Dear Brothers,

At this time of the year, one-hundred forty-two years ago, our founder, Noble Leslie DeVotie, was not only involved in the creation of the world's longest running success story in social fraternity history, but was also a student at the University of Alabama, preparing himself for graduation. Noble Leslie was a scholar, clearly focused on how the fraternity should improve the intellectual faculties of its members. The history records show that there were only thirteen students in the graduating class at the University of Alabama in the early summer of 1856, five of whom were  $\Sigma AE$ 's. DeVotie led by shining example, graduating as class valedictorian.

As we revisit those young scholars, who bound themselves together, it is important that we note that they were all clearly motivated to succeed academically. From the original class came a doctor, a Princeton lawyer, a Harvard Lawyer, a newspaper editor, a church pastor, an educator, a cotton planter, and a successful business entrepreneur.

Last June in Phoenix the 141st Annual Convention approved the new Permanent Committee on Scholarship chaired by Brother Ron Thiesen (ORAL '61), who serves as the Fraternity's Educational Advisor. The twenty-nine member Scholarship Committee, with a representative from each Province, offers alumni support for scholastic programming in hopes of matching the accomplishments of our founding fathers.

Today, as we approach spring graduation 1998, approximately 3,500 of our active members are in their last undergraduate academic semester. As these brothers prepare themselves to enter into the most competitive job market of our times, it is my hope they will feel the Phi Alpha spirit of challenge and commitment as exemplified by our Founders. For brothers seeking entrance into graduate programs in business, education, religion, medicine, law, journalism or any other applied science or technology, we wish for them only the best as they prepare to lead  $\Sigma AE$  into the next millennium.

The Sigma Alpha Epsilon Foundation offers numerous resources to help aid our members as they pursue their academic dreams. Our Foundation assists brothers financially with student loans that are presently in excess of \$1.3 million dollars. The Foundation also funds the Resident Educational Advisor Program that places brothers pursuing graduate degrees in our chapter houses to offer improved guidance and scholastic leadership on the chapter level. Our award winning Leading Edge Program, consisting of six video modules, has been mailed to each chapter this year in an effort to help prepare this year's graduating seniors to enter into the  $\Sigma AE$  "career pipeline." ESR Dick Lies (ILPO '67) and the Fraternity Office staff have coordinated more than 28,000 mailings so that our undergraduate members receive the latest tips on the resources available for enhanced study skills, course selections and time management. In our effort to directly communicate with each of our members at least once a semester, the message is clear: "Set your goals high, study hard, lead by shining example and finish strong."

Active Brothers, your academic challenge is to be the best that you can be individually in the classroom, so that the fraternity may celebrate your success collectively. Sixty-four of our chapters enjoy having chapter fund accounts with the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Foundation offering scholarships to deserving brothers. Alumni Brothers, our challenge is to support  $\Sigma AE's$  commitment to scholarship; we should not rest until every chapter has its own chapter fund. Please support  $\Sigma AE's$  commitment to scholarship by supporting the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Foundation - leading by shining example!

Yours in the Bond,

J.L. (Jim) Pope, ESA

THE LEADING EDGE

THE LEADING EDGE

As an undergraduate, do you ever have questions about pursuing graduate school, your job path or career opportunities, goal setting or time management, personal finances, or your role in the fraternity after graduation? If you answered yes to any of these questions, the Alumni Services Committee has a program just for you, THE LEADING EDGE. Many of you know about it, but few of you have participated in it.

The Leading Edge fulfills several goals for  $\Sigma AE$ . First, it provides chapters with an educational program to help undergraduate brothers prepare for life after graduation. Second, this program helps prepare upperclassmen to become strong alumni, not only through topics on personal development, but also by introducing seniors to alumni roles, responsibilities, and ways in which to stay involved with the fraternity.  $\Sigma AE$  is for a lifetime! Finally, the Leading Edge affords seniors a greater appreciation of their  $\Sigma AE$  experience and helps them put it into a context that goes beyond their undergraduate years.

The Leading Edge contains six modules. The topics were developed directly from surveys soliciting undergraduates and alumni suggestions. The six modules are:

Living the Life of the True Gentleman
Majoring in the Rest of Your Life
You and Your Job
Toward Success in Leadership and Life
Investing in Your Future
Putting the Law on Your Side

The program consists of a workbook (modules I-IV), a video(modules I-III), and a disk to reproduce any of the modules. The Leading Edge is a structured, self-taught program that can be administered in various ways to meet a chapter's specific needs and goals. An individual can review the materials on his own, several of the brothers can discuss the information as a group, or a chapter can organize an event (i.e. career night) around a particular module. While the program is not dependent upon participation by the chapter advisor, province archon, alumni or the Fraternity Office, it is a natural means by which you can request alumni to become more involved with your chapter. The Leading Edge is facilitated annually at Leadership School and has received the Association of Fraternity Advisors (AFA) award for "Excellence in Educational Programming." The program was mailed to all chapters in 1994 and all chapter advisors in 1997. The program is available on request from the Fraternity Office (800)233-1856, extension 222. Please see the related article, "Selecting your Career...Chasing your Dream", on page 15.

ALUMNI PROGRAMS FOR THE 63RD LEADERSHIP SCHOOL

Sigma Alpha Epsilon alumni will have the opportunity this sun mer to attend the 63rd Annual Leadership School in Chicago, Illinois, non as undergraduate students at the school, but as graduate students of the Alumni Graduate School from August 1-2, 1998, at the University of Illinois - Chicago (Circle Campus). The Alumni Graduate School will provide alumni volunteers an opportunity to learn about pressing issues affecting the fraternity today and how they can assist their local chapter with over coming adversity. Throughout the two-day Graduate School, alumni will be exposed to such topics as risk management, scholarship development financial management, technology in the chapter, leadership training, and alcohol and substance abuse. It is the hope of Brother Ken Tracey, Dea of the Graduate School, that every alumni brother who attends will have better understanding of the fraternity world today and how alumni must be involved at the local chapter level. There will be two different programs offered at the Alumni Graduate School. One program will focus primarily on the Chapter Advisor and his role within the chapter on an everyday basis. And the other program will be for House Corporation members and will focus on those issues affecting the operations of these vital chapter entities. Although these are specific programs, any alumni brother is invited to attend the programs. Also, any alumnus attending the programs will be invited to take part in some of the special events arranged for the undergraduate brothers at the 63rd Annual Leadership School. For more information on the Alumni Graduate School, please call Ken Tracey at 847-475-1856, extension 321, or Ben Lewis at extension 222. We hope to see you in Chicago!

