect.

The findings of the NPC-NIC Research Initiative show other positive aspects to membership in a fraternity or sorority, findings that offer opportunity to promote the contributions fraternities and sororities make to their members and their colleges and universities. "The research findings are a gift," says Maureen Syring, co-chairman of the Research Initiative. "This study can be used in recruiting new members, and in showing college administrators the positive contributions our movement makes."

Stephen Rupprecht (Phi Kappa Tau), Assistant Director of Greek Life at Pennsylvania State University, plans to use the information, "in recruitment and with our alumni. We will use the research in recruitment..to let [students] know about retention and the fact that more Greeks tend to graduate in four years than non-Greeks," Rupprecht says. "I use it [Research Initiative] any time that I speak to Delta Gamma alums or other alumni groups. I always use the Research Initiative findings when I speak with a college administrator. I also use it all the time with parents," says Maggie Watkins, Executive Director of Delta Gamma. Community involvement after graduation is another strong point for Greek graduates. The 1996 research found that 1965 to 1994 era graduates take a bigger part in civic groups, religious organizations, and volunteer activities. "We have given new meaning to the term social capital," says Watkins. "It becomes part of their lifestyle to volunteer," says Loundas, "We have alumni who come back because they enjoyed things like our Special Olympics. Some students are even serving on the boards of the nonprofits they assisted while they were here."

A study of 1945 and 1955-era alumni indicates that both Greek and non-Greek alumni are satisfied with their academic experiences and with their relationships with professors. However, other independent studies at the University of Missouri-Columbia show that while Greeks are more satisfied with the social aspect of college, they are less satisfied with their academic experiences.

On the other hand Loundas commented, "We are able to engage our Greeks in an interaction that every student does not get, [such as] leadership retreats where they are interacting with faculty."

And many fraternities and sororities are encouraging good academic performance and involvement. "Most sororities on our campus have what is called a scholarship head," explains Hayden Smith, an undergraduate member of Kappa Alpha Theta at the College of Charleston in South Carolina, "They designate tutors in different majors who will help if someone is in academic trouble. We also have rewards for getting A's and not skipping classes. Because of this motivation, Greeks have the highest GPAs on our campus." "The commitment doesn't end there.

The NPC-NIC Research Initiative studies found that 1945-era graduates through 1994-era graduates who were Greek gave more to their alma mater than other graduates. Rupprecht says, "Greeks have a stronger commitment to their University, a greater sense of belonging. In a way, they're saying thank you."

April Polutan, Panhellenic President at Pennsylvania State University, thinks Greeks give more money because, "they know what their money is going towards." "Undergraduates with Greek affiliation may think their money is going to a general fund that might get lost in the shuffle," Loundas agrees.

The Greek alumni from the 1945 and 1995 eras also tend to give larger gifts than other alumni. In 1996, 22% of these alumni gave $500 or more, $1000, as compared to 4.2% of their fellow graduates. Eleven percent of the Greek graduates from these eras also gave $1,000 or more, $5,000 versus 1.4% from non-Greeks. "Greeks have a greater sense of belonging," Rupprecht adds, "They feel they are not just a number, but a part of a welcoming community. They know where to turn when they need help."

Both Boles and Smith offer a student perspective. "Friendships form," says Smith, "students have a group to come back to. People who are dropping out may feel they don't belong anywhere." "One of the greatest things about being in fraternities," says Boles, "is knowing older people who are more experienced and seeing their end results, seeing brothers and sisters graduate. Having personal contact with someone can help you get through some hard times."

The Autumn of Fraternity

all 1997. The beginning of a new school year, a new semester. Tuition is paid, books are bought, parents have unloaded family car, the stereo and clothes. Classes still interesting; athletes still heroes, labs late nights at the library stimulating. A sea- altogether, of vitality and discovery. This the stuff that college is made of. For undergraduate brothers who might be reading this, it familiar. For alumni, it is fond memories.

Then, two young men pledging fraternities, in opposite parts of the country -- Louisiana and Massachusetts, die of alcohol poisoning. One is an Σ AE pledge, the other a Phi Gamma Delta. In my home state of Virginia, the students die on our campuses -- one disoriented from pre-football game drinking over a short period, falls down a flight of stairs and dies of head injuries. Another Virginia woman, intoxicated, accidentally rolls out of an eighth floor residence hall window; she does not survive.

The academic year moves on. With the warm breath of spring, alcohol-fueled riots erupt, on east and west coasts and in between. Crowds overturn cars, pelt police with rocks, bottles, and chunks of asphalt. Damage to property is in the hundreds of thousands, to people significant and disturbing. Students, under the influence, protest changes in alcohol policies, make attempts to protect and preserve them, and demand the "right to party."

Sigma Alpha Epsilon has been a national leader in confronting this issue. In 1976, then ESA Lou Smith asked me to chair a Fraternity Task Force on Alcohol and Drugs. Sponsored by Father Bob Hedges, Iowa Delta '51, and funded by the Σ AE Foundation, an ambitious effort was launched to acquaint brothers, young and old, with the issue. And it was truly a labor of love for those involved. Today this mission is under the aegis of the Fraternity's Men's Health Issues Committee led by Dr. Mike Finley (MIGA' 82). The work continues.

The LSU death, tragic as it was, has poised us to once again realize how this Fraternity could indeed be in an "autumn" -- an omen of the beginning of decline. Perplexed brothers ask me, "What is different?"" Why now, why us?" The answers are not easy and a commentary such as this does not permit the space, so I will not attempt to simplify it.

For years, university educators, myself among them, have been grappling with collegiate alcohol abuse in a variety of ways. The dilemma of respecting the adult sensibilities and independence of young people while honoring the law and an institution's (be it the college/university or the Fraternity) "duty to care" has become evermore difficult to solve. The demographics alone are daunting: Some 15 million students now attend more than 3500 institutions. Nationally raising the drinking age for buying alcohol to 21 has meant the mingling on campuses of underage and legal-age students, with the preponderance, 70 per cent, of illegal age. One of the major challenges facing higher education is the lack of public consensus regarding this minimum drinking age. There are three other countries in this world that follow a 21 drinking age: Malaysia, South Korea, and Ukraine, but in fact only 31 of the 50 states in the U.S. prohibit such drinking. On top of this, there seems to be lack of desire to enforce the 21 year drinking age in many communities. The lack of consensus is reinforced by the fact that at the age of 18, a citizen in our country may vote, enter into contracts, marry without parental consent, serve in the Armed Forces, and be considered a fully functioning legal adult. But these same individuals are told they cannot purchase or possess alcoholic beverages until they are 21. Even the most strident person can see the hypocrisy.

ESA Jim Pope convened the " Σ AE Summit" last spring to address "Select 2000," an initiative of the National Interfraternity Conference to have its member fraternities become alcohol-free in their chapter houses by the year 2000. Past ESA Ron Doleac, who sits on the NIC Board, has been a strong advocate of this effort and worked diligently to urge Σ AE to follow this lead. The Summit and the movement nationally has not gotten a "ringing endorsement" from undergraduates.

Older adults shake their heads in dismay over this seemingly indifferent attitude. I am not surprised. At a National Symposium on Campus Drinking Practices held at William and Mary last spring, a student participant offered the following: "You can put policies in place, you can legislate...but if my friends are drinking, I'm going to drink. It's about changing attitudes and behavior, and that's not going to happen with legislation...It is wonderful for administrators to care, but the dialogue has to happen with students. The only thing that's going to change our behavior is not thinking it's cool."

Sigma Alpha Epsilon is about leadership, but more importantly it has sustained these many years because it espouses true friendship. Addressing the reckless use of alcohol is not the responsibility of the Supreme Council, the ESR or the National Staff or undergraduate members of the Fraternity. It requires constant vigilance and re-education across generations in our realm.

If indeed we are a leader in the American college fraternity movement, we need to develop and carry out programs that broadly teach defined life skills based on self-esteem, skills in decision making, clarifying values, defining and finding intimacy, building relationships, communicating clearly and effectively, and emulating the "True Gentleman," a timeless document of our Fraternity. What is required is infinitely more controversial than telling young people to "just say no," because we will not be telling them what to do at all but, rather, helping them make their own healthy, consistent decisions. Autumn turns to winter and ultimately to spring. It speaks to renewal. The choice is ours.

The 63rd Leadership School

Redefining Leadership- Preparing for Tomorrow

As the ΣAE Fraternity approaches the millennium, we continue to be the leader in the Greek campus community. Our ability to transcend time and continue to grow is directly related to our foundation's largest and most revered program – Leadership School. Revolutionary when founded and still a model for others today, the school continues to shape our leaders, increase their awareness, heighten their passion, and set the standard for what we expect as a first-class fraternity. ΣAE's ability to adapt to the times has silenced any criticism through the years. Under the direction of Dr. Marty Wiglesworth (KYKA '84), the Leadership School Planning Committee defined the 63rd Leadership School as the time to Redefine Leadership and Prepare for Tomorrow. He wanted graduates of the school to "have a keener awareness of today's reality and be empowered to lead the fraternity to a higher standard."

Friday, July 31st

On this day, Chicago's O'Hare airport, the world's largest, was filled with the colors of purple and gold. Brothers from around the realm began to take siege of the Windy City. Alumni faculty members reminisced and traded stories of the year's past events, and realized how fast the time had passed since their last reunion. Everyone became reacquainted with the University of Illinois Chicago Circle Campus, our home away from site for the next week. The Parthenon, in the heart of Greek town, was again the home of the alumni/faculty reception. A Greek buffet that would have satisfied any of the Greek gods was enjoyed as the alumni faculty and province archons were welcomed to the great city of Chicago by our ESA Supreme Archon J.L. Pope and Leadership School Director Marty Wiglesworth. They shared their vision and goals for the 63rd Leadership School.

Saturday, August 1st

As the alumni and province archons returned to the campus classroom to receive training and be students once again, the Fraternity Office staff was prepared to meet an onslaught of brothers ready and willing to become students of the school. After registering and familiarizing themselves with their new campus, brothers wandered out to enjoy one of the most culturally rich cities in America - Chicago. The ΣAE letters could be seen at the Museum of Contemporary Art, the John Hancock Building, the Sears Tower, the Miracle Mile, Navy Pier, Lincoln Park, and the shores of Lake Michigan and even as far north as our beloved Levere Memorial Temple in Evanston.

Brothers returned to enjoy a dinner with their fellow comrades and celebrate the birthdays of former ESA Supreme Archon Ron Doleac (MSSI '67), Province Nu-Epsilon Archon John Fantone (FLDE '69) and Province Mu-Delta Archon Jim Sakers (MDBE '69). Knowing all too well what tomorrow had in store, many brothers called in an early evening in preparation for the opening session on Sunday morning.

Sunday, August 2nd

Synonymous with a Chicago Bull's playoff game, it was standing room only in the Illinois Room on this particular Sunday morning. Alumni and undergraduate brothers stood shoulder to shoulder singing our fraternity's most heralded songs. Brent Barlow (CAGA '85) pumped his fists with exuberance as he led the crowd in "Come Sing." If anyone questioned our tradition as a singing fraternity, their disbelief was answered on this day. Brothers sat and watched as a dynamic slide show previewed what the week ahead had in store – workshops, entertainment, chapter meetings, socializing, and of course the Cubs game. Eminence Supreme Archon J.L. (Jim) Pope and Dr. Wiglesworth welcomed everyone to Chicago and expressed their enthusiasm and excitement about a week that was designed to help improve the development and personal growth of our chapter leaders. Following the opening sessions, brothers attended their first chapter meeting for the week. The chapter meetings, facilitated by alumni faculty, province archons and E&L Consultants, are described as the one of the most effective and rewarding parts of the week. Comprised of Undergraduates, the chapter meetings meet twice a day and offer each individual a forum to discuss individual and chapter concerns. The brothers then brainstorm and offer solutions, input and ideas on how those concerns can be overcome.

The first General Session began the afternoon's scheduled events. The honor initiates took part in the formal pledging ceremony, which was administered by the Supreme Council. Dr. Joe Walt then told a version of the Σ AE Story – which has been a special part of the school for the past 30 years. He gave an in-depth look at the history of Σ AE and what events were monumental in defining our identity.

Undergraduates who came looking for problem solving techniques to specific chapter problems found the strategy, implementation plans, and solutions in the seminar banks. Led by seasoned alumni, the seminars covered the following topics: Eminent Archon, Eminent Treasurer, Rush, Men's Health, risk management, scholarship, alumni relations, chapter operations, The Leading Edge, community service, member education, leadership skills, member education, housing, and living the life of true gentlemen.

Sunday evening wound down with the induction ceremony of Leadership School Hall of Fame candidates. Brothers Charles D. Peery (IADE '58), president of True North Communications, and Henry H. Stritt (MAI-T '66), dean and professor at Chicago-Kent College of Law, shared with the undergraduates their leadership school experiences and what role these experiences played in their personal and professional successes (see sidebar). Following the Hall of Fame induction ceremony, brothers had the chance to meet their local support networks for their individual regions their Province Archon and E&L Consultant. The evening's activities were highlighted with the famous T-shirt swap that began as an informal event in the late 70's. The closest thing to a fraternity flea market, brothers bring extra rush shirts, faded football block shirts and legendary Paddy Murphy t-shirts to exchange with other brothers from around the realm.

Monday, August 3rd

Brothers awoke on Monday prepared to match the intensity and zeal that was present on day one. College pride was the theme for the day and could be seen on t-shirts, hats and sweatshirts. Highlights of Monday's schedule included guest speaker and faculty member Will Keim's presentation, the community service blood drive, a special forum on alcohol issues led by our ESA Jim Pope and Province Chi Archon Brent Barlow, and concluded with the return of hypnotist Dr. Jim Wand.

Dr. Will Keim returned to our Leadership School as he has for the last five years, but in an expanded role. The Planning Committee, aware of his appeal and uncanny ability to relate to college students, invited him to be the first non- Σ AE faculty member in the history of the school. He has delivered "The Education of Character" lecture series to over two million students, staff and faculty at 800 colleges and universities in North America, Australia, Greece, and Malaysia. Will was honored with the invitation and agreed immediately. Will's "State of the Greek System," once again had undergraduates and alumni alike laughing hysterical and rolling in the aisles. He identifies the shortcomings and challenges our culture with humorous insights and stories, while pinpointing a strategy which highlights resources and networks that define success! "Do as you do and do as you say", Will Keim stated.

Anyone who had watched the local Chicago news during the summer of 1998 knew there was a large demand for donated blood. Understanding the role that the "Minerva Highway Run" had fulfilled for the past 15 years and seeing an opportunity to assist with a local community need, as well a chance for increased participation, a blood drive was named as the 1998 philanthropy project. A challenge to set the record for any fraternal organization's blood donations had been made to all attendees. The response was overwhelming, as 117 pints of usable blood were collected from 120 people. Stephen Smith of Life Source Blood Services stated, "This will benefit up to 350 patients in the Chicago-land area. It is a tribute that the members of ΣΑΕ share our concern by taking an active role in assuring a safe and adequate blood supply. They are part of the process that makes community responsibility a reality."

Absent from the Leadership School since the move to the University of Illinois Chicago, Dr. Jim Wand returned to re-ignite ΣΑΕ's belief in the science of hypnosis. Twenty-five brothers willing to accept the challenge took the stage and provided a full hour and half of hilarious entertainment. From the new-found identity of Chapter Services Manager Bryan Ott (IASI '96) to the reemergence of Noble Leslie Devotie, with the help of Brent Greenwald (MSSI '98), anyone in attendance can testify to the power of hypnosis. Don't be surprised to see Dr. Wand become a regular fixture at Leadership School once again.

Tuesday, August 4th

The buzz at breakfast on this day was a concern over the weather – thunderstorms and scattered showers had settled in over the Windy City. Brothers were concerned whether this would affect the beloved trip to Wrigley Field to see Sammy Sosa's home run chase and the Cub's pennant race. The general session began with a "hearty Phi Alpha welcome" to Phi Delta Theta's national president Dr. Robert Deloian, who spoke about the current fraternity environment and how Phi Delt approaches these challenges. The afternoon's general session featured Brother Q. Todd Dickson (PAOM '74), who is long-time volunteer and current Deputy Assistant Secretary and Deputy Commissioner of the Trademark Office for the U.S. Government. He shared his story on success and leadership in the fast-paced world of politics and law on Capitol Hill. Will Keim concluded with his closing remarks on what each individual can do to develop and define his skills as a leader of tomorrow. A call to Wrigley Field confirmed that the game against the Arizona Diamondbacks would be played and the tradition would continue. Purple and gold filled the el-train on this evening, as 600 brothers made their way to Wrigleyville for dinner and the game. Because the game was designated as a model risk management event, all brothers pledged to be alcohol free while in attendance at the game. One of our most proud public displays in recent memory will be associated with this game. Brothers walked in the footsteps of the True Gentleman and the game went without any incidents. Songs were sung and peanuts were eaten while brothers enjoyed the friendly confines of Wrigley Field. Sammy went 1-4 on this night with no homers, but the Cubs were victorious 5-3.

Wednesday, August 5th

After attending their final chapter meeting, brothers boarded buses and made a trip up to the Levere Memorial Temple to tour the facility, attend the memorial service, and take the renowned Leadership School photo. Brothers reviewed their chapter's scrapbooks, examined all of the ΣΑΕ paraphernalia and artifacts in the museum, and toured the tower rooms while others socialized and enjoyed their lunch in Nippert Hall and on the Court of the Archons. Filled with a new-found passion for our great fraternity-inspired by the greatest fraternity monument in existence-brothers boarded the buses to head to the Westin River North Hotel. This beautiful facility located in the heart of downtown Chicago was where we concluded the week's festivities with the model initiation, the meaning of the insignia, the final banquet and the presentation of the John Moseley Zeal Award. Eighteen brothers who had spent the week under the guidance of Brent Barlow and the honor initiate program were privileged to have the whole school celebrate this grand achievement with them. Distinguished Faculty Member Glen T. Nygreen (WAAL '39), who served as the second Director of Leadership Training after John Moseley, communicated the meaning of the insignia. When our Eminent Supreme Archon took the stage, all in attendance knew it was time for the John Moseley Zeal Award presentation. Six chapters competed for the most coveted award in the realm: Would it be reigning champ Tennessee Eta of University; Tennessee Rho of Christian Brothers; Iowa Sigma of Simpson University; Texas Beta of Texas Christian University; or Connecticut Omega of Yale University? And the winner is...on page 10! The night concluded with the traditional slide show to the sounds of Fastball and Smashmouth. A special acoustic version of Green Day's Good Riddance was done by Kevin Hahn (TXSI '99) of Southwest Texas State. The song was an exciting ending to this exhilarating week.

Thursday, August 6th

Brothers packed their bags with new t-shirts, numerous mementos, and plenty of memories. The Leadership School once again had provided a stage for our great fraternity to reveal its true identity-an organization which is based on strong friendships and shared experiences. Whether you were in a chapter meeting, at the Cubs game or during the blood drive, brothers realized the challenge they accept as our chapter and campus leaders. They must face adversity, believe in integrity, make value based decisions and lead by example. These lessons and memories will shape their future and add to their character beyond their belief. We hope they had the time of their life!