HONOR INITIATE PROGRAM

When we reflect upon our college life and our fraternity experi ences, some things will always be remembered fondly accepting a bid at the  $\Sigma AE$  house, our formal initiation, being selected as a big brother or visiting the Levere Memorial Temple for the first time. For those of us privileged to represent our chapter at Leadership School, we have one more memory we will hold on to for a lifetime. Leadership School is a time for all  $\Sigma AE$  brothers from all across the country to come together, share stories, get to know one another and truly experience what Phi Alpha means. For a select group Leadership School is even more meaning ful. An outstanding pledge from the last term is invited to attend the school to participate in a very special program, the Honor Initiate. The Leadership School registration packet included the registration form for this program; it is also available upon request from your Province Archon or the Fraternity Office. Register today and enjoy the experiences only selected and limited brothers are able to experience, the Honor Inititiate Program!

housands of undergraduates across the country will be embarking on the greatest thrill at the end of this school year. It is more exciting, more exhilarating, and more thrilling than anything you have ever experienced. We are talking about graduation and the segue into the "real world."

Chances are you have already put together a list of all the different tasks that must be com-

There is a wonderful collection of books that is very informative and lend a hand in specifying what one must do to get ahead in the "real world." These books will aid the new graduate in preparing resumes, developing contact lists, marketing his abilities, interviewing, and the do's and don'ts of the lunch interview. The following are some of the books we suggest every college graduate have on his shelf:

The Real Life Guide To Life After College

The World Wide Web is perhaps the best resource available to find information on careers, companies, resume building, job-hunting tips, and how to market yourself better. Cyberspace is infinite and so is the number of web sites available for viewing. All you need to do is log on to your desktop or laptop computer and check out some of these great sites:

The Job Track at www.jobtrack.com

Provides extensive information including a career fair calendar, forums, a resource center, contact network, campus interview schedule, posting site for resumes, and more than 3,000 job listings.

The Monster Board at www.monsterboard.com

Provides more than 50,000 job listings worldwide, career fair schedules, a resume builder, assorted career seminars, and information on relocating.

The Career Mosaic at www.careermosaic.com

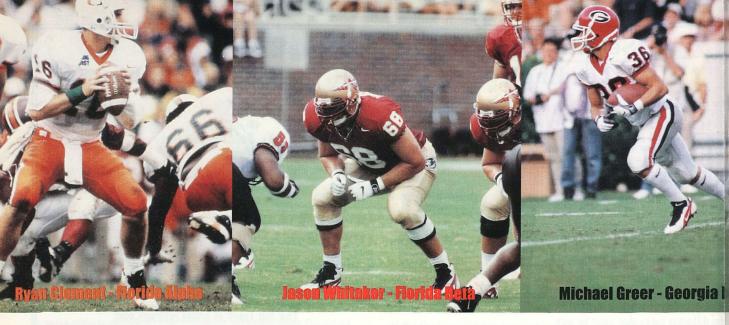

Provides such services as national and international job listings, employer search engines, posting site for resumes, online job fairs, and search engines for specific industries.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon alumni are also a great resource for information on careers and how to go about securing your first job. Every chapter has alumni who can be found throughout the country. They are involved in all lines of work from medicine to carpentry. With more than 248,000 initiated members since 1856, it is not hard to find an alumnus who is willing to take time to talk with a younger brother about the do's and dont's of job searches. The best part is they are only a phone call away.

The Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity Office also has an award-winning program, The Leading Edge, which was developed by Sigma Alpha Epsilon alumni and volunteers for the undergraduate members. The Leading Edge is designed to be a "launching pad" for members to prepare for life after college. The program includes six modules which detail everything you need to know about investments, insurance, job hunting, resume building, building contact networks, and living the life of the "True Gentleman."

Now it is up to you as a soon-to-be college graduate to get the ball rolling on your own job search. The resources discussed are only a few of many that are available in stores, on the Internet, and here at the Fraternity Office. With a little motivation and time, you can secure that first post college job, and may even find the career path you want to take. Until then, let us be the first to congratulate you on graduation and wish you the best of luck in finding your place in the "real world."

IGMA ALPHA EPSILON COMES TO THE FIRST STATE

y Adam Sloan

n April 19, 1997, Sigma Alpha Epsilon extended the bonds of brothercood to the University of Delaware (U of D). The University of Delaware located in Newark, Delaware, and is attended by approximately 20,000 indergraduate and graduate students. This being the largest university in the "First State," it seemed only fitting that Sigma Alpha Epsilon install a

The history of  $\Sigma AE$  at U of D can be traced to a single person, Michael Rendeiro. Mike made the initial phone call to the  $\Sigma AE$  Fraternity liftice that got the ball rolling. Soon enough Mike and some of his closest riends met with Province Archon Q. Todd Dickinson (Pennsylvania Omega 74) and Ted Chase (Texas Kappa '69). The two men were very npressed with the eleven young men and, in turn, the young men were npressed with Sigma Alpha Epsilon. These eleven men were unhappy vith the existing Greek community on our campus so they decided to seek ut an organization that embodied the highest ideals among men. Sigma Ilpha Epsilon was and is that organization.

On October 29, 1994, a group of seventeen men were officially istalled as a colony of Sigma Alpha Epsilon. After extensive in- and out-f-Province investigations during the fall of 1996, the investigation teams ecommended to the Supreme Council that this colony be made a chapter. I mail ballot was sent out to all chapters across the country, and the esponse was to make this group brothers. The chartering date was set or April 19, 1997.

The weekend of installation activities began as national officers flew in on Thursday to prepare the group for the initiation. Led by staff from Chapter Services, Bryan Ott and Frank Ginocchio, the soon-tole brothers attended a meeting to prepare them for the weekend. On Frilay night the colony brothers attended the Neophyte ceremony led by o reflect on their experiences and talked about the future of the group.
The room was filled with forty-seven brothers, ranging from most of the original seventeen, to those of the subsequent pledge classes. As the unopened ritual book was passed around the room, everyone discussed what had been created at Delaware and how each individual came to be a part of it.