How to get involved

The ΣΑΕ Leadership School draws upon the talents of our undergraduate and alumni leaders to produce the ultimate fraternity experience. Alumni to apply to be considered for faculty by using the faculty application provided on page 99 of this issue. The applications are due January 1, 1999. The applicants will be notified of their selection by February 1, 1999. Past undergraduates who have attended can apply for one of the most sought after positions as an undergrad—the dorm counselor program! The deadline for submission is March 15, 1999. The Fraternity Office encourages all chapter advisors and house corporation members to attend the weekend training program prior to the week of Leadership School. All applications can be received by contacting Rob Parker at 800-233-1856, ext. 223 or through the webpage: www.sae fraternity.org.

Leadership School Hall of Fame

The Leadership School Hall of Fame was an idea that the 1992 Planning Committee devised after realizing how many brothers have used the Leadership School experience to develop their personal leadership skills which led to success in their professional endeavors. Successful Σ AE's are invited to comeback and share insights on Leadership School and their fraternity experience and how it relates to their success. They are then inducted into the Hall of Fame and awarded mementos of this current experience. The 63rd Leadership School was honored to have Charles D. Peebler, Jr. (IADE '58) and Henry Perritt, Jr. (MAI-T'66) on hand to accept their awards. Brother Perritt shared how Σ AE developed his leadership skills and propelled him to the top of the Chicago-Kent College of Law, where he is also a professor. His fraternity experience will always be remembered for what he put into it and what he got out of it.

Brother Peebler graduated from Drake University in 1958. He went on to Omaha, Nebraska, where he began his career with Bozell & Jacobs. Brother Peebler took over the company's presidency in 1965 and earned recognition as the longest serving chief executive at a major U.S. holding company. True North Communications acquired Bozell, Jacobs, Kenyon & Eckhardt (BK&E) in 1997. Brother Peebler currently serves as president of True North Communications Inc., the 10th largest advertising agency and holding company in the world. He also serves as the chairman and chief executive officer of True North Diversified Companies. Brother Peebler offers his expertise and leadership skills to many organizations through membership on their boards. They include Drake University, National Junior Achievement, National Center for Learning Disabilities, the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation International, and the New York City Partnership and Chamber of Commerce.

In speaking to the undergraduates Brother Peebler touched on seven principles that he has observed in his career that creates his personal formula for success! 1) Be a team player. While leadership is generally viewed as an individual trait, almost every success is a team success. Empower those around you and depend upon their performance. 2) Be a good follower—you can't lead if you can't follow. 3) Never stop reading. I cannot possibly overstate the value of books. The most successful business people I know are always reading. They read critically, eclectically and with a passion for learning. 4) Act decisively. Never fear mistakes – we all make them. Don't act impulsively or prematurely, but remember that the biggest mistake of all is often inaction. I'd rather make a decision based upon having 80% of the facts than delay trying to get 100% of the facts. Energy is the positive force, complacency the negative. 5) Concentrate on the ITY's. Words such as integrity, reliability, responsibility, dependability and so on. I first really learned the meaning of these words as a young brother in Σ AE. They were core values and their importance has been reinforced throughout my career. If you deliver on the ITY's—to your colleagues and your customers, you will retain a competitive edge. 6) Develop the ability to listen. You can't discredit yourself by listening – it can happen when you speak. If you are really smart and you listen well, you get a lot smarter and you hone your leadership skills. 7) Have a positive attitude...the glass is always half full ...be happy, smile and others will mirror your attitude...you'll get more done. People will want to be around you and follow you. You might well have a good day, as the one you're having...it's up to you and your attitude.

Brother Peebler closed by saying, "This award has brought back wonderful memories, which I greatly appreciate. You will get more out of life and enjoy it more if you take time to participate, to be involved and create memories. You'll find it to be a wonderful tonic for future years."

Past inductees include Robert Shade, Donald Beal, Dr. Joseph Galichia, Jack Schiff, Dr. Neal Berte (President of Birmingham Southern University), Dr. James Puffer, William T. YALE UNIVERSITY: CONNECTICUT OMEGA SELECTED FOR 1998 ZEAL AWARD

BY BLAKE SANDO

"We got the ZEAL!" were the first words shouted by Eminent Archon Blake Sando while accepting the John O. Mosely Zeal Award. This triumphant moment at the Final Banquet of the 63rd Leadership School was the culmination of two years of hard work, success, and fun. The representatives from Connecticut Omega were excited and proud to be recognized by the Supreme Council as the best overall chapter in the realm of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

The 1997-98 academic year was an incredibly fulfilling one for the brothers of the Connecticut Omega chapter at Yale University. The Zeal Award this year was actually the result of two years of hard work.

After falling short as a Zeal nominee the year before, Connecticut Omega set out to improve itself in every aspect and earn the recognition that had been so close the year before.

During the fall, Brother Bryan Koplin directed a committee of brothers that organized an Alcohol Forum for the Yale student body. Medical professionals and experts were invited from throughout the region to speak with the students regarding personal risk management. The forum was such a resounding success that brother Matt Terry was selected to organize a similar event for the spring semester, dealing with alcohol awareness. The success of this program was not only beneficial for the student body as a whole, but earned Σ AE the respect of university administrators and faculty.

Connecticut Omega was active in the surrounding community as well. Philanthropy co-chairs Tom Kim and Ryan Chu organized a number of events to benefit the citizens of New Haven. The annual Σ AE "Teetering for Tots" Program raised a record $3,500 which provided disadvantaged New Haven youngsters with hot meals, warm beds, and gifts during the holiday season. Other programs like the weekly soup kitchen, and participating in Yale's Communiversities Day allowed the brothers of Σ AE to help the New Haven community that desperately needs the attention.

Working together like this helped the brother focus on the most important aspect of the fraternity: the bonds of friendship. Retreats at local parks for a barbecue and a football game were the norm for brothers who are best friends. The time away from the grind of campus life was cherished as moments to just hang out and relax together. Brothers made road trips to New York City and neighboring college campuses as well. Σ AE also stands out as the leader of the campus social life for a community that needs a wider variety of social outlets.

One of the highlights of the year was when the entire chapter traveled to New York City in the spring to celebrate its 10th Anniversary. Alumni from across the country joined the brothers for this great event.

Brothers ranging from the current actives to the founders shared an anniversary weekend full of good times and great stories. It was amazing to see how the chapter has grown and matured in 10 short years.

A great deal of this success is due to the diversity of Connecticut Omega brothers. Men from all races and religions, with activities just as broad, have made the group grow stronger and closer together. Sixty-six brothers represent so many different extracurricular activities that they cannot be listed here, combined with varsity athletes from football, lacrosse, track and field, hockey, cross country, squash, crew, and water polo. Σ AE is the only fraternity on campus that defies stereotyping and easy categorization. The only common trait among the brothers of Connecticut Omega is their enthusiasm, commitment to, and devotion for Σ AE and each other.

The brothers of Connecticut Omega at Yale University are proud and honored to receive the John O. Mosely Award for Fraternity Zeal. The 1997-98 academic year was one that we can truly be proud of. However, we cannot forget that our success this year is due to the constant effort to improve upon what had already been achieved the year before. We will strive to continue to be worthy of the honor, and will work hard to ensure that we can repeat this accomplishment this academic year as well. We would also like to thank our longtime friend and chapter advisor, Reginald Norman, our families, and all of the past brothers who built such a strong foundation for Σ AE at Yale University. Phi Alpha Brothers!

Born to be a Football Coach

Mack Brown (FLBE '74) takes on the head coaching job at the University of Texas.

By Mark Wangrin (American Statesman Staff)

Had you been in Cookeville, a small town in the Upper Cumberland region of middle Tennessee 35 years ago and asked directions to the football field, you might have wound up at the local high school depending on whom you asked. Had you made the inquiry of a young boy with grass stains on his dungarees, you would have been directed to the front yard of a one-story brick house on Washington Avenue.

That was where the real football was played. Real tackle football with no equipment save for the Wilson Football, made in town and provided by the man of the house, a former coach and two sport standout at Tennessee Tech who just happened to run the local sporting goods store. Inside, if you timed your visit right, you would find the training table, a spot at dinner cheerfully fixed by the woman of the house, one of the best Tennessee school girl basketball players of her era and today the fourth best age group golfer in the nation.

For the couple's three boys and their friends, the front yard became known far and wide as "the football field." The backyard, "the baseball field." Nothing terribly fancy, just the boys, bats, balls, gloves, and trees. Trees were important. They were bases in baseball, the boundaries in football. They were tall and straight and strong, just as the three boys who lived in their shadows were expected to be.

In Melvin Brown Sr.'s household, good was good, right was right, and wrong, well, wrong wasn't on the play list. You were home by curfew. When you went into town, you behaved. When you stayed, you behaved. No excuses.

The oldest son, Watson, the one named after his maternal grandfather, Eddie "Jelly" Watson, who brought high school football to Cookeville and became the winningest coach in Middle Tennessee history, figured he'd play pro baseball, thought about becoming a sportswriter and wound up a coach. The youngest son, who had been given his father's name, Mel, minored in coaching at Florida State yet wound up as an insurance salesman for Blue Cross Blue Shield. The middle child, Mack (FLBE '74), the newly named University of Texas football coach, set out to be an attorney at the suggestion of his maternal grandmother, Mary Ellen Watson, whose simple advice was: "There are a lot of successful doctors and lawyers. There are not a lot of Mickey Mantles."

A Born Coach

Had he been an attorney...well, there's no sense in even asking that question. From the first day he picked up a football, rode the team bus with his grandfather's team to games as a 2-year old, coached little league baseball teams when he was still playing Babe Ruth ball, it was evident that Mack Brown would become a coach. "I don't think he ever considered anything else," says his mother, Katherine Brown. How could he? Two of the people they respected most in the world were coaches. Her son, Mel, says of his older brothers. Jelly Watson coached 32 years at Cookeville City School, winning 10 conference titles and helping countless young boys find direction, but retired young enough to dote on his grandsons. "I was the only child," explains Katherine, "and I wasn't a boy." Family folklore says that when the older two boys were toddlers, Jelly had them wear T-shirts, one with an X, one with an O. They rode the bus with him to games, stood on the sidelines and carried the water buckets as the Cookeville Cavaliers did battle.