The next day, fifty-five men including eight honor initiates were initiated in the Clayton Hall Auditorium located on the U of D campus. Members of the initiation team included then ESA Ben Allen (Ohio Tau '60), ESR Richard Lies (Illinois Psi-Omega '66), Education and Leadership Consultant Brian Hurt, Archon of Province Rho-Eta Q. Todd Dickinson, Archon of Province Nu Fritz Lauture (New York Omega '86), Clark Schoening of Province Tau (South Dakota Theta '87), Manager of Extension Bryan Ott (Iowa Sigma '95), and Chapter Advisor John "Kip" Scannell (Pennsylvania Sigma Mu '96).

That evening, the brothers of Delaware Alpha celebrated their achievement with a gala at the Dupont Country Club in majestic Wilmington, Delaware. Numerous gifts were given to the new chapter on behalf of Province Nu, Province Tau, and the Supreme Council, but no gift surpassed the charter which was presented by ESA Ben Allen. Master of Ceremonies Michael Rendeiro and Chapter Eminent Archon R. Alexander Beach gave excellent speeches which captured the moment. The brothers, their beautiful dates and guests danced the night away into the early morning hours of April 20. As Brother Tim Cooper put it as the installation ceremony drew to a close, "Delaware Alpha, Isn't it Great!" Indeed it is.

THE LIONS ARE RUNNING FREE AT DEPAUL UNIVERSITY

By Eric Bratt, DePaul University '99

DePaul University's mission statement is this: As a university, DePaul pursues the preservation, enrichment and transmission of knowledge and culture across a broad scope of academic disciplines. It treasures its deep roots in the wisdom nourished in Catholic universities from medieval times. The principal distinguishing marks of the university are its Catholic, Vincentian and urban character. DePaul University is a nationally recognized university located in an exciting and engaging urban environment that offers comprehensive and innovative programs of study through more than 130 graduate and undergraduate degree programs. An ideal setting for the realm of  $\Sigma AE$ .

Ever since October 27, 1995, the Illinois Delta-Pi Colony of Sigma Alpha Epsilon at DePaul University reached many goals, but we had one main focus—to become a chartered member of the realm of the International Fraternity of Sigma Alpha Epsilon. I would just like to take a few moments of your reading time to thank some people who have been instrumental in our success (sorry if I leave anybody out): Ken Tracey, director of  $\Sigma AE$  Alumni Leadership School; J.L. (Jim) Pope, Eminent Supreme Archon; Don Agee, Province Mu Treasurer and our "hands-on" adviser, David Kelm, Province Mu Archon; Frank Ginocchio, Director of Chapter Services; David Erickson, Province Mu Deputy Archon of Colonies; Dick Farkas, our Faculty Adviser; Chris Lane, Chapter Financial Consultant; Bryan Ott, Extension Manager; Ben Lewis, our E&L Consultant; the brothers of Phi Kappa Psi-Zeta Chapter (John, you especially); Steve Hall and the POO staff; the members and recently graduated alumni of Illinois Delta-Pi; their families; and most importantly we would like to thank God for His never-ending guidance. I know if it was not for His shoulder to lean on, I personally would have gone insane months ago.

Nothing stood out more for the members than what happened at two separate events. The first event was one of the proudest days of our history. Friday, October 27, 1995, we were officially initiated within the realm of Sigma Alpha Epsilon as a colony. All twenty-one members received their pledge pins and participated in the initiation. In the spring of 1996, Illinois Delta Pi initiated five new founders: Eric Bratt, George Beneos, Steve Castle, Dino Katris, and Nelson Morales. With these new members, our focus seemed to shift from the controversy of last quarter to concentrating on the future and starting new. These new members were welcomed in as founding fathers, as their existence and activity within the colony grew to new heights. Though they were never technically pledges, and never went through any formal pledge education, these five men learned the history and operations of Sigma Alpha Epsilon and would soon prove to be part of the backbone of the "New Era." Not only was this a key factor for us getting back on our path of becoming a chapter, we also had our very first election of new officers and chairmen to round things out.

Some people believe that summertime is a time for relaxation and vacation—not true for the brothers of Illinois Delta Pi. The installation committee consisted of seven brothers: Eric Bratt, George Beneos, Kevin Sadowski, Nelson Morales, Pat Levar, Rob Kordas, and Sal Messina. These seven men took it upon themselves to work together with Fraternity Office to prepare for the trip to Phoenix. We had a successful In-Province and Out-of-Province investigation and prepared all the documentation, as well as a picture-perfect presentation including a Power Poshow. The team was weary with all the responsibility, but pushed onwand upward all the way to Phoenix. On Friday, June 27, the Illinois De Pi Colony of Sigma Alpha Epsilon gave its formal installation presentatic Comments were made at the Convention that it may possibly have but the best anyone had seen in two decades. Then, on Saturday, June 1997, the Illinois Delta-Pi colony was formally approved to be installed a chapter into the International Realm of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, with unanimous vote of 350-for and 0-against.

Our Neophyte Ceremony on Friday, November 7, 1997 v probably always be known as the single most emotional experience I have been through with my brothers...it was simply and truly amazi What words can describe the intensity of the spiritual feeling of broth hood, friendship, belonging, realization, knowledge, and overall good chithe night Illinois Delta-Pi was formally initiated into the realm of Sig Alpha Epsilon? # HE FRATERNITY'S TWELFTH OLDEST CHAPTER IS REVIVED FTER 55 YEARS unuary 31, 1998, was a red-letter day in the history of Sigma Alpha silon in the Volunteer state. Tennessee Lambda, one of the Fraternity's oried ante-bellum chapters, was reborn at Cumberland University in banon in an unforgettable weekend of ceremony and celebration.

As representatives of the Fraternity arrived from near and far, e undergraduate members of the colony, together with several of the plony's young alumni, met on Friday evening, the 30th, at the Immanuel aptist Church in Lebanon where they experienced a moving Neophyte eremony and the traditional passing of the ritual book," in which each w initiate-to-be was invited to express himself. Without exception the en joined in the spirit of the moment, each expressing his feelings about e fraternity and each of his brothers.

Saturday was a magnificent day, sunny and bright and surprisgly warm for January. After a morning of preparation, the 44 neotytes gathered at the Baird Chapel on the Cumberland campus where the ormal initiation ceremony took place. The historic chapel, still in the rocess of careful restoration, was a fine setting for the Fraternity's ritu-. The ceremony was performed faultlessly by a team of alumni and ndergraduate officials and members of the Fraternity: Eminent Archon as performed by Province lota Archon Timothy Strobl, Tenn. Beta '80; ast Eminent Archon by Eminent Supreme Archon J. L. (Jim) Pope, Miss. igma '73; Eminent Preceptor by Fraternity Historian Joseph W. Walt, enn. Kappa '47; Eminent Recorder by Province Iota Deputy Archon homas J. Dement II, Tenn. Beta '90; Eminent Chronicler by Extension irector Bryan Ott, Iowa Sigma '95, assisted by Ramon T. Davis, Tenn. Ipha '42; Eminent Herald Mark Honeycutt, Tenn. Beta '93; Eminent larden, Tyler Collier, Tenn. Delta '99; Eminent Chaplain, Educational and eadership Consultant Jim Shanks, Minn. Alpha '97. Others assisting cluded Aneal Joseph, la. Sigma '91, J. Gavin Malay, Iowa Sigma '82 nd Steve Murray, Ala. Nu '91.

After the ceremony a reception was held for alumni at the Rudy ouse, an ancient structure on the Cumberland campus that once housed ne Tennessee Lambda chapter and which now serves as the University's uest house. The evening festivities were also held on the campus at the niversity's dining hall where the new initiates — every one of them in lack tie in a lavish display of formality — and their dates, together with a arge number of alumni,  $\Sigma AE$  guests and University personnel gathered to njoy a reception and banquet.

After participating in a Lucullan feast, the diners enjoyed a proram chaired by the new chapter's Eminent Archon, Chris Leech, who introduced a series of speakers. Leading off was Joe Walt, who talked about the distinguished history of the old Tennessee Lambda and recounted the several-year process of restoring the chapter. Dr. Jack Gregory '86, Associate Dean of Student Development and a new initiate of the revived chapter, warmly welcomed SAE back to the Cumberland campus. Extension Director Bryan Ott, the  $\Sigma AE$  official most intimately associated with the development of the colony, expressed his pleasure at the happy and successful culmination of the chapter's "pledgeship." Tom Dement, involved intimately with the group and helpful beyond measure in the recruitment of alumni to serve as advisers and House Corporation members, congratulated the chapter in his remarks entitled "A New Beginning." He was followed by Eminent Supreme Archon Jim Pope who bravely presented the chapter its old charter, even though, in an unfortunate accident, the glass on the fine framed document had been shattered. Then he marched out among the audience in an oratorical performance that only Jim Pope could bring off. The program concluded with an excellent statement by Eminent Archon Chris Leech and the presentation of several awards, both to chapter members and to those  $\Sigma AE$  alumni who had been especially helpful in the long campaign for the charter. Of special note is that among those present celebrating the rebirth of the chapter were three old-time Tennessee Lambda alumni: Marvin Campen '38, Jean S. Denney '41 and Ramon T. Davis '42.

For many  $\Sigma AEs$ , the revival of Tennessee Lambda represents the realization of a dream, for it restores to vibrant life one of the traditional great chapters of the Fraternity. Tennessee Lambda was first established at Cumberland in the fall of 1860 by ten young members of  $\Sigma AE$  who had been initiated elsewhere in five different chapters scattered across the South and who had entered Cumberland's renowned Law Department, built up handsomely since the University's founding in 1842. These ten men, together with four other Cumberland undergraduates, organized the chapter, the twelfth of the fifteen chapters the Fraternity would establish before the outbreak of the War Between the States.

In 1946 an attempt was made by Joe Walt and Lebanon  $\Sigma AE$  stalwart Alfred T. McFarland, Tenn. Lambda '39, to revive the chapter, but the control of the University had passed from the Presbyterian Church to the Southern Baptist Convention, and the new president of the institution was clearly not favorable to the revival of fraternities at Cumberland. But because there was always hope that the chapter could be restored, the Fraternity voted in its 1949 National Convention in Los Angeles to suspend the charter of Tennessee Lambda, not withdraw it, an action that would make easier its re-establishment. Unfortunately Cumberland's new religious association proved to be disastrous, and it was ended in 1951.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon — as one of fourteen fraternities that had existed at one time or another at Cumberland — was contacted in the mid-1980s by officials at the University suggesting that the Fraternity might be interested in reviving its chapter. While the suggestion was premature,  $\Sigma AE$  was alerted to what was happening at Lebanon. The Fraternity responded that it could seriously consider re-entering Cumberland only after seeing (1) evidence of demonstrated success of the institution as a four-year college, (2) regional accreditation of the University, (3) evidence of growth of undergraduate male enrollment and (4) improvement in the academic quality of entering students. Therewith the matter rested for a decade. Then, in mid-1992, the Fraternity Office in Evanston received a communication from Dr. G. Frank Burns, Tenn. Lambda '42, whose residence was in Garland, Texas, but who was accustomed to going to Lebanon for a few months each year to serve as the University's archivist. Dr. Burns was convinced that the development of the new Cumberland was sufficiently well along and that the institution was stable. "I feel that it is time to resurrect Tennessee Lambda," he wrote the following November. He pointed out that Kappa Sigma Fraternity had already installed a colony (chartered 1993) successfully, an action no doubt not dissociated from the fact that the University's Dean of Academic Affairs was at that time National President of Kappa Sigma.

The Fraternity's response to Dr. Burns's suggestion was cautious but positive. By this time Joe Walt, whose foiled attempt to revive the chapter in 1946 he had never forgotten, was a member of the Fraternity's Extension Advisory Committee, and he corresponded at length with Dr. Burns. The consequence of all this was a visit by Walt and Asst. Eminent Supreme Recorder and Director of Chapter Services Frank Ginocchio, together with Province lota Archon Tim Strobl, in early April, 1994. They met with University officials who were most cordial, including Dr. Ray C. Phillips, President of the University, who was happy to report to them that he was once a pledge of Tennessee Lambda, but had entered military service before he could be initiated. The highlight of the visit, however, was a meeting with a group of undergraduates who were interested in forming an interest group for  $\Sigma AE$ . Among the students was a transfer student from Tennessee Tech by the name of Trent McCracken who had been pledged at Tennessee Delta but had transferred to Cumberland prior to his initiation. Others that day included several, including Pat Lawson, Alex Quevedo, Gabriel Donoso and a young Australian by the name of Cameron Potter. These men would become leaders in the campaign to revive  $\Sigma AE$  at Cumberland.