"One of the greatest joys of his later years was watching Mack and Watson coach," recalls longtime Brown friend Ottis Phillips. When Mack, head man at Tulane, and Watson, head man at Vanderbilt, became only the fourth set of brothers to coach against each other in a Division I A game, after never having played against each other in any sport at any level, Watson made Jelly a special hat. One side had a Tulane logo and bill. The other side had a Vandy logo and bill. Jelly wore it to the game, turning the logo of the team that controlled the ball to the front. (Of the experience of coaching against his brother, Watson, says "It was awful. I didn't want to lose and I didn't want him to lose. I'll never do it again. They played twice and Mack won both.)

Modern and Traditional

Brown keeps room in his life for all of his old coaches, those who coached him and those he coached with or for. He keeps in touch with Donnie Duncan, who hired him at Iowa State and now works in the 112 Office; former LSU coach Paul Dietzel; Bucky Pitts; the list goes on and on. When John Cobb, a retired high school coach whom he met in Florida while recruiting for Florida State, lost his wife to cancer a while back, Brown took time out of his busy schedule to spend a week with him, to talk and make sure his old friend was doing OK. "Some of the old-time coaches have said I'm like an old-time coach," Brown says. He has no doubt this is considered a compliment. What Brown is, say those who know him best, is a compilation of the best traits of his mother, father, and grandfather. "He's a modern coach with a traditional emphasis." Says close friend Dick Coop, a North Carolina professor and sports psychologist who worked with Brown and his teams. It sounds like an oxymoron, but it's a neat fit. He's a player's coach. He's warm on the outside; tough on the inside – the opposite of most coaches. I think players who try to test him, find that out. The warm side he gets from his mother and grandfather. "My grandfather once told us that he had never met anyone he didn't like," Mel says. "There may be some people he argued with, but he still liked them. He was a coach and politician. He could tell you off and then you'd laugh about it when he was done."

"Nobody knew how much football he knew, but he'd get everything out of his players," Katherine says. "The kids who lived out in the country, he'd drive home after practice. He cared about them and did all he could to help them succeed. Years later we'd get letters from his players almost weekly, thanking him for what he'd done for them. I'd read the letters to him – and he'd cry." That's Jelly. That's Mack, too. "Without question he is absolutely the best head coach I've been around at dealing with people," said offensive coordinator Greg Davis, who coached under Brown at North Carolina and succeeded him as Chapel Hill's head coach. "He treats people the way he'd like to be treated. When you walk into his office to ask a question, he puts down the phone, turns down the music, looks straight at you and gives you his complete attention. He makes you feel special." The ability to be firm comes from his father, who coached one year before moving into school administration. "That's the discipline, the hard edge, to do the right things, to be fair, Brown's wife, Sally says. "This is the way it is, there's right and wrong, black and white."

At the Rise

Trying to land his first full time coaching job, Brown headed to the American Football Coaches Convention in Washington in 1975. Having no income, he slept on the floor of Watson's room. That nearly cost him the job. Southern Mississippi Coach Bobby Collins wanted to interview young Brown, but because he wasn't registered at the hotel, couldn't see him. Finally, word reached Watson that Collins wanted to talk to Mack, but was leaving in a few minutes. Brown ran two miles in the snow and wearing a suit, answered a few quick questions -- and got the job. That began his rise. Four years at Southern Miss coaching receivers. One year at Memphis State doing the same. Four years at Iowa State as receivers coach and then offensive coordinator; a year at Louisiana State. A year as head coach at Appalachian State followed, then a year stint as offensive coordinator at Oklahoma. In '85 he took over at Tulane, a school in the wake of a basketball point-shaving scandal and one that was seriously considering life without intercollegiate athletics. Working out of a trailer, Brown turned a team that hadn't gone to a bowl game in 40 years into a 6-6 team with a berth in the Independence Bowl.

North Carolina called in 1988 in need of a fix. Brown inherited a team that went 1-10 his first two seasons. He blamed himself for the problems, and after hitting rock bottom with a loss to Navy in '89, he sat in his car and cried. He was careful not to let on how low he was. "As long as people think you believe in your plan, they think it's OK," he would tell a coaches convention nine years later.

Coop, the friend and psychologist, wasn't so sure. "He always blames himself, not other people," Coop said. "One of the things we talked about was burnout. That's where you take responsibility without control. He was setting himself up for burnout."

Fortunately he set himself up for success first. The Heels broke through with a 6-4 mark in '90, made it to a bowl game in '92, and went 21-3 the last two seasons before his departure for Texas.

At 46, Brown is settled in at a place he expects to coach the rest of his career. Of course, up until less than two months ago, he expected to say the same about Carolina. When Oklahoma came calling in 1994, Brown listened but stuck. Carolina seemingly had him for life. Had him until Texas came calling.

Anger in Chapel Hill

Slowly, the wounds created over Brown's unexpected exit are healing in and around Chapel Hill, though, at the time, the Tar Heel players and fans felt rejected and violated, and weren't afraid to say it. "If you lose, the players are angry, the writers are critical and you get fired," Brown says. "If you win and leave, they get angry and they make those comments. So I've come to the conclusion that the only way for a coach to leave is to die. And that isn't an option." At North Carolina some of the same people who marveled over his recruiting and organizational skills grumbled over his game-day coaching and the fact that he never beat Florida State. After he left North Carolina, some sportswriters warned their Austin counterparts that Sally monitors the Internet religiously, looking for unfavorable references about her husband and his team, and Brown could be thin-skinned when it came to criticism, publicly chiding the offending reporter at press conferences. "I'm only thin-skinned when they take shots at the kids that they don't deserve," Brown says. "I'm thin-skinned when they don't give us the credit that the team deserves."

No, Then Yes

A sportswriter even gets credit for what's likely the nicest thing anyone's ever done for Brown. Five years ago, Art Chansky, a former writer for the Durham Herald-Sun who now works with the Tar Heel radio network, told the recently divorced Brown he had a woman he wanted him to meet. Mack said no. Chansky told a woman he knew, a hugely successful real estate developer, that there was a football coach he wanted her to meet. The woman had lived in Chapel Hill for 15 years and didn't know where the football stadium was. She said no.

"There are a lot of successful doctors and lawyers. There are not a lot of Mickey Mantles."

Chansky invited them both to dinner, unbeknownst to each other. On their third date they went for a burger at The Varsity in Atlanta. Sally watched as Mack spied an elderly man with a walker in the next booth. Without a word, Mack went to pick up his order, helped fix his plate, did everything but chew the food for him, with no fanfare or call for attention. She changed her mind about football coaches. A year later they both said yes.

In the ensuing years, Sally has done more than find the football stadium. She will eventually walk away from a lucrative development company she owns in Chapel Hill because she feels like she has nothing left to prove there, and because she promised her husband one move and a similar shot at such closure – a national title.

Intelligent and personable, with degrees in nursing and interior design, Sally has worked her way into the ultimate good 'ol boy world, that of a football coach. She helps coordinate outings, meets recruits. She knows that many of the recruits come from single-family homes, in which the mother is all they have, so she becomes their surrogate mother. "They're used to dealing with a woman, so we talk about things they might not feel comfortable talking with a man about, like insecurities about campus or about relationships," Sally says. "I tell them I'm the love coach."

Finding Balance

Football had always been about family to Brown, at least from the learning end. Watson suspects Mack, younger by 13 months, turned down a scholarship from Alabama to follow him to Vanderbilt simply because that was what was expected. Watson suspects that because he's never asked – and Mack never said a word about it. When both were playing at Vandy, Mel would leave the field after his Friday night games, sleep in a makeshift bed in the back of the family car as his parents drove to Alabama or LSU or wherever Vandy was playing that Saturday afternoon. Yet, for as much as football has been about family, it took Brown a while to realize that it went two ways. Brown concedes that the tough times at Tulane and early in his tenure at North Carolina, when the going was tough and the required hours were long, helped cost him his first marriage, to his college sweetheart. It ended in divorce seven years ago. "As a young coach, I worked nights, took work home. I'd come home to tuck the kids in and then head back to the office," Browns says. "When I got divorced, I reevaluated myself. I was raised to work myself to death. I didn't think that was a bad thing." He learned. Now Brown does not command his staff with an iron fist, does not shame them into working long hours. No longer does schedule all their waking hours. As often as possible, they go home at reasonable time. When the schedule permits, the wives and children are encouraged to come up to the office and bring lunch. At North Carolina they routinely went on staff trips, a practice they plan to continue.

Loss and Gain

Brown would love nothing more than to include his two biggest influences in his newest challenge, but time and age have dictated otherwise. In 1994, at 91, Jelly Watson died after a long illness, not long after the stadium at the new high school facility in Cookeville was named after him. Last March, only days after requesting his son send him a full season of stats and game films so he could be better prepared to argue with the Tennessee football coach at the breakfast club back home in Cookeville, Melvin suffered a brain aneurysm. Mack and Watson, both in the midst of spring practice, took turns traveling to his bedside. On April 12, in a Cookeville hospital, Melvin died at 75 without uttering another word.

Mack was grief stricken. One of the things he had done after all his games as a coach was to call his father in Tennessee and his mother in Florida (they were divorced). Melvin didn't attend many games – as a Navy bomber pilot he was shot down by the Japanese in the Aleutians during World War II and didn't fly again until his son Mel earned a pilot's license – so he kept in touch by phone. They'd talk about the game, Melvin would question play calling and Katherine would scold him for not wearing a hood in the rain. He's down to one now.