In view of the warm welcome and evidence of the remarkable revival of the University, the fraternity decided to establish a colony, and the ceremony of colonization took place October 8, 1994. The growth and development of the colony was not without its setbacks and, after a year and a half, it might have failed had it not been for the fierce determination of a handful of members to carry on and achieve their goal. And this they did, their successes culminating in a 23-man pledge class in the fall of 1997. Meanwhile they made themselves a real presence at the University and acquired a small but eminently serviceable house on the edge of the campus. After the colony met all the approvals of both the University and the Fraternity, the Supreme Council voted unanimously to return the charter to Tennessee Lambda.

Dr. Frank Burns has written the history of Cumberland, the title of which is Phoenix Rising, an apt title both in view of the University's long-time symbol of the Phoenix and the actual experience of the institution in the second half of the 20th century. The Phoenix is, of course, also a traditional symbol in Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and can surely be applied to Tennessee Lambda, for out of the ashes of the old has arisen a magnificent new creature. The Fraternity wishes this Phoenix chapter well in the fond hope that it will truly soar into the heavens.

ILLINOIS GAMMA IS REVIVED

By Joseph W. Walt

The weather was typically that of a Chicago January, but the warmth brotherhood was powerful as the Illinois Gamma chapter of  $\Sigma AE$ , locat at Northern Illinois University, was installed — or perhaps it is better say returned to good standing — on the 24th of the month in a brillia ceremony at the Levere Memorial Temple in Evanston. Forty young — a a couple slightly older — men were initiated, bringing to a climax the lo and often challenging process of developing the new chapter from t time of its creation as a colony in 1994. It was a long process indeed, by the results are clearly worth the effort.

Because the installation weekend coincided with the wint meeting of the Fraternity's Supreme Council and a meeting of the Leade ship School Planning Committee, it was decided to move the festiviti from DeKalb to the Westin Hotel in Rosemont, Illinois, near the O'Ha International Airport and then on to Evanston for the actual initiation cermony.

By the time everyone started to gather on Friday evening, to 23rd, Extension Manager Bryan Ott and the colony officers had matter well in hand. In an impressive Neophyte Ceremony conducted in one the Westin Hotel ballrooms, each of the new initiates was able to express feelings, his recollections and his expectations on the eve of initiation It was incredible how ready every man in the room was to participate. was a heartwarming experience.

The initiation ceremony, early in the afternoon on Saturday the Levere Memorial Temple, was perhaps the first in the history of  $\Sigma A$ where members of the Supreme Council filled the officers' roles in the ce emony in accordance with their position on the Council. Thus the initi tion's Eminent Archon was Eminent Supreme Archon J. L. (Jim) Pope; tl role of Eminent Chronicler was done by Eminent Supreme Chronicler Rile Hagan; Eminent Warden by Eminent Supreme Warden Richard M. Hoppl Eminent Herald by Eminent Supreme Herald Thomas A. Bower; and a sp cial role by Eminent Supreme Deputy Archon Colonel William B. Wood with the Eminent Recorder role being taken by Past-Eminent Supren Recorder Kenneth Tracey. Serving as Preceptor in the ceremony was or of the Fraternity's most outstanding ritualists, Tim Strobl, Tenn. Beta '8 Archon of Province lota. This team was assisted by Honorary Emine Supreme Archon Father Robert Hedges as Eminent Chaplain together wi Rich Wrbanek, Illinois Tau-Alpha '97, Seth Vredenburg, Iowa Sigma 'C and Jason Ott, Iowa Sigma 2001.

A gala reception and banquet were held during the evening the Astor Room of the Westin Hotel. Alumni, fraternity officials, Univers representatives, new initiates and their dates enjoyed a varied program speakers and awards. Master of Ceremonies for the event was sustafa Koita of the undergraduate chapter. After the presentation of a mber of awards, speakers delivered their addresses, including the Illisis Gamma Chapter Adviser John Fujio, Province Mu Archon David Kelm, nois Gamma Housing Corporation president Dave Centrecchio,  $\Sigma AE$  tension Manager Bryan Ott, the Fraternity's Director of Development larles Larson, Chairman of  $\Sigma AE$ 's Extension Advisory Committee Brad when, Eminent Supreme Recorder Richard L. Lies, and Eminent Supreme chon Jim Pope, whose presentation included the highly emotional largement of handing the chapter's charter back to the members who warmed to center stage to hold high the coveted framed document, after hich spoke the Eminent Archon of Illinois Gamma, James Larson. At the nclusion of the formal program, members and their guests enjoyed usic and dancing.

The original Illinois Gamma chapter was installed on January 1, 1966, and enjoyed a number of years of success, but unfortunately came inactive in 1988. Just five years later, a few young men, joined transfer  $\Sigma AE$  member (from Illinois State) Rich Wrbanek, decided the ne had come to revive the Fraternity at Northern. They moved slowly, utiously, even a bit erratically at first, but in time their efforts paid off. stalled as a colony August 30, 1994, they did not try to grow too big o fast, and that has paid off for them. They also decided they wanted have real diversity in their membership, and that they achieved strikingwell. They first met in the cluttered basement of a commercial estabhment, next acquired a house that was not one of the more elegant resinces in DeKalb, but fortunately later acquired a "proper" fraternity use that serves them well at this time.

Installed as officers of the new chapter are, among others, imes Larson, E. A.; Travis Humphrey, E. D .A.; Dan Weaver, E.T.; Tim antillo, E. W.; Jeff Himmell, E. R. The chapter's Eminent Archon James irson is the son of the Foundation's Director of Development Charles irson. And, speaking of the new chapter's diversity, surely one of the ost powerful evidences of the chapter's willingness to embrace a truly ide range of students was the initiation of George E. Smith, age 60, who age ago earned a B.A. from the University of Illinois and a law degree. In had enjoyed a happy family life but decided to return to college for yet tother B.A. Smith decided he wanted a fraternity experience this time ound and formally pledged to the  $\Sigma AE$  colony. He may well be the old-tundergraduate ever initiated into  $\Sigma AE$ . Young and old, Illinois Gamma in look forward to many years of service to its members and to its University.

The Director of the  $\Sigma AE$  Foundation Chuck Larson (COCH '65) had the proud honor of pinning his son Jim Larson (ILGA '98) at the initiation ceremony.