When Jelly died, Sally got a copy of a tribute article in the local regional paper and had it framed. When Melvin died, Sally did the same for a favorite picture of Mack and his father. The photos sit on the window sill in Mack Brown's office on the second floor of Belmont Hall. They are there to remind Brown of what he's lost. And to confirm why he's done what he's done.

On a Wednesday night in early December, after returning from his interview with Texas, Brown phoned three of his closest assistants – Davis, Cleve Bryant, and Carl Torbush – and asked them to meet him in his office at 9 a.m. the next day. When they got there, they found a friend who was obviously torn, his emotions frayed, his eyes betraying a sleepless night. He told them of his torment, of what North Carolina had offered for him and what promise Texas offered. Finally his voice cracking, he looked up. "Guys," he said, his reasons becoming as clear as the bright sun between a boy and his idols, "I don't think I could live with myself if I didn't take the job, because that's what my grandfather and daddy would have liked."

Did you know...

The "Lions of Minerva," as the two heroic figures which guard the Levere Memorial Temple are known, were sculpted by Richard Thuss, a renowned sculptor from Austria. The lions were reproductions of a large Nubian male lion of the Cincinnati Zoo. They were dedicated by Dr. John O. Moseley during the 81st Anniversary National Convention on Thursday, August 26, 1937.

Do you recognize me?

I am a 1967 recipient of the Besser Lindsey Award. I was named to the Associated Press Little All-America Basketball team and lettered three years in basketball and two in baseball. My high scholastic ability and service earned me membership in the Blue Key Society, and I served the chapter as IFC representative. I graduated from the University of North Dakota in 1967. My success continued after graduation as I was recognized in 1991 with the T.H.E. Award for my success as the head coach of the Chicago Bulls. After coaching the Bulls to their sixth title, I am taking time off to enjoy my personal life - Phillip D. Jackson (NDAL '67).

1998-99 Foundation Scholarship Recipients

Sigma alpha Epsilon has always prided itself on the outstanding level of academic all-stars that are produced every year. At no other time during the year does this become more evident than when the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Foundation awards four scholarships to some very deserving brothers. This year was no exception!

The Dr. Charles E. Preuss Medical Scholarship, The Jones-Laurence Award for Scholastic Achievement, The Warren Paul Poslusny Award for Outstanding Achievement, and the Σ AE Foundation Merit Scholarship have been created to recognize the terrific efforts of our undergraduate and post-graduate brothers in the classroom, the chapter house, on the campus, and in the community.

The 1998-99 scholarships drew a record number of applicants with 53 brothers applying for the four honors. This figure is up almost 200% from the 1996-97 school year when only 18 brothers applied. This increase is due to many factors. First, the level of marketing has been increased with several letters being sent to the undergraduates and to the chapter houses. Second, announcements of the scholarships have been a regular occurrence in fraternity publications, including: The Record, the fraternity's national magazine, and The Recorder, a publication sent to all chapters and members of the fraternity's leadership. Third, the extended generosity of Brother Warren Paul Poslusny, who added additional scholarships bringing his monetary awards to $18,000 each year, has received praise from around the realm. Finally, the new Σ AE Foundation Merit Scholarships will recognize an additional four undergraduates with monetary awards valued at $500 each.

All applicants must be brothers of good moral character, possess a strong work ethic as demonstrated through academic achievement, have a tremendous amount of zeal for the fraternity, and live the life of the "True Gentleman." This year's applicants provided a unique challenge as each of the candidates fulfilled each and every one of these important characteristics.

The scholarships also offer the fraternity an opportunity to look back on the previous school year with positive reflection, especially when that same school year provided the fraternity some of the toughest challenges that we have ever faced. We are reminded that we are truly here for the betterment of our members through educational and leadership programming that is setting the pace for the rest of the fraternity world. All we have to do is look to our twenty-two scholarship winners from around the country for proof of that.

It is our pleasure to introduce you to the twenty-two brothers who were awarded Sigma Alpha Epsilon scholarships for the 1998-99 school year. Their hard work and dedication to the fraternity and its ideals are inspiration to us all!

The Distinguished Service Award

The Distinguished Service Award was first awarded at the 91st Anniversary Convention in August of 1947 at the Grand Hotel on Mackinac Island, MI. The most prestigious award given by the ΣAE fraternity recognized four past Eminent Supreme Archons: Thomas S. Mell (GABE 1878), J. Washington Moore (TNUU 1891), Albert M. Austin (OHDE 1894), Alfred K. Nippert (OHEP 1894), John O. Moseley (OKKA 1916). Henry S. Bunting (TNZE 1891) and Elmer B. Sanford (MIOB 1903) were also recognized. To this date only 100 medals have been awarded in our great fraternity's history.

ART CONTEST '98

The Graphic Cow is going to give you a chance to prove it. This year, The Graphic Cow is sponsoring an Art Purchase Program. We would like to present the opportunity for you, our market, to contribute your work to our already unparalleled art and product line. Our creative staff will evaluate each piece and decide to purchase designs we feel meet the quality and standards of The Graphic Cow. In addition, one Grand Prize Winner will receive a $300.00 scholarship to be awarded March 1st.

Submit original art of any type, any style, in any medium for use by your organization or by others as well. Please look at our website at www.grafcow.com to look at art in our many different categories. Once a design is submitted, our staff will follow up within two weeks to inform you if it has been included into our line. If so, you will be paid a one-time fee of $50.00 for all rights to future use. We will also provide a catalog exhibiting the artwork for your portfolio as an example of published artwork.

Is Σ AE
in your will?

Traditionally, bequests have been a significant source of the Foundation's financial support. Your bequest to Σ AE will help ensure the Foundation's programs supporting scholastic achievement, leadership training, and personal development.

High Federal estate tax rates significantly lower the cost of making a bequest to the Foundation.

Join more than one-hundred Σ AE alumni and friends as a member of our Heritage Society, an honorary circle of fraternity alumni who have planned an estate gift to the Foundation.

In memory of Robert Young

Brother Robert Young (CAGA '37)

On July 21, 1998, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and the country mourned the passing of an actor so skilled that he set a standard for excellence that earned the adoration of fans and friends. Brother Robert Young (CAGA '37), 91 transcended just playing memorable parts—he created two lasting American icons, when most actors hope to just find steady work. As Jim Anderson in Father Knows Best, he was and remains after 15 years, the American Dad. In Marcus Welby, M.D., he was and two decades later still is, the quintessential knowing, caring practitioner. The father we all wanted at the dinner table (especially if we'd done something wrong); the doctor we all wished to get an appointment with (especially if we had something bad

Born February 22, 1907, in Chicago, Young spent his early years as a shy bookworm. But he traded textbook for script in his high school's theater group, where he also met Betty Henderson, who would be mother to their four daughters and his wife for 61 years until her death in 1994. Brother Young continued to act while joining ΣΑΕΦ at the University of Southern California. After graduation Brother Young trained at the famed Pasadena Community Playhouse at night while working at a bank by day. Soon, he was making movies eventually more than 100 in all, starting in 1931 with The Black Camel (with Bela Lugosi) and The Sin of Madelon Claudet (playing Helen Hayes's son). What he brought to film is what he would project to TV audiences later: masculinity without machismo, good looks without Hollywood perfection, an honesty that felt genuine and an acting style and personality that never wore out the welcome—a True Gentleman.

He worked with top directors in some enduring screen classics: The Secret Agent by Hitchcock, Northwest Passage for King Vidor, Western Union for Fritz Lang. He starred opposite Katherine Hepburn, Charles Laughton, Loretta Young, Clark Gable and other screen legends of the '30's and '40's. He played romantic leads, costume-drama fops, screwball comedy funnyman, action heroes, criminals and cops. He could break hearts in three-hankie weepers such as The Enchanted Cottage or Journey for Margaret, and then give brilliant, tough portrayals against type in such films as the crime thriller, They Won't Believe Me or the groundbreaking, socially conscious murder mystery Crossfire. He even sang, in Lady Be Good. He was reliable and versatile, an actor's actor.

When the film roles started to dry up, Brother Young jumped at the chance in 1949 to create and star in a family-oriented radio comedy: Father Knows Best. But when TV called, Brother Young resisted. "I feel myself being drawn to television," he remarked, "like a man in a canoe heading for Niagra Falls." It was not exactly a disaster. Starting in 1954, Father Knows Best won film 203 episodes (canceled in its first season, the show was saved by a massive write-in campaign by adoring fans), and Young would become more famous than ever and win two Emmys—the bargain. He deserved them: he brought to his portrayal of Jim Anderson the sense that, despite the responsibilities of adulthood, he had probably been a pretty rambunctious kid himself and loved that his kids were spirited. Parents saw themselves in him, while their children felt that Jim Anderson was OK—not exactly hip but not exactly square, either. At the height of the show's popularity Brother Young called it quits.

Nine years later, Marcus Welby, M.D. beckoned. Goodbye Jim Anderson, hello Father Diagnoses Best. Soon he won another Best Actor Emmy (the only actor besides Carroll O'Connor to win the award for both comedy and drama). After Welby's long run, and for the next six years Brother Young became the even-keeled pitchman for a series of coffee commercials, extolling decaffeinated calm. He earned more working 10 days a year doing the ads than he made in a season of Welby. Typically, he put the money into scholarships for his grandchildren. It's no coincidence that Homer Simpson, TV's ultimate Father Knows Least, and his family live in Springfield, the same name as the town where the Anderson family dwelled. Or that in an episode of ER, kind Dr. Mark Greene could be seen watching a Marcus Welby rerun. Brother Young, we were lucky to have had you take care of us. You will be missed! Phi Alpha.