114 YEARS OF TRADITION RESTORED IN GAINESVILLE

By Kevin Grogan

On February 21, 1998, the Florida Upsilon Chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon was returned its charter. It was truly a celebration the active brothers and alumni had anticipated for sometime and cherished throughout the day. The hard work and dedication that came forth from the House Corporation, committed alumns, and the fifteen brothers that brought the chapter back in the spring of 1996 were honored and remembered. On this day, the long hours the entire brotherhood of Florida Upsilon had committed to the charter had truly paid off. The Florida Upsilon chapter house glowed in the Florida sunshine with the celebration of the young men.

On one of its proudest days in recent history, the chapter hosted Eminent Supreme Archon J.L. Jim Pope, Fraternity Office representative Chris Mundy, as well as Province Nu-Epsilon Archon John Fantone and his council. The other chapters of Province Nu-Epsilon were in attendance for the Province Convention and to celebrate the return of Florida Upsilon!

The weekend began with the Neophyte Ceremony on Friday evening; 45 brothers spoke from the heart and told what  $\Sigma AE$  and Florida Upsilon meant to them. The ceremony was led by Jim Pope and focused the brothers on the following day's affairs. Saturday began with the Province Convention in the morning, the house was buzzing over the day's activities. The highlight of the day was certainly the return of the charter, but this day would also be remembered for the initiation of 25 undergraduate brothers. An extra special ceremony for Eric and Tim Bartlett, pinned by their father, Bruce Bartlett (FLUP '73); Patrick Boker, pinned by his father, Mark Boker (FLUP '70); Scott Robinson, pinned by his father, Rocky Robinson (FLUP '74); and Jonathan Huels, pinned by his father, Roger Huels (PAOM '69). The initiation team consisted of ESA Jim Pope, Richard Stone, David Corry, John Fantone, Chuck Earle, and John Horton Jr.

Following the initiation ceremony a reception was held at the chapter to recognize the brothers who had played a key role in this accomplishment. Jake Schickel, Dink Henderson, Bill Henry, Bill Frederick, and Alan Kohler were all recognized with the Order of the Lion, while Joe Coppedge, David Seiler, Kevin Grogan, and Jonathan Huels all recieved Orders of the Phoenix for their dedication and leadership through the rechartering process.

The engineering staff is based on the campus in Chicago but has outposts at Yerkes Observatory (WI), Apache Pointe Observatory (NM), Argonne Laboratory (IL) and Amundsen Scott South Pole Station (Antarctica).

OHIO STATE: Dexter Woodford (OHTH '37) has been swimming since his days at East High School in 1929. His aquatic endeavors have taken him from the YMCA to Ohio State University and on to the Manhattan Marathon in 1991. At age 77, he swam 28.5 miles around Manhattan Island. The Hudson waters were rough, the Harlem River was filthy, but Brother Woodford persevered. His course nearly collided with a barge until someone radioed and convinced the barge to change course. A retired research physicist at Goodyear, Brother Woodford enjoys his hobbies of machining and swimming.

OHIO WESLEYAN: Kevin Breen (OHDE '84) has been appointed vice-president for SAFECO Asset Management. Brother Breen has served as assistant vice-president and trust officer for The Fifth Third Bank before joining SAFECO as a marketing director in the investment department in March, 1995. In November of 1995, he was named assistant vice-president. In addition to volunteering for several civic organizations, he is also a member of several professional associations, including the Western Pension Benefits Conference, the International Foundation of Employee Benefits Plans, the International Society of Certified Employee Benefit Specialists, and the Pacific Northwest Chapter of Certified Employee Benefit Specialists. Kevin and his wife Catherine and their two children reside in Seattle, WA.

OKLAHOMA: After reading Dr. Joseph Walt's article on a group in the Philippines that calls themselves  $\Sigma AEs$

(Spring 1997), Brother John Bingman (OKKA '44) remembers having possible ties with this group. Brother Bingman served with the Airforce in the Philippines in 1945. He went to a local craftsman and requested a gold ring be made, with the Greek-letters of  $\Sigma AE$  inscribed on it. When he returned to pick up the ring, it was engraved "MAE." The craftsman assumed the ring was being made for a girlfriend and the proper corrections were made. Brother Bingman believes this is the first time any of those individuals had seen Greek letters. Brother Bingman ran into the Manila Alumni Association some time later at the Tasa de Oro restaurant. He enjoyed the evening with brothers from chapters all over the country and returned home to the states a few days later. A photo of the ring is shown above.

PURDUE: Brother John H. Hager (INBE '58) has been elected the Lt. Governor of the State of Virginia. Brother Hager beat Democrat L. F. Payne Jr. in the race for lieutenant governor. This victory gives the GOP an edge in the Virginia Senate. Hager, a 62-year old retired tobacco executive, won the No. 2 job in his first run for office – something few in his party could have imagined. Hager overcame Payne, a wealthy developer and former 5th District Congressman, despite having trailed Payne in every public opinion poll. Hager's victory in the Republican sweep of statewide offices also gives him a head start in capturing the GOP nomination for Governor in 2001, a position he aspires to achieve. On another note, Brother Mont Handley (INBE '88) has started a company from the ground up. He invented NUPEAT, an environmentally-friendly substitute for peat moss made from recycled newspaper. The synthetic soil medium, which Handley concocted in a food processor, earned his company, Wabash Valley Products Inc., a first phase Small Business Innovation Research (SBIR) grant from the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) last August. The grant funded independent growth testing of NUPEAT at Purdue University. The success of the testing paved the way for the actual production of the product. Handley, 33, describes his venture as "living the American Dream."

SALISBURY STATE: The brothers of Maryland Sigma celebrated their 20th Anniversary this fall. More than 200 brothers attended the event—the President of the school Dr. Merwin was present to show his support for  $\Sigma AE$ . Past EA Jeff Schumacher presented the "Order of the Lion" to Brother Duke Marshall, the current chapter advisor.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA LOS ANGELES: Brother Gary McClung (CADE '63) enjoys playing golf when he is away from home in Kansas City. Now he is building a place where others can enjoy the game while in Arizona. McClung, who frequently plays at Lakewood Oaks while at home, is involved in building Quintero Golf and Country Club in Maricopa County, just north of Phoenix. "This is a personal passion," McClung said. Quintero will be built on land about 3.5 miles from Lake Pleasant at an elevation between 1,900 and 2,600 feet. As a result, the temperature on the course will usually be about 10 degrees cooler than in Phoenix. The first of two 18-hole courses at Quintero will be designed by Reese Jones, the son of noted designer Robert Trent Jones. Groundbreaking is scheduled for May, and the first course is expected to be open for play by May 1999. "The goal is to have one of the top 100 courses in the country," McClung said. "We'll have five sets of tees. It'll be a test for anybody, including pros, but high handicappers and ladies will be able to play it." To inquire further about QUINTERO memberships, you may call (800)-41QUINT.