Ralph Regula (OHSI '48), and Chief Justice Thomas Moyer (OHTH '61) pose for a picture at the dedication of the National First Ladies Library. Brothers of Sigma Alpha Epsilon played a major supporting role in the inaugural ceremony for the National First Ladies Library at the Saxton-McKinley House in Canton, Ohio. Ida Saxton-McKinley was the first lady of former President William McKinley (OHSI '1869), the 25th President of the United States. The wife of Congressman Ralph Regula from Navarre, Ohio was a driving force behind this library. Her vision of the future of the library came to fruition when former first lady Rosalynn Carter attended the ribbon cutting ceremony. Mrs. Regula's passion for First Ladies history goes back 30 years when she stood in for her husband, Brother Ralph Regula, to present a speech about Abraham Lincoln. Instead she chose to speak about Mary Todd Lincoln. Frustrated by the lack of available information about the 16th first lady, she then chose to move forward with the creation of a National First Ladies Library as a monument in support of all the Presidential First Ladies of the country. Congratulations to Canton, OH and Mary Regula on the completion of a dream.

MINN STATE: David Scypinski (PAA-Z '77) was recently named Vice President of industry relations for Hilton Hotels Corporation and has become the company's "man of the marketplace" for meetings and conventions in a new role conceptualized by Hilton executives. Michael Harris can be contacted by e-mail: M1856H@aol.com.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA: Paul Bryan (CAGA '66) brings rock 'n' roll to art. A local California artist, Bryan has painted faces of many popular rock stars such as John Lennon, Jerry Garcia, Kurt Cobain and Madonna. The 1960's brought on Bryan's fascination for musicians. Paul comes from a family rich with ΣAE tradition – both his father and uncle were members of Cal Gamma and Cal Alpha respectively. Bryan is currently working out of his home studio in Huntington Beach, CA.

SOUTH CAROLINA: Volunteers of America is pleased to announce the addition of David Levite (SCDE '89) as the new Director of Development for major gifts. David got his first taste of fundraising while an undergraduate, when he served his chapter as Eminent Deputy Archon and continued when, as an alumnae, he was Housing Corporation President. David presently resides in Alexandria, VA.

SOUTH CAROLINA: Brothers Doug Smith (SCDE '76) and Bill Schoneberger (SCDE '45) were honored for their work on the Navy's magazine The Salvo. The Salvo was an "exclusively Navy" magazine that told of USC's Navy life. The team published four editions between June 1944 and October 1945. The Salvo grew from a 36 page magazine to 104 pages in 1945. These one-of-a-kind premier editions of The Salvo have become part of the proud history of the Navy at the University of South Carolina.

SOUTHERN METHODIST: Tradition continues! Richard Ware (TXDE '68) and Tol Ware (TXRH '40) are seen here at the initiation of William and Pat Ware (TXDE). The Ware family now proudly boasts three generations of brotherhood. Good luck to all and keep the tradition alive.

TEXAS TECH: Clark Willingham (TXAL '67) is the president of the National Cattleman's Beef Association for its 100th year. It has been an unlikely journey for Willingham. He was a "city dude" and collegiate sprinter who became a Dallas accountant and tax lawyer. He married Jane Hitch. This Dallas actress and former Miss Oklahoma happened to be the daughter of Ladd Hitch, one of the most successful and respected cattlemen in the United States. A tax specialist, he was a crucial player in the industry's push for tax reform during the 80's, which transformed the cattle industry, and particularly the feeding industry. Some of Willingham's friends say that his biggest skill may be making people feel good about a deal. This quality was useful when the National Cattlemen's Association and the Beef Industry merged. Clark Willingham is a great asset to both the National Cattlemen's Beef Association and to ΣAE.

TULANE: Never Losing Sight. Congratulations to Dr. Alston Callahan (LATU '30), on being inducted into the Alabama Healthcare Hall of Fame.

Dr. Callahan had the foresight many years ago to see the need for an eye care hospital. Through the help of very generous members of the Birmingham Community, many of whom were former patients of Dr. Callahan, his dream was completed. Dr. Callahan is still an active fundraiser for eye research.

Alvin Gottschall (LATU '43) has composed a series of letters to his daughter about his early life in New Orleans. The letters date from his earliest memories through his duty as a naval officer during some of the infamous battles of World War II in the Pacific. The letters were recently published under the title, Growing Up in New Orleans. A significant part of the book recalls his time at Tulane, and provides a look at what college life for an ΣAE in New Orleans was like at the time. The letters include a trip to the 1941 Leadership School, with another chapter brother and a couple of other ΣAE's from other chapters. Alvin also remembers the social life that he enjoyed during the days that he spent at Tulane and looks back on the significant role that ΣAE played in his life.

SOUTHERN MISSISSIPPI: Todd Buchanan, Chair of the national Rho Chapter Committee and former Archon of Province Upsilon, married Ann Teney on September 26. In attendance were: past ESA Ron Doleac, current ESA Jim Pope, Province Upsilon Archon Paul Strauss; as well as brothers from Mississippi Sigma, Arizona Beta and Michigan Gamma. Todd has been promoted to Manager of The Rio Grande District (Texas and New Mexico) at the Valic Company. He and his bride will be moving to and working in New Mexico. All brothers in attendance are photographed with Todd and Ann.

CHAPTER NEWS BRIEF

ALASKA—ANCHORAGE: The Alaska Alpha Colony was installed on Monday, September 21. Manager of Chapter Services Bryan Ott conducted the installation with a surprisingly large number of local alumni. ΣΑΕ is the first fraternity at Anchorage, joining two sororities. We are looking forward to conquering the wild frontier, with our soon-to-be-the-best chapter in the 49th State. The brothers would like to thank Chris Miga (MIGA '95), Manager of Chapter Finances, for all of his assistance getting started. Good Luck!

MICHIGAN: Congratulations to Brother Scott Thomas. The Michigan Delta junior had an incredible year for the varsity baseball team. Playing first base, he batted .363 (with a .615 slugging percentage), hit 5 home runs and 17 RBIs, with 24 runs scored. These statistics earned him first team honors with MIAA and he was voted the team's Most Valuable Player.

CALIFORNIA—SANTA BARBARA: The California Eta chapter, in connection with the Santa Barbara Optimist Club, has adopted the Isla Vista Elementary School. An ongoing project since last November, ΣΑΕ aids the school in a variety of ways. Brothers help renovate an elementary school falling victim to the tests of time and assist children with assignments and projects. From renovation projects to model airplane building, ΣΑΕ is helping to provide unforgettable experiences for all of the children involved.

CALIFORNIA STATE—LONG BEACH: California Lambda's fall 1998 pledge class of 25 men is the largest class in eight years, and the largest class on campus this fall. This may be due to ΣΑΕ's having University resident Robert Maxson attend rush events.

COLORADO STATE: At the Greek Community's awards program, Greek Night Out, Colorado Delta received a number of awards. Eminent Supreme Deputy Archon Col. Bill Woods was honored as the Outstanding Chapter Advisor. ΣΑΕ was also recognized for the highest percentage of new members initiated, earning first place, and for an Active Chapter GPA above the All-Men's Average. Congratulations!

CORNELL: New York Alpha Brothers Nick Kahn-Fogel (left) and Benjamin Hussa (right) climbed Mount Kilimanjaro in Africa this past summer. The climb took six days, with the assistance of guides and porters. The photograph above was taken at dawn on the summit, as they proudly fly the colors of ΣΑΕ.

DENISON: The Ohio Mu chapter enjoyed one of its finest years of leadership and participation on campus. Brother Andy Wardell led the varsity soccer team in scoring, while brother Matt Seitz anchored the defense as a co-captain of the team. Brother Coler Yoakam is the assistant coach of the women's volleyball team. Brother Sakhile Mniki is not only leading the men's rugby team on the field, but as its coach as well. The recent success of the varsity lacrosse team was due in large part to the contributions of brothers Nate Balboni and Rory Griffin. While excelling on the athletic field, the men of Ohio Mu are leading the way for the arts on campus as well. Brother Ward Scott plays bass for The Shantee, the most popular band on campus. Brother John Risk stars in the drama department's production of Pierre, and does double-duty as a member of the male singing group, the B-Flats.

DENVER: Colorado Zeta recently initiated Brother Gordon Speir. Brother Speir pledged in 1964, but was never able to activate during his college career. Thirty-four years later, he is thrilled to have finally entered the bonds of ΣΑΕ, joining Brother Jerry Fritsche as initiates of Colorado Zeta with a pledge period that dates back to the "60's." ΣΑΕ took home the Delta Gamma Anchor Splash trophy for the 6th time in seven years this spring. Congratulations!

LOUISIANA TECH: The Louisiana Rho chapter won the Louisiana Tech University Intramural Soccer Championship with an undefeated season. ΣΑΕ defeated ATO, TKE, and ΣΝ to capture the fraternity crown. ΣΑΕ moved on to face the Fellowship Organization for the university title. The dramatic, come-from-behind, shootout victory gave ΣΑΕ the championship. Congratulations!

MISSISSIPPI: The brothers of Mississippi Gamma are working hard with Habitat for Humanity to build new homes and playgrounds in the Oxford Community. Habitat for Humanity coordinator Marie Adams praised the efforts of ΣAE in the local newspaper, The Oxford Eagle.

MOREHEAD STATE: Kentucky Gamma led the campus in community service for the 1997-98 academic year. Above, brothers present Phi Alpha teddy bears to St. Claire Medical Center workers, who then distribute them to sick children. The brothers were the only fraternity to participate in university President Dr. Ronald Eaglin's largest fundraising event, "The Gala." The event raised over $60,000 for charity. ΣAE also worked with the university to plant flowers in the community and conducted a Bucket Brigade to help fight cancer and benefit the Jimmy V. Foundation. Kentucky Gamma also won an award from the ΣAE Fraternity Office for pledging over 50% of the active chapter and took first place in the intramural basketball and doubles racquetball tournaments.