UNIVERSITY OF DENVER: Brother G. Fred Boyd (COZE '60) continues to "lead by example" in the Reno community; his accomplishments over the last three years have been quite impressive. They include; Chairman Economic Development Authority of Western Nevada (1995), Civic Leader of the Year (Reno/Sparks 1995), Nevada Chamber of Commerce (1995), Humanitarian of the Year - National Conference of Christians & Jews (1997) and interim CEO of Reno/Sparks Convention and Visitors Authority.

VIRGINIA KAPPA ALUMNI ASSOCIATION: More than ninety Virginia Kappa alumni and their guests attended this year's homecoming weekeng on October 25. As part of the weekend celebration, the Virginia Kappa Foundation presented to the collegiate chapter a plaque which recognized the 56 alumni brothers who participated as Presidential Circle Contributors in the Foundation's recent "Year 2000" Campaign. Over the past three years, more than 100 alumni have generously participated in this campaign to raise $20,000 for chapter scholarship programs.

ATLANTA ALUMNI ASSOCIATION: Any brothers living in the greater Atlanta area are reminded to attend the annual Ivan Allen Summer Rush Event scheduled for Friday, August 7, 1998. SAN JOSE STATE: Brother Benton McMillan-Gordon (CAZE "88) had the opportunity to meet the VP of Ford Motors, Brother Ross Roberts (OKKA '60), during the Ford Banquet at the Fairmont Hotel. The brothers met at the 87th Annual Chicago Auto Show. Earlier in the day Brother Roberts received an award on behalf of Ford Motor Company and the Ford Ranger platform from Brother McMillan-Gordon and Intellichoice, naming the Ford Ranger XLT as the "Best American Truck Value over $13,000." ## "The Top 10 List"

David Reddick (Georgia Beta '68) offers the following advice to undergraduate brothers about to embark on their first job search:

Tip #10- Be a verb, not a noun. When you prepare your resume, remember that nouns are passive and static, while verbs are active and make things happen. A resume is meant to get you an interview, not a job.

Tip #9- It's people, people, people. Establish a broad network of contacts, and then actively work your network.

Tip #8- To start a fire, strike a match. You do not get a second chance to make a good first impression. Dress appropriately for the interview, be punctual, and break the ice immediately by commenting on an interesting item in the room.

Tip #7- Good is not good enough – best is better. Be able to summarize your accomplishments, background and aspirations in the first few minutes of an interview. Think of it as your equivalent to football's "two-minute drill."

Tip #6- Care enough to learn. Do your homework before an interview. Read the company's annual report and research recent news coverage.

Tip #5- Use it or lose it. Keep your sense of humor. After all, if you can't enjoy yourself, why should anyone else?

Tip #4- Reach out and listen. Accept the fact that in today's business world, change is as certain as death and taxes. Keep a close pulse on what is going on around you, but don't spend your energy hanging on to the past – instead grab hold of the future.

Tip #3- You've got to walk the talk. Know how to communicate your strengths without boasting – and your weaknesses without undermining yourself. Highlight a particular project that demonstrates how you added value to the results.

Tip #2- You can wait much faster when you're patient. Looking for a job can be a long process, so learn to manage your stress. It's okay to sometimes feel disappointed, confused, or even worried, but worry is not a good use of your imagination.

Tip #1- Find the reason they'll say "yes." Determine that little difference in yourself that can make the big difference. Answer the all-important question – would you hire you?

From its inception in 1876, the Johns Hopkins University has been a bastion of intellectual research and knowledge. It was not until over 120 years later that Sigma Alpha Epsilon established a full-fledged chapter at this nationally acclaimed university. In the fall of 1997, Eminent Supreme Archon J. L. (Jim) Pope installed the Maryland Phi chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon at the Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, Maryland. For some of the initiated brothers, the wait was a mere semester, while for others the installation marked the end of an arduous task that took over 3 years of colony membership and countless hours of preparation to achieve.

In the short time that the brotherhood has existed on this campus, it has gained pervasive recognition for its superb accomplishments as well as the amiable, yet diligent nature of its members. The brothers of this chapter have served as chairs for freshman orientation, been elected by their peers as class representatives in student government, held editorial positions on campus publications, and competed in various sports at the varsity level. As a whole, the brotherhood has also garnered various awards on campus including a 3-year reign as Intramural Athletic Champions and recognition by the Interfraternity Council for its extra-curricular activities. Under the auspices of Distinguished Service Award winner and Province Mu-Delta Archon James "Scoop" Sakers, the Maryland Phi colony began our progression toward chapterhood on November 19, 1994. Our first rush was most successful, bringing in over twenty pledges in the spring of 1994. This group was affectionately referred to as the "Alpha" class, a tradition that has endured to the spring of 1998 with the newly pledged "Eta" class. During the journey through colony status, Jim Sakers paved the road for the aspiring brothers and took us under his wing, always offering his honest criticism and advice. The excellence of the colony in many facets of Greek life was achieved through his tutelage. From the beginning, the members of the colony seemed determined to ensure our entrance into the realm of Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Within a year, the MD Phi colony had won the Intramural Athletic Trophy, created a colony newsletter, began setting aside an installation fund, and caught the eye of local alumni with our annual Alumni Barbecue before the Hopkins traditional homecoming lacrosse game. The extension and variety of our involvement proved a testament to our desire to become full-fledged brothers of  $\Sigma AE$ . Over the next three years until our acceptance as a chapter, this newfound tradition of achievement continued to be built. Our first

Intramural trophy turned into three straight, our newsletter won an a at Leadership School for best colony publication and our Alumni Barbo became increasingly popular.