NEVADA-RENO: Nevada Alpha brother Joey Gilbert won his second straight National Collegiate Boxing Association Welterweight Championship this past spring. Brother Gilbert led the Nevada-Reno team to a fourth place finish overall. He also captured the welterweight gold medal at the New York Athletic Club's National Collegiate Invitational for the second year in a row. As president and captain of the Nevada Boxing Team, he helped to raise over $11,000 for the Sergeant George Sullivan Fund. The fund benefits the family of the university police officer who was killed on campus earlier this year. Phi Alpha!

NORTH DAKOTA: Some of the brothers of North Dakota Alpha are resting atop the results of a hard day's work. Over four feet of sewage water flooded the chapter house. The flooding destroyed everything in the basement. This is taking "spring cleaning" to another level.

PITTSBURGH: Pennsylvania Chi-Omicron's dominance on campus was recognized during the Greek Odyssey Formal. ΣAE won a record-setting 16 awards, including the Cathedral Award for Overall Fraternity Excellence. The chapter received other honors for Recruitment, Leadership, Academics, and Most-Improved Fraternity. The spring pledge class earned the Most Original Drink Award in the AAA Mocktail Mix-Off, an event to stimulate non-alcoholic activities among new members. ΣAE had more brothers in leadership positions than any other fraternity. Individual recognition was given to: Jason Engle, current E&L Consultant—Southeast, with the Triad Award; Dennis Krause, Outstanding Contributions to Greek Life; and Brandon Weghorst, Rush Chairman of the Year.

SALISBURY STATE: Maryland Sigma's chapter retreat was held at a paint-ball course in rural Maryland. After a long day of a variety of games, the veteran brothers emerged victorious over the younger members. After having their fill of war games, the chapter worked late into the night on a variety of activities to improve chapter operations and unity. They hope to include another ΣAE chapter in the future and make this an annual event.

OREGON STATE: The brothers of Oregon Alpha hosted the Province Lambda Leadership School & Convention April 17-19. Eighty-five brothers attended the event, representing every chapter in the province. Special guests in attendance were Tom Bower, Eminent Supreme Herald, and Ryan Whitney, former E&L Consultant—West Coast. Seminars and discussion focused on rush, risk management, scholarship and the Alcohol-Free Housing Initiative. The brothers would like to thank all of their distinguished guests for their assistance. This year, Province Lambda and Province Phi will hold a joint Leadership School at Washington Alpha—University of Washington.

SOUTHERN MISSISSIPPI: At the University's annual Awards Day, Mississippi Sigma brother Chad Doleac was honored as a member of the University of Southern Mississippi's Hall of Fame.

DELAWARE: The Brothers of Delaware Alpha are continuing their fundraising campaign for a chapter house. For a donation of $100, a brick will be engraved with the donor's name and will be laid in the chapter house. For $1,000 or more, a plaque will be placed permanently in the new chapter house. Checks can be sent to: ΣAE Housing, Office of Greek Affairs, 12 West Delaware Ave., Newark, DE 19716.

IONOMA STATE: The brothers of California Alpha-Alpha are continuing their tradition of campus leadership. Chad Williams was elected as a Representative for the School of Business and Economics to the Student Board of Directors. The Recreational Sports Office has named Anthony Luncan Director of Intramural Sports, while Carter Jones will serve as a Residential Advisor once again. Active members of the Student Alumni Association, Brothers Vincent Cortese (left) and John Shinn (right) pose with Peanuts creator Charles Schultz at the ground breaking ceremony of the new Jeane and Charles Schultz Information & Technology Center.

TENNESSEE: The brothers at Tennessee Kappa have become a dominant group of campus leaders. Justin Davis was elected Chairman of the All Campus Events Committee (ACE), responsible for planning Homecoming activities among other events. Marshall Taylor is also a member of ACE. Kevin Howard '95 is president of the Interfraternity Council. Dennis Harris and Seth Argo are IFC directors, and Paul Vetter serves on the IFC Judicial Board. The Spring ΣAE Budweiser Boxing Tournament was an enormous success. ΣAE captured the title while helping raise $43,000 for the Golden Gloves Charities and the Muscular Dystrophy Association. A new attendance record was established, with nearly 15,000 people in attendance over three days. This was due in no small part to the organizers of the event: Brothers Roy Brown, Tournament Director; Jeff Jennings, Assistant Director; and Matt Gant, Advertising Director.

TEXAS CHRISTIAN: Royce Huffman was selected The Sporting News player of the week for the first week of April. The Texas Beta brother anchors third base for the varsity baseball team, and he punts, returns kicks, and plays wide receiver for the varsity football team. He helped the baseball team advance to the WAC tournament with a .435 batting average, 15 home runs and 64 RBIs. Highlighting the season was Huffman leading the Horned Frogs to a conference victory with three home runs and a school record eight RBIs in a victory over San Diego State. After that feat, he went across campus to play in the Purple-White spring football game.

Texas Beta sophomore Alberto Ochoa and freshman Scott Volpitto helped lead the Horned Frogs to the WAC golf title. Brother Ochoa was named to the WAC All-Conference Team. He won the Savanne College All-American Golf Classic and was named team MVP for the second straight year. Ochoa was named first team All-American for the second straight year and is the first TCU golfer to ever be named a first team All-American. Brother Volpitto looks to continue ΣAE's tradition of golf success at TCU as one of the best freshman golfers in the country.

VALDOSTA: The brothers of Georgia Sigma have created an award to honor the South Georgia Law Enforcement Officer of the Year. The recipient will receive a new Xtreme body armor vest. The vest is being donated by American Body Armor of Jacksonville, Florida. Any law enforcement employee can nominate a fellow officer for this award. The award will be presented at Valdosta State University during an event honoring officers of local law enforcement agencies, sponsored by ΣAE. Recommendations can be sent to: South Georgia Law Enforcement Officer of the Year; c/o Alan Ridge; 107 East Brookwood Drive; Valdosta, GA 31602.

VIRGINIA TECH: At the Greek Awards ceremony, the Virginia Zeta chapter was recognized as one of the best chapters on campus. ΣAE won awards for Overall Chapter Service, Leadership, Sportsmanship, and Philanthropy. Not only was the chapter acknowledged, but its campus leaders as well: Ryan Ford, IFC President; James Rollins, SEIFC Area Vice President and IFC Liaison; and Drew Stone, IFC Town and University Liaison were all commended for their service by the Director of Greek Life. Adam Boitnott won Greek Man of the Year and was an Academy of Excellence Award winner. Congratulations!

1998 ΣΑΕ National Amateur Golf Tournament

by Ronald G. Noblin

1998 ΣΑΕ National Amateur Champ -- Gil Happel (FLDE '69)

Facing a group of younger gunners, Brother Gil Happel (FLDE '69) used straight shooting to win the 20th Annual Sigma Alpha Epsilon National Amateur Golf Tournament held May 7th-9th, 1998 in Pensacola, Florida. Dueling Brother Jack Williams (FLBE '80) over the last nine holes, Happel hit the Bull's eye on a pressure packed putt to birdie the final hole and win the tournament by a single stroke. Brothers John Kelly (FLEP '77) and Roy Neal (SCUP '85) finished four strokes back despite steady play throughout the event.

Happel's combination of strength and accuracy teamed with his experience and nerve to capture both the Senior and Tournament Champion titles for the first time in tournament history. He matched shots with the best golfers in the fraternity, and demonstrated his expert ability down the stretch in front of the field assembled to watch the exciting finish. Happel punched the sky with his fist as the winning putt circled the hole and disappeared inside, capping a great performance with an exclamation point.

Brother Shawn Stanley (FLSI '00) won the Collegiate Title and the ring that goes with it. Flight winners included Mark Alto (OH EP '86), Eric Cornell (OHRH '53), Doug Wagner (OHEP '89), Ric Vinson (FLBE '63), Dale Goolsby (FLSI '76), M. J. Menge (FLUP '58), and Greg Brock (FLSE '73). The Chapter Championship was won by the team from Florida Beta, consisting of Brothers Jack Williams, Ric Vinson, and Chris Corns.

Under a format adopted for the 20th tournament, golfers competed against each other for three rounds of medal play on different championship courses which included Tiger Point, Pensacola Country Club, and The Moors, all sites of past PGA events. The Moors Golf Club currently hosts The Emerald Coast Classic Senior Championship each year.

Everyone shared golf, food, warm handshakes and fraternity stories at the Hampton Inn on Pensacola Beach, and were rewarded with perfect weather reserved especially for the golfing Sons of Minerva. Plans are being made for next year's tournament, which can only be better if YOU come and join the fun. Please contact Tournament Chairman Ken Jernigan, P. O. Box 12281, Pensacola, Florida 32581, 1-800-478-3728 to get on the mailing list.

And you thought Leadership School was the ultimate fraternity experience...

SOUTHERN MISSISSIPPI ALUMS WIN 13TH ANNUAL ΣΑΕ WORLD SERIES

by: Geary Mason

For the thirteenth straight year, the New Orleans ΣΑΕ Alumni Association hosted the ΣΑΕ World Series softball tournament. On the weekend of June 5th and 6th, twenty-four squads of ΣΑΕ active and alumni traveled from all corners of the country to compete for the coveted title of Eminent Supreme Champion.

Over the days leading up to the event, New Orleans weathered heavy rainfall which threatened the softball complex and the entire softball tournament. The rain continued into the morning of the tournament but mysteriously ceased as "the Pope" (Eminent Supreme Archon Jim Pope) arrived in town and parted the nasty skies to expose the sunshine that would last the entire weekend. After a brief warm up and a few wild pitches, Eminent Supreme Archon Jim Pope threw out the ceremonial first pitch (a low inside strike) to officially start tournament play on Friday afternoon. The twenty-four competing teams were seeded into four separate divisions with a double elimination format. Each division champion and runner-up would advance to a single elimination playoff round called the Phi Alpha round.

In the Minerva Division, the Texas & M Alums showed their strength by soundly defeating Christian Brothers 13-1 and West Florida A team 12-4. The Aggie old boys showed a little age as they got old and lost a re-match to the West Florida A team 5-4. But in the division's final game, they revenged the earlier loss with a 13-4 victory over the pesky West Florida A team. While the West Florida A team made a respectable effort in the Minerva division, the West Florida B team showed a minimal effort in losing ugly in both games by scores of 17-1 and 16-4. Their pitiful play did not go unnoticed as they captured the event's dubious Last Place Award for the third straight year.

In another action, the Lion Division's first seeded and defending Eminent Supreme Champions, the Florida State Alums, displayed hitting that would make Mark McGwire and Sammy Sosa green with envy as they walloped the Louisiana Tech Alums 28-1. The Florida State Alums then cruised to two easy victories over the host New Orleans Alumni Association's team, the Rejects, by scores of 23-2 and 15-3 respectively. Team captain Virgil Cook did an outstanding job of keeping his Seminoles focused on thoughts of a repeat championship. Another group of New Orleans area alums, who were rejected by the Rejects, reconvened their own team called the Legion of Doom. Christian Blessey's alumni group of "once a year" athletes were doomed from the start as they gave up ten runs in the first inning to the La. Tech Alums. The Legion of Doom showed late signs of life as they made it respectable losing 18-14 to the La. Tech Alums. The La. Tech actives then took their turn with the Legion of Doom cruising to an easy 14-1 victory. Enjoying libation's before, during and after the game proved to be a costly error by the Legion of Doom as they went 0-2 and started on their own post-tournament party.

In the Phoenix Division, last year's third place team, Southwest Texas State, was ready to compete as they welcomed the tournament newcomers from New Mexico to New Orleans with a 17-0 bombardment. Team captain Scott Lowrey then unleashed his sluggers from Southwest Texas State on the Southern Miss B team with a 24-3 victory. Meanwhile, the South Florida Alums fought their way back into contention with three victories in the division's consolation round to earn a shot at winning the Phoenix division. The South Florida Alums stole a 8-7 victory from the favored Southwest Texas State team and forced an extra game for the division championship. The tournament's Home Run Derby Champion, Adrian Castilleja, displayed his hot bat as he led the Southwest Texas State squad to a 16-8 pay-back victory and the division title.

The Devotie Division saw the tournament's fiercest competition erupt as a scrappy squad from Tulane squeaked out early victories against their chapter alums 10-9, and the Christian Brothers Alums 21-20. This was a tremendous improvement for the Tulane active squad, who usually shows up to party instead of play. This respectable effort earned the Tulane actives the tournament's Most Improved Award and gave them a solid base for next year. The three-time tournament champions from South Florida got an early test as they struggled past intra-state rival Central Florida 15-12 in a game that went down to the last inning. Southern Miss Alumni team captain Scottie Warren orchestrated some key acquisitions in the weeks leading up to the ΣΑΕ World Series to bolster his lineup and improve some potential weaknesses. The Rejects' failure to designate key players John Shaw and Michael Rowells as franchise players proved to be a costly mistake as Scottie Warren pilfered these Rejects sluggers to bolster his lineup. Scottie's wise personnel moves in the free agent market paid off as his squad defeated the sluggers from South Florida 20-12 in a game that was never in question. However, Steve Birk's South Florida team would not go quietly as they won a consolation game to earn a rematch against the Southern Miss Alums. Fortunes were quickly reversed as the South Florida team won a decisive 17-10 revenge victory and earned the right to play the Southern Miss Alums a third time for the Devotie Division title. South Florida jumped out to an early 6-0 lead after two innings and continued to pour on the runs in route to an easy 12-1 victory and the Devotie Division title.

After the Neophyte Round was complete, the tournament's top two teams from each division then graduated to the Phi Alpha Championship round. In the first round of the playoffs, favorites from South Florida, Southwest Texas State and the Texas A&M Alums easily advanced and sent three more teams to the showers. The Southern Miss Alums limped into the Phi Alpha round with a 2-2 record and the eighth seed hoping to upset the defending champs and first seed Florida State Alums. Into the game's fifth inning, the Southern Miss Alums held a surprising 2-1 lead and could taste an upset. The defending champs gave up a solo home run by John Shaw to fall behind 3-1 but answered in the sixth inning when Ron Draa scored to close the gap to one run. In the game's seventh and final inning, Scottie Warren hit a two out double to left field driving in two additional runs to extend the lead to 5-2. There would be no repeat championship for the defending champs as they couldn't master a hit at their final at bat and were eliminated by the feisty Southern Miss Alums by an upset score of 5-2.

In the tournament's final four, the sluggers from South Florida kept the lead the entire game to win 7-2 over Southwest Texas State. In the other contest, the Southern Miss Alums were again led by the hard hitting of Joey Barthes (who played the entire championship round with a separated shoulder that would later require surgery!) who went 5 for 5 in the game with 6 RBI's. With the Texas A&M Alums leading 8-5 in the fifth inning, Michael Rowells launched a three-run homer for the Southern Miss Alums to tie the game at 8-8. In the sixth inning, the Southern Miss Alums extended the lead to 15-8 with key hits by Jessie Miguez and Darren Waugh. In the bottom of the seventh and final inning, the Texas A&M Alums were seven runs from elimination when Joel Prellop and Jeff Hermes rallied the Aggies to within one run, 15-14. With a runner on first and second and two outs, Southern Miss Alumni shortstop Michael Rowells made a diving scoop in the dirt and stretched his glove to second base to claim the third out and preserve the 15-14 victory. The Texas A&M Alums gallant comeback would fall one run short and give the Southern Miss Alums a berth in the Championship game.

In the ΣΑΕ World Series Championship game, South Florida would face the "never say die" Southern Miss Alums for the fourth time. South Florida jumped ahead early in the game and held a 6-1 lead in the second inning. It seemed the Southern Miss Alums were lethargic in the bottom of the third when a two-out rally led by Darren Waugh put four runs on the scoreboard to make the game's outcome questionable. The fourth and fifth innings belonged to the Southern Miss Alums as they added seven runs thanks to key hits by Jason Simmons and David Cuevas to hold a 10-6 lead. In the top of the sixth inning, tournament MVP Tom Foley, of South Florida, fired up his squad for four runs and the score was suddenly tied at 10-10. Both teams played flawless defense in the final seventh inning and the game would go into extra innings. South Florida left two runners on base at the top of the eighth and looked to their defense to give them another bat. Eminent Supreme Archon Jim Pope (a Southern Miss Alum) tried to remain impartial, but he couldn't help showing his true colors (black and gold) and favoritism as he confronted the umpire after a close call during this heated contest. In the bottom of the eighth with the Southern Miss Alums at bat, Michael Rowells and Joey Barthes led off with singles which put them at first and third with no outs. Jessie Miguez then calmly hit a base hit to left field, driving in Mike Rowells for the winning run as the Southern Miss Alums survived with a 11-10 victory and the tournament championship.

Jim Pope then presented the championship trophy to his own chapter and everyone then ventured to the French Quarter for a post-tournament celebration. The 13th Annual ΣΑΕ World Series proved to be one of the most entertaining in the event's history, filled with great competition and unpredictable upsets. Facing elimination numerous times, the Southern Miss Alums fought their way back with upset after upset after upset and survived to become ΣΑΕ World Series Champions. After twelve years of claiming second and third place honors numerous times, the Southern Miss Alums are the Supreme Eminent Champions. Depending on crucial hitting when they needed it most and solid defense throughout – Southern Miss did it without quitting. They did it the hard way! Phi Alpha!

Rush Recommendation

Alumni can help our chapters increase their number of quality members by letting the Fraternity Office know of an incoming college freshman or an independent student who would be a good candidate for membership into ΣΑΕ. If you know of any student that will attend or is attending an institution where an ΣΑΕ chapter is located, please fill out this form and fax or mail it to the Fraternity Office. The office will forward it to the respective chapter. Any information alumni can provide will not only benefit our chapters, but would also benefit the individual.

BY RON THEISEN

As we begin the new school year, our fraternity stands ready to accept yet another challenge. Putting academics back in Σ AE. As we have done before in our history, we rededicate ourselves to accept the challenge to improve scholarship throughout the realm. The time, and certainly the need, for improved scholarship comes to our fraternity via our college and university administrators. Our values are questioned and our motivation suspect. The fraternity stands ready to assist you and your chapter in developing a program that will result in good academic health, ensuring a bright future for generations of brothers to come. As the fraternity's Educational Advisor, I offer the following goals for the 1998-99 academic year.

- ▶ Elect a scholarship officer for the chapter. Make it a creditable position that receives the recognition it deserves—we go to college for one reason. Provide your scholarship chair with the tools and resources he needs to help motivate the chapter—manuals, resource books, test files, and monetary incentives to reward and recognize individual and chapter achievement.
- ▶ Select an academic advisor from the university faculty or professional staff. Your advisor can be instrumental in providing progressive and effective programs that can assist the chapter.
- ▶ Work with your alumni to establish chapter scholarships, academic incentives, member education, and recognition programs.
- ▶ Attitude is everything! Work as a chapter to develop a positive attitude toward academic achievement. Dedicate time, energy, and resources to this goal. The health of our great fraternity depends on it.

We, as a fraternity, realize that academic achievement is an individual responsibility. Σ AE, as part of over 220 campuses and member of the interfraternal family, must place scholarship at the top of our priorities. The fraternity cannot remain a viable institution otherwise. Putting academics back in Σ AE will be accomplished. The challenge is ours to accept!