It was not only the diversity of our achievements on campi which we received distinction, but the diversity of our brotherhood as In a school where freshman were not allowed to pledge until their spr semester, we still had successful fall rushes two out of four years. A in our spring rush, we never took in a pledge class composed only of f man. The hometowns of our brothers span all the way up and down eastern seaboard, as well as other states such as California, Louisian Nebraska, and even other countries as far away as Hong Kong and Ta wan. The brothers of MD Phi come from many different backgrounds, nicities and cultures. Despite the myriad of differences, the brotherhold always found a way to unify into a cohesive group for a pickup game basketball or a challenge at the Super Nintendo to the Intramural char onship football game and our cherished bi-annual formals. Once the vi had been cast to accept the petition of the Maryland Phi colony's protion into chapter status, the brothers of the Charter Committee, a gro that had been engendered to plan the petitioning, wasted no time in co brating their great accomplishment. Within minutes, one of the delega phoned the fraternity house back in Baltimore to let everyone there kr about their success. Everyone involved celebrated and looked ahead t their official installation with anticipation and triumph.

The installation date was set to be the weekend of October 1997. Over 70 of the colony members and alumni assembled in Baltin that weekend to reminisce in our shared pasts and envisage our share futures. For some of the brothers, it was a time to recount the four y that they spent together in bonds of everlasting friendship, while other were meeting for the first time, their years being the only thing separa them from one another. The new chapter's installation was graced wi the presence of many of  $\Sigma AE's$  highest officers, ranging from new En nent Supreme Archon Jim Pope to E&L Consultant Jim Shanks. Mr. P was elected at the same Phoenix convention which approved the petit of the colony; consequently, this was the first chapter that he had the honor of installing. His words, "This is a high and great honor," was a that needed to be said as all of the brothers huddled around him and ou new charter to share in the glory and the dream that took over three y of struggle to realize. Presently, brotherhood of the MD Phi chapter st at 49, and we have sixteen new pledges this spring semester, after iniing three sophomores this past fall. These three men had the distinction wearing both a colony pledge pin and a chapter pledge pin. They, along with the rest of the brotherhood, will carry with them the memory of C ber 18, 1998. For everyone there, initiates, parents, sibling, dates, and esteemed guests, it was a monumental occasion in all of our lives, and one we will soon forget. Especially for all of the brothers involved, Ma land Phi is a name that will stay with us forever, whether we are one of 21 "Alpha" class members who were there from our inception, or one of the three "Zeta" class initiates who wore both the colony and chapter pledge pins. Along with this, October 18, 1997 is a date that will be remembered throughout the realm as that of the installation of the Mar land Phi Chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon at the Johns Hopkins University ny chapter in the realm could embody the mystique of the Phoenix, rgia Psi would be that chapter. Referred to in The Phoenix as the pter that has, "died so many times, everyone stopped counting," Geor-Psi has risen from the ashes once again. As the 22nd chapter found-Georgia Psi has a rich, though turbulent at times, history and is proud ave on its eternal roster such a name as Robert E. Cousins. Septemof 1870 marked the founding of Georgia Psi on the campus of Mercer versity in Macon, Georgia, a place Georgia Psi is proud to call home. chapter was the first fraternity to establish itself on the Mercer camand in 1943 was the first to construct a house. Mercer is a small out 2500 undergraduates) Baptist affiliated liberal arts school that ers a variety of majors, from political science to international business niomedical engineering. Mercer also has a medical school and law ool located on the Atlanta campus. Georgia Psi's book of trials and ulations added its most significant chapter in 1989 when years of poor dership and even poorer decisions finally caught up with the chapter. chapter was frowned upon by campus officials and alumni and was embarrassment to the Sigma Alpha Epsilon name. One of the chapter's udest alumni had seen enough and called the Fraternity Office requestthat the chapter be shut down. His request was met, and after all of memories and history were boxed up and removed from the house, the r was locked and Georgia Psi was no more.

In 1993 a group of young men who shared the same dorm met the first time to discuss starting their own fraternity. Each had been dged to another fraternity, but soon realized that he did not belong re. Bringing to the table with them that first night the bad tastes that other fraternities had left in their mouths, these guys knew what they not want from a fraternity and used that to establish what they did Int. Knowing that  $\Sigma AE$  had once been a proud part of the Mercer ek community, these young men contacted the  $\Sigma AE$  Fraternity Office expressed their intent to reestablish Georgia Psi. On February 24, 94, their wish came true when the Fraternity Office issued the group a ony Charter. A year of hard work had paid off but the real work still ahead. The next three years were, to say the least, a roller coaster for Georgia Psi. Aside from trying to meet all of the requirements put the colony by the Fraternity Office, the new colony brothers were tryto reclaim the chapter house that was now occupied by Alpha Phi ha. Once this was accomplished and the house renovated, the Brothbegan to plan  $\Sigma AE's$  first rush at Mercer in more than five years.

Over the next three years Georgia Psi watched its membership increase steadily. What began as a small group of brothers, meeting in a residence hall, evolved into a small band of men who were poised to retake the charter that had been absent for so many years.

During the weeks preceding the installation date, anxiety mounted in anticipation of what lay ahead. On the eve of the installation, Jim Pope and other National and Province officers, several alumni and 43 eager initiates met at the chapter house for the Neophyte Ceremony. Emotions ran high as the brothers recalled the years of hard work and dedication that had brought them to this moment. The following morning the soon-to-be brothers gathered at the house to host a pre-initiation luncheon for family members, alumni, and other guests. The initiation, performed by ESA Jim Pope, past ESA Johnny Warren, Extension Manager Bryan Ott, past Province Archon Doug Baymiller, and former E & L Consultant Mason Thompson, was held at a local historic church. Following the initiation, the brothers were allowed several hours to reflect on what had happened before attending a black tie banquet at the Crowne Plaza, during which the charter was presented to then chapter EA Brad Chapman. Many tears were shed by brothers and parents alike as years of hard work had finally paid off. Following dinner Bob O'Day entertained the guests in the Crowne Plaza bar and a new era of Georgia Psi had begun. Once referred to as "the chapter that has died so many times everyone stopped counting," the spirit of Georgia Psi lives again. The chapter is thriving, led by EA Patrick Galloway and monitored by Alumni Adviser Emory Dunn and Chapter Adviser Tom Moody. Recently awarded the Most Improved Chapter in Province Epsilon, "The lion sleeps no longer, the pride has returned."
